REDS DOMINATE AFRO-ASIAN MEETING

Russia's delegation to the Afro-Asian Solidarity conference in Coira, Egypt, listen placidly to speakers of various nations and peoples as the meeting progressed along clearly Communist lines. Though the Reds dominated the conference, there was evidence that many of the delegates had come to seek support for purely nationalist aspirations. Some delegates openly resented the Red-inspired resolutions.

Macmillan and Foot Confer On Island Colony's Future

Foot flew here Tuesday from Nicosia to report his conclusions since arriving in Cyprus Dec. 3 as governor succeeding Field Marshal Sir John Harding. He expects to be in London about 10 days.

One possible outcome of Foot's consultations here is a personal talk in Athens between him and Archbishop Makarios, leader of the Greek Cypriots' movement for union with Greece.

Found on Lawn, Illinois Girl, 14, May Lose Legs

FREEPORT, Ill. (AP)—A 14-year-old Freeport girl was found unconscious early Wednesday on a snowy lawn where she apparently had lain in near zero weather for several hours after leaving a New Year's Eve party for teen-agers.

The girl, Georgia Stoessiger, is in hospital with both legs and her feet frozen. Hospital authorities said she was in deep shock and unable to answer questions. They said it will be several days before it is determined if amputation of the girl's legs will be necessary.

Police Chief Walter Marsh said there appeared no evidence of foul play. He said the girl's coat was missing [illegible] her shoes were found in the yard.

Marsh said Georgia had left home Tuesday night to visit a girl friend and had taken taxi fare for the trip home. When she failed to return home after midnight, her parents learned she had left her friend's home alone at 12:30 a.m. to go to a teen-age party.

More than four hours later Mr. and Mrs. John Rust, who live near the home where the party was held, found her lying in their yard and called police.

Today's Chuckle

Little Tommy was about to buy a ticket to the movies.

The girl in the box office looked down suspiciously at him: "Why aren't you in school?"

Mystery Car Dealers Are Back in Canada

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto lawyer Harry R. Rose said today two former Toronto car dealers, Lew Jacobs, 32, and Arthur Morris, missing since last June, have returned to Canada from Israel.

Mr. Rose, counsel for Jacobs, said the men landed at Halifax aboard the Italian liner Saturnia.

The men, former owners of Lenmore Motors, vanished leaving a $1,000,000 business, a $50,000 home, a $25,000 summer cottage and an $18,000 speedboat.

A bench warrants has been issued for the arrest of Jacobs for skipping $1,000 bail on a criminal negligence charge. He was charged last June with driving at 106 miles an hour on Highway 11 north of Toronto.

Mrs. Jacobs, who disappeared with her husband, returned last October to her mother's home in suburban Forest Hill. Mrs. Morris is believed to be with her husband in Halifax.

After thei disappeaance, Jacobs and Morris were declared absentees and the Chartered Trust Company was authorized to sell Lenmore Motors to Colonial Finance Corporation for $167,000.

Mr. Rose denied published reports that he said the men ran into immigration difficulties in Halifax and have been detained since their arrival just before Christmas. He said he knows only that they have arrived in Halifax

He also denied saying Ontario Provincial Police will escort Jacobs to Toronto from Halifax.

Heavy Barrie Snow

BARRIE, Ont. (CP) — This Lake Simcoe town was blanketed with 13 inches of snow in a five-hour period Wednesday evening.

The heavy fall apparently was limited to a five-mile radius of the town. A hydro substation, six miles west, recorded only a half-inch of snow in the same period.

CREW OF PLANE FORCED DOWN ALIVE AND WELL

Britain Seeks Details Of Action by Albania

LONDON (AP) — The foreign office said today that the crew of a British cargo plane forced down over Albania by Communist jet fighters is "safe and well."

This was the first official confirmation of the safety of the six crew members, including one woman.

The information came from French authorities in Albania. France has diplomatic relations with the tiny Soviet satellite. Britain has had no diplomatic ties with Albania since 1946.

The DC-4 plane was on a flight from Duesseldorf, West Germany to the Far East, carrying machinery and airplane parts. The plane was owned by the Independent Air Travel Ltd., a charter cargo firm.

CLAIMS VIOLATION

Albania said the cargo ship was forced down Tuesday morning after allegedly violating "Albanian air space."

"The plane was informed by the air force of the People's Republic of Albania, using the established international signals, that it had violated Albanian air space and was forced to land on an Albanian airfield," the broadcast said.

An area of Albania projects a westward in the Adriatic so that a plane flying down the sea would have to turn to avoid going over Albania.

The Italian news agency Ansa said the plane was tracked on radar at Brindisi, taly, just across the neck of the Adriatic, as leaving the regular air corridor and heading over Albanian territory. Visibility was poor.

Tirana adio did not indicate whether the crew members were under interrogation or arrest.

Sputnik Number 1, Lost for Month, Is Expected to Die Quietly Today

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Sputnik I, which burst upon the world last Oct. 4 as history's first man-made satellite, was expected to die quietly today, unseen by human eyes.

American astronomers say the 23-inch 184 - pound sphere has been "lost" for the past month. They based their prediction of its death upon orbit calculations carried forward from observations made in late November and early December.

Dr. Fred L. Whipple, director of the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory, said it was impossible to pinpoint just where the final flaming plunge into the earth's atmosphere might take place.

He expected it would be today "but we just don't know where it is, so we can't say where it may fall."

The Smithsonian has asked its 150 Moonwatch teams throughout the world to maintain a death watch for the Soviet satellite. Observation of its final dive, when it should look like a fireball or meteorite, is of the utmost scientific importance, the observatory says.

Dr. Whipple doesn't think Russian scientists have any better knowledge of their missing moon. Soviet scientists have issued reports on the satellite's total revolutions but no information on its position. The number of trips since launching—over 1,350 this morning—can be calculated without any observations.

In its nearly three months the satellite has travelled approximately 35,000,000 miles at upwards of 18,000 miles an hour. This is about equal to the minimum distance to Mars, more than enough to teach Venus and more than one-third of the distance to the sun.

Peoples Around Globe Hope 1958 May See Tensions Ease

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Peoples around the globe bade farewell to the year of the Sputnik and welcomed 1958 with hopes it would bring an easing of world tensions.

Queen Elizabeth, in her response to the Russians, extended cordial greetings and good wishes to Soviet President Klementi Voroshilov and the Soviet people.

The new year was welcomed in with revelry by some, such as the 350,000 persons gathered in New York's Times Square.

Others marked the occasion with reverence in places of worship.

At Vatican City, Pope Pius XII gave his New Year's blessing to the city of Rome, of which he is bishop. He received members of Rome's city council.

From Tuesday midnight, when Buddhist bells pealed, through Wednesday, Japanese men, women and children thronged shrines and temples. Officials of the Meiji Shrine in Tokyo estimated 3,000,000 persons paid respects to Shinto gods enshrined there.

In Vienna, worshippers going to and from St. Stephans Cathedral were terrorized by leather-jacketed youths throwing firecrackers. Police dispersed several hundred of the youths.

In Italy, casualty figures still pouring into Italian police stations showed at least 100 persons were hurt as citizens welcomed 1958 with a barrage of revolver and rifle shots, paper bombs, fireworks and showers of old crockery from windows.

Elsewhere, 1958 generally made its bow with a minimum of mayhem. Television got some of the credit in western Europe, where it apparently kept a record number of people at home and out of trouble.

In Britain, the crowds of revellers seemed a little thinner than usual in the wee hours. Many people apparently stayed home to watch the festivities on TV.

Still, police had to protect the famed Eros statue in London's Piccadilly Circus from the merry crowds.

A Detroit woman put a bottle of whisky in an oven to thwart pre-party nippers, forgot about it and started to bake a cake. The bottle exploded and the whisky caught fire and cascaded across the room. Fire damage: $2,000.

From humble living rooms to swank hotels, parties were the order of the night and morning for millions.

The 21-year-old Aga Khan, who left Harvard University to lead 20,000,000 Ismaili Moslems, celebrated with Patricia Rawlings, 18-year-old British socialite, and "Bunny" Esterhazy, 17, another fledgling in the international set, at a gala dance in the Palace Hotel at Gstaad, Switzerland.

At the stroke of 12, other guests said, the Aga embraced his mother, Princess Joan Aga Khan, and then brushed cheeks with Miss Rawlings.

In Paris, celebrations lasted until celebrants linked arms and set off home singing at 6 a.m.

Police were out in force at Stockholm and were able to prevent a repetition of last year's violent rioting by youths in the Swedish capital. The city furnished cheap jazz and nightclub-type entertainment to keep potential trouble-makers occupied.

capital city of Algiers and most other communities were free of terrorism. Algiers had its happiest celebrations since the Nationalist insurrection began three years ago.

Behind the Iron Curtain, people relaxed. In the Czechoslovakia champagne flowed until dawn in restaurants and nightclubs.

Following Phoned Orders, Trapper Delivers His Son

SUDBURY (CP) — Trapper Sulo (Pete) Pakarinen delivered his wife's third baby with only the voice of a doctor on a long-distance telephone for guidance.

Pakarinen and his wife, Alice, live in a remote lodge at Thor Lake, 40 miles north of here, where Pete tends a trapline. Doctors told them the baby would arrive New Year's Day and Pete made arrangements to take his wife to hospital after Christmas.

But the baby started to arrive several days before Christmas. Roads were blocked and there were no train or plane connections available, so the father was forced to improvise. He telephoned Sudbury and for four hours followed the instructions of Dr. Edith Newell.

Of the birth, reported today, Pete says: "It's an experience every father should have."

The baby was named Harold Alan. The Pakarinens have two other children, aged two and three.

Head-On Collision Kills 9, Injures 2 in South Dakota

EUREKA, S.D. (AP)—A head-on auto crash killed nine persons, including the parents and four children of one family, near here early today. Two other persons were injured.

The South Dakota motor patrol identified the dead as:

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Beck, both about 40, of Eureka, and four of their children, ages two to 13.

Marvin Neuharth, 18, driver of the second car; Clyde Krein, 15, and Larry Wiedmeier, 15, all of Eureka, riding in the Neuharth car.

Two other Beck children, six and 16 years old, were taken to hospital. Their condition was described as serious.

Granted Stay Of Execution

HAMILTON (CP) — A 10-day stay of execution has been granted Thomas Arthur LaPlante of Hamilton, originally scheduled to be hanged Jan. 7.

His lawyer, John Clement of Niagara Falls, said today the execution date has been postponed until Jan. 17.

Mr. Clement has appealed to the Governor-General to have the sentence commuted to life imprisonment but no decision has been reached.

LaPlante was sentenced to be hanged for the slaying last July of Edwin Jones, a Jehovah Witness field worker whose body was found on the outskirts of Welland.

KHRUSHCHEV'S NEW YEAR TOAST URGES PARLEY

Drinks to Eisenhower At Kremlin Banquet

MOSCOW (AP) — Nikita Khrushchev has called again for United States-Russian talks to settle the world's problems.

In a New Year's toast to President Eisenhower, the Communist party chief Wednesday night renewed Soviet efforts to negotiate without American allies at the table.

Khrushchev told foreign diplomats at the big Kremlin New Year's banquet:

"If the Soviet Union and the United States can get together and can reach agreement, most of the world's problems would be solved."

The U.S. has rebuffed earlier proposals for such talks, preferring to include at least some of its allies in top-level conversations with Russia. Norway suggested at the recent NATO summit conference, however, that U.S.-Soviet talks might be the best way to break the current East-West deadlock.

U.S. DIPLOMAT ATTENDS

U. S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson and his wife went to Khrushchev's table after the toast and drank with the party leader, Premier Bulganin and President Klementi Voroshilov.

The three Nussian leaders had earlier dispatched New Year's greetings to the world's chiefs of state and government heads. The apparently similar messages called for peaceful coexistence and an end to what one note called "the fear which the people in all lands feel for the future." Queen Elizabeth sent a message of greeting from Britain.

The message to President Eisenhower asked him to "accept personally and to transmit to the people of the United States of America best wishes" from the three leaders and the Russian people.

HOPE FOR YEAR

"We express the hope," the message said, that 1958 "will be a year of strengthening of friendship and co-operation between the peoples of the Soviet Union and of the United States . . . ."

Eisenhower replied in a similar tone:

"I earnestly trust the new year will bring a firmer and better understanding between the citizens of the Soviet Union, the American people and those of other nations.

"You may be assured that the government of the United States will extend every effort to that end."

FEWER HOLIDAYS

Private employees have had 16 non-working holidays and official workers 20. And every working group has had a holiday on the day of its patron saint.

Say Venezuelan Revolt Crushed By Dictator

Pudgy Gen. Jiminez Quells Rebellion by His Air Force

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—The government of President Marcos Perez Jiminez announced before dawn today that it had crushed an air force revolt in less than 24 hours.

The army chief of staff, Gen. Romulo Fernandez, in a broadcast said the rebellious garrison at Maracay, centre of the revolt, had been taken by government forces at 3:30 a.m., and that scattered pockets of rebels were being mopped up.

The army chief repeated the claim by the president in a broadcast Wednesday night that the rest of the country — the world's No. 2 oil producer—was completely calm.

Air force units at Maracay launched a sudden rebellion against the government early on New Year's Day, sending jet planes 50 miles east from Maracay to this capital before dawn.

Perez Jiminez said anti -aircraft fire hit one of the raiders and forced it to land at this skyscraper city's airport.

The president said in a broadcast that the rebels at Marcay were disorganized from lack of a single command, and warned the airmen to give up their fight or be slaughtered.

The short, pudgy general won another five-year term only last Dec. 15 in a plebiscite which gave the voters a chance to vote only yes or no. He had no opponent. The government radio ordered the rebels to lay down their arms, and warned the 65,000 people of Maracay to take cover because their military installations would soon be attacked by government forces. Maracay's air base is the country's principal airfield, and a military aviation school is located in the city.

Perez Jiminez went before the microphones in the evening and promised that the revolt would be put down in a few hours by the four troop columns. He claimed that the rebels "are already giving manifestations of disorder."

Perez Jiminez claimed continued control over Caracas and ordered a wartime "brown-out" against air attacks. He also warned against rumors and kept a strict press censorship in force.

(The Dutch press agency, ANP said its correspondent in the offshore Dutch West Indies quoted both rebel and government broadcasts as saying that rioting had broken out in Caracas but was put down quickly.

(Diplomatic sources in Washington said the presidential palace had been bombed at least once and that Caracas had been strafed during almost continuous rebel sorties.

(In Buenos Aires, informed sources estimated that Perez Jiminez could muster about 3,000 troops immediately around Caracas for action against rebel forces that might total 2,400 men. They reported the Venezuelan Navy, with nine new destroyers and three frigates, backing the rebels.)

Canadians Turn New Year's Corner In Low Gear, Well Under Control

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Canadians turned the corner into a new year in low gear. There was little of the usual squeal, shudder and sway.

Though a virtually full police force patrolled the streets of most centres, they found few boisterous merrymakers, and an unusually small number of drunken drivers to start the new year facing charges.

Temperatures remained milder than usual in most sections, particularly on the east and west coasts where some rain and occasional snowflurries were predicted. The Prairies had some light snow and fog. Heavy snow fell in some areas of Southern Ontario.

Police in many centres had threatened a clamp-down on wild celebrations — particularly in Montreal where bars and clubs were closed at 10 p.m. New Year's Eve.

Calgary police offered free transportation home in police cars to drivers who felt they had had one too many New Year's Eve or day. Last year 14 were given free rides home, this year 21 accepted the offer. Only five accidents were repoted, and only one impaired driving charge was laid. Two were charged with careless driving.

The governor-general's levee in Ottawa had to be cancelled owing to the illness of Governor-General Massey but city, church and armed forces officials held New Year's receptions in the capital

Probably the most pleasing bit of general news came for children in Ontario, Quebec and the Maritimes where colder weather gave promise of a chance at last to try out new skates and sleds.

There was the usual crop of New Year's baby reports, and Quebec province, took the honors with six babies reported born in the first few seconds of 1958.

A baby boy was born at Halifax on the stroke of midnight. A girl was born at 12:01 a.m. in Tew Glasgow, N.S.

Lindsay staked claim to a first in Ontario with a girl born 30 seconds after midnight. The best Toronto could do was 12:12 a.m.

DETROIT (AP)—Jimmy Skinner unexpectedly resigned today as coach of Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League and Sid Abel was hired to succeed him.

Skinner said he was quitting on advice of his physician who has been treating him for migraine headaches. He had been Detroit coach 3½ seasons.

Abel, a Red Wing star from 1938 through 1952, coached Chicago Black Hawks two seasons after retiring from active play. He has been a manufacturer's agent in Detroit and a radio and television hockey commentator for three years.

New Zealanders Only 70 Miles From South Pole

WELLINGTON, N.Z. (AP)—Sir Edmund Hillary's party of New Zealanders was only 70 miles from the South Pole after covering 28 miles Wednesday night, radio messages from him said today.

A British party approaching the United States polar station from the opposite direction is still about 300 miles away. The Britons, led by Dr. Vivian Fuchs, plan to continue to Hillary's camp near McMurdo Sound to make the first overland crossing of the continent.

Hillary reported Wednesday that deep snow had slowed his tractors to only 22 miles on New Year's Eve in 28-below-zero weather.

At one time "it appeared as if the tractor train had reached the end of the road," he said. But by dumping some supplies to lighten the load he was able to continue.

Hillary's party hopes to be the first expedition to reach the pole overland since the Antarctic summer of 1911-12, when Roald Amundsen of Norway and Capt. Robert F. Scott of Britain raced for the pole. Amundsen won. Scott's five-man party died on the way back to the coast by a route Hillary is partially retracing.

Hillary radioed today that he and his men were prepared to abandon their light tractors, which had repeatedly bogged down in soft snow, and walk to the pole. The trip might take them five days on foot—about the same running time Fuchs aims at covering his distance there.

The British party is equipped with powerful treaded Snocats and Weasels which have run as far as 64 miles in one day. The New Zealand party is dragging its supply sleds with light farm tractors.

"We have only four drums of fuel left which should get us there," Hillary radioed, "but if necessary we will abandon one vehicle."

The New Zealanders are crossing an 11,000-foot high plateau. The high altitude forces constant travel in low gear with high fuel consumption. But they expect to strike a steady downgrade towards the pole which lies at 9,000-foot altitude.

Police Blotter

A few local families got the New Year away to a poor start over the holiday with several family squabbles coming to the attention of police on New Year's Eve and on New Year's Day.

In all but one case, however, the trouble was patched up with time getting in its sobering effects and the principals' tempers cooled off.

Otherwise there was a rash of broken windows in the city with J. and J. Cash Ltd. reporting several windows broken. The wheel of a broken baby carriage had been used as one of the missiles and was found inside the plant by one of the officials.

Theft of a toaster was reported from the kitchen of a George street residence. The toaster was taken during a period when the owner was upstairs leaving the kitchen door unlocked. A "wine hound" looking for a handout was believed responsible.

Fun-Seeking Populace Gives 1958 Youngster Welcome

Old Father Time in his annual double-shuffle laid his 1957 greybeard to rest and ushered in his cherubic successor with the customary celebrative whoopee on New Year's Eve.

It was noisy, but nice, with nothing untoward happening that a few bromos or aspirin and well-meant resolutions couldn't cure.

The celebration welkins rang all over the city in armoury, club, house, apartment and other spots where a fun-seeking populace gathered to give the 1958 youngster a fit and proper welcome.

And to the credit of the celebrants they exercised caution with their holiday whoop-de-do. There were no serious accidents. No one was injured, and the police department, geared for any emergency, had a comparatively quiet time.

Police Chief Walter Probert said today "It was one of the best holiday celebrations we have had in years as far as our department is concerned. There were no arrests made for impaired driving. One or two of the boys who looked on the wine when it was a little too red were apprehended. Otherwise it was peaceful."

"We appreciate the co-operation of the public in this respect" the chief said. "I believe people are beginning to realize the hazards of driving on New Year's Eve when the spirit of celebration is abroad."

The main spots of entertainment, dinners and dancing were well patronized and in general the populace went all-out in well-behaved celebration in a fitting if uproarious welcome to the New Year.

Regimental blues and the conventional black - and - white of male attire offered colorful contrast to the beauty of the ladies' evening apparel at the formal buffet-dinner dance hosted by the commanding officer and officers of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment.

Lieut. - Col. E. S. Fairman, E.D. and Mrs. Fairman headed the reception line in the colorfully-decorated officers' mess in the Bridge Street armouries where they greeted some seventy couples. A turkey buffet was served and dancing enjoyed until the early hours.

GAY MILITARY PARTY

The regimental sergeants mess was the scene of another gay military party where the senior non-commissioned officers welcomed some forty couples representing active and associate members. A turkey buffet supper and dancing featured the party.

Rounding out the military observances was the gay dinner dance hosted by "A" Company of the regiment in the Picton Armouries.

Other colorful services celebrations were held in the various messes of the Royal Canadian Air Force at Trenton.

The Belleville Club ushered in the New Year with some 75 couples enjoying a buffet supper and dancing to the tuneful rhythms of the Fairman orchestra.

That popular dancing rendezvous, the Club Commodore, was capacity-crowded and lived up to its reputation for good music and entertainment. Its dinner-dance was attended by one of the largest crowds in history.

The Kinsmen Club added its quota of celebrants with an enjoyable turkey dinner-dance at the popular Tobe's County Gardens.

The Royal Arch Masons proved delightful New Year's hosts at buffet-dance held in the Masonic Temple where some 125 couples enjoyed the dancing and entertainment.

Many houses and apartments in the city rang to the midnight merriment where private parties added their celebrative cacophony to the general whoopee.

Out-of-town centres marked the occasion in fitting style. The Club Cedars dinner-dance was well patronized as were other party rendezvous.

The Belle Theatre catered to a genial New Year's Eve crowd of motion-picture celebrants, with noise-makers, hats, etc., adding to the general fun at midnight. The McCarthy and Park Theatres did not offer New Year's Eve attractions.

Belleville's First Baby of Year Son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Robinson

Belleville's first new year baby was a boy.

The little fellow, weighing in at five pounds, checked in at Belleville General Hospital at 4.33 a.m. Wednesday.

His name is Raymond Joseph, and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Robinson, of Belleville.

Since he is the first baby to be born on New Year's Day in Belleville the little fellow will receive a bonanza of gifts donated by ten city merchants, including a stroller, baby bed lamp, bottle warmers, layette essentials, baby boots, a photo of himself, and other lovely prizes. His proud papa, a mason with Acme Construction Co. will receive a box of cigars.

The Robinson's have one other child, Karen Lorraine, age 3.

A second New Year baby also arrived at Belleville General Hospital—a 5 lb., 15½-oz. baby girl who put in an appearance at 1.12 p.m. yesterday. Her proud parents are Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Smith, 52 Charlotte St.

Winner of the New Year baby race for the entire district was a 7-lb. baby girl who arrived at 12.04 a.m. Wednesday at the Red Cross Hospital in Hastings. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Davis of Bancroft.

Two other babies also arrived at the Red Cross Hospital. An 8-lb., 4-oz. daughter was born at 1.55 p.m. yesterday to Mr. and Mrs. George McDonald, also of Bancroft, and an 8-lb. 8-oz. son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Mike Glisinski, of RR 2, Bancroft, at 3.12 p.m.

GIRL GETS HONORS

The first baby born in Trenton Memorial Hospital on New Year's Day is a 6-lb. 14-oz. girl. Proud parents of the infant are Mr. and Mrs. Adrianus Wolvers, Consecon.

The baby was born at 1.49 a.m. on New Year's morning, winning the race for the title of Trenton's first baby in 1958. The parents are new Canadians, who originally came from Holland.

Many gifts await the little newcomer, from Trenton stores and business premises, ranging from a first bank account to be personally opened on her behalf by Mayor Ross Burtt himself, to a pair of first walking shoes. A contest sponsored by a Trenton weekly newspaper has assured the presentation of useful and lovely gifts to the baby and her parents.

Three other New Year's babies, all boys, also arrived at the Trenton Memorial Hospital on January 1st. A son was born at 5.45 a.m. to FO and Mrs. Patrick Davidson, of Trenton; a son to Mr. and Mrs. Bert Scobie, of RR 4, Frankford, who arrived at 7.33 a.m., and a son to Mr. aand Mrs. Ross Horner, Trenton, who checked in at 3.05 p.m.

Sea-Going Posse Chases Down Pirated Yacht

ISLAMORADA, Fla. (AP)—A sea-going posse of sheriff's deputies chased down a pirated yacht Wednesday and freed a man, wife and four children held prisoner by three armed, teen-age runaways.

The runaways —San Antonio, Tex., boys aged 15 and 17—said they had planned to go to Mexico. They threw their guns overboard when they saw officers in pursuit and gave up meekly.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sias of Winter Haven, Fla., owners of the yacht Siesta, and their four children were unharmed. They experienced an uneasy 14-hour captivity that began when they were awakened Tuesday night at the point of a .22-calibre rifle.

Police said the boys captured the yacht while it was tied up at nearby Craig, and loaded it with "what appears to be stolen goods."

Drivers Careful, None Arrested Over New Year's

Belleville and district motorists were on their good behaviour over the New Year's holiday and, apparently refraining from taking the extra "one for the road" drink, stayed away from any association with the law.

Both city and provincial police reported there were no arrests for drunken or impaired driving and neither were there any motor vehicle accidents in Belleville or immediate district involving personal injuries.

Provincial Police reported only two minor accidents over the holiday, while the same was true in the city.

"Motorists in Belleville observed traffic rules and regulations and we had a quiet New Year," commented City Police Chief Walter Probert.

Five Running For 3 Seats on Thurlow Council

Electors of Thurlow township will go to the polls next Monday, January 6th, to elect a new deputy reeve and three members of council to sit for 1958.

Both Harry Pound, last year's deputy reeve, and Robert J. Hopwood-Jones, member of last year's council, have qualified to contest for the office of deputy reeve, while five men are running for the three seats on council.

There will be no election for reeve with Reeve Alfred T. Wickett having been returned for another term by acclamation, while school board members have also been elected by acclamation.

Contesting the three seats on council are Corah Howard and Ralph Plumpton, both members of last year's Council, Ross C. Bailey, Carl Thompson and Clayton Hall.

Elected by acclamation for the South Thurlow School Area were Arnold Mitchell, Douglas Atkins and Kenneth Greatrix, all members of last year's board. In North Thurlow Everett Geen was returned, while Roger Robson will be a new man on the board.

1958 Licences Now on Sale

Although there was no pronounced rush for new automobile markers and operators' licences as 1958 licences went on sale this morning at the office of George Olsen in the Warren building on Lower Front street, business was reported "steady" at mid morning.

At one or two periods there was a brief line-up of motorists waiting to purchase their new markers, but Mr. Olsen said there was no particular rush. Business was steady throughout the morning, however.

New Book Now On Sale in City

The new book of fiction written by John and Irene Haig, entitled "Mystery at The Elms and Condemned," is now on sale in Belleville. The book is published by Comet Press Books and will be priced at $3.00. It is on sale at Miss Nichol's "The Quinte Bookshop," and James Texts

"Mystery at The Elms" is a suspense-filled story whose scene is laid against the bluff - high estate of Timothy and Cathy Wright — recent comers to the flourishing Lake Ontario town of Ashbury in the Canadian South. When Pat Wright, a young beauty, reveals to John Talbot, the Ashbury newspaper magnate, that a sense of impending doom hangs over her parents' home, Talbot enlists the aid of his friend, Robert MacOdrum, famous sleuth, to investigate the reasons for the fears that are plaguing his son's lovely fiancee. The MacOdrums pay a social call on Cathy Wright and discover several clues which lead them to believe that a strange undercurrent of fear, blackmail, and indefinable evil pervades the aristocratic atmosphere of "The Elms." Pursuing their tenuous clues, the MacOdrums expose a situation with international repercussions and manage to rid "The Elms" of its relentless Nemesis.

Condemned is told in the first person and is spoken by a benevolent minister who was assigned as the final spiritual comforter of Spike Markham, condemned to die for murder, and who resolves to unearth the true facts behind the sordid tragedy which is about to lead his prisoner-ward to the death chamber. Convinced that young Spike Markham is shielding someone, the "padre" begins his own investigation and reveals the remarkable story behind Spike's gentle background and behavior — a story that involves innocent youth, a snobbish, superficial social set and a youth-exploiting ring of dope-pushers and gangster doctors who front for their colleagues.

John Haig was born in Campbellford, Ontario, in 1907, of pioneer farm stock. He was educated in Canada and spent two years at Queen's University. He worked in the northern Ontario bush for a number of years and saw service overseas during World War II with the Canadian Army.

Irene Haig was born in Morrisburg on the St. Lawrence River. She was reared and educated in Brockville, Ontario, and won several scholarships. She now conducts "Conversation Piece," which is broadcast one hour daily for five mornings a week, and runs the bi-weekly column called "This and That" in the Ontario Intelligencer. Mrs. Haig is a member of the Belleville Guild of National Ballet Association of Canada, of the Belleville Business and Professional Women's Club, of the Community Concert Association and will be president of the Belleville District Women's University Club this year.

IN MEMORIAM

ELLIOTT. — In loving memory of Robert Francis Elliott, who passed away January 2nd, 1957.
Is not short pain well borne that brings long ease,
And lays the soul to sleep in silent grave;
Sleep after toil, part after stormy seas,
Ease after war, death after life doth greatly please.
—Fondly missed by son Charles.

DAFOE. — In loving memory of a dear father, Harry Dafoe, who passed away January 2nd, 1949.
His weary hours and days of pain,
His troubled nights are passed;
And in our aching hearts we know,
He has found sweet rest at last.
—Ever remembered by daughter Myrtle and family.

CARTER. — In loving memory of Clare Carter, who was accidentally killed January 2nd, 1946.
A silent thought, a secret tear,
Keeps his memory ever dear;
Time takes away the edge of grief,
But memory turns back every leaf.
—Sadly missed by sister Lois, Jack and Linda.

CARTER. — In loving memory of my dear son, Clare, who lost his life so suddenly, January 2nd, 1946, at Cobourg.
Though his smile is gone forever,
And his hands I cannot touch;
Still I have so many memories,
Of the one I loved so much.
Though out of sight he's ever near,
Still loved, still missed, still mine;
He will live with me in memories,
Until the end of time.
—Sadly missed and ever remembered Mother.

CARTER. — In loving memory of a dear brother, Clare, who was killed in Cobourg, January 2nd, 1946.
His life was earnest, his actions kind,
A generous hand and an active mind;
Anxious to please, loath to offend,
A loving brother and faithful friend.
—Ever remembered and sadly missed by brother Bill and wife Dorothy.

CARTER. — In loving memory of a dear brother, Clare, who was killed in Cobourg January 2nd, 1946.
He is gone, but not forgotten,
And as dawns another year;
In our lonely hours of thinking,
Thoughts of him are always near.
Days of sadness will come o'er us,
Many think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow,
That lies in the heart concealed.

Vancouver Boy Fires Rocket To 10,000 Feet

VANCOUVER (CP)—John Percival, 17-year-old West Vancouver high school student, fired off a three-stage miniature rocket Tuesday and later reported the operation "entirely successful."

A small group of observers including schoolmates who helped in the project, watched the six-foot-seven-inch rocket blast off from a field of Pitt Meadows, 20 miles east of here. It went off with a roar and a cloud of flame-tinted smoke.

Less than a minute later the third stage dropped to the ground 30 feet away after floating down on a parachute released by a chemical reaction after it completed its upward flight.

The youths said the third-stage may have reached 10,000 feet in its five-second powered flight.

Water Skiing, Golf Highlights Of New Year's

TRENTON — Reported as the mildest December in the past 30 years for this industrial town the final days of 1957 saw many strange sights during its dying moments.

Water skiing and golfing were the highlights of the activities but for the general public they brought in the new year in the same method as they have for hundreds of years, dancing, balls and house parties.

But even the dancing was at a minimum with two formal dances reported, one at the RCAF Station in Trenton and the other at the new hall of the Canadian Legion's Branch 110 here.

Two other dances of the informal variety were held at No. 6 Repair Depot and the Country Club.

House parties were numerous with neighbors joining together to say goodbye to 1957 and hello to 1958 in an atmosphere of friendliness and enjoyment.

In golfing at the local cclub, which has been officially closed for some time, the mild weather brought many of the ardent followers out. They reported the course on the damp side but paid little attention to it as they got in, what old King Winter may make, their final games of the season.

The water skier was Flight Lieutenant Phil Perry, 23, of the RCAF Station in Trenton. He startled many residents along the Bay of Quinte coast line with his daring feat. It is believed he may have set a "lateness" record for the bay in water skiing. He was pulled over the quiet waters by a motor boat operated by Gerald Rowe and Elmer Young.

With the temperature at only 40 degrees the skier took no chances by wearing a bathing suit and was fully dressed in warm clothing for his excursion.

Trenton churches which celebrated the New Year yesterday with services included St. George's Anglican Church, where a special service was held at 11 a.m.; King Street United Church, where a New Year Vespers Service took place in the afternoon; the Ebenezer Christian Reformed Church, where a service was held, and St. Peter's Catholic Church, where two special morning Masses were celebrated.

Struck by Auto, Town Employee Not Badly Hurt

TRENTON — Charles Scarletta, 203 Byron Street, was treated for injuries in hospital on New Year's Eve after being hit by a car on Marmora Street.

Mr. Scarletta suffered lacerations of the nose and bruises to the left eye and both legs. He was attended by Dr. W. S. Bailey.

Mr. Scarletta, employed by the town of Trenton, was working on the sanding truck and around 7 p.m. a stone had become lodged in the sand spreader. He removed the stone and was standing on the road at the rear of the machine, checking to make sure it was working again, when he was hit by a car being driven by Patrick G. Charbonneau of R. R. 6 Trenton.

Mr. Charbonneau told police he was unable to stop his vehicle when he saw the truck and man ahead of him, due to the icy streets.

The car struck the victim and sent him pinning sideways into the ditch but the car kept right on into the rear of the dump truck breaking off the sanding gear of the town machine and completely demolished the front end of the car.

Damage to the truck was estimated at $16 and the car damage was in the vicinity of $200.

Mr. Scarletta was released from hospital about an hour after admittance. Town police officers, who investigated the accident, stated they felt if the car had not have thrown Mr. Scarletta to one side, but had carried him towards the truck, it would probably have meant death.

Mr. Scarletta said he "was feeling fine, but was very stiff and sore".

Another collision also marred the final day of 1957 but was only a minor one with very little damage to either vehicle and with no injuries.

The accident happened about 20 minutes after the Scarletta mishap when a car driven by George A. Wilson of 53 Bay Street came around a corner and collided with the rear of another car parked in front of the home of its owner, Ross Bennett of 35 Bay Street.

Damage to both vehicles totalled less than $50.

Only Minor Accident On New Year's Day

TRENTON — Police and firemen here reported the first day of 1958 very quiet with only one small mishap between vehicles and no fires.

The accident occurred at 2.30 a.m. January 1, with damage to both vehicles concerned estimated at about $12.

The vehicles involved were a taxi driven by Lewis M. Woodcock of 15 College Street, and a car driven by Andrew McCrum of 13 Cornox Ave.

The mishap occurred near the corner of Dixon Drive and Byron Street.

New Zealand To Cut Imports

WELLINGTON, N.Z. (Reuters) New Zealand today announced plans to make substantial cuts in its imports of automobiles, manufactured goods and non-essential foodstuffs.

Labor Prime Minister Walter Nash said the controls were imposed because New Zealand faces its most urgent overseas exchange crisis since the depression of the 1930s.

Though Nash declined to say how much overseas exchange he hopes to save, it is unofficially estimated that the aim is to cut the 1957 level of imports by 20 per cent—or about £50,000,000.

The trade cuts will chiefly affect British exporters, who provide the bulk of New Zealand's overseas purchases.

Propaganda Resolutions Favor Communist Line

CAIRO (AP)—Delegates to the first unofficial Asian - African people's conference have ended their meeting with a wide range of propaganda resolutions, many of them favoring the Communist line.

The 42 countries and colonies at the weeklong conference which ended Wednesday were not represented by official government spokesmen, but by 400 leaders of groups which in many cases are frowned on or outlawed at home.

A chief event of the conference was a Soviet offer of economic aid to all Asian and African countries.

A last-minute attempt to delete President Eisenhower's name from a resolution attacking the Eisenhower doctrine and the Baghdad pact failed at the final plenary session in the Cairo University auditorium.

Instead of using Eisenhower's name, Al el Balhawan of Tunisia proposed a reference to the "U.S. doctrine of power vacuum," an Egyptian propaganda phrase based on the charge that the American policy seeks to replace British and French influence in the Middle East.

Balhawan was backed by Lt.-Col. Anwar Sadat of Egypt and Dr. Anup Singh of India. Singh, who has conceded that the conference followed a line friendly to the Communists because the delegates had no experience with Soviet domination, was instrumental in toning down other anti-Western resolutions.

But the defence to the Eisenhower doctrine by name was approved overwhelmingly after Jordanian delegate Shafic Rosheidat, an exile from his Western-aligned country, said no one would understand the meaning of the substitute phrase.

In other resolutions, the conference condemned imperialism "in all its forms," attacked military and political pacts and foreign military bases and condemned the European common market trade agreement as a step to "strangle the aspirations of people for independence from colonial domination."

Young Mother Walks Sons To Safety

PETERBOROUGH (CP) — A young mother and her two pajama-clad sons walked a half-mile through snow in sub-zero temperatures Wednesday night after fire destroyed a cottage.

Mrs. Barbara Campbell, 23, rushed her sons to safety after a coal oil stove exploded. She went back into the flames to get the keys to her car, parked a half-mile away.

FINDERS OF THE LOST

Statistics from the Royal Canadian Air Force at Ottawa reveal that in 1957 RCAF search and rescue units logged 8,200 hours of flying under varying weather conditions, while on 41 search operations and 158 mercy flights.

The hours of flying are an increase of twenty-five per cent over the 1956 figure, the air force said. And the increase resulted in a general increase of military and civilian flying.

Of the 41 searches, 29 resulted in the finding of lost aircraft and in ten of these lives were saved. From this we deduce that twelve aircraft, or ground parties, were never found.

Twenty-nine successful searches is a commendable total considering the rugged topography of Canada and its many bodies of water.

A Canadian Press despatch, however, claimed that "the most common search is for a bush pilot whose plane disappears on a short flight in the northern wilderness."

If that statement is accurate, then it is time civilian aviators paid more heed to the flying regulations of the Department of Transport. We are aware that because of expense, many civilian aircraft do not have radios They rely on a previously worked out flight plan to see them safely to their destination. However, even though their destination has been notified of their intended flight, there have been cases where the pilot changed his mind en route and landed elsewhere, leaving air traffic controllers ignorant of the change until the plane was overdue. Then, unless the pilot had not informed his original destination of the change by this time, a search for him began.

Disregarding the tremendous expenses involved in a search, scores - - and even hundreds - - of lives may be risked to find the lost plane and its crew, when in effect, it was not lost in the first place, but landed safely at another field. The pilot is usually quite embarrassed and says meekly that he forgot to notify air traffic controllers before he became airborne that he might land at an alternate field. The Department of Transport, quite understandably, looks on that kind of mistake with disfavor and applicable penalties may be levied on the offender.

RCAF search and rescue units are quite able to fly during the most adverse weather conditions. Mostly, though, searches are conducted only when favorable weather prevails; then spotters have a good chance of locating the subjects of their search.

Aircraft are not the only objects of a search. Many hunters, fishermen and campers who got lost in unfamiliar territory have met a happy ending, thanks to a group of courageous and skillful airmen.

Search and rescue units of the RCAF are, perhaps, the sources from which most air force news is received. Hardly a day passes without such a unit being in the news, either on a search operation or a mercy mission. The methods employed by these units to seek a party of hunters or a downed aircraft hidden by dense bush require that members of search and rescue units be experts in their trade. We call their trade a science. Members of search and rescue teams are on a par with police experts who piece together minute clues which often lead to the finding of "wanted" persons. And to do that takes great skill, determination, patience and courage.

We cannot commend too highly the group of enlisted men and women who have the eyes of eagles and the patience of Job, who are ready and willing to risk their lives to find people who made a mistake or who are lying injured in a remote wigwam or ice house without the benefit of medical attention. In this part of the province, 102 Communications and Rescue Flight is located at RCAF Station, Trenton.

FOR HUMAN BETTERMENT

Prime Minister Diefenbaker has pledged his Government will not sit idly by as long as the human betterment of a single Canadian is adversely affected. The Government has already provided assistance to low-cost housing and aid for the underdeveloped areas of the country. In addition, it has started rebuilding of Canadian markets, let slip by the Liberal administration, and there are new vistas of trade seen in closer economic relations among the Commonwealth nations.

All this adds up to a picture of prosperity on an even increased scale. For the present the Government is pledged to provide some amendments to the Unemployment Insurance Act to assist those unable to find employment. (St. Catharines Standard, Ind.)

A NEW YEAR'S SONG

May love and laughter lead you
Down the pathways of the year,
And may each morning feed you
From the golden spoon of cheer.
May every eye be shining
And every cheek aglow,
And may the silver lining
Of the clouds forever show.

May peace and plenty find you,
May pain and grief depart;
And may you leave behind you
The little cares that smart.

May no day be distressful,
No night time filled with woe,
And may you be successful
Wherever you may go.

May envy quit your dwelling
And hatred leave your heart;
May you rejoice in telling
Your brother's better part.
May you be glad you're living,
However dark your way,
And find your joy in giving
Your service to the day.

Conrad Born Before Time

Christian Science Monitor

A hundred years after his birth (the anniversary has just passed) Joseph Conrad seems more of our time than his own, though he still may be in advance of us. He is ideally the late twentieth-century man, making national boundaries and racial distinctions meaningless by crossing and recrossing them so regularly.

Conrad was an odd, exotic figure in the late Victorian world in which he came to maturity. The facts of his career formed a literary legend, colorful but obscure to his contemporaries. Born of Polish parents in the Russian Ukraine, he sailed for 20 years (mostly in the British marchant marine), and wrote novels in English that were notably French in style.

Conrad's master symbol was the sea, knowing no demarcations but the shore, entitling all who travel upon it to citizenship in one mystical kingdom. The stormy sea was the primary force against which he tested the character of his heroes.

But the calm sea presented its own kind of test: though vast and free, it is also lonely. And Conrad's heroes, like Conrad himself, were often men apart, challenged by the peculiarly twentieth-century problem of communicating with their fellow men.

Conrad's specific resolutions of this problem were often tragic. Lord Jim and the title character of "Nigger of the Narcissus"—to name two—never made their points of contact. But Conrad said the novel was "never for despair," and in one of his most eloquent passages this international man looked forward to a truly international world, where communication would be possible because the hatreds that separate people would be uprooted by deeper means than politics.

Like so much about Conrad, these words seem more vivid today than when they were written: "I believe that the future will be merciful to all. Revclustionist and reactionary, victim and executioner, betrayer and betrayed, they shall all be pitied when the light breaks on our black sky at last."

Fisherman Really Lucky

Saint John Telegraph-Journal

Things looked rather gloomy for Westmore Lambert of Richardson, Deer Island, when he accidently dropped his billfold, containing $800, over the side of his boat in dock at Lord's Cove. The wallet sank to the bottom where there is seven feet of water at low tide.

Mr. Lambert tried to obtain the services of a diver. But divers are not easy to locate on short notice. The first sought had just lost his diving gear in the burning of his boat at Grand Manan. Next Mr. Lambert managed to obtain the use of a diving suit from Black's Harbor, but a leak in the equipment prevented its use. A Saint John diver, then sought, was in Richibucto. But another diving suit was available in Saint John and it was taken to Deer Island.

Reginald Richardson, Jr., of Richardson volunteered to don the equipment and seek the missing billfold. He was successful in a matter of minutes, aided by the fact that Mr. Lambert had lowered a rock tied to a rope to mark the position where the money had been dropped. The rock had come to rest on top of the wallet, preventing it from being washed away during the nearly three days it remained on the bottom. The contents, when dried out, were intact.

Fast Reader Not Envied

Sault Ste. Marie Star

We offer no medals to the Wisconsin University student who can read at the rate of 8,000 words a minute. To spend only five or six minutes over a novel, and only just over an hour and a half in reading the Bible would not, in our opinion, be very worthwhile.

Maybe a lot of people do read too slowly, but there are many books where each turn of phrase should be savoured and enjoyed.

In a fast-reading course now being taught at a Montreal college, one of the teachers recently referred to bad reading habits common today. Among these he cites "verbalizing" as being a slowing factor and therefore harmful. This "verbalizing," a revolting word at best, used in this way, means the mental vocalizing of each word as it is read. According to this teacher, this is wrong; but we fail to understand how anyone can feel the music of poetry or the real beauty of words unless he imagines words being spoken.

Apart from spoiling the chief pleasure in reading, to cut out this "verbalizing" would deprive people of the opportunity of improving their vocabularies. If this habit, became general, we would have most people able to read and write, but unable to pronounce words correctly, a situation which exists already in far too great abundance.

In our view, the speed of reading should be the same as our speed of understanding and appreciation. We should read as fast as we can, provided we lose nothing of our understanding of the sound and meaning of words, and appreciation or criticism of their construction and application.

The lad of Wisconsin may be a genius, as far as we know, but we do not envy him his skill. At the speed he reads, most people would wear out their eye muscles long before they had grown tired of books and knowledge.

Widen Fight On Malaria

New York Times

One of the heartening things about the now greatly increased campaign against that enemy of mankind that is called malaria is that it is becoming a world-wide effort. Just as the malady is widespread and is no respecter of national boundaries, so the attack upon it must embrace a variety of peoples and agencies. This is what is happening.

The World Health Organization, a specialized agency of the United Nations, is in a position to coordinate different efforts and also to channel funds from many sources into a joint and common program. Similarly, the Pan-American Sanitary Bureau, which derives its authority from the Organization of American States, can make more effective on a regional basis the work that is being done, nation by nation. The United States, in addition to its strong support of these efforts, is also carrying out eradication projects through the International Cooperation Administration, in fifteen countries.

The scope of these efforts is important, because it is only through an attack on all sectors, simultaneously, that the ultimate victory, the eradication of the disease, can be won. Some areas are already clear and, in them, what has been done is a guide for the future in what remains to be done elsewhere.

This international aspect of the campaign has other important implications. First, it is bringing about a far more general recognition of the gravity of the malady in the total world picture. Malaria is still the world's biggest single health problem, with a greater incidence and a greater human loss than any other complaint. It is a problem for the whole human race.

Second, the ability to take action at so many different points has now raised the hopes of those who are fighting the war to a point where the goal can be changed from mere control to outright eradication. Some malariologists believe that this can be done within the next decade. If this is accomplished it will change the lives of literally hundreds of millions of [illegible] change them for the better. No great challenge could be posed. And best of all is the fresh confidence that it can be met.

Municipal Elections: The only contest in the civic elections on January 7th will be for the office of mayor and the candidates are ex-Ald. Dr. E. O. Platt and ex-Ald. W. H. Woodley, and both have filed their qualification papers. Mayor H. Freeman Ketcheson is retiring after serving two years. The required number of aldermen was elected by acclamation and are as follows: John E. Parks, Albert Robinson, James St. Charles, Charles Whelen, all members of last year's council, and the new members are Samuel Curry, William Donahue, S. P. Hagerman, Charles Hanna and Samuel H. Treverton. There was great activity at the city hall between eleven and twelve o'clock endeavoring to get the required number for aldermen to qualify. At ten o'clock no one had qaulified for mayor or alderman. Gradually a few came in and at 11.30 o'clock there were still four lacking for the required number for aldermen. The telephone failed to bring out any, many who had been nominated refused to qualify. Finally at just a few minutes before twelve o'clock the last qualification was filed — the town clock struck twelve and the council for 1918 was elected by acclamation. TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

KEEP RENEWING YOURSELF

One way to get the best of changing age is to keep renewing yourself to yourself and to all about you with whom you may come in contact. People who are alive and full of interests are the ones who inspire the work of the world. They keep chewing ideas, like the cow does its cud, but all the time practical thoughts germinate from these ideas!

Every one of us has the opportunity to renew ourself, no matter what our age. That's why we have so many great people in the world who are forever presenting new ideas and philosophies of life. They have the tang of youth ever within themselves. Call such people ageless — for such they are.

Scientists tell us that our bodies renew themselves continuously. This mind of ours needs exercise, change of scenes, and many, many interests. So does the body.

We are different human beings, even from day to day. That friend of yours, whom you knew and loved many years ago, should you see him today, would look new to you. We all change, but in the process we renew ourselves.

We can renew our thoughts, too. Increasingly can we have cheerful, pleasant thoughts, and as a consequence improved health and a happy outlook on all that life affords It is amazing how miraculously God has equipped each one of us. We should glory in the fact that we can be absolutely in control of ourselves. Because of this there can be a continuous renewing of our lives and our viewpoints.

There is always something new about scenes with which we are habitually familiar, but how true it is that nothing remains the same This should thrill us over and over again!

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

On facing the new year, we cannot help but be disturbed, ever so faintly, by the intimations, as the poets say, of a certain tightness in the budget, which is worse than having a tight belt.

I asked Ned, the proprietor of Ned's Smoke Shoppe and News Stande, how business is.

"Good," he said, "good."

"Well, uh," I said, "there have been certain indications that times may not be quite so flowery. . . ."

"I go with the hat cleaners," interrupted Ned. "I got a brother-in-law in the hat cleaning business. He has never been busier. When people start getting their hats cleaned, instead of buying new ones, it is time to pull in your horns."

"Aha," I perceived.

"The hat cleaners," said Ned," are a far better index than Dow or any of them. When the hat cleaners get busy, look out."

"Well, but Ned," I protested, "I took a hat to the hat cleaners just the other day. But it was because it was my favorite hat."

"Oh. yeah?" responded Ned. "My hunch is, there is going to be a lot of favorite hats in 1958. So any salesmen come in here, I tell them to leave their stuff on consignment."

"What does that mean, Ned?"

"It means," explained Ned," that if I sell it, I get my mark up. If I don't sell it, they take it back."

"But business is good?" I checked

"Good," said Ned, "good."

Shortage of Scientists

Cape Breton Post

If we are so short of scientists, how does it happen that the government keeps on retiring them at the age of 65 — retiring them at that age by regulation? Does the brain of a scientists cease to operate at 65? Or is it that we don't mean the things we say — or say them without conviction?

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

Hey, Defective, How Many Missing?

Yankee Stomach. That's the name I give to these familiar complaints: hyperacidity, sour stomach, heartburn, hunger pain, acid eructations, waterbrash, uneasiness from fullness after eating, bloating by gas, general crankiness and irritability engendered by these discomforts.

I do tell in the pamphlet about the simple remedy which countless correspondents have assured me is the most effective relief for Yankee stomach symptoms. The remedy doesn't cure anything, and it would be foolish to take it for any other purpose except as needed for present relief.

I believe the primary cause of Yankee Stomach in most instances is impairment of mastication by loss of teeth. Unquestionably American and Canadian teeth are the poorest in the world, with the possible exception of English teeth. Americans and Englishmen brush their teeth more than any other people. But brushing and dentifrices are harmless. So is the sugar in some fancy dentifrices. There's another and better reason why brushing is bad for the teeth. The credulous customers who practise the rite and make their children practise it harbor an notion that it prevents cavities, caries and decay — despite the obvious fact that cavities, caries and decay are at least as prevalent among tooth-brushers as among those who do not practise the rite.

True, mastication and insalivation of food and the swallowing of the bolus are under control of the will. That is to say, you can prepare the food properly (if you are not a dental cripple) and give the ptyalin a chance to act upon the starch in your food — which is an important part of the digestive process; or, if you're a glutton, toothless or unteachable, you can wolf it down in a hurry, regardless of the consequent derangement of the gastric, pancreatic, hepatic (liver, gall-bladder, bile) and intestinal stages of the digestive process. All of these digestive functions ,from the instant the food has been swallowed, are controlled by the autonomic (sympathetic, automatic) nervous system, just as breathing and the heartbeat are when you're asleep or unconscious.

The function of peristalsis, the rhythmic or wavelike movements which propel the digesting food or residues along through the bowel are as subject to such derangement as is the flow of bile or the secretion of insulin.

So is constipation and colon derangement or, as the sophomorons like to call it, "mucous colitis."

One Paper Per Household

Moncton Daily Transcript

Compilation by the Canadian Daily Newspaper Publishers Association shows that in the last thirty-five years circulation per day in Canada has increased from 1,161,326 to 3,936,834. This is a jump of 134 per cent in that period and becomes more impressive when it is realized that in the same period the population of Canada increased only 83 per cent.

An interesting basis of further comparison is gained from the last federal census which showed that Canada's 16,000,000 people are classified as 3,923,646 households, which is slightly less than the daily circulation of newspapers. It is probable, of course, that there are some families who do not get a daily newspaper delivered to their home or buy one each day. But with an average circulation greater than one per household, it is evident that almost every Canadian who wishes to, buys one or two or even more papers each day.

In this thirty-five year review it is seen that the climb had several fluctuations, but in every five-year period the increase has been substantial. The reason for this steady growth is the public's desire to know what is going on around them .It is of utmost importance to know what is happening. The first five-year period under review 1922-27, was one of steadily increasing prosperity. This was followed by the half-decade in which the depression started, but newspapers circulation continued to rise.

Then came the period of low production and unemployment, but newspapers were one necissity that could not be dispensed with. In the war years, although many were out of the country in the service of their country, the sale of daily newspapers continued to climb, for people wanted to be kept informed of events the world over. In the post-war years, as Canada gained in international stature, what was happening each day became of importance to more citizens. And during the last five years, which registered an increase of 10.22 per cent, every Canadian has come to realize the importance of being kept informed on the latest developments at home and abroad.

One good thing about these shorter days —even late risers have a chance to see the sun rise, weather permitting.

Strength for The Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

INTO THE FUTURE

We read in the book of Joshua that as this great leader of the Israelites prepared to lead these people over the Jordan, he sent officers through the midst of the camp giving certain instructions. The people were to follow the ark of God. Yet they were to keep at a respectful distance from it not only because of its awesome nature but also that they might see whither it was leading them. "For," ran the directive, "ye have not passed this way heretofore."

This is the second day of the new year. And a new year it is indeed Counting today, 364 living opportunities open out before every one of us. Yet we are filled wth the realization that we are in a strange land. We have not passed this way before. Neither has anyone else. No one save God and His angels know what the future holds for us. But let us harken to the ancient directive found in the book of Joshua. Follow after the ark of God. This holy object represented for the Israelites the presence of God in their midst.

The spiritual meaning for us is that if we would make this year happy and significant, we too must be conscious of the presence of God — His providence, His will, His power and love — and humbly every day follow after it.

Famed Engineer, George Rayner, Dies in Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—An engineer famed for projects in Northern Ontario, Niagara Falls, the St. Lawrence seaway and elsewhere, George W. Rayner, 74, died Wednesday.

He headed construction companies which built roads, canals, bridges and tunnels in Ontario and other parts of Canada.

He was president of the Rayner Construction Company Limited, which built roads and bridges in the Toronto area and highways in Ontario; Rayner Atlas Limited, which built half the twin hydraulic tunnels under Niagara Falls and Iroquois Construction Limited, which is working on the St. Lawrence Seaway project.

WORKS ON RIVER

Iroquois Contractors Limited, a syndicate of Canadian companies, has completed much of its work along the St. Lawrence River. Part of a railway relocation has been completed by this concern, as well as the Iroquois lock and canal for the Seaway Authority and channel improvements at Iroquois Point for Ontario Hydro.

Mr. Rayner, born in Suffolk, England, came to this country as a boy of seven.

He was educated in Thorold, Ont., and at the University of Toronto. He left school before completing his education and entered a boiler-making business in Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., to earn money for fees.

HELD TWO DEGREES

He graduated with two degrees, that of a mining and that of a civil engineer.

These skills and his determination fitted him ideally for pioneering tasks in Northern Ontario. At the time of the Cobalt rush he was in the vanguard of eager prospectors. He staked claims for the Coniagas Mine and also prospected in 1910 in the Queen Charlotte Islands of British Columbia.

In 1915-16 he opened a quarry for the Electrometals Co. of Buffalo, N.Y., at Killarney on the north shore of Georgian Bay. This company later became Union Carbide Co., with which Mr. Rayner was associated for more than 41 years until his death.

He accepted a contract early in his career to check the Canadian Pacific Railway roadbed from Sudbury to the Lakehead and inspected every yard of it in person on foot in the winter.

He was ironically found unfit for military service in 1915 after walking out of rugged bushland to enlist.

While at university, Mr. Rayner starred in football. He was one of the oldest supporters of the Toronto Argonaut Rowing Club and the Argonaut Football Club. In community life, he was known as a philanthropist who often gave his aid anonymously.

In Ontario he is remembered for the construction of a tunnel on the Mississagi River near Thessalon.

The station built there for the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission was named George W. Rayner generating station and an illuminated scroll was presented to him by the late Robert Saunders, Hydro chairman in 1951, as a tribute to his engineering feats.

Mr. Rayner was also acclaimed for his association with the construction of the Toronto subway, the first to be built in Canada.

Mr. Rayner was married in 1910 to Lottie Ashley, and is survived by his wife and son, Jack of Toronto.

Funeral services will be held at the Church of Messiah here Saturday morning.

Announce Plans For Big Paper Dept. in Nfld.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—If the Newfoundland legislature grants its approval, Crown Zellerbach (Canada) Ltd., will begin early this year to study the possibility of establishing a big pulp and paper project on the south coast of Newfoundland.

A joint announcement Wednesday night by Premier Smallwood of Newfoundland and company president P. T. Sinclair, said the firm has plans for mills that would produce 400 tons of newsprint and up to 2,000 tons of chemical pulp a day.

The Newfoundland cabinet has approved the plan, and it will go before the legislature which opens Jan. 20.

The announcement said the government would reserve adequate timber resources for the company and the firm would have to decide on building a mill within two years after the legislature approves the proposal. Within three years after that the company would have to establish a newsprint mill producing at least 200 tons a day. Within the next seven years production would have to increase to 400 tons a day.

AIM AT 2,000 TONS

Mr. Sinclair said the company would have to complete explorations for the pulp mill and decide whether to start construction of a 500-ton-a-day plant within a 12-year period after enactment of the statute. Production would have to increase to 2,000 tons within the following 15 years.

Newfoundland now has two operating pulp and paper mills, one at Corner Brook owned by the Bowater organization, and the other at Grand Falls where the Anglo-Newfoundland Development Company operates. These plants get their timber from west-central areas, and the new mill would be on the south coast.

The two established plants pay no direct fees to the government but Mr. Smallwood said Crown Zellerbach would pay $2 per each square mile for ground rental and $1 per cord of wood cut. The fee would be $2 a cord if the wood is exported without being processed. These rates would be adjusted annually with newsprint price changes.

Soon after the legislative approval is granted, the premier said, the company will make extensive surveys of transportation problems, the availability and quality of wood, power supply and possible plant sites. And adequate supply of timber would be supplied to the company under 99-year renewable leases.

JOBS FOR 9,000

The premier quoted company officials as saying an estimated 4,000 Newfoundlanders would eventually be employed in the mills and about 5,000 would have work in the woods. But he said these figures would not likely be reached for 10 years.

Crown Zellerbach (Canada) Ltd., is a subsidary of Crown Zellerbach Corporation which operates 18 pulp mills, 15 paper mills, 31 converting mills, two plywood mills and three chemical plants in western United States and Canada.

Mrs. Diana Woolley favored with two vocal numbers and Mrs. Evelyn Pascoe gave two humorous readings.

Woman Enjoys Running Camp In the North

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (CP) Mrs. Robert Ruttan was born and bred in the city, and her idea of roughing it used to be a camping holiday in a resort area.

Now that's all changed, and she wields an axe or saw with the best of them in her role as a tourist outfitter's wife. Since August, 1956, she has been hostess, cook, bookkeeper, chauffeur, supervisor of staff and guide for as many as 55 persons at a time at the camp she and her husband run north of Meadow Lake, 120 miles northwest of here.

Mrs. Ruttan is a university graduate, former secretary, and wife of Robert Ruttan, former game biologist in Prince Albert.

PREFERS COUNTRY

She says she often used to think she was busy when she lived in the city, "but now I often wonder just what I did." Now she knows what it's like to chop a hole in the ice for water, and haul it to the cabin before settling down to domestic tasks, which may include chopping logs for the fire.

Fay and her husband's new life in the north is the realization of a dream of long standing.

"We both had an idea we would like to cater to tourists as we thought it should be done—but I must say I never realized all that was attached to such an undertaking."

Mrs. Ruttan says there is a serenity about living in the North which is not to be found in modern city life.

[illegible] if you spend a year [illegible] North, you have [illegible] to leave. We have [illegible] and [illegible] Julie's sake, I would never give a thought to leaving the North."

Mr. and Mrs. William Stanley McQuaid are pictured with their wedding attendants following their recent marriage in St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church, Belleville. The bride is the former Miss Marie Barbara Crawford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Crawford, of Belleville, and her bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Nora McQuaid, also of Belleville, and the late Mr. McQuaid. The attendants are: Mr. Larry Des Rocher, Belleville, groomsman and Mrs. Des Rocher, matron of honor; Mr. Larry Wood, Belleville, usher, and Mrs. Wood, bridesmaid; Mr. Bernard McQuaid, Oshawa, usher, and Miss Dolores Little, Agincourt, Ontario, bridesmaid.— Photo by Loyola McCabe, Belleville.

McQUAID — CRAWFORD

St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church, Belleville, was the setting recently for a pretty wedding when Marie Barbara Crawford, of Belleville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Crawford, became the bride of William Stanley McQuaid, of Belleville, son of Mrs. Nora McQuaid, of Belleville, and the late Mr. McQuaid. The Rev. J. J. Buckley officiated before an altar adorned with white 'mums and ferns, White satin bows designated the guest pews.

Sister Rosario presided at the console of the organ and accompanied the soloist, Mr. Robert Burke, in his rendition of "Ave Maria": "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother," and "Panis Angelicus."

Given in marriage by her father, Mr. Raymond Crawford, the bride was radiant in her bridal gown of tiered white chiffon and net fashioned in waltz-length with fitted bodice having stole-streamers. She wore matching chiffon mitts and a Grace Kelly headdress with shoulder-length veil, and carried a cascade bouquet of red roses, Shasta 'mums and trailing ivy.

Mrs. Larry DesRochers, of Belleville, as matron of honor, and Mrs. Larry Wood, cousin of the bride and Miss Dolores Little, also cousin of the bride, of Agincourt, as bridesmaids, were gowned alike in red velvet gowns on waltz-length, with white feathered headdress, and carrying bouquets of white 'mums in muff effect.

Mr. Larry DesRochers, of Belleville, attended the bridegroom, while Mr. Larry Wood, of Belleville, and Mr. Bernard McQuaid, of Oshawa, brother of the bridegroom, ushered the guests.

Following the ceremony, the reception was held at the Army and Navy Veterans Hall, where the bride's table was prettily appointed with white linen damask, centred by a three-tier wedding cake topped by a miniature bride and bridegroom and misted about the base with white tulle, and clusters of white, baby 'mums.

The bride's mother received, wearing a taupe-colored gown, with matching accessories and corsage of yellow roses. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother who was attired in blue with matching accessories, and corsage of pink and white roses.

For the wedding trip through the United States, the bride chose a pale blue wool ensemble with matching accessories, topped by a muskrat jacket with corsage of white roses. Mr. and Mrs. McQuaid will reside at 190 Bleeker Avenue, Belleville.

The bride, previous to her marriage was entertained at a miscellaneous shower held at the home of Mrs. Larry DesRochers; at a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mr. Edward McQuaid; at a presentation from the girls of the Northern Electric Company of an electric percolator. A stag party was held for the bridegroom by friends of the Northen Electric, when he was presented with a piece of luggage.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

CONCERNING "MIXED SHOWERS"

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

How do you feel about the proposal of giving a "mixed shower"? My fiance and I have been to only one — it was a shower given for both the bride-to-be and the groom-to-be, and was given in the evening — but lately I have heard of several more. To me they make sense, for today most brides-to-be have jobs that keep them busy on weekdays, when showers-for-girls-only can be given. A very dear friend of mine has just become engaged, and she is to be married in March. She's a "working gal" too, works even n Saturday mornings, and, if you approve, we'd like to give a mixed shower for her and her fiance, on a Saturday evening, about a month before the wedding. They are both music-lovers, principally of classical music, and we are considering giving them a Records Shower, since this would mean gifts for both of them.
— Pat

I agree with you that today, in many circumstances like the ones you name, "mixed showers" do make sense, make it easy for brides-to-be who work weekdays, and are great fun, particularly for a group that includes married couples and engaged couples. (I must confess that I'd still like to have the bride-to-be given at least one "les girls" shower!) You have an inspired idea to give the couple a Records Shower . . . if you're all not sure about what records they would like, you might pool funds and give them a Gift Certificate on a store or music department that specializes in records.

SMOKING UNAFFECTED

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. agriculture department said Thursday publicity linking excessive cigaret smoking with lung cancer is not affecting consumption of cigarets to any appreciable extent. The report said the sales of cigarets this year will total about 441,000,000,000 or four per cent above last year and one per cent above the previous record high set in 1952.

THE Family COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Shelley M. — Henry is floundering in his career.

Henry M. — I want to do work I enjoy.

Shelley M — My husband and I have been married three years and have no children yet. I would like to wait until he can get settled in a decent job before we start our family, but the prospect seems to get farther away all the time.

Henry had a well-paying job when we got married, but he was very dissatisfied because he said his boss was nuts and didn't give him a chance to do things right. He took another job at less pay, saying he wanted to get a start in a new field, but he gave up that job because he began to feel it would lead to nothing.

For the past year he has had a bunch of "stop-gap" jobs way beneath his ability and educational background. I think he should go back to his old field where he made the best money.

Henry M. — Shelley has become a regular nag. All she thinks about is money, money, money. We haven't starved yet, I have been bringing home a weekly pay check, so I don't see what the big squawk is about.

I am trying to get into some work I really enjoy doing. So far I just haven't been able to land it, but I know if I just keep trying, something will turn up.

I think Shelley ought to be more co-operative Things have been tough enough for me in the past few years and she just tears down my morale. She keeps throwing up at me how much better all my friends are doing and how I've just "gone to pot" jobwise since we've been married. After all, I've got some feelings and it certainly doesn't help to hear things like that.

The Council: Well, we're all for happiness on the job and we're willing to agree that money isn't "everything," but we wonder exactly how much joy Henry expects to get at his work and how much he is willing to pay for it.

If Henry made up his mind that he is happiest doing a particular kind of low, but adequate-paying work, we'd say he has a point. He should, however, consider whether he is willing to sacrifice certain benefits for his family in the interest of this cause.

But when Henry looks for some undefined bluebird of happiness at his job and insists that "something will turn up" if he takes stop-gap, low-paying jobs long enough, we begin to worry. It sounds as though he has manoeuvred himself into a painful, humiliating situation, from which he can dream about the never-never land of a happy job.

No, we don't think nagging is good for Henry's morale, but we think he should try to confront by himself some of the painful questions his wife raises. Why does he work for less and less pay, when he should be improving his skills and earning more as the years go on? Why does he work on a level below his ability and educational background? Specifically, what form of happiness does he expect from his job?

Henry needs to re-evaluate his situation and determine a course that will bring him a degree of success in some area.

WEE WOMEN

"You remember Walter from high school, don't you, Selma?"

Time of Reckoning

By Mary Moore

Is it time for me to mention that dreary word "economy?"

It is in our house.

But our efforts to economize turned out fine for when I made macaroni and cheese it was so good I knew you would welcome it. Also Gary loved it and thereby we saved a tin or so of junior baby foods. He found the refrigerator door open and helped himself to a little dishful that was to have been his lunch. Don't tell me babies are helpless!

EMEM'S MACARONI AND CHEESE

One and one-half cups dry macaroni, 3 tablespoons butter, 3 tablespoons flour, 1½ cups milk, ½ lb. grated cheddar cheese, ½ cup buttered crumbs, ½ teaspoon salt. Cook macaroni in boiling salted water 20 or 25 minutes. Drain very thoroughly and pour a small amount of cold water over it. Melt butter, blend in flour and then add milk gradually, stirring constantly. Cook until thick and smooth. Add the grated cheese, reserving ½ cup to be mixed with the crumbs for the top. Add salt. Continue to cook until cheese is melted. Combine two third of this sauce with the cooked macaroni in casserole. Pour rest of sauce over top and sprinkle with the ½ cup cheese which was mixed with the buttered crumbs. Bake about 30 minutes at 425 deg. Fahr., or until top is brown. Serves 4 or 5.

TURKEY HASH

(Chicken may be used instead of turkey if desired.) Three cups chopped turkey, 2 cups diced hot boiled potatoes, ¼ cup turkey fat or butter, 3 tablespoons parsley, salt and pepper to taste, 1 cup stock, milk or water. Mix the turkey and the potatoes lightly together. Melt the fat, add the potato and meat, parsley, seasoning and stock, and cook over medium heat until gold crust forms on bottom. Fold to serve. If desired ¼ cup of chopped green peppers may be added and is recommended.

To give character to an ordinary stew try adding

HERB DUMPLINGS

One cup flour, 1½ teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon mixed powdered herbs — such as thyme, marjoram, savory or your own choice, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ cup milk. Sift flour, baking powder and salt. Add mixed herbs. Mix to a light dough a little softer than biscuit dough with milk. Drop by small spoonfuls into hot stew, cover tightly, and boil 15 minutes, without peeking, over low heat. Note: If desired, ½ cup tomato juice may be used in place of milk.

Companies Being Insistent On Right-to-Work, Punitive Clauses in New Contracts

TORONTO (CP) — For nine months, 500 workmen carried their tools up 12 flights of stairs — but the Ontario government may see that it never happens again.

The plight of the foot - weary workmen has been laid before a provincial legislature committee as an example of Ontario's tangled labor legislation.

The 11-member committee has held 27 public sittings and considered 42 briefs. Nine more are on hand to be considered and 17 more are expected.

The result may be an entire new Labor Relations Act — the first in 10 years—or it could be the amending of present legislation.

UNION AT ODDS

The stair - climbing carpenters were cited in a brief to the committee from a construction firm. It concerned a construition elevator built at the site of a downtown Toronto skyscraper.

One union contended its members should run the elevator because it carried passengers. Another claimed the right because it carried cargo. The company offered to put one man from each union on the lift at all times and was turned down.

"As a result," says committee secretary Harold Perkins, "500 men carried their tools up 12 flights of stairs for nine months."

This sort of jurisdictional dispute is one of the major problems facing the committee.

OTHER DIFFERENCES

Mr. Perkins, a former federal industrial relations officer brought out of retirement for his present job, says there are others.

"The companies want punitive measures written into the act, whereas the unions want improvement in conciliation procedure to eliminate delays."

Companies are insistent on right-to-work clauses and punitive measures in any new legislation. Unions want protection from interference during negotiations or organization.

James Mloney, Renfrew South Progressive Conservative, heads the committee which has seven other members of the government party, one Liberal, one Liberal-Labor and one CCF.

Mr. Perkins says the committee is giving special study to the British Columbia Act, under which recently the teamsters' union was fined $2,500 for requiring an independent truck driver—"in effect an employer"—to join their union.

"They were forcing him to commit an illegal act and were fined for it. In Ontario, labor unions are immune from suit."

MATTER OFF AUTHORITY

Such immunity, Mr. Perkins said, can lead to strike violence because police are vague on just how much authority they have in union disputes and where an illegal labor practice ends and a criminal act begins.

"The manufacturing organizations are recommending unions be subject to suit in the courts for unlawful labor acts. In Ontario criminal courts, labor is a delicate subject."

On the other hand, unions such as the United Electrical Radio and Machine Workers of America (CLC) request enforcement of regulations providing for automatic certification where management is found to have attempted to influence employees during a union-organizing campaign.

"They want teeth in section 45 which prohibits employers from interfering with formation or administration of a trade union," Mr. Perkins said.

"We may come up with amendments to the present act—or we may have to write an entirely new act."

STUDY U.S. ACT

The committee is going to take "a long look" at the United States Labor-Management Relations Act of 1947—the Taft-Hartley Act—which requires unions to file certificates that they have never had Communist affiliation. It also requires filing of financial statements by unions.

"Communism isn't much of a problem in Canada," Mr. Perkins said. "But there have been requests by employees that unions be required to file financial statements."

"The U.S. is away ahead of Ontario in its labor laws. We have developed more slowly and less violently."

The Saskatchewan labor code will be studied for its provisions which "supply labor with such things as compulsory check-off of union dues."

"In Ontario, the act says check-off is a subject for negotiation between union and employer and none of the provincial government's business," Mr. Perkins said. "Yet many of the gold mines of Northern Ontario, for example, just refuse to discuss the subject."

Right - to - work legislation is asked by employer groups. Under Ontario law, an employer is required to dismiss an employee expelled from a union with a closed-shop agreement.

NEW PROCEDURE

In a brief, Prof. H. D. Woods, director of the industrial relations centre at McGill University, proposed a new conciliation procedure combining the best in U.S. and Canadian experience.

This included abandonment of the compulsory conciliation board and placing conciliation officers on a voluntary basis. He suggested the establishing of conciliation boards when jointly requested by the parties involved, carrying the legal compulsion to refrain from strike or lockout.

Prof. Woods also contended power should be given the government to declare a dispute an emergency and establish a conciliation board. In such a case, there would be no strike or lockout and the findings of the board would be binding.

With the exception of the negotiating of a first contract, Prof. Woods proposed the unions be free to strike at any time during negotiations—even while a conciliation officer is attempting to get an agreement.

SUPREME COURT JUSTICE BECOMES LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR

Former Ontario Supreme Court justice, Hon. J. Keiller Mackay has been sworn in as lieutenant-goverinor of the province. With him his family, Alastair, 12; Jamie, eight; Mrs. Mackay and Iian 13. He succeeds Hon. Louis O. Breithaupt, incumbent since 1952.

Wide Changes In Defence Dept. Will Be Urged

NEW YORK (AP)—President Eisenhower will be urged to make fundamental changes in the organization and philosophy of the defence department, says the New York Times.

The recommendation, The Times says in a Washington dispatch, is contained in the first of a series of "Rockefeller reports" to be published today.

The Times story continues:

The reports have been in preparation for 15 months. They attempt to foresee the major security, economic, political and social problems facing the United States in the next 15 years in the light of new Soviet challenges.

The first report recommends the appointment of a single military chief of staff to the president and the secretary of defence, over the joint chiefs of staff. The proposed chief of staff would be charged with seeing that unified advice on policy and execution of policy is achieved.

Also recommended is increased expenditure of about $1,000,000,000 on defence and related matters, including education, in the coming budget.

Ben-Gurion Starts Talks to Form New Government

President Izhak Ben-Zvi asked the veteran Israeli leader Wednesday to try to put together a new cabinet. After talking with leaders of all 10 political parties, Ben-Zvi urged Ben-Gurion to take the same five parties back into the government.

Ben-Gurion provisionally accepted the assignment. He said he would demand that the new ministers maintain complete secrecy on all cabinet talks related to security and foreign policy.

The 71-year-old Mapai party leader quit with an angry accusation that two ministers of the left-wing Achduth Avodah (Labor Unity) party broke a cabinet agreement to preserve complete secrecy in all matters of security and foreign policy and refused to promise not to do it again.

Ben-Gurion has also been feuding with the left-wing Mapami (United Workers) over cabinet unity Mapami and Achduth Avodah each had two ministers in the two-year-old 16-member cabinet. The old government is remaining on a caretaker basis until a new one is formed.

The secret which Achduth Avodah leaked was over sending a mission to West Germany to seek arms. Opposition members of Parliament have hinted that the government wanted to buy submarines to counter the Soviet subs Egypt recently acquired.

The left ministers objected to dealing with the Germans because of Nazi persecution of the Jews and also were reported opposed to the makeup of the mission.

80 Canadians Die Violent Deaths During 2 Holidays

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

At least 16 Canadians were killed by chance at the turning of the year.

Twelve died in traffic accidents. An Ontario woman was struck by a train as she walked the tracks, a man was burned to death in British Columbia and in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick a youngster and a youth were accidentally shot to death.

A Canadian Press survey showed Ontario had four dead from 6 p.m. local time to midnight Wednesday, British Columbia and Nova Scotia three each; Alberta and Quebec both two, and Manitoba and New Brunswick one each.

Saskatchewan, Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland kept a clean slate

FEW ARRESTS

Police throughout the country reported, with mixed pride and puzzlement, few arrests for driving after drinking. They credited the low number to stepped-up warnings, poor weather and plain common sense on the part of most motorists.

Montreal police reported not a single drunk driving charge laid during the holiday and credited the clean sheet to a law which closes the city's bars and clubs early New Year's Eve.

In Toronto police heaved a sigh of relief as the city ushered the new year in quietly. There was no major violence or crime in the city New Year's Eve and only eight motorists were charged with drunken or impaired driving.

Snowfalls in Northern Ontario kept traffic light. Provincial Police at Sault Ste. Marie said:

"We've really been clamping down on drivers but not much traffic has been moving."

Similar reports came from North Bay, Sudbury, the Lakehead and Kingston.

TWO AT LONDON

Two were charged with drunken driving at London. Said Staff Sgt. Fred Bruce:

"This was a successful year. The weather probably had something to do with it, but we believe that the public helped a great deal by being more safety-conscious and more careful in driving cars."

On fatalities, there was little basis for comparison with last New Year's record, when New Year's Day fell on a Tuesday and accidental deaths were compiled over a four - day period. Forty-eight persons were killed during the 1956-57 holiday, 29 in traffic accidents. The year before a record 61 were killed during a 3¼-day period, 39 on the roads.

EXCEED ESTIMATE

Traffic deaths in the 8½ days from noon Dec. 24 to midnight Jan. 1 this year totalled 89, far exceeding the 53 predicted by the Canadian Highway Safety Conference.

The 89 total broke down this way: 42 during the Christmas holiday; 35 up to Tuesday evening; and 12 during the New Year's holiday.

Quebec had the most road deaths during the holiday season—33; Ontario had 26, Nova Scotia and Alberta eight each, British Columbia seven, New Brunswick four, Manitoba two and Saskatchewan one.

Last year 80 Canadians died in traffic during the two holidays and 87 the year before.

Ontario deaths included:

At Brampton two men were killed and four others injured early New Year's Day in a head-on collision on Highway 7.

Dead are John Mulligan, 25, of Toronto, driver of one car, and a passenger in the other car, Peter Fagan, 53, of Brampton.

Three passengers in the Mulligan car were admitted to hospital with undetermined injuries. The driver of the second car, Archibald Kay, 30, of Brampton, was treated and released.

TWO WOMEN DIE

Two women were killed Tuesday night in a two-car crash on Highway 28 a mile north of Lakefield near Peterborough.

Dead are Mrs. W. W. McKim, 40, of Peterborough and Mrs. Ernest Dunford, 50, of Lakefield.

Head injuries were suffered by Mrs. Dunford's husband, 55, the driver of one car, and S. Pritchard, 60, driver of the car carrying Mrs. McKim. Police said the crash occurred when one of the cars pulled out onto the highway at a curve.

Mrs. Edith Morin, 23, Detroit was killed Tuesday when a car driven by her husband Thomas, 23, smashed into a tractor-trailer on Highway 98 near Windsor.

Police said the couple's car apparently went out of control in new-fallen snow and collided with the truck at an intersection.

Mr. Morin, 23, was in "improved" condition in a Windsor hospital after suffering severe head, back and chest injuries.

HIT BY CAR

Alfred Wever, about 65, whose last known address was Ayton, Ont., was killed Tuesday night when he was hit by a car as he walked along Highway 9 two miles south of Mildway. Police said the driver of the car was Daniel Trushinski, 19, of Walkerton.

Brian Moorehead, 21, died Tuesday in hospital at Toronto six hours after he was accidentally shot in the chest with a .22-calibre revolver. Police said the gun discharged while a friend, Wray Goodwins, was explaining its mechanism.

Maggie Oskineegisk, 46, was killed Tuesday night when struck by a CNR train while walking along the track a mile from her home at Auden, 140 miles northeast of Port Arthur.

You can't go 'ALL-OUT' If you feel 'ALL-IN'

These days most people work under pressure, worry more, sleep less. This strain on body and brain makes physical fitness easier to lose—harder to regain. Today's tense living, lowered resistance, overwork, worry—any of these may affect normal kidney action. When kidneys get out of order, excess acids and wastes remain in the system. Then backache, disturbed rest, that "tired-out" heavy-headed feeling often follow. That's the time to take Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's stimulate the kidneys to normal action. Then you feel better—sleep better—work better. Ask for Dodd's Kidney Pills at any drug counter. 93

Ainsworth (right) and his helper risk angering the spirits as they lower a totem pole to its new position on the ground floor of the old Vancouver city library, now being converted to a museum. The totem pole had been stored in an attic. A rope is tied to beak of the fierce thunderbird, top man on the 15-foot pole. (CP Photo).

Forecasts by Three Major Networks Varied and Candid

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — Although television journalism has been of age for some time now, its development was forcefully evident to all who saw the year-end reviews and forecasts by the three major networks.

All varied in format. Each showed superiority over past efforts.

For a long time CBS - TV appeared ascendant in the field of news coverage and interpretation. This no longer is the case. The news staffs gathered by NBC around Chet Huntley and by ABC under John Daly leave no Network with a clear advantage in the field of news.

Daly, on ABC Sunday, chose a plain and forthright presentation of the news of 1957 and the outlook for 1958. Huntley and his staff on NBC chose a more elaborate approach. Edward R. Murrow and CBS correspondents remained with their traditional round - table discussion method following a full hour of straight news review by Robert Trout.

CBS and NBC correspondents enjoyed editorial comment, a luxury every reporter desires. ABC correspondents were more closely confined to the facts of the news—and let the facts speak for themselves.

The conclusions by all three networks were the same, whether enunciated or implied:

Americans, as a nation, are in troubled times. The problems of racial integration show that their own house is not in order. In the international arena they have lost strength. They desire strong leadership. They must tighten their belts economically and foster their best intellects if they are to remain a first-class power.

It was a pleasure to hear such freedom of expression on television, a medium so frequently accused of timidity.

WHICH IS BEST?

The Sunday telecasts raised the question in one viewer's mind as to whether there is a "best" way to present news on the home screen as long as it is forthrightly expressed with no punches pulled. Perhaps one's preference depends on the mood of the moment.

CBS's round - table method, first on the screen, seemed ideal until NBC appeared next with its correspondents seated on stands in a circle. The effect on this viewer was preferable to the round-table. You had the reaction of being inside looking out, rather than outside looking in, as with the CBS round table.

On ABC, Daly wisely abandoned circles of correspondents, which could have become monotonous. Shunning all dramatics, he played it straight and most effectively, with correspondents speaking directly to viewers and film used when it was essential.

Last year, by the way, ABC-TV did not attempt a year - end roundup. Its excellent program this year should encourage the network in its news and public affairs plans.

These unsponsored programs cost the networks large sums of money. If prosperity encourages more of this kind of program may 1958 be highly prosperous for all of them.

GREAT BAY

Gaspe Bay on the south-east coast of Gaspe Peninsula extends 15 miles inland with average width of five miles.

AT THE PARK — Virginia Mayo is trapper by Michael Ansara, a renegade gunman and killer in this scene from Allied Artist's "The Tall Stranger", in which she starred with Joel McCrea. The picture filmed in CinemaScope and Color by Deluxe, now showing at the Park Theatre and has a cast that also include Barry Kelly, George N. Neise, Michael Pate, Philip Phillips and Ray Teal. On the same program and in color "Sabu and the Magic Ring". Both features are first Belleville showings. Matinee daily at 2.00 p.m.

Little Benny's Notebook

Pop was smoking behind his paper, and ma said, William, how's the insurants bizzness?

Being pop's bizzness, and he said, If it was any werse it would dissappeer entirely.

Then that's where I come in, ma said, and pop said, Heh?

I was talking to Sara Berns, ma said. Her husband is some kind of an important executive, she said, and pop said, That's the best kind.

Anyway, he does a lot of flying, ma said. In fact he's up in the air more than he's down on his feet, and that's sutch a doubtful situation that Sara told me he's going to take out an exter insurants policy for a hunderd thousand dollers. So I suggested in an off hand, disinterested way that you would be glad to write it out for him in your company. You would, wouldn't you, William? she said, and pop said, And how.

Well then it's all settled, because Sara told me she's sure her husband will let you do it, ma said, and pop said, What? Really? That's terrific.

Well, I dont want to seem mercenerry, William, but dont you think I ought to have a slite little reward as a nominal tribute to my bizzness ability? ma said, and pop said, My dear, you shall have the handsomest nominal tribute you can find in a joolry store.

All right then, all you have to do is stop in at his office and talk him into it, ma said. Naturelly Sara is rather sensitive about mentioning it to him herself, being his wife and chief beneficiary and everything, she said, and pop said, Yee gods, Santa Claws has come and gone.

And he got back behind his paper and stayed there.

Movie Column

Only 8 Pictures Shooting In Hollywood at Present

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The film industry greets the new year with one of the lowest production schedules in years — only eight pictures shooting in Hollywood.

But the outlook is not as grim as it seems. The studios are full of plans to speed up production after the seasonal letdown. And reports from the theatres have buoyed up hopes that audiences can be lured back to movies. The blue - ribbon holiday attractions are doing fine business.

Nor is the economic outlook bad for movie workers. Although the major studios are slowed down to a crawl, no less than 79 television series are being filmed in Hollywood. . . .

The screen is getting franker and franker. In A Farewell to Arms, Jennifer Jones refers to herself as a lady of the evening, using the common word. Oldtimers don't recall ever hearing the word in a movie before. . . .

It's a sad sight to see Paramount requesting a postponement of Elvis Presley's call - up. Not because there's anything wrong in the delay. But because it's sorrowful to see a once - proud studio seeking salvation with the Presley brand of entertainment. . . .

Greater love hath no actor. Carl Reiner had to pass up a big role in Tunnel of Love with Glenn Ford and Doris Day though he had been here for weeks getting ready for the picture. The reason: He has to return to New York to begin the new Sid Caesar-Imogene Coca show Jan. 26.

The same thing happened to the comic - straight man last spring. He told me he was offered a star-making role (the one Ernie Kovacs played in Operation Mad Ball?) but turned it down regretfully.

"I couldn't leave Sid," Reiner remarked. "The picture would have taken me off the show during the last five weeks, when Sid was physically and psychologically low because NBC was dropping us."

AT THE McCARTHY — Magnetic David Niven stars with June Allyson in Universal-International's uproariously shocking romantic comedy success "My Man Godfrey", filmed in CinemaScope and color now at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

ALL OVER!

Outside of recalling those resolutions, made yesterday under pressure of ice-caps and bromos, the celebrative world can dig in for a fresh start.

It did a fine job at the old-year obsequies, and the baptismal rites of the up-coming twelve-month representative. It fired many a "shot" as the old boy rolled over and died, and doubled the volleys when Kid 1958 stepped into the ring.

"There were sounds of revelry by night," and not a few echoes were sounding when the cold grey dawn of the morning after broke over a joyless world and the "never-agains" took up their annual chorus.

Reports had it that city celebrants had a whale of a time with nothing much resulting that a half ton of bromos and aspirin and a few hours sleep couldn't cure. This morning the tongue-fuzz and woozy noggins had disappeared with the resolutions and a celebrative world was basck to normal with another strenuous year immediately ahead.

This department and family had a "ringside table at Guy Lombardo's New Year's party in the Hotel Roosevelt grill in New York, and had a whale of a time—until 12.15 a.m. when the commercials came on and the television screen showed a preview of the "late show."

The prize package of the gridiron gifts was that terrific game between the Ohio State Buckeyes and the Oregon Ducks or Webfeet as they are called. The underdog Ducks astounded a crowd of 100,000 with a dazzling two-way display against the heavily favored Big Ten champions.

As was the case in other bowl games fumbles paved the way to victory, one lone bobble ultimately proving the difference between victory and defeat for the Pacific coast crew.

Three fumbles and interceptions were actually the difference despite the score between the Oklahoma Sooners and the Blue Devils of Duke University in the colorful Orange Bowl classic. A 94-yard run early in the game by the Sooners' Frank Baker, who caught a punt in the end zone and ran it all the way for the touchdown featured the classic.

While the youngsters are in last place in the league standing they play a good brand of hockey and tonight will go all-out to avenge the defeat they suffered the last time they played the Kingston crew.

The Cornwall Chevies haven't been doing so well of late and with a few days' rest under their collective belts they should be tough nuts to crack tomorrow night. It is reported their playing coach Bob Bingley, who has been out with injuries and George Aitken also sidelined with hurts will be back in the line-up tomorrow night and this pair should strengthen the Chevies considerably.

The McFarlands, still smarting under that defeat handed them at Whitby last week when the Dunnies turned on all their power faucets in a terrific second-period explosion, should be back in a victory mood too. They are in third place at present, a point behind the rampaging Ottawa-Hull Canadiens and one point in front of the Pembroke Lumber Kings who they meet here next Tuesday night in what should be a thriller for second and third places.

Sparked by the terrific performance of Bobby Attersley, the Whitby Dunlops increased their top-slot lead to 12 points last night with an 8-3 victory over Kingston.

Attersley's deadly shooting eye was right on target as the blonde bomber of the Dunlops whistled four pucks into the net, equalling Russ Kowalchuk's league record. The Whitby centre now has 24 goals in 27 games, and takes over the loop goal-getting leadership from Kingston's Roy Partridge. The Dunnies have won 22 of their last 24 games.

Hearts Blank Hibernians in Scot Soccer

LONDON (Reuters) — Scotland's traditional New Year's Day soccer program was played under tricky conditions on icy ground, but did not produce any freak results.

The meeting of Hearts and Hibernian, top teams in the Scottish First Division, provided the anticipated good game though icy ground hampered play. Hearts, by winning 2-0, pulled to a nine-point lead over Hibernian for the league crown.

Clyde, with two games in hand over Hearts and Hibernian, managed to tie 2-2 with Partick Thistle and remain in third place.

There was no change in the Second Division leadership as first-place Stirling Albion routed Berwick Rangers 5-0, second-place Dunfermline won 1-0 over Cowdenbeath and third place Dumbarton beat Morton 4-0.

Marlins Must Find Stadium By Jan. 22

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—President Frank Shaughnessy of the International League said Tuesday the Marlins baseball club must find a place to play its games by Jan. 22 if Miami is to keep the team.

The league holds its schedule meeting on the date named by Shaughnessy. He said three other cities are seeking Miami's franchise but named only Jersey City, N.J.

The Marlins are without a home field because of problems involving a concession contract at Miami Stadium where they formerly played.

The possibility of using the Orange Bowl is being explored although it is designed for use as a football stadium.

Rash of Injuries, Penalties In 2nd-Period Free-for-All Feature Habs 4-3 Victory

By KENNEDY WELLS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

New years come and old years go but in the National Hockey League the Montreal Canadiens and Gordie Howe apparently go on forever.

Canadiens greeted the New Year Wednesday night with a 4-3 victory over Boston Bruins to take a seemingly insurmountable 10-point lead in the NHL standings. Howe, Detroit Red Wings' great right-winger, hailed 1958 in the same way he said goodbye to '57—by scoring two goals.

Despite his pair of goals the fourth-place Wings went down 4-3 to Chicago Black Hawks while Howe's two goals New Year's Eve in Detroit gave Wings a 3-2 win over Hawks.

TIES HENRY

The four goals raised the veteran star's total to 19 this season. He's tied with New York Rangers' Camille Henry for the league lead in this department, and put him in third place in the point race with two less than the leader, Canadiens' Henri Richard Both Richard and his teammate Dickie Moore, who holds down second place with 40 points, collected a point to retain their spots at the head of the race.

A wild-second - period brawl that lasted nine minutes overshadowed goalie Al Millar's NHL debut in Boston.

The battle started with a scuffle between Richard and Bruins' Fern Flaman. Soon both teams had committed all their players to the fray and four policemen took to the ice to stop it, but retreated quickly when one of their number was thrown to the ice and pummelled.

GET MAJORS

When the air had cleared Richard, Flaman, Canadiens' Bernie Geoffrion and Boston's Jack Bionda were given five-minute major penalties.

When they weren't fighting, Canadiens got goals from the sticks of Richard, Geoffrion and Claude Provost who scored twice. Real Chevrefils, Leo Labine and Bronco Horvath scored the Boston goals.

Millar, who was brought up from Quebec Aces of the Quebec Hockey League to replace injured Don Simmons in the Boston nets, stopped 32 shots while Jacques Plante made 33 saves at the other end of the ice.

In Chicago Eddie Litzenberger broke a 16-game slump with his 11th and 12 goals this season. They came in the second and third periods as the Hawks, still in last place, took revenge for their New Year's Eve loss to Detroit.

HAD TWO-GOAL LEAD

Ron Murphy gave Hawks a 1-0 lead in the first period and rearguard Pierre Pilote made it 2-0 in the second. Then Howe scored the first of his two, but Litzenberger counted to make it 3-1. In the third Detroit put on a drive to pull the game out of the fire and Billy McNeil made it 3-2, but once again big Eddie scored and Wings could only manage one more—Howe's at 17:59.

Tuesday night the right-winger slashed through three Chicago defenders in the third period while his team was a man short and beat Glenn Hall to give Wings a 3-2 victory. His first provided a 1-0 first-period lead. Forbes Kennedy, acquired from Hawks last spring, scored the other Detroit goal.

Chicago's scorers were Pilote again and Eddie Kachur.

BOSTON (AP) — Montreal Canadiens and Boston Bruins still were licking their wounds today after one of the roughest National Hockey League games within memory of local fans.

Twenty-seven penalties, including seven majors and a 10-minute misconduct, were doled out Wednesday night in Montreal's 4-3 victory.

Leo Labine, Boston right winger, was taken to hospital immediately after the contest for an operation on a broken tendon on the third finger of his right hand. Labine also got five scalp stitches in the emergency repair department.

For the Canadiens, Henri Richard collected six stitches in the head and Dickie Moore came off with a multiple facial cuts.

FREE-FOR-ALL

Their injuries, for the most part, were the result of a second period free-for-all which lasted nine minutes, cleared both benches and even drew two players from the penalty box.

Tempers flared when Armstrong and Andre Pronovost tangled at 10:25. Both drew major and minor penalties. Fifteen seconds later, Boston's Fernie Flaman and Richard came together on the boards to touch off the main event.

Four policemen ventured on the ice in an effort to aid officials to break up the brawl but retreated hastily after one of them was flattened and pummeled under a hail of blows. Even after hostilities were ended, it was an additional six minutes before the game could resume.

Wins Annual Ten-Mile Race

HAMILTON (CP) — Gordon Dickson, of the Hamilton Olympic Club, won the 37th annual Hamilton YMCA's 10-mile New Year's Day road race.

In the junior three-mile event, Billy Reynolds of Galt, clipped nine seconds off the record time set in 1957 by Jim Irons, Brampton, as he led a field of 25 runners to the finish line in 14:40.

Bruce Andrews, Guelph Legion, who ran second, also broke the old mark by completing the distance four seconds behind Reynolds.

Dickson's time in the senior race was 53:10. He was 1:18 off the record set by Galt's Cliff Bricker in 1928. Joe Bessel of Buffalo led until the nine-mile mark and finished second.

Teepees Down St. Mike's 5-2; Flyers Nip Cubs

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Coach Rudy Pilous got a rousing send-off Wednesday as he left St. Catharines Teepees to take over Chicago Black Hawks, deep in the National Hockey League cellar.

Teepees, leaders in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series, treated their departing mentor and 3,000 fans to a 5-2 win over Toronto St. Michael's. It gave them a nine-point lead in the standings.

At Barrie, defenceman Lloyd Haddon scored three times to lead third-place Hamilton Cubs to a 4-1 victory over Barrie Flyers, in sixth place, and in Guelph the last-place Biltmores squeezed out a 3-2 win over fourth-place Peterborough Petes.

FIRST IN SEVEN GAMES

The loss in St. Catharines was St. Michael's first in seven games and kept them from gaining a fourth - place tie with Peterborough. Captain Stan Mikita scored twice for Teepees, who led 5-0 going into the third period. Matt Ravlich, Gino Robazza and Ted Wright scored the other Teepee goals and Hank Marezak and Lou Angotti scored for St. Michael's.

Haddon scored two of his goals in the second after a scoreless first period and added the third in the third as Flyers were outshot 47-32. Don Blackburn scored the fourth Hamilton goal, also in the second, and Bob Blackburn knocked in the only Barrie score.

Biltmores and Petes matched goals in the first and second periods at Guelph but the winners scored an unanswered tally in the third to come out on top.

Don Grosso, Don MacGregor and Leon Rochford were the Guelph marksmen, two of the goals coming while Petes were a man short. Gary Darling and Bill Mahoney scored for Peterborough.

Fourth-Quarter Field Goal Gives Buckeyes 10-7 Victory

By FRITZ HOWELL

[illegible]DENA, Calif. (AP). — Ohio State Buckeyes should chip in to have third-string halfback Don Sutherin's right shoe goldplated as a going-away present.

The 194-pound senior came off the bench to boot a fourth-quarter field goal from the 24-yard line Wednesday, giving his team a squeaky 10-7 verdict over the underdog Oregon Webfoots before 98,202 football fans in the 44th Rose Bowl game.

Without the kick the Buckeyes, undefeated winners of the Big Ten Conference title three times in the last four years, could have been tied by the thrice-beaten 19-point underdogs.

PRAISED HIGHLY

As it turned out, the Pacific Coast Conference co-champions were given high praise for their showing. The coast conference, which has seen its representatives drop 11 of the 12 games [illegible] western conference foes [illegible] 1947, figured this one was a moral victory.

And it came close to being more than that as the Webfoots outgained Ohio State 351 to 294 yards and had 21 first downs to Ohio's 19.

The scoring was short and sweet. The Bucks took the opening kickoff 79 yards in 13 plays from their first touchdown, quarterback Frank Kremblas sneaking for the counter after throwing a 37-yard "third and 18" pass to sophomore end Jim Houston on the one-yard line. Kremblas converted.

80-YARD DRIVE

The Webfoots marched 80 yards in 10 plays, in a drive which bridged the first-second quarter intermission, with halfback Jim Shanley taking a pitchout from quarterback Jack Crabtree and circling end for five yards as halfback Charley Tourville swept K[illegible]las out of the scoring path wi[illegible] hard block. Fullback Jack Morris booted the conversion.

In the third quarter Morris, who had kicked four of five field goal attempts in the 10-game regular season, missed by inches a three-pointer from the 24-yard line. The Bucks took over on the 20, and in 13 plays, all on the ground, battered their way to the Webfoot 17.

With only 58 seconds gone in the final period, Sutherin came off the bench, and with Kremblas holding, angled a 24-yard placekick between the uprights for the winning margin. It was a thrilling college career finish for Sutherin who has been unable to practice kicking for weeks because of a lame back.

ENTERS THIRD ROUND

[illegible]MPA, Fla. (AP) — Susan [illegible] of Victoria, B.C., Wednesday defeated Sandy Warsaw of Tampa, Fla., 6-0, 4-6, 6-1 in a second-round match in the Dixie tennis tournament. In another second-round match, Inge Weber of Kitcheer lost 6-0, 6-1 to Maria Burne of Brazil.

Bears Lead Cut Barons Lose To Providence

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cleveland Barons not only lost a chance to close in on the front-running Hershey Bears in the American Hockey League but today their hold on second place is in jeopardy.

Barons dropped a 4-3 decision to Providence Reds Wednesday night while Hershey was losing to the last-place Springfield Indians 3-1 and saw their lead over the third-place Reds reduced to two points. Hershey leads Cleveland by nine.

In the league's other game, Buffalo Bisons broke the deadlock for fourth place by edging Rochester 2-1. The defeat dropped the Americans to fifth place.

ATTACK WEAK

Barons were never able to muster much of an attack and Gump Worsley in the Providence net was called upon t omake only 16 saves. Paul Larivee, Bruce Carmichael, Bob Robertson and Bill Sweeney got the Providence goals, Don Hogan and Bo Elik counting for Cleveland.

Folley Wins Over Sawyer

WASHINGTON (CP)—Zora Folley, ranked No. 2 contender for heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson's crown, turned in an easy win Wednesday night over newcomer Garvin Sawyer, 22-year-old former U.S amateur champion from Cincinnati.

Folley, 25, from Chandler, Ariz. was barely winded in controlling the 10-round bout all the way to win a unanimous decision. Sawyer was dropped in the eighth and ninth rounds and only gameness and the bell saved him from a knockout in the ninth.

The decision gave Folley his 18th straight victory for a total record of 37 wins, two losses and a draw. Sawyer, trained by former champion Jersey Joe Walcott, now has a 13-5 record.

ANNOUNCE HOCKEY WEEK

SIMCOE (CP)—Minor hockey observances in Canada will be known this year as Minor Hockey Week and will start Jan. 25, Jack Roxburgh of Simcoe, vice-president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, said Tuesday. Church services, minor hockey nights, parades and special events will be held in Canadian communities.

Favored Teams Victorious In Four Major Bowl Games

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

There were no upsets in the four major football Bowl games in the United States New Year's Day as favored Navy, Oklahoma, Mississippi and Ohio came

Navy walloped Rice 20-7 in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas, Texas. Oklahoma ripped out a 48-21 decision over Duke in the Orange Bowl at Miami, Fla. Mississippi buried Texas under a 39-7 score in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans, La., and Ohio State edged Oregon 10-7 in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif.

The surprise of the four games was not the outcome but the margins of victories. Navy, Oklahoma and Mississippi all were favored but not by such one-sided scores. By contrast, Ohio State was picked to finish in front by three touchdowns, but it took a field goal in the final quarter to settle the issue between the Buckeyes and the Webfoots and give the Big Ten a 11-1 margin over the Pacific Coast Conference in the series which started in 1947.

SMALLER BOWLS

In the smaller bowls, Louisville defeated Drake 34-20 in the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Texas; Prairie View A and M and Texas Southern tied 6-6 in the Prairie View Bowl at Houston, Texas, and East Texas State nosed out Mississippi Southern 10-9 in the Tangerine Bowl at Orlando, Fla.

As usual, all of the four major Bowls, played before television audiences, were sellouts. The largest crowd of 98,202 was in the Rose Bowl. The Sugar Bowl was jammed with 82,000 fans, the Orange Bowl with 76,318 and the Cotton Bowl with 75,504. The addition of 23,000 at the three smaller Bowls brought the total turnout to 357,024.

Shining brightly in the cluster of defensive and offensive stars were Navy's Tom Forrestal, Mississippi's Ray Brown, Oklahoma's Dave Baker and Ohio State's Don Sutherin.

FLAWLESS ATTACK

Forrestal, directing an almost flawless attack, passed for 152 yards and chipped in with some fancy running as the midshipmen picked up 375 yards through the air and on the ground to remain unbeaten in three Bowl appearances.

Brown ripped off one run of 103 yards (92 yards from the line of scrimmage) as he scored two touchdowns, passed for another and set up still another with a pass interception in sparking the awesome Mississippi attack.

Baker set an Orange Bowl record by intercepting a Duke pass and racing 94 yards for the first Oklahoma touchdown.

MISSED OPPORTUNITIES

Navy completely dominated the Rice Owls but missed several opportunities to score because of penalties and fumbles. A pass interception set up the Southwest Conference eleven's lone touchdown.

A 27-point last quarter settled the issue between Oklahoma and Duke. The Sooners capitalized on six Duke mistakes in racking up their third straight Orange Bowl triumph against an Atlantic Coast Conference foe.

After Baker's long run, the Sooners converted two Duke fumbles, a blocked punt, a wild snap and another pass interception into touchdowns.

Brown was almost the entire show in Mississippi's first Sugar Bowl victory after losses to Georgia Tech in 1953 and Navy in 1955.

Mahovlich Out With Injury

TORONTO (CP) — Frank Mahovlich, rookie sensation with Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League, entered hospital Tuesday for treatment of a badly bruised ankle.

The 19-year-old left winger was struck by a shot from teammate Bobby Baun in Leafs' game with New York Rangers Saturday night. Doctors estimated he will be in hospital at least four days and may be out of action 10 days.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER
(Author of the new 'Astrology and You")

"The Stars impel . . . They do not compel! What you make of your life is largely up to you."

Aries (March 21 to April 19) — This is the time to be very careful in dealing with financiers and solving material problems facing you; there may be jealousy or failure to agree with you which may result in seriously hurt feelings. Be fair. P.M. good for emotional life.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) — A.M. is tense because another person is as stubborn as yourself and will not give an inch anywhere. This is unfortunate so decide to cooperate and increase progress early. Tonight, be your delightful self with partner of the heart.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) — Consider your immediate chores and obligations from the standpoint of ridding yourself quickly of them and use more clever methods. Then they are done. Tonight, get your various activities pinpointed wisely.

Cancer (June 22 to July 21) — The day is here when you can really know what it is you want to accomplish and how to do it. Then get in touch with all vital contacts, whether artistic or in the field of sports, etc., and quickly make fine plans, get things rolling.

Leo (July 2 2to Aug 21) — It would be a fine idea to have a conference with those in most powerful position and assure them that they can rely on you to do your share, and more. Be diplomatic. P.M. entertain at own abode, relax, have fun.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — This day your mind is working at full speed, imagination is keen, and persons are in a receptive mood, so dwell on the loftiest of ideas and hopes and get together to see them materialize. Tonight, meet new people.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — The Libra quality of wanting everything in the right place can today be extended to matters of finance, seeing that all is in perfect order. P.M. be just as precise in matters with closest ties, too. Enjoy yourself, be happy.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — Give an ear to the other person today and keep own ideas dormant for the present. Understand reasoning and purpose of fellow man by asking pointed questions, and cement better relations. Tonight, dine out with associate.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Clear up all that work standing there waiting for you by rolling up your sleeves and digging into it immediately. See that you get wardrobe in better condition and take right health treatments. Use efficiency mechanism, gadgets.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — If you refrain from thinking a bit selfishly and consider kindly the needs and wants of your mate, today you can reach a wonderful understanding. Reconciliation is very sweet. Tonight is fine for fun, games, guests.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Imperative you be as wise as Solomon and as patient as Job today or you may have altercation with one in authority, either in business or at home. A.M. wisdom brings forth P.M. joy, happiness and peace.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) — A splendid day for doing all your shopping, outside chores with speed and very good sense, but take care on the road, in action, and don't lose your wallet! Also, be careful when making change. Tonight, have fun with pals.

If your child is born today . . . The delightful child born today is the type who will be so filled with vim and vigor that it becomes your difficult duty to find sufficient and right outlets for all this energy, for without constructive direction your progeny could get into quite a bit of hot water.

"Everything I Ate Disagreed With Me," Says This Man

Caused Indigestion, Heartburn, Sour Acidity; Also Had Backache, Tells of Relief By Taking Syntona

"Syntona is the best medicine I have ever taken and I have recommended it to many of my friends", said Mr. Stanley Stafford, Shedden, Ontario, in a recent interview.

Describes Relief He Got

"I was having so much trouble with indigestion, heartburn and sour acid risings after my meals. Everything I ate disagreed with me and although I took about everything I knew of I got no satisfactory relief.

"After reading about Syntona I decided to try it and in only a short time I noticed that my food was digesting better. Now that I've been using this medicine the indigestion, sourness and heartburn is cleared up. At the same time Syntona relieved rheumatic pains in my limbs, joints and muscles and also dull, aching pain in my back."

Syntona is a compound of medicinal ingredients including 12 of Nature's Finest Herbs and Roots. It acts on the stomach, kidneys, liver and bowels and relieves faulty digestion, nervousness, backache, rheumatic pains and overtired, rundown feeling.

Russia Offers New Homes To Doukhobor Sect

Sons of Freedom Will Send Group to Pick From Sites

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Province says a delegation of Sons of Freedom Doukhobors will shortly visit Russia to choose a site there for relocation of the turbulent 2,500-member sect.

Russian Ambassador Dmitri Chuvahin confirmed in a telephone conversation from Ottawa that the sect has been offered three or four sites to choose from, the paper says in a story by City Editor Bruce Larsen.

"Delegates from the group will go to Moscow shortly and meet with a special committee of the department of our government which handles religious matters," the ambassador is quoted as saying.

MOVE PROPHESIED

Bill Moojelsky, secretary of the Freedomite sect and leader of the four-man delegation preparing to visit Moscow, told the paper the proposed move would fulfill a prophecy, made when the Doukhobors left Russia in 1899, which predicted they would return in 40 years.

He said the fulfilment has been delayed but remains the main reason for the return. Detention of 100 Freedomite children at a dormitory school at New Denver, B.C., is "a contributing factor," he said.

The children are held at the school because their parents refuse to send them to school voluntarily on the grounds that public school teaching is opposed to the religious beliefs of the sect. The Freedomites are staunch pacifists and vegetarians.

The Sons of Freedom are a minority group among the 10,000 Doukhobors in British Columbia.

Members of the sect have burned their own homes, set fire to schools, paraded in the nude, bombed railway lines and fought against taxes and census-taking in their many conflicts with authority since the Doukhobors first came to Canada.

Freedomite leaders last summer renewed their old cry of "back to Russia," claiming that religious persecution in Canada is worse than that suffered by their grandfathers in imperial Russia.

Moojelsky, who lives at Shoreacres, B.C., said a committee has been gathering signatures of Freedomites over the age of 16 and other Doukhobors who wish to join the move to Russia.

"All Freedomites except about 15 families have signed and some non-Freedomites have signed, so we can count on at least 2,500 people. We expect many orthodox to sign later," he said.

Mr. Moojelsky said a few non-Freedomite Doukhobors in Saskatchewan and six Freedomite families at Hilliers, near Nanaimo, B.C., have already said they plan to go. All others would come from the Kootenay districts of B.C.

Other members of the delegation which will go to Russia, he said, are Joe Podovinikoff of Hilliers, John Chernoff of Grand Forks and Nick Kanigan of Perry's Siding. They will go to Ottawa first, then on to Moscow.

Russians Finish Deserter Hunt In East Berlin

BERLIN (AP)—East Berlin returned to normal today after the Russians withdrew armed troops who had apparently been searching for deserters.

The troops were withdrawn Thursday night following a British announcement that a Russian soldier had escaped to their sector of the city and asked for political asylum.

Russian soldiers had been watching every crossing point into Allied-occupied West Berlin and patrolling main street corners in downtown East Berlin.

It was the first time since the anti-Communist uprising of June 17, 1953, that armed Soviet troops had patrolled the city.

Several West Berlin newspapers report that six Soviet officers had escaped from a Soviet army camp in East Germany and that one of them had been able to find refuge in West Berlin.

SIMILAR REPORT

A somewhat similar report was issued by NTS, a Russian emigree organization. An NTS spokesman said he heard that one Soviet officer and two soldiers had already reached West Berlin.

But West Berlin police, together with French, British and American authorities, said they had no information that supported the reports.

The British announcement said a Soviet soldier, with the rank of sergeant, had entered their sector several days ago.

A British spokesman said the soldier is no longer in Berlin, but refused to say whether he had been turned over to the Russians or flown to British headquarters in West Germany.

Population Up Half Million

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's population increased at a record rate in the first 11 months of 1957, rising 516,000 to an estimated 16,860,000 at Dec. 1, the bureau of statistics said today.

Bureau officials forecast that the population will reach 17,000,000 early in the spring.

The population growth in the January, November period compares with an increase of 389,000 in 1956, 358,000 in 1955 and 402,000 in 1954.

Approximately one-half of the 516,000 rise in the 11 months was made up of immigrants.

During the first nine months of 1957 immigration totalled 244,266. It was expected to reach between 280,000 and 285,000 when final figures are available for the year.

The Dec. 1 population estimate of 16,860,000 represents a gain of 779,000 over the 1956 census total of 16,081,000 and an increase of 2,851,000 over the 1951 census count of 14,009,000. The population at Jan. 1, 1957, was 1,344,000.

HOUSE MEMBERS RETURN, PLENTY OF WORK AT HAND

Two Big Questions Looming in Future

BULLETIN

WILL SEND NOTE

OTTAWA (CP) — Finance minister Fleming said today the Canadian government will send a note to the United States protesting the recent presidential order restricting imports of crude oil in the Pacific coast area.

OTTAWA (CP) — Commons members get back to business today with plenty of immediate work before them and two big questions looming in the future: The Liberal party leadership and a probable general election.

With the 12-day Christmas holiday just ended, it appears likely that another three-day adjournment will occur Jan. 14-16 while the Liberal convention is being held here to choose a successor to retiring Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent.

Once the leader is chosen the Liberals will be in a position to think seriously about an election. Essentially, they will have this choice: To force an early vote by combining with other opposition parties to defeat the minority Progressive Conservative government in the Commons, or to wait until Prime Minister Diefenbaker sets a date himself.

MAY BE IN SUMMER

If the initiative is left to the government, it is considered likely the election would be put off until summer in hopeful expectations that the present above-normal unemployment will improve.

The government still has plenty of business to get out of the way before it can fold up the present session.

When Parliament adjourned for Christmas and New Year's on Dec. 21, there were still spending estimates for the current fiscal year of 17 government departments to win final parliamentary approval.

Only the post office and state secretary's departments had been taken care of.

There are still about a dozen items of government legislation to be put through.

CONTENTIOUS ITEMS

Two items — the government's price supports scheme and Prime Minister Diefenbaker's measure to abolish the closure rule — are expected to cause trouble.

Members of all opposition parties have been highly critical of the price supports scheme claiming it does nothing that the existing Liberal-established plan has enabled since 1944.

The abolition of closure also could produce some tense moments in Parliament. The Liberals used the closure rule to limit discussion in the explosive 1956 pipeline debate.

As the minority government continues to walk its tightrope until it judges the time opportune to jump into another election, the tension is expected to mount once the Liberals have their new leader.

Commons standing is: Conservatives 113, Liberals 106, CCF 25, Social Credit 19 and independents two.

ENGELHARTSZELL, Austria (Reuters) — While most people have watched monkeys, elephants and dogs act in circuses, it's unlikely many ever have seen a "trout circus."

Otto and Karl Luger, the young owners of a sawmill in the Alpine hamlet of Engelhartszell, claim to be the only persons to succeed in "taming" trout, known as the shyest and most suspicious of fish.

The brothers have tamed the fish in their natural environment, in the river that turns the turbines of their sawmill.

The greatest feat in the circus is the so-called "trout jump." A stick is held close to the surface of the water and within one or two seconds up to 12 trout will jump out of the water, fly over the stick and dive under again.

"Caressing" the trout is another feature of the circus: The Lugers put their hands into the water and immediately the fish surround them, coming closer and closer, until they stop between their fingers and wait to have their "neck" stroked. At the some time, they take food, preferably worms, out of the other hand.

'It took us at least two years to tame the trout," Otto Luger said.

First, they fed the fish with worms every morning for several months. At the beginning the fish took the food only after it had been dropped into the water. Later, they dared to swim close to the hand holding the food and take it from there.

After one year, the trout had become so confident that they even allowed the brothers to touch them.

"It was extremely difficult to teach them the trout jump," Otto Luger said. "While one of us held a few worms close to the water, the other held a stick in front of them. In order to reach the food, the fish had to jump over the stick." The trout got so used to jumping that later they sprang over the stick even when no food was in sight.

Editor's note: Richard G. Massock, veteran Associated Press Latin-American correspondent, left Venezuela only two weeks before the New Year's Day revolt against the regime of President Marcos Perez Jimenez. Here, without the restrictions of Venezuela's tight censorship, he reports probable causes of the revolt and future prospects for the country which is the world's No. 2 oil producer.

By RICHARD G. MASSOCK

GUATEMALA (AP)—Hints of a military revolt have been heard in Venezuela ever since its president, Gen. Marcos Perez Jimenez, forced his way to "re-election" last month.

But apparently the stocky dictator's well-equipped army stayed with him through the abortive New Year's rebellion.

The government announced Thursday that the rebel Maracay air force centre was back in its hands and that the revolt was crushed. It continued mopping up during the day as 18 rebel officers fled by plane to neighboring Colombia and were granted asylum.

(Venezuelan exiles in New York view the rebellion as a prelude to others. They report discontent among younger army officers and continuing civilian discontent which was not reflected in the purely military uprising this week.

(The exiles say a movement is under way to sabotage the oilfields, the source of the regime's economic strength.)

Shortly after the Dec. 15 yes-or-no plebiscite, which gave the voters the choice of another five-year term for Perez Jimenez or nothing, foreign observers in Caracas were predicting that he would not last another five years as president.

But it was considered that only his brother officers could force Perez Jimenez out—perhaps replacing him with a military junta. The civilian opposition has shown no signs of open rebellion since a hostile demonstration of university students Nov. 11. Police broke that up with tear gas and swift whacks of the flats of their machetes.

The two pillars of the regime have been oil prosperity and the state security police under its civilian chief, Pedro Estrada.

Oil wells and iron mines, many of them owned and operated by foreign companies, bring the country of 6,000,000 persons an income of over $500,000,000 a year.

Most persons in Venezuela who formerly were critical of the government now are making so much money that they accept the regime. The vigilance of the security police has been another bar to political unrest.

But rumors of discontent among the military have persisted, despite the officers' high pay and their favored position. The discontent is supposed to exist among some younger officers, who see another five years for Perez Jimenez as a bar to their promotions.

ICBM Defence Research Will Be Stepped Up by Board

OTTAWA (CP) — The Defence Research Board said today in a review of 1957 activities that its scientists stepped up research into defence against the intercontinental ballistic missile.

The research program involved studies of a scale model missile passing through a simulated atmosphere, upper atmospheric physics, infra-red detection and guidance and new propellants for large rockets.

These studies were conducted in close co-operation with American and British scientists, DRB said in a statement.

As usual, the board gave few details of its work, most of which is classed as highly secret.

DRB and the United States Air Force are starting construction of a large radar installation near Prince Albert, Sask. It will be used to study the aurora borealis (northern lights) and its likely effects on detection of an intercontinental ballistic missile.

Board scientists used a television-type transmitter to bounce radio signals off the moon. Information obtained provided data for the ballistic missile defence program.

The board said military scientific advances have been so rapid in the last few years that Canada must choose new defensive weapons in the "near future."

The board also had under consideration the problem of missile-armed submarines.

"Because of the ranges now possible by guided weapons, Canadian and Allied scientists are exploring practical methods of developing effective barriers to keep enemy submarines and surface ships well beyond our coasts during wartime."

Smith Satisfied Diplomatic Code Was Not Broken

OTTAWA (CP)—External Affairs Minister Smith said today he is satisfied that Canada's secret diplomatic code was not broken by Venezuelan security police.

He said in the Commons that he bases his view on reports he has received from Canada's ambassadors in Venezuela and Chile.

"I am satisfied that our code was not broken," he said.

Thinks Satellite Is Already Down

JODRELL BANK, England (Reuters)—Prof. A. C. B. Lovell, director of the world's biggest radio telescope here, today said he thinks it "very likely" that the first Russian earth satellite has already come down.

An extensive shower of meteors now is running into the atmosphere, and he expected that it would be seen as just another fairly bright meteor as it burned up on its plunge to the earth.

Lovell said he does not propose to use his radio telescope to try to check on the satellite, which the Russians launched into space Oct. 4, but will use it to study the present meteor shower.

FOOT OF SNOW FALLS TO SOUTH OF GREAT LAKES

New York State Folk Facing New Blizzards

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Parts of central and western New York State faced new storms today after a series of blizzards and squalls dumped up to 12 inches of snow in some areas off lakes Erie and Ontario.

The heavy snow was mostly confined to the lake regions. Five inches fell in Syracuse and an inch or so in some other areas.

State police said roads were extremely slippery throughout the area, and advised no unnecessary travel.

TRAFFIC CREEPS

Traffic moved at snail's pace along a single lane of Route 5, the wind-blown highway parallel to the Lake Erie shore west of Buffalo.

At Canandaigua, a new section of four-lane highway served as a landing strip for a light plane whose pilot was lost in the storm.

The season's coldest weather enveloped most of the United States today from the Rockies to the Atlantic coast and little immediate relief was in sight for the major sections of the icy belt.

FLORIDA FREEZES

Northern sections of Florida reported readings in the 30s, with a freezing mark of 32 at Pensacola. In Georgia, Atlanta shivered in a below-freezing mark of 28.

The midwest, where the severe cold has continued for nearly a week, was stung by below-zero readings.

Temperatures were 10 to 18 degrees lower in New England and other eastern areas compared to Thursday morning. Zero readings were indicated in mountain regions as far south as West Virginia.

Malta Workers Told to Strike

VALLETTA, Malta (Reuters)—Union leaders today called on Malta's 14,000 dockyard workers to go on strike in protest over the dismissal of 30 fellow employees.

Leaflets were handed to the workers as they entered the giant naval dockyards telling them to walk off their jobs this afternoon. It was not immediately clear how long the strike was intended to last.

The strike order followed a threat by Prime Minister Dom Mintoff to cut ties with Britain unless alternative work is guaranteed for dockyard workers dismissed because of cuts in British defence spending. Thirty men were discharged today and 100 more are to lose their jobs in the next few weeks.

Mintoff made a last-minute appeal to avoid the layoffs.

Malta fears layoffs at the dockyards will undermine the island's economy.

New Zealanders Led By Hillary Arrive At Pole

Conqueror of Mt. Everest Welcomed at U.S. Village

WELLINGTON, N.Z. (CP) — A team of New Zealand polar explorers led by Sir Edmund Hillary reached the South Pole today after a 1,300-mile overland haul by dog teams and tractors across the Antarctic continent.

The tractor party arrived at the pole with only one drum of gasoline to spare, but came out "bang on base," Hillary reported in a radio message.

"We are all very tired but we are very pleased to have arrived. Success could not have been possible without the help we had from everyone from the time the expedition was first planned. My thanks go in particular to every member of the expedition whose support in Antarctica put us where we are now."

Hillary, conqueror of Mount Everest, thus became the first man to reach the pole by the overland route since Capt. Robert Scott's ill-fated expedition in 1912.

Scott reached the pole Jan. 12 of that year with four companions, only to find that Roald Amundsen of Norway had about a month earlier become the first man to reach the bottom of the world.

REACHES U.S. BASE

An air-supplied American village at the pole greeted Hillary after his harrowing dash through the snow and ice of the white continent.

Hillary sent the news of his arrival by radio tonight to the New Zealand Ross Sea Committee, organizers of the expedition.

The news reached Wellington eight days after Hillary had dramatically radioed that he was "hell-bent" for the pole.

45-MILE DASH

To reach the world's southernmost point today Hillary's party must have pressed on toward the pole without taking its usual daytime rest. Hillary's reported position Thursday night was 45 miles from the pole.

Scott, who perished in a blizzard on the return journey, used sleighs pulled by ponies and dogs after experiments with motor sleds proved unsatisfactory. He had set out from Ross Island in November, 1911.

By contrast, Hillary accomplished his feat with the aid of snow tractors, sleds and dog teams.

But he took longer because when he set out from McMurdo Sound on the coast of the polar continent last October he did not intend to go to the pole at all. His aim was to lay down supply depots and find a route for a British party crossing from the other side of the continent.

The British expedition, led by Dr. Vivian Fuchs, an experienced explorer, was reported 200 miles

Stormy Prima Donna Maria Callas Flees Rome Opera House in Tears

ROME (AP) — The opera world's stormiest prima donna, soprano Maria Meneghini Callas, fled in tears through an underground passage early today as 1,000 irate music fans jeered her for quitting midway through the opening night of the Rome opera.

The glittering first night was ruined when the fiery New York-born star said she had lost her voice and could not continue after the first act of Bellini's Norma. It was the first time in the Rome opera's history that a performance was not completed.

Riot police stood by as demonstrators gathered outside the Teatro dell' Opera after the management called off the rest of the performance. Miss Callas avoided the crowd by escaping through an underground passage to her hotel nearby.

The 34-year-old singer sat wearily in her hotel apartment later and sobbed that she had been ill for days and could not possibly have completed the opera.

She said she hoped to make it up to the public by singing Norma Saturday night, when Thursday night's tickets will be honored.

But in Naples, another soprano, Anita Cerquetti, said the Rome management had wired her a request to fill the role Saturday. Miss Cerquetti said she accepted.

Rome's best-known opera critics, unanimously berating Miss Callas for her walkout, were not inclined to accept her explanation that she had lost her voice.

Most of them wrote that it seemed more likely that she lost her temper at the cool reception she was given in the first act.

Almost every headline here blames the walkout on the prima donna's irritation over a few catcalls and a bit of whistling from the upper balconies.

Thursday night's conductor, Gabriele Santini, said the singer "informed us yesterday the condition of her voice was not good."

"However, we advised Miss Callas to face the performance all the same because it would have been impossible to find a substitute for her."

Londoners Press Button To Boo TV

LONDON (Reuters)—A television station is installing "raspberry buttons" in some viewers' homes in order to get quick reaction to bad programs.

The button is wired to the TV set and when pressed moves the needle of a dial at television house, headquarters for the commercial station which rivals the BBC in the London area.

The number of raspberries received will be passed on to the cast and the producer.

Three Robbers Slug Messengers And Take $4,550

TORONTO (CP) — Three men today slugged and robbed two payroll messengers of $4,550.

Police said Charles Stewart, 45, a foreman at Arthurs-Jones Lithographing Limited, and Andrew Louder, 77, an accountant, were on a stairway leading to the firm's premises in west-central Toronto when two armed men confronted them. A third man stood guard outside the building.

Stewart, who carried the money in a canvas bag under his coat, was ordered to open up the coat. He refused. One of the bandits then punched Louder and knocked him down. The other struck Stewart over the head with a gun, inflicting a deep wound.

They seized the money and fled in a car police believe was stolen in Peterborough two days ago.

FORM SPECIAL SQUAD

The holdup came one day after Metropolitan Toronto police announced formation of a special 10-man holdup and robbery squad whose job is to halt a crime wave which brought more than 60 holdups in December.

Federal Govt. Will Help Build Forest Roads

OTTAWA (CP) — Resources Minister Hamilton announced today the federal government is prepared to share with the provinces the cost of building forest access roads this winter.

He said in the Commons that Parliament will be asked to vote $1,000,000 at the current session to cover anticipated federal expenditures. The plan was expected to provide jobs for between 1,000 and 2,000 men.

CITY and DISTRICT NEWS

CITY TRUCKS WILL PICK UP DISCARDED CHRISTMAS TREES

City householders who have not yet disposed of their Christmas tree were asked today by city engineer Charles Mott to do so this weekend.

Trees placed on the boulevard will be picked up by city public works department trucks. Department trucks have already been making the rounds for picking up discarded trees and it is hoped that all trees can be picked up by next weekend.

"The trees are starting to dry up and are now a fire hazard in the home," the city engineer commented.

SLIPPERY PAVEMENT CAUSE OF CRASH

Following a head-on collision of two cars near the RCAF Station on New Year's eve, Lewis Evans of 187 Albert St., received multiple injuries and shock. Mr. Evans was returning to Belleville from Trenton and the road was a glare of ice. When near a car approaching from the east, the vehicle went out of control and collided head-on.

Mr. Evans was taken to the RCAF Station hospital and after receiving treatment was allowed to go to his home. His car was almost a complete wreck. It had been snowing previous to the accident and the cars driving over the highway had packed the snow in so tight the roadway was a glare of ice and made it almost impossible to control the vehicles.

SUSTAINS CRACKED RIBS IN COLLISION

Aldred C. Reid, 45, of 198 Yeomans Street sustained cracked ribs Thursday evening when the taxi he was driving was in collision with another vehicle at the corner of Victoria Ave. and Church street.

The taxi was eastbound on Victoria when the second car, driven by Bernard C. Jackson, of Trenton, northbound on Church street is said to have failed to stop at the stop street. Damage to both cars amounted to about $225.

Favorable Wind Averts Serious Fire Damage

NORTHPORT (Special) — A favorable wind averted what might have resulted in serious fire damage to a church, stores and other buildings in the heart of this Prince Edward county village shortly after three o'clock this morning.

As it was the blaze totally destroyed a small barn-garage of William Belnap and its contents. Included were a late model car, a large fishing boat, a quantity of tools and furniture stored by a Mr. Baldwin.

Origin of the fire is not known. The loss, it was stated, is partially covered by insurance.

Neighbors roused from their beds by crackling flames went to the scene but the building was almost destroyed on their arrival. They succeeded in preventing the flames from reaching Belnap's residence and the store of M[illegible] Senderson, a short distance from the blazing building.

Had the wind been blowing from the opposite direction, residents stated, the fire would have threatened the main business section of the village.

Urges Lutherans To Resist Reds

BERLIN (AP) — Bishop Otto Dibelius, titular head of the German Evangelical (Lutheran) Church has urged his clergymen to defy Communist pressure and stay with their parishes in East Germany.

Amid an anti-church campaign sweeping across the satellite country, church authorities have advised East German pastors to stick it out and have warned of disciplinary action for those leaving without permission.

The warnings have been prompted by fear that the Communists might succeed in terrorizing clergymen into a mass flight, responsible church sources said.

Speaking over the West Berlin radio, Dibelius stressed:

"In general, we feel that a pastor has obligations toward his parish . . . he must not leave it at a time of danger."

Dibelius said only 100 out of 6,000 Evangelical clergymen have left East Germany either with or without official church permission.

BUSMEN RETURN

Two Boys Go Through Ice, Lucky Water Was Not Deep

Breaking through thin ice on the Bay of Quinte as they were chasing a puck during a game of shinny, two young Belleville lads had what could have been a narrow escape from drowning Thursday afternoon when they went into three feet of water.

The boys were able to crawl out unassisted and aside of a ducking in frigid temperatures suffered no ill effects of their experience. The boys were Kerry and Casey Soden, age 13 and 14 years, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth J. Soden, 212 Foster Ave.

The incident occurred off Foster Ave., and immediately to the south of the Stephens Adamson plant.

Belleville firemen were called to the scene when the alarm was raised that the two lads had gone through the ice. Their assistance wasn't required, however, as when firemen arrived the boys were out of the water and drenched through, were heading for home.

A neighbor placed them in his car and took them home where they thawed out and got into dry clothes.

The two Soden boys were playing shinny with half a dozen other lads when the thin ice gave way, dumping them into the water a short distance from the shore.

"It's a lucky thing the water was only three feet deep", commented one fireman.

Mrs. Soden said her boys were "none the worse" for their experience and agreed that they were lucky.

"We thought they were going to skate at the arena. You can never tell what's in their minds," she said.

Shannonville Garage Burns; Spark From Torch Blamed

Believed to have been touched off by a spark from an acetylene torch which had been used to assist in removal of a gasoline tank, fire early Thursday night completely destroyed Cook's garage at Shannonville.

The building was a complete loss, along with a stock of tires, oil, anti-freeze and other equipment.

The Belleville Fire Department fought the blaze for over four hours in near-zero weather, but could do nothing to save the structure which was well ablaze before the arrival of the fire fighters. The department answered the alarm with two trucks and pumped water from the nearby Salmon River to pour on the flames.

Along with garage stock and equipment, Mr. Cook's dump truck and another car were lost in the flames. Two other vehicles in the garage were taken from the building before the fire gained too great a headway.

Fire Chief Gerald Vance said the blaze was a spectacular one and at the height of the fire flames leaped 40 feet into the night sky. Despite the near-zero temperatures, the blaze attracted a large crowd of spectators.

Illness of Key Witness Forces Postponement of Wyatt Case

A preliminary hearing into a charge of manslaughter laid against R. A. Wyatt, chiropractor, by city police last October, was adjourned today until March 31 after Dr. Russell Scott testified that the key witness for the crown, Mrs. J. C. Kyle, was unable to continue her testimony.

Mrs. Kyle was described by Dr. Scott as being in an "acute state of anxiety of a severe nature. She would be unable to give testimony in court, at least today. I recommend she have psychiatric treatment in Toronto."

Mrs. Kyle collapsed Thursday noon under a barrage of questions from Malcolm Robb, Q.C., of Toronto, counsel for Wyatt.

Dr. Scott added that Mrs. Kyle would be unable to testify for "at least two months."

She is the mother of 16-year-old Patricia Kyle of Kleinburg, north of Toronto, who died in a Toronto hospital last October 12 some time after allegedly being aborted by Wyatt in Belleville.

Dr. Scott said Mrs. Kyle, in her present condition, would likely collapse again as long as the circumstances remained the same.

The Kyles operated a roadside restaurant at Kleinburg on Highway 27, but since their daughter's death, the eating place has been closed.

VISITED CITY THREE TIMES

However, before her sudden illness, Mrs. Kyle was able to testify that she and her husband brought Patricia, who was more than five months pregnant, to Wyatt in Belleville three times and paid him $100 "solely for honest advice."

Both parents swore they had no intention of allowing their daughter to be aborted.

Mr. and Mrs. Kyle took Patricia to Wyatt after she had threatened to commit suicide rather than be admitted to a Toronto home.

Mrs. Kyle said that Mr. Wyatt had advised her not to mention his name to anyone and that after spending about 15 minutes examining Patricia in his Dufferin St. office on August 30, he said to Mrs. Kyle that she had "nothing to worry about as he had given (Patricia) a treatment." Two subsequent "treatments" are alleged to have been given the girl by Wyatt — the second on September 8 and the third on September 15.

BECAME ILL

Following a miscarriage on September 19, Patricia appeared well on the road to recovery, but a few days later she developed a cough and "ached all over."

A physician did not examine Patricia until October 4, when she was rushed to Toronto General Hospital and almost immediately upon arrival she went into a coma and died on October 12.

The Kyles were under the impression that Wyatt was a medical doctor and were not aware he was a chiropractor until Inspector Claire Hayes of Belleville police force saw them shortly after their daughter's death.

Mrs. Kyle testified she attended her daughter at the miscarriage and afterwards. She gave the girl a total of nine penicillin and sulpha pills — and an unknown number of pills allegedly prescribed by Wyatt—without instructions from a physician.

Inspector Robert Wannell of the O.P.P. Criminal Investigations Department, Toronto, testified that he found a satchel of instruments in Wyatt's office. All of these instruments, said the inspector, would not normally be found in a chiropractor's office. Among them were three speculums, three pairs of forceps, a sound, a pair of uterine forceps and other instruments.

In a cupboard in Wyatt's Dufferin St. office, the inspector stated he found a small black book titled "Stocks and Bonds" in which many entries of small sums had been made.

Mrs. Kyle's name and address were written on a prescription pad in the chiropractor's office.

Mr. Kyle, the girl's father, said Patricia had been taken to Wyatt instead of a Toronto physician because he and Mrs. Kyle feared scandal in Kleinburg.

Malcolm Robb asked Mr. Kyle: "Is it not true that Mr. Wyatt was named to you as a safe doctor to perform an abortion?"

Mr. Kyle replied: "I can't say yes or no to that."

A Mr. and Mrs. Hall in Toronto gave the Kyle's Mr. Wyatt's name, said Mr. Kyle.

IN MEMORIAM

ASSELSTINE. — In memory of David S. Asselstine. To my dear dad who passed away one year ago today, January 3rd.

He is gone, but not forgotten,
And as dawns another year;
In our lonely hours of thinking,
Thoughts of him are always near.
Days of sadness will come o'er us,
Friends may think the wound is healed;
But they little know the sorrow
That lies within the heart concealed.
—From his son Charles.

ASSELSTINE. — In memory of David S. Asselstine. To my dear dad who passed away one year ago today, January 3rd.

Memories in our hearts today
Mean more to us than words can say;
Although we smile and seem carefree,
Nobody misses you more than we.
Day by day he bore the pain,
Hoping for cure, but all in vain;
In a beautiful spot he is now at rest,
It is true God gave him eternal rest.
Without farewell he fell asleep,
With only memories for us to keep;
We have lost, but God has gained
One of the best dads the world contained.
—From his daughter Selma, son-in-law Walter, granddaughters Judith Anne and Bonnie Lee.

EVANS. — In loving memory of a dear wife, Eliza Annie Evans, who passed away January 3rd, 1955.

When evening shades are falling,
And we sit in quiet, alone;
To our hearts there comes a longing
If she only could come home.
Friends may think we have forgotten,
When at times they see us smile;
But they little know the heartache,
Our smiles hide all the while.
—Sadly missed by husband John.

EVANS. — In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother, Mrs. Eliza Annie Evans, who passed away January 3rd, 1955.

Swiftly, silently came the call,
Without goodbye you left us all;
In God's garden, now at rest,
Peacefully sleeping lies one of the best.
—Ever remembered by son Garfield, daughter-in-law Georgina, and grandchildren Nancy and Joyce.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — Industrials and golds moved higher but the rest of the stock market was a shade easier on index during light morning trading.

Industrials were more than one-half point higher on index and golds added a few decimal points. Base metals and western oils, however, lost one-quarter of a point each on index as some profit-taking appeared following strong advances in the last two sessions.

Volume at 11 a.m. was 268,000 shares compared with 242,000 Thursday.

Canadian Wallpaper B had the best gain among industrials, up 3¼ points to 23¼ on a single sale. Trans Mountain, a heavy loser in recent sessions, was up a point to 56¾.

International Nickel gained ⅝ at 71½ among senior base metals but Hudson Bay was off ½ to 43. Algom and Denison, two strong uraniums Thursday, lost fractions and a few low-priced uraniums moved lower amid profit-taking.

Bailey Selburn was a 20-cent winner at $7.50 among western oils but Canadian Husky lost ⅝ at 10¼.

Weekend Livestock Review

TORONTO (CP) — Heavy steer receipts Monday coupled with a slightly lower quality offering had a tendency to ease prices somewhat in this class at the opening trading sessions at the Ontario public stockyards this week. However, outside buying interests and increased local demand Tuesday made for a good cleanup and kept prices steady with last week. Fed yearlings and heifers sold readily throughout the week and prices remained steady. Cows and bulls were in demand and cow prices gained $1 a hundredweight and bulls 50 cents.

Calves opened $1-2 higher but closed at prices strong with last week. Hogs were $1 higher.

Cattle receipts were 3,400 head more than last week and 1,500 more than the same week last year. No shipments were received from the West this week. Seventeen loads were shipped to eastern slaughterers and three loads to United States buyers.

PRICES

Slaughter cattle: Choice steers $20.50-21.25 with one small lot at $21.50; good $19-20; medium $17.50-19; common $14-17; choice heifers $18.50-19; good $17.50-18.50; medium $15.50-17; common $13-15; choice fed yearlings $21.50-22.50; good $19-21.

Good cows $15-15.50 with a few sales at $16; medium $13.50-14.50; canners and cutters $10-13; good heavy bologna bulls $16-17; common and medium $13-15.50.

Calves: Top veal $32.50; good veal $29-32; medium $24-28; common $16-23; boners $12-16.

Hogs: Grade A $28.75; sows $23 with light sows at $24; stags $15 a hundredweight on a dressed-weight basis.

Sheep and lambs: Good lambs $23-23.50; medium and heavy sold downward to $21 a hundredweight; common $12-15; the few sheep offered sold from $3-10 according to quality.

DOLLAR RATE

MONTREAL (CP) — The U.S. dollar was at a discount of 1 7-32 per cent in terms of Canadian funds at noon today. Thursday's noon rate was 98¾ cents. Pound sterling $2.77 11-16, up 7-16.

PRODUCE MARKET

The egg market was reported very quiet with receipts ample for light demand.

Country dealers are quoted by the federal department of agriculture on graded eggs, delivered Toronto, in fibre cases: A large 36; A medium 35; A small 31; B 33; C 25. Wholesale to retail: A large 41; A medium 40; A small 36; B 38; C 30.

Butter prices: Canada, first grade: Ontario 63-63¼ in moderate trading; western 63 with one car sold in corrugated boxes.

from the pole Thursday. His party is equipped with four Sno-cat tracker sleds, three Weasel motor vehicles and one muskeg tractor as well as ordinary sleds.

They were to cross the pole and meet the New Zealand party on the McMurdo Sound side of the Antarctic early in January.

Then the two groups were to join up and head back to McMurdo Sound, completing the first overland crossing of the continent.

But due to bad weather and difficult terrain Fuchs' expedition made slower progress than expected on the 280-mile trek from Shackleton to South Ice, his advance base some 500 miles from the pole.

DOWNHILL FINISH

Continuation of poor conditions of the last few days gave Hillary and his four companions a difficult time, but the expected loss of height as they descended into the polar basin gave the tractors a welcome drop in altitude of 800 feet, and the engines responded immediately.

For the first time in several days the drivers were able to move from low to second gear.

Hillary's companions are Murray Ellis, Peter Mulgrew, Jim Bates, and Derek Wright.

Most of their trek was made in never-ending daylight. The party preferred to travel at "night," when temperatures dropped a little and the snow surface was harder, and mostly slept during the "day" when the air was warmer.

Mayor and Five Councillors Take Seats in New Council

TRENTON — Mayor Ross Burtt and five of his new council members for the coming year were sworn into office at the inaugural meeting held in the town hall above the police station Thursday morning.

The sixth councillor-elect, Lloyd Worrell, was not present. The council had previously received a letter from his stating he was spending the holiday season with his family in Winnipeg and would not be able to be present for the ceremonies. He expressed his deep regret because of this.

Town clerk O. W. Larry officiated at the meeting and swore in the mayor and presented him with his badge of office and then swore in the council as a group.

Previous to taking the oaths of the mayor and councillors, the clerk addressed the few attending the ceremonies that they had parted from the usual routine in that they had asked the general public to attend. "But," he said, "I see only a few have responded. Although I am glad to note there are a few home here this year than there were last."

Each councillor addressed the hall and all stated they would do their best in the various posts they held in town administration.

The only business undertaken was the passing of a by-law authorizing the borrowing up to $175,000 from the Bank of Montreal for operation of the town until the 1958 taxes began to come in. This money would be borrowed in the form of promissory notes as needed by the town.

In explaining this by-law the mayor said the town would welcome any industry or resident who wished to pay their taxes in advance. This would enable cutting down the loan and would therefore cut the interest money the town would have to pay the bank.

He said the next meeting of the council would be held in the board room of the municipal building on Monday, January 6 at 8 p.m. and he extended a welcome to all who wished to attend.

Councillors sworn in were R. Fox, J. Gould, C. H. Hilton, V. H. Lange and D. J. MacDonald.

Work on New Disposal Plant Will Soon Start

TRENTON — "For the several projects planned for the coming year it is my hope," Mayor Ross Burtt said yesterday, "that as many as possible of the workers will be hired from Trenton.

In giving his report the mayor said work on the planned sewer disposal project will soon become active. When there is ice on the bay the crews of drillers will be able to start the actual drilling. (The council was told by the contractors some time ago their crews would start drilling in the bay as soon as ice had formed strong enough to support their gear. This would be considerably cheaper than doing it from barges.)

The mayor also said he did not know when the work on the addition planned for the High School would get underway as this was being left to the members of the school board. "But, he said, "I would like to urge them to insist on local labor as far as possible."

He said an increase in the development in both industry and homes was expected this year for the east side of Trenton but was not able to give any accurate date when this work would begin.

The Public Utilities Commission he said have taken further steps in the investigation of the water system of the town and engineers have studied the situation and made their reports. This report has not as yet been made public.

The PUC has taken these steps he said due to the water silt conditions that arose last year when a water shortage forced the town commission to forbid the use of water for watering lawns, gardens, etc.

The mayor said he was certain Trenton would have another busy year again in 1958 and asked for the co-operation of all the citizens to keep the town booming.

God's Blessing Invoked on New Council

TRENTON — Rev. David C. McLelland led in the religious aspects of the inaugural ceremonies of the town council held in the town hall yesterday.

Mr. McLelland read Psalm 67, verses 1-6, gave a short address and then led in prayer.

Following is Mr. McLelland's address to the new council:

"At this, the inaugural meeting of the town council we signify our stand as a Christian community by invoking God's blessing upon those taking office, and upon their deliberations on behalf of the town during this year.

"We believe that men are called of God, as well as chosen by the people, to serve in the offices of government. Therefore, we suggest, that with prayer and faith each office-bearer might continually draw upon the boundless resources of God for the health, strength and the wisdom to perform his duties.

"A town is a collection of buildings in which people live, worship, shop, work, play and learn. Every town has its responsibilities for the children, the young people, the aged, the employed and the unemployed, the sick and the well, and the good and the bad within its boundaries.

"Every town has in it men and women like ourselves, who have their doubts, fears and problems; who want friendship, who require leadership. Trenton is well equipped to help its people in the overcoming of their problems, and in supplying their needs. Under the direction of this 1958 council we pray that the people of the town and district may learn to value, to use, and to appreciate all the facilities and services that the town has to offer.

"Speaking as a resident may I say that we are grateful for the time and effort you office-bearers will give in the carrying out of your duties. While we reserve the right to growl on occasion, we nevertheless recognize it as the glory of our way of life that we can elect our representatives, and trust them with the responsibility of managing the affairs of the town.

"Speaking on behalf of the Trenton Ministerial Association may I say that we trust that each member of the council will take time to be actively interested in his own church. It is right that men with Christian training and ideals should provide the leadership in municipal offices.

"We feel that these offices can only be properly discharged when manned by those who have in their character the conviction that they must love God and their neighbor as themselves.

"It is our sincere prayer that under this 1958 town council God will be pleased to bless our community with peace and prosperity."

Following Mr. McLelland's address to the council the mayor presented a motion of thanks to the minister for attending the ceremonies.

Merchants Group Seeks Uniform Closing Hours

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario division of the Retail Merchants Association of Canada is seeking more uniform closing hours for stores, it was disclosed today.

The association, in a letter to Labor Minister Daley, asked for amendments to the Factory, Shop and Office Building Act to provide for a 7 p.m. closing time for shops on all nights except Friday. It proposed the closing time on Friday be 9 p.m.

The letter asked that amendments also provide that the late-closing night could be changed to any other night in the week if not less than three-quarters of the occupiers of shops within a municipality applied to the municipality for such a change.

LEAVES $200,000

Order Toronto Men Deported, Not Canadians

HALIFAX (CP)—An immigration spokesman said today Toronto car dealers Len Jacobs and Arthur Morris have been ordered deported from Canada.

A. G. Christie, assistant district superintendent of immigration here, said a special inquiry found the men could not comply with immigration regulations.

They were released today to arrange for a cash bond. This would effect their release pending their appeal of the department order. They are said to be British subjects but not Canadian citizens.

GONE 6 MONTHS

Jacobs, 32, and Morris, Jacobs uncle, vanished from their Toronto homes last June and turned up here Saturday aboard the Italian liner Saturnia. Their lawyer said they had been in Israel.

Mr. Christie said he did not know the amount of the cash bond set by the special inquiry officer, E. F. Munro.

He said Toronto police had not been in touch with him about Jacobs, sought for skipping $1,000 bail. Jacobs was charged with criminal negligence last June and accused of driving 100 miles an hour along a highway near Toronto.

LEFT FORTUNE

When they disappeared Jacobs and Morris left behind a $1,000,000 business, a $50,000 home, a $25,000 summer cottage and an $18,000 speedboat.

Mrs. Morris is believed with her husband here. Mrs. Jacobs disappeared with her husband but returned to Toronto last October.

Jacobs and Morris were declared absentees after their disappearance and their business, Lenmore Motors, was ordered sold to Colonial Finance Corporation for $167,000.

Nova Scotian Woman Dies In 110th Year

RESERVE MINES, N.S. (CP) Mrs. Annie Martin, at 109, one of the oldest women in Canada, died Thursday.

She believed in hard work, she often said, and spent most of her time knitting and sewing. She watched her diet and was never known to use gravy, butter or fatty food.

Mrs. Martin smoked a pipe and accepted an occasional cigaret.

She was born at Johnstown, N.S., about 40 miles south of Sydney. She was proud of her Scottish ancestry and spoke Gaelic fluently. Two years ago on her 107th birthday she danced a Scottish dance with a group of young people.

Mrs. Martin remembered turbulent days that preceded the Canadian Confederation in 1867 and often spoke of the first Dominion Day. She was 19 years old then.

Says Anti-West Attitude Not Threat to Peace

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) Dag Hammarskjold, United Nations secretary-general, says the anti-Western attitude of the recent Cairo conference of Afro-Asian delegates should "not be interpreted as a sign that we live in a world which must come to clashes."

The roots of what newspapers had called "anti-Westernism" were well-known to all, he told a press conference Thursday, but that kind of reaction was not the same as a "bellicose and expansionist mentality which creates an immediate danger of war."

Asked about reports that he might have a role in trying to bridge the gap between East and West, he said it is "quite obvious that this is a case where the United Nations machinery and other diplomatic machinery is at the service of governments."

At the same time, he cautioned against any interpretation that this was "any kind of hidden invitation."

"The question is open, the possibilities are there and the conclusions are for you to draw."

He said he knew of "no basis" for press reports that a foreign ministers' conference on disarmament might be held under UN auspices with himself among the conferees.

The secretary-general, just back from the Middle East, said there was "nothing to be concerned about" over Suez.

The kind of progress which had been hoped for was being made and for that reason "we can all of us turn our backs on that specific problem for a while, though there are still things to be settled, problems still to be solved."

Britain Facing Perplexing And Contradictory Problems

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Britain's two Mediterranean island colonies are facing the mother country with perplexing and contradictory problems.

Sir Hugh Foot, governor of rebellion-torn Cyprus, and Maj Gen. Sir Robert Laycock, governor of Malta, are visiting London to report and receive instructions.

The holiday season passed quietly in Cyprus and there are signs that Sir Hugh, who has a reputation for cooling passions and leading people toward self-government, is having success there.

The quarrel in Cyprus, where a state of emergency has been in force for three years, has wide ramifications since it is seriously damaging relations among three NATO members, Britain, Greece and Turkey.

While Greek Cypriots, who make up the greater part of the population, are forthright in their demands for an end to British rule, the problem of the Maltese is different.

Although Prime Minister Mintoff now is threatening that Malta will secede from the Commonwealth, only a few months ago he was calling for a closer relationship — integration along the lines of Northern Ireland — with the United Kingdom.

It appears that the 41-year-old labor premier is using this device to bring pressure on the British government. Under reduced British defence spending, Mintoff fears that the Royal Navy dockyards in Malta, employing 14,000 men, will face wholesale layoffs and eventual closing.

Malta also is fleet headquarters for NATO forces in the Mediterranean.

It isn't clear just how Mintoff and his supporters figure that secession would help matters. They are demanding that Britain provide alternative employment and they are backed by a unanimous vote of the Maltese parliament.

The dockyard workers are organized under the general workers union, on which Mintoff leans for support and it is obvious that the fiery leaders will go to great lengths to hold that support.

A Rhodes scholar, he became prime minister in 1955 at the age of 38, youngest prime minister in the Commonwealth.

It is ironic that Malta, a rocky island with 320,000 population, should consider cutting ties with Britain because of a reduction in defence installations.

ENTERED FREELY

The doughty Maltese wrote a proud story of heroism under fire in the Second World War, when the island was awarded the George Cross for spurning surrender despite almost continual attack by German and Italian air forces.

Malta entered the British Empire on its own accord in 1814 after the Royal Navy assisted the Maltese in ousting Napoleon's soldiers.

Colonial Secretary Alan Lennox-Boyd—and others—expressed astonishment at the Maltese threat to secede. He said he hopes the Maltese will do nothing to prejudice the successful conclusion of plans for closer association of Malta with Britain, with its promise of economic benefits. The Maltese parliament approved this proposal in 1956.

STORMY PRIMA

Miss Callas has left a lengthy international trail of name-calling contract disputes and last-minute cancellations of performances. Critics have noted in recent months that her highest tones have sounded increasingly shrill and frayed, and her cancellations for vocal "indisposition" have become more frequent.

The opening-night crowd of 3,000 included Italian President Giovanni Gronchi and his wife, several cabinet ministers, movie stars Gina Lollobrigida and Anna Magnani, and other fashionably dressed celebrities.

Norma is one of the most difficult soprano roles in opera and one that Miss Callas has made her own. She has sung it to great acclaim on opening nights at New York's Metropolitan and elsewhere.

The critic of the Venice Gazzettino comments of Thursday night's performance:

"When she sang the famous aria Casta Diva, even the public perceived there was something wrong with Miss Callas' voice because there were some jeers from the upper balconies. That's the place where the authentic opera experts sit."

GETS LIFE

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP)— Maurice Chavigny was sentenced Tuesday to life imprisonment for the slaying of Brig.-Gen. Wilbur R. R. McReynolds and the general's wife. The 44-year-old Frenchman was convicted Dec. 19 of second-degree murder in both slayings. The retired general, 64, and his wife, 61, were shot to death at their home April 3.

Khrushchev's Toast Almost Peace Prayer

LONDON (CP)—Nikita Khrushchev says he hopes the angel of peace will hover over the earth in 1958, and not the demon of war.

The Soviet Communist party chief made what almost amounted to a prayer for peace in a toast of friendship to the "wonderful American people" at a New Year's reception in Moscow Thursday night.

His toast, as reported by Moscow radio:

"I propose a toast for America, for the wonderful American people, for President Eisenhower, a toast to have America and the U.S.S.R. reach agreement on abolishing the cold war, to have the angel of peace over us and not the demon of war."

He vowed that Russia will do all it can to ensure world peace.

"If wisdom does not triumph, the means of destruction will pile up, war will break out, tremendous material values will be destroyed and millions of people will be annihilated," he said, but added that he thinks 1958 "will bring a weakening of international tension."

Meanwhile, Marshal Konstantin Rokossovsky has returned from his special assignment as commander of the Soviet military district bordering Turkey. This presumably writes a finish to last fall's Syrian-Turkish crisis as far as the Russians are concerned.

Rokossovsky was put in command of the forces near Turkey and Syria on Oct. 23, when the Soviet government was warning the world that Turkey planned to attack Syria and that the Russians would come to Syria's aid.

RCAF to Carry Relief to Ceylon Flood Victims

OTTAWA (CP)—An RCAF aircraft will leave Montreal today for Ceylon carrying medical emergency supplies and baby foods provided by the Canadian Red Cross to help flood victims in the area.

Dr. G. W. Miller of the Red Cross will accompany the shipment and will assist Ceylonese authorities to report on conditions in the disaster area, the external affairs department announced today. The League of Red Cross Societies has asked Dr. Miller to serve as its delegate during his assignment in Ceylon.

The flight is scheduled to arrive in Ceylon early next week. Dr. W. F. Stanbury, national commissioner of the Canadian Red Cross, said the aircraft will carry more than $32,000 worth of drugs and medical supplies.

Part of the shipment will be financed by funds previously made available by the Canadian government. In addition, the Junior Red Cross is providing $5,000 worth of concentrated baby food and medical supplies.

Last Sunday, in response to an urgent appeal from the government of Ceylon, an RCAF aircraft was sent from Montreal with emergency supplies.

Govt. Revises Obscenity Rule

NEW YORK (AP)—The federal government Thursday accepted a new legal standard for obscenity and agreed to let the Kinsey Institute import some concededly pronographic pictures, books and other objects.

The decision was hailed here today by the law firm which represented the institute in a government law suit as "a victory for the mind of man."

The government's suit was directed against Indiana University's Institute for Sex Research Incorporated. The institute was founded by the late Dr. Alfred C. Kinsey.

The new standard held that the material is not legally obscene because it is unlikely to arouse the "prurient interest" of those who will see it.

The official position previously had been that a thing is obscene in itself, no matter who is going to see or read it.

The material involved had been seized by the customs bureau seven years ago on its way to the institute.

INTERESTING CRIME RATES

A section in "Citizen," a publication put out by the Department of Citizenship and Immigration, should still the wagging tongues of a number of native Canadians who are convinced that the majority of immigrants to Canada are responsible for most crimes committed in this country.

The journal says, and we quote: "The first interesting fact is that for all crimes considered together, the native-born (Canadians) have a higher rate of convictions than the foreign-born."

Of course, that statement does not say, nor does it imply, that native-born Canadians receive harsher treatment in courts of law than their foreign brethren. In this country justice is served equally on all offenders, regardless of their extraction and origin.

Another paragraph in the article says: "For one type of offence - - gambling and lottery offences, which are listed under the general heading of 'organized vice' - - the foreign-born have a higher rate of conviction."

Well, that seems plausible, since many European and Asiatic countries use gambling and lotteries to produce revenue. It seems to be only Canada and the United States that list these two "crimes" as offences under the criminal code.

"Foreign-born Canadians and the native-born have a simiiliar rate for homicide."

Now homicide, in legal terminology, embraces more than murder. So it seems that native Canadians are not really as different from foreign-born Canucks as many people believe.

Another interesting fact, says the publication, is that among the foreign-born, those born in the United States have the highest rate of conviction, while people born in the Scandinavian countries and Great Britain are in second place, with Italians in last position.

In attempting to account for the low rate of criminality among the foreign-born, the publication says that it might possibly be attributed to the screening procedures at the time of admission. This might account for the very low rates among Asians and Italians, who are subjected to a very thorough screening.

"Citizen" says that the large majority of foreign-born offenders have been residents of Canada "for fifteen years or longer."

A study conducted by the research division of the Canadian Citizenship Branch qualifies the latter statement: "... It may be that older residents are beginning to resemble native Canadians, even as far as the latter group's higher crime rate is concerned. This is likely to be particularly true of persons who came to Canada as children."

ENERGY FROM SUNLIGHT

In spite of all man has done to improve his lot, he has ignored one promising field.

So far, it seems, he has overlooked the fact that the sun is a source of energy. Only in a few isolated areas is Old Sol being put to work by men. The sunny State of Arizona is, perhaps, a good example of an area in which people of all occupations and in all wage groups really benefit from the sun.

Since ancient man first "discovered" fire, man has been heating his homes and cooking his meals by wood, coal or oil fuel. These materials contain energy from the sun, do they not?

Why cannot man eliminate the middle man, so to speak, and employ the sun directly? It is being done in Arizona, where solar heated homes have been popular for some years. Not all homes are heated by the sun's rays in Arizona, but a good many are.

The fact that everyone in Canada is not able to heat his home directly from the sun suggests that perhaps scientists and engineers are not too interested in developing this sort of energy. Perhaps they are afraid too many people would become unemployed. What would happen to coal miners, lumberjacks and oil drillers, to say nothing of the related industries? And what would manufacturers of furnaces, water pipes, radiators and other paraphernalia do?

There is no doubt that people everywhere would welcome the sun's rays heating their homes and cooking their food, in lieu of paying annual fuel bills. Perhaps when the earth's store of fuel nears exhaustion science will turn to the sun and harness energy which might have been used much earlier.

PLACING THE BLAME

Who is it father always blames
When things go wrong about the place?
Who bears the brunt of everything
And bears it with a kindly grace?
Who is it father blames when he
Spills soup upon his Sunday best?
Whom does he censure when he breaks
A shoestring while he's getting dressed?
Mother.

Who is responsible when he
While shaving cuts into his chin?
Who loses all card games that dad
Was very sure that he would win?
Whose fault is it when father finds
His laundry not returned on time?
Who gets the blame for all mistakes,
Ridiculous to the sublime?
Mother.

Who seems to understand his whims
And smiles at all his cranky ways?
Who strives to patiently avoid
The argument that never pays?
Who takes the blame that father gives,
As though it were deserved, and then
Awaits her chance to square up things
When father lingers out till ten?
Mother.

Thumbs Tempt Many Drivers

Saturday Evening Post

Despite the "thumbs-down-on-thumbers" campaign of the American Automobile Association, despite the stern and frequent announcements of J. Edgar Hoover, despite the warnings from every responsible low-enforcement agency in the country, there are vast numbers of drivers who cannot resist the outstretched thumb and the pleading look of the hitchhiker.

While the average driver's chances of picking up a multiple murder may be fairly remote, he has a pretty good chance of picking up other unsavory characters. A police check on one highway near Wichita showed that two out of every five hitchhikers had FBI fingerprint records. In one recent twelve-month period on the New Jersey Turnpike — where hitchhiking is illegal — state troopers nabbed 162 runaways, 98 AWOL servicemen, 7 escaped inmates of prison institutions, 5 prison escapees, and 50 others who could not properly account for themselves. Despite the ban on hitchhiking, a large number of these characters were clearly trying to bum rides.

The catalogue of crimes committed by hitchhikers ranges from rudeness to torture and murder. Drivers have had their heads bashed in with stones, have been dismembered and have been disemboweled by strangers they picked up on the highway. More often they were merely robbed. One of the more bizarre episodes in this unlovely story was the case of George Cvek, an ingratiating hitchhiker who used the information he got from talkative husbands to charm his way later into the living rooms of their gullible wives. It was estimated that Cvek had committed more than 200 rape-robberies in this way before he ended up in Sing Sing's electric chair a few years ago.

It is hard to see why any intelligent man should take the chance of picking up strangers. In at least twenty-one states, he can be held liable for any injury to the hitchhiker riding in his car.

In the opinion of the A.A.A., only Washington of all the states, has passed a hitchhiking law with real teeth in it. In Washington, incidentally, drivers who pick up strangers at the roadside can themselves be penalized.

Many law-enforcements officials would like to see a tough anti-hitchhiking law enacted by every state in the land. Lacking that, the average driver should use his brains. He should no more invite a total stranger into his car than he would invite him home for the night.

Kilt Too Nice To Be Wasted

Cleveland Plain Dealer

"The kilt, declared John Taylor, editor of "Tailor and Cutter," a British trade publication, "is much too nice a garment to waste on Scots. It will become popular in the United States in a year or two. Americans with a dram of Scottish blood and a decent pair of legs will be taking to the kilt as evening dress."

Taylor observed, according to the Associated Press, that two of the major style-setting retail shops in New York have installed "Scottish departments" and are nationally advertising the kilt for evening wear.

Well now, though we have the greatest admiration for the tough and sturdy Scots of our acquaintance, and though some very close relatives of ours thrill to the sound of the bagpipe, we doubt that kilts will ever supplant the more conventional wear for evening dress.

There are two reasons. First, there aren't very many decent male legs in America! Americans rarely walk if they can ride even around the block — and the finest way to acquire spindle shanks is to avoid exercise. To be sure there are exceptions, but far too many Americans — and young Americans at that — shy away from anything that would build muscles. And skinny legs look infinitely better covered with trousers.

Second, such decent male legs as do exist in this country are pretty well gouged out and scarred with marks of football cleats, et cetera. Or they are disfigured with the scars left by operations for torn cartilages, or any other number of things, including flying hunks of metal and machine gun bullets.

And finally, men's legs — even the best of them—are never very pretty in the sense that women's legs are beautiful. They're sturdy and useful, and we're exceedingly happy we possess them, but handsome — definitely no!

So we propose to continue clothing our battered underpinning with trousers, which cover a multitude of imperfections and we'll bet you that the editor of "Tailor and Cutter" turns out to be overly optimistic in his prediction.

Strength for The Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

THE CITY WITH FOUNDATIONS

Probably the greatest drawback to old age is that one has very little to look forward to. It is this absence of thrilling expectancy which often renders old age drab and burdensome.

Youth looks forward to the opening out of the whole of life. Young married people stand in thrilling expectancy before the promised years together. Parents send their children to school and college, looking forward, looking forward always. Middle aged men look forward to success and promotion.

It is written of the Patriarch Abraham that he looked for a city which hath foundations whose builder and maker is God. Abraham was a mature man when he went out from his own country and people. He was a very old man before the saga of his life was concluded. He looked for an heir and at long last the heir was given. He looked for possession of a land, and the land became his with the promise of even greater possession for his descendants.

But throughout the whole of his life Abraham looked for something and continued to look for it until the last day of his life. The thing he looked for was beyond the capacity of eyes to discern. It was a spiritual something. It was a city which hath foundations whose builder and maker is God.

Let us set spiritual ideals before ourselves at the beginning of the year and keep our eyes fastened hereon.

Stuffing An Elephant

London Times

It was a sad and soulful elephant that stood on the road at Kentish Town, NW. Some observers thought he had a nonchalant look as he faced the cold air; others merely that he had the usual Monday morning expression common to inhabitants of NW 5 and beyond.

The elephant was stuffed, the handiwork of Rowland Ward, Ltd., taxidermists, and destined for the Belgian Government's Palais des Faunes, displaying the principal animals of the Belgian Congo, in the international exhibition at Brussels next year.

It has taken six months to stuff the elephant, the first the taxidermists have had since 1908. Twelve men have worked on the job, two of whom helped on the previous elephant. The eyes of one of these veteran craftsmen lit up with the happy gleam of the experienced elephant stuffer as he recalled work on the other elephant. "This one is a good color", he conceded, "but he has not got the height of the old one."

The present beast, standing on the road waiting to be boxed and shipped to Belgium, was 10 feet high at the shoulder, 15 feet from tip of trunk to tail, and weighed about a ton and a half.

Stuffing an elephant is much more difficult than most other animals — and among those the company are sending to the exhibition, some of which could be seen wholly or partly stuffed around their workshops, are five buffaloes, 10 monkeys, a giraffe, a hippopotamus, two gorillas and an aardvark.

The difficulty in stuffing an elephant is keeping the skin, which was flown in one piece from the Congo, soft and pliable enough to model.

The skin is hoisted on a pulley and stretched over a wooden framework, roughly two-thirds of the bulk, and throughout it is continual struggle to keep it damp so that it can be made to show its conformation, folds and wrinkles.

The result may not be the little knick-knack one would want by the hall cupboard, but it is a solidly lifelike version of the real thing.

To commemorate this piece of work a "select and unique Society of Elephant Builders" has been formed, of which the head modeller is president. They will meet every year at this time for a drink, and, even if the elephants forget, they will not.

Blacksmiths Are Scarce

Stratford Beacon-Herald

Some horse owners in the United States are complaining that they cannot find blacksmiths as horseshoers. Horses are rare enough these days in the urban areas, but men to put shoes upon them seem scarcer still.

Time was, within the memory of many people living, when the clang of the blacksmith's hammer on anvil resounded in town and country, and advertised the fact that he was hammering shoes for a horse, or mending an iron rim for a wheel. But the advent of the motor age and the general adoption of the rubber tire has almost put the blacksmith out of business.

Bill Coons of Linwood, Kansas, is a blacksmith still on the sunny side of 50, but he finds it is not worth his while establishing a shop in one place. There are not enough horses around Linwood to make the job pay, so he travels around the country and shoes horses by appointment.

Shoeing a horse, says Bill, is a real accomplishment. There are a great many kinds of horse shoes to fit many kinds of feet, and a shoer who studies a horse's feet should be as meticulous as a shoe salesman in a store who fits humans' feet for comfort. Bill sees a time when there will be no horseshoes at all and the few horses left will have to go about barefooted as it were.

The blacksmith shop is a nostalgic memory for old-timers. There was a pleasant and distinctive aroma from the horses' hooves, as the blacksmith shaved them with a hot iron. A big work horse standing placidly while being shod dwarfed everything in the shop, and it was one of the thrills of childhood when the smith invited a boy on his way home from school to give the bellows a blow. The bellows was a massive affair about six or seven feet long with the nozzle projected into the red glow of the fire, in which the smith heated a shoe to make it malleable, and if the fire was a bit low a few ups and downs with the handle caused it to burst into flame again. And when the blacksmith extracted a red - hot piece of iron from the fire and beat it on the anvil the showers of sparks were as good as any display of fireworks.

We never saw a smithy's stand under a spreading chestnut tree, or any other kind of tree, and we presume the mighty man portrayed by Longfellow was the type represented by Bill Coons, who just sets up shop wherever he had a date.

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

How To Break A Bad Habit

For a hundred years, quackery and nostrum interests have thrived on the theme: Keep the Bowels Open.

Now comes Dr. Brady who teaches a different theme: Never Mind the Bowels. He hopes that here and there a reader will find the idea interesting enough to want to learn more about it.

There are numerous ways to re-establish the natural autonomic (automatic) regulation of the bowel.

First, you must learn a little lesson in physiology, namely, that the function of the bowel is controlled by the same autonomic nervous mechanism as is the function of the heart, that is, the vagus. This being true, it is no more necessary to "watch" the heart than it is to "watch" the bowel. Both work best if not interfered with.

Then, if you realize that you don't know more about this than I do, or more than the physiologists do, you are perhaps ready for the final step. This, I gather from the reports of many readers, some of whom succeeded and some failed, takes courage. Especially if you have been indoctrinated since infancy with the "Keep-the-bowels-open" idea. The medical fictionists of the nineteenth century, such as the prolific Dr. John Harvey Kellogg in Yankeeland and the daring Sir Arbuthnot abroad, cooked up some weird pictures of what happens to the wretch who fails to keep his bowels open. Autointoxication, intestinal toxemia, toxicosis—pretty serious troubles even though they never occur.

At one point in his dizzy career, the Sage of Battle Creek, in the exuberance of his own verbosity, sternly asserted that "it is impossible to have constipation without intestinal autointoxication. The fact that the symptoms of toxemia do not occur in every case is no evidence that they are not present." So there. If you have not yet noticed the symptoms, stick around and listen to my spiel. You'll have 'em, all right!

Only twice in my life have I taken any laxative or cathartic —both times on doctor's orders. Once the doctor who attended me for CRI ordered me to take a solution of citrate of magnesia freshly prepared by the pharmacist. Another time the doctor ordered me to down a beaker of castor oil the evening before I was to sit for my portrait —X-ray films to show whether I had diverticula (pouches or short branches off the main alimentary canal). Having consulted the doctor, I felt bound to do as he ordered. I believe the films showed a possible diverticulum or two but no more than most persons have.

On two or three occasions, for some reason or other beyond my ken, I began to think I'd have to take salts or something, after all. But I didn't. See here, Brady, I said to myself, if you weaken now and take physic, how are you going to assure people that Nature will resume control if not interfered with? So I stuck it out and, like hundreds of victims of the constipation habit who have mustered the courage to do so, found that nature did resume control.

Yes, constipation is a bad habit which you can break at any time, provided you have sufficient intelligence and character.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

In the State of Indiana, through which the Packsack is journeying at the moment, there are more pigs than the Packsack thought there were in the whole world. You will see fields full of four hundred pigs. Hogs they are called here, though many of them you could put in your shopping bag.

They are strange looking pigs to Canadian eyes. The majority are a remarkable pattern — black, with a wide white belt or circingle around the middle. Next to these are mottled pigs, black and white; piebald, black and white. Next come all black ones, larger than bears. And after them come rusty red ones. The well-known human-colored ones, most familiar to Canadians, are practically non-existent in this great hog growing state.

Though winter is here, it makes no difference to the hogs. The fields are full of them, hundreds, thousands of them. And the striking thing is that if you watch a field of three hundred of them, not one has his head raised. Not one is looking up. Every last hog has his head bent down straight into the ground, and you have the curious impression that they are in prayer. Three hundred hogs, all heads bowed.

They are rooting. For, remember the adage — root hog, or die.

But they are going to die anyway. Seven tenths of the population of America eats bacon for breakfast.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

JUST AMONG FRIENDS

Nearly every period of my life has been one in which I have enjoyed my friends. If you want wealth that is genuine, collect friends. They will stay by you long after all other kinds of wealth may have disappeared. My happiest moments are those I spend with my friends.

I often think of Napoleon on that island of St. Helena, alone and quite forgotten, with only the dreams of his restless genius, and his thousands of legions which he threw into others, in response to his love of glory. But in his will he selected only one man to share the crumbs of triumph and that was his faithful butler, or attendant. Even those whom he had raised to dizzy heights in rulership all forgot him.

Wendell Phillips, while walking the streets of Boston, ran into Nora Perry, the poet. Asked where she was going, she replied: "To see a friend." "Oh," said Phillips, "take me with you. I want to meet one."

Our great men and women are among the loneliest of people. I have often wondered why? Perhaps it is because they have neglected to invest in friends! Certainly nothing is easier. Especially when that investing is done early in life. We ought to carry our friends along with us. It is stimulating to talk with a person who has a multitude of friends.

I look upon every book in my library as a friend. You get the substance of a writer's life in the book he writes and which he sends out into the world. Books, if they are great ones, live on and on. They are the barometers of our culture and civilization. Tell me about the books a person reads and I shall tell you whether I want that one to be my friend!

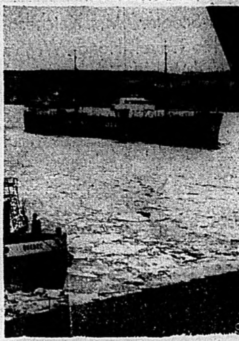
SETS RECORD



The oil tanker Irving Lake sets two records as she approaches a bridge spanning the St. John River at Fredericton. The 3,600-ton vessel is the largest craft ever to have made the 85-mile river trip from Saint John in winter. Unusually mild weather and heavy rains caused an ice break-up, making the voyage possible. The tug Quebec accompanied the tanker. (CP Photo).

Sunday School Lesson

Christianity Is Jesus Christ

By ROY L. SMITH

It should be said in the strongest possible terms that the essence of Christianity is the life, person, and teachings of Jesus Crist.

We have long been accustomed to speaking of "the Gospel." And we have said it meant "good news." That certainly is true, and good news is something much more significant than good advice.

There is a disposition today, altogether too widespread, to view the Christian message as being something that is calculated to appeal to men's reason. And of course good religion must always be reasonable, and subject to the laws of reason.

The Uniform Sunday School Lesson for January 5: "The Church's One Foundation," Matthew 16:-13-19; Ephesians 2:19-22; Colossians 1:15-20.

But basically speaking, the Christian message to the world today is the good news that God has broken through the veil of uncertainty and revealed himself to all men in the person of Jesus Christ.

The first thing to be noted concerning Jesus was the fact that he recognized God as the final authority in the affairs of men. Neither expediency, profit, or personal advantage swayed him in any manner from his devotion to what he believed to be the will of God.

Our generation is engaged in a pathetic search for the central authority of life. We are dissecting the nuclei of the atoms, and scanning the heavens for a range of 4,000,000,000 light years in an effort to find "the beginning of things."

For Jesus, the beginning of everything was to be explained in terms of God. Let modern thinkers begin at the same point and they will discover that life begins to unravel for them.

PETER HAD KNOWN HIM

The Apostle Peter had known Jesus of Nazareth in an intimate way through a period of perhaps three years. They had travelled together, eaten together, and shared the same hardships and experiences together. Someone has said that you never really know a person until you have travelled with him for two weeks.

The old Galilean had even gone fishing with Jesus, and sportsmen and men of the woods will tell you that there is no better way to know a man than to go alone with him into the woods on an outing or a vacation. No man ever lived who had a better chance to know the Galilean carpenter than did the Galilean fisherman.

He had known Him as a teacher, preacher, travelling companion, neighbor, and wonder-worker. But when he was challenged to tell who Jesus really was, he said, "He is the Christ, the Son of the Living God.'

FAITH AND FELLOWSHIP

While it is true to say that Christianity is Christ, by which we mean that it is faith in Jesus of Nazareth, it is also true that it is a fellowship. By this we mean that there is a tie between Christians which transcends all political, economic, and social as well as racial differences.

No matter how magnificent our church building may be, how eloquent our preaching, or how strong our financial and moral position, if there is not among us the spirit of fellowship, we are not a Christian Church.

To the extent that we allow other interests and affections to come between us and other Christians, just in that measure we fall short of being Christians.

New Labor Act, Amendments Up to Select Committee of The Provincial Legislature

By BRUCE LEVETT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Caught between two growing giants—labor and management — Ontario is looking for ways to ease the growing pains.

Before the search is finished sometime next year, the labor acts of the nine other provinces and the United States will have been reviewed and more than 500 recommendations considered.

Whether the result will be an entire new labor act or amendments to the present act is up to the select committee of the provincial legislature, set up by Premier Frost to study the Ontario Labor Relations Act.

SITUATION CHANGED

"Ten years ago the unions were weak and crying for help," says Harold Perkins, committee secretary. "Now the unions are growing strong and the companies are seeking safeguards."

Mr. Perkins, a former federal labor department industrial relations officer, was brought out of retirement to help the committee. Of Ontario's present labor law, he says:

Under chairman James Maloney, a lawyer and Progressive Conservative member for Renfrew South, the committee has held 27 public sessions. Six more are due this month, then more after Easter. The committee sits only when the provincial house is adjourned.

With Mr. Maloney on the committee are seven other Progressive Conservatives — John Yaremko, Toronto Bellwoods, a lawyer; Mines Minister J. Wilfrid Spooner, Cochrane South; Ellis Morningstar, Welland, a manufacturer; lawyer Robert Macauley, Toronto Riverdale; manufacturer G. E. Jackson, London South; Leslie Rowntree, York West, and R. M. Myers, Waterloo South, two more lawyers.

OTHER MEMBERS

The other three are Liberal-Labor member Albert Wren of Kenora, former town clerk of Sioux Lookout; Liberal Arthur Reaume, Essex North businessman and politician and former mayor of Windsor; and CCF Leader Donald MacDonald, former journalist and now full-time political figure.

The formation of the committee was "likely prompted by the action of the Ontario Federation of Labor," Mr. Perkins said. The OFL made a survey and published a report covering the entire field and submitted its findings to the legislature. A month later, the select committtee was formed.

A major problem is the growing complexity within the union organizations, aggravated by the development of new industrial products and techniques.

"In the construction industry alone, there were 24 unions," Mr. Perkins said.

He cited the case of carpenters, traditional installers of window frames. "Now many frames are made of aluminum and the sheet metal workers want to install them."

VARIETY OF BEEFS

The 42 briefs considered so far run the scale from stern to humorous and another 17 are expected. Nine more have been received but are yet to be considered.

All shades of political opinion are represented, along with unions, management, religious groups and newspapers.

A light moment was provided by Eamon Park of the OFL, who charged during testimony before the committee that the people with whom judges associate could influence them against labor in their decisions on arbitration boards.

"Do you mean managerial personnel play more golf than working men?" a committee member asked.

"During working hours they do," Mr. Park replied.

At a sitting June 25, Mr. MacDonald charged the chairman was "frustrating the whole purpose of this committee" by ruling that government policy need not be considered.

"What does it matter what government policy is?" Mr. Maloney replied. "We're only concerned with what it should be."

INDUSTRIAL PROVINCE

Scope of the problem is emphasized by recent labor and production figures showing that more than 35 per cent of the commodity-producing industries last year turned out 41 per cent of the net national product.

There has been some form of labor legislation in Ontario since 1873, but not until 1943 was there a serious attempt to spell out the rights and responsibilities of labor and management.

The 1943 Labor Relations Court Act became the Labor Relations Board Act in 1944 when the federal government took over labor administration across the country as a wartime measure. In 1947 the federal government bowed out and the 1947 Labor Relations Act was written—basis of present labor legislation. It was revised in 1948 and 1950 and amended in 1954, 1956 and 1957.

At present, the act provides for three stages during labor disputes—negotiation, inquiry by a conciliation officer and then appointment of a conciliation board during which there may be no strike.

Mr. Perkins said that since 65 per cent of all disputes are solved at the conciliation officer level, the committee is studying U.S. and United Kingdom legislation which eliminates the third stage.

The Windsor Chamber of Commerce brief requested the committee to simplify the act so that every union member could understand it.

Said chairman Maloney:

Wedding

CALLAN—MUMBY

MARMORA — A lovely wedding took place in St. Mark's Anglican Church, Port Hope, on December 28 when Mary Elaine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Mumby, and Gordon Arthur Clive Callan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clive M. Callan, of Toronto, were united in marriage in a double-ring ceremony performed by Canon C. H. Boulden.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her wedding a gown of white peau de soie appliqued with Alencon lace, seed pearls and iridescent sequins. The fitted bodice buttoned down the back and had a Sabrina neckline. The full skirt worn over a hoop fell to a chapel train. A crown of seed pearls and sequins held her veil of silk tulle and she carried a white prayer book crested with yellow roses and stephanotis.

Miss Roberta Mumby, maid of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Barbara Haultain and Mrs. William Bible and Patricia Scully, wore waltz-length dresses of poinsettia silk chiffon velvet and white fur headdresses and they carried small white fur muffs with holly attached.

The flower girl, Jenine Brownlee, was in white pleated chiffon lace with headdress of yellow roses and a nosegay of roses, tulle and stephanotis.

Mr. Lawrence Law was groomsman and the ushers were Messrs. William Bible, Donald Steadman and Thomas Barber.

At the reception, held in the new Masonic Temple, the bride's mother received the guests in a dress of brocaded lace chiffon over satin with matching accessories and corsage of pink roses. The bridegroom's mother assisted and wore gray satin brocade with matching accessories and corsage of coral roses.

On their return from a honeymoon in Northen United States the young couple will reside in Port Credit.

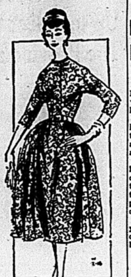
LACE LOVELY



By VERA WINSTON

Alencon lace makes a pretty dress for late day and evening. Cut shirtwaist style the frock is collarless, piped at the neck with ecru satin to match the lace. The same satin is used to make the tailored belt and the tiny buttons that close the softly snug bodice. The skirt is domed slightly, the slip beneath helping to keep the shape. Gathers are concentrated at the sides and back. Here is a good buy, a dress that will do its wearer proud north or south at almost any event.

Couple Honored By Family on 25th Anniversary

On Saturday evening, December 7th., 1957, the brothers and sisters and their families, gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carmen Gibson, at Plainfield, to honor Mr. and Mrs. Daniel P. Smith on their silver wedding anniversary.

The bride, the former Frances Luella Gibson, was the eldest daughter of the late Albert and Emma Gibson, and the bridegroom, Daniel Percy Smith, the second oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. William Smith of Halloway.

They were married at Trinity United Church parsonage, Cobourg, by the pastor, the Rev. W. R. Tanton.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith have one son, at home.

The rooms were decorated for the occasion in pink and white and the table was centred with the wedding cake with a large "25" on top, flanked by silver candelabra and tea service.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith were presented with a chest of 1847 silverware.

The evening was spent in reminiscence. Sumptuous refreshments were served by the hostess.

At a late hour, the gathering dispersed, wishing the couple many more years of happily wedded life.

Wife Did Not Have Many Points in Score

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mrs. Rosetta L. Randall said in divorce court Thursday of her husband, Donald.

"As soon as we were married he told me that if I did everything he said things would be all right — and he put me on a point system.

"When I did anything right he'd give me points and when I did anything wrong he would take points away. I never knew the results. I had so many points taken away I guess I didn't have much of a score."

Mrs. Randall, 20, said her 31-year-old husband's conduct caused her to suffer a nervous breakdown.

She got the divorce.

Queen Joins Royalty Rank In Fashion

NEW YORK (AP) — Queen Elizabeth has joined the ranks of royalty in world fashion but Princess Margaret has been counted out

The best-dressed list announced Thursday by the New York Dress Institute is led for the fifth straight year by Mrs. William Paley, wife of the chairman of the board of the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Queen Elizabeth placed fourth, but her sister, who had been on the list for four years, was missing.

Two thousand international fashion experts, fashion editors, society figures and celebrities ballotted to choose the top 10 of fashion in 1957, the dress institute announcement said. The basis of judgment was said to be "distinguished taste in dress without ostentation or extravagance."

The list, following Mrs. Paley: the Duchess of Windsor and Mrs. Winston Guest of New York tied; Countess Consuelo Crespi of Rome; Queen Elizabeth; Audrey Hepburn, film actress; Mrs. Henry Ford II; Vicomtesse Jacqueline de Ribes of Paris; Claudette Colbert, film actress, and Mrs. William R. Hearst Jr., wife of the American newspaper publisher tied.

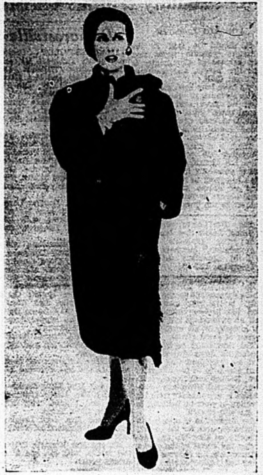
Paris Adaption



By TRACY ADRIAN

In Paris this season Balenciaga, one of the top designers in the French couture group, made the headlines with his new shapes and special touches. A good example is this handsome gray-black worsted coat with fringe cascading down the closing from neckline to hem.

And here in America one of our famous stores brings it to us in an exact translation of the model, faithful in every detail — high-banded stand-away neckline; widely cuffed bracelet-length sleeves; far-set, double-breasted closing. The coat is available in Oxford gray or black.

Princess Taken To Task for Not Dressing Well

LONDON (AP)—Dropped from the list of the world's dozen best - dressed women, Princess Margaret has been taken to task in a London paper for not even trying to dress smartly.

She even hints that the pretty princess has been wearing her mother's clothes.

"This picture might have been taken five or even 10 years ago," says The Herald columnist.

"Margaret looks as if she's going to a little boy's birthday party and—as little girls do—forgotten her gloves.

"Look at that jacket. Could it be—surely not—a cut-down from one of her mother's? If so, Margaret needs a better cutter. The sleeves are much too short.

"Look at that swirly pattern on the too-full skirt. Look at that bit of shiny nonsense pinned in her hair."

BUTTERFLY BROOCHES

Other papers express surprise that the princess was dropped from the top 12, chosen by the New York Dress Institute poll.

Style expert Iris Ashley says the only reason must be that she was present at fewer "dressy occasions" during 1957.

But the Queen's inclusion in the list as No. 4 is interpreted by some papers as a triumph for her British dress designers, Norman Hartnell and Hardy Amies.

"It's a triumph for British dress designing—so long in the doldrums," comments The News Chronicle.

Motor-Scooter Used to Travel Around World

VICTORIA (CP) — Pretty 21-year-old Jill Malouf left here recently for her home in Australia after travelling about the world on a motor-scooter.

Here on the last lap of a two-year tour, she said before sailing. "I have one regret. I haven't seen enough of Canada yet."

Having crossed the continent on the United States side, Jill was ready to do some extensive travelling in Canada when her parents wired her to return to her Brisbane home.

Travelling by scooter is not at all uncommon in Europe, she said. In fact, you see almost as many scooters as cars.

She says it's more fun than car travel "because you always meet fellow travellers along the road. They pull up longside at intersections and start asking about the tourist stickers".

Student and youth hostels offered comfortable lodging at little cost in Britain and in continental Europe. In North America she stayed with friends and at YWCA centres.

For the motor scooter traveller warm clothing is a "must". Jill wears slacks and a heavy three-quarter coat most of the time. Her one-piece of luggage is strapped to a rack at the rear of the scooter. There she keeps a suit and one or two dresses.

GOOD MANNERS

PATTERN FOR YOUR CHRISTMAS THANK-YOU NOTES

[illegible] face this pleasant fact . . . if you write your Christmas thank-you notes promptly, you'll have a really good time writing them. For then fresh and bright in your thoughts is the giver's kindness to you, your delight in being remembered, your appreciation of the remembrance. So dip your pen in appreciation now. Let us go!

FIRST: THANK FOR THE THOUGHT. Give your note a charming send-off by bowing your appreciation for the thought that prompted the present. It's a dull note indeed that begins, for example, "Thank you for the lovely handkerchief you sent me for Christmas." On the other hand, such a natural beginning as "What a dear friend you were to make me so happy at Christmas tim[illegible] gives a high-hearted upbe[illegible] your note. And now you're on [illegible]r way, chatting with your friend as personally and informally on paper as you would chat face-to-face.

SECOND: THANK FOR THE PRESENT ITSELF. With enthusiasm, certainly. With gusto, if you'd like. The more enthusiastic your words, the more your friends will welcome them. Be sure to mention the present by name . . . don't vaguely write about "your present," thus giving the maddening impression that perhaps you don't recall what the present was.

Actually the very best way is to have the present right in front of you while you write . . . then give with your words. Just don't write how "pretty" or "lovely" the present is. Chat enthusiastically about special features of the gift. How about the charming color? Write about this. Have you always longed to own just that kind of perfume? . . . certainly yo[illegible]iend will be enchanted to be[illegible] this happy fact. Will the gift have a special usefulness in your life? . . . that's indeed a comforting fact to tell your friend who doubtless pondered deeply about this before deciding to give you this gift. Or you might say something about the smart and or interesting design, or the handsome material, or perhaps the dramatic marking or monogramming. Just a few suggestions, these, things to write to make your friend happy, proud that she or he had the good thought and the good taste to choose just that gift.

THIRD: YOUR CLOSING BOW. Some words of devoted greeting to your friend, and good wishes for the New Year. For example: "Dearest love to you, Ann dear, and now and always my thanks to you for your wonderful Christm[illegible]goodness to me. Every good wi[illegible] you for your happiness and [illegible]elfare and well-being in the New Year. And let's start the New Year right . . . let's have a date very soon, to talk over old days and new days!"

"IT WAS SO GOOD TO HEAR FROM YOU!"

One of the most heart-warming and endearing things about Christmas is "the friendly recollections' that so joyously flash to us as we open our Christmas cards and greetings. What a blessed treasury of memories of friends and friendships! How it warms our hearts to hear from friends with whom we have been out of touch. Their so-welcome Christmas cards recall remembered ways or remembered days.

What a wonderful opportunity these messages give us to keep th[illegible] friendships flourishing! T[illegible] a very old and very wise saying that urges "Keep Christmas in January." Why not do just that . . . why not in January (or maybe later, but don't postpone it too long) answer some of these friendship-highlights that thrilled you in your Christmas mail? Each letter you write can be a strong link in the golden chain of friendship, of treasured relationships; each letter a warm handshake.

"It was so good to hear from you." Say these magical words, write these magical words that keep friendships alive and brightly flourishing!

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

Editor's Note: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Mrs. R.F. — Lydia should marry the younger man.

Lydia F. — He certainly isn't a big hero.

Mrs. R.F. — My daughter is a successful career girl and I suppose it has gone to her head a bit. No man is good enough for her. Few make a salary as good as hers.

Now Lydia is past 30 and it's been a long time since any matrimonial prospects have come into sight. Recently, however, a young man of 25 came to work for her office under her direct supervision. They struck up a friendship and went out together casually a few times.

This young man is nice-looking and I think he has a good future ahead of him. I don't think age should make so much difference. I tell Lydia it's time to get off her high horse and get down to earth. How many more chances can she expect?

Lydia F. — I am really very mixed up. I know what Mother says is true. It's time to take action, yet there seem to be so many disadvantages to this match.

Not only is Fred more than five years my junior, but he is just starting out in a career in which I have been established since I was his age. I have often thought I would die of embarrassment if we met any of our business associates when we were out together.

Then, Fred is so different from what I imagined a husband of mine would be like. I always pictured a strong, successful man. Fred is very sweet and attentive and good-natured, but he certainly isn't the big hero type of man. I wonder whether I could be happy with just a nice boy.

The Council: One thing we can be pretty definite about is this — Lydia can't marry Fred if it would cause her to die of embarrassment to be seen in his company.

Lydia's statement of her doubts indicates that she is too hemmed in by preconceptions. She has not only a fairly definite dream picture of the man she wants to marry, but definite ideas about what others think. It probably has not occurred to her that some of her business associates might be happy to know she is interested in a "sweet, attentive, good-natured" young man.

We don't think Lydia's dilemma is the result of her success in her career, but rather of a personal failure. She lacks faith in her own judgment and is, therefore, afraid to open herself to the new and unexpected in experience and, possibly, to the unconventional in conduct.

What to do about Fred? Get to know him — without a feeling of shame, Lydia. You are doing nothing illegal or illicit.

The Experts Say

Should Prepare Children For Nursery School Work

By MARY FRAN BURKE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — In the new year many parents will be enrolling their children in nursery school for the first time.

"A child should be able to feed himself," said Mrs. Dempsey. "Most important, he should be able to leave his mother without becoming unnecessarily upset.

"Our nursery program is so organized that children are not confused by their new surroundings."

FROM AGE OF TWO

Mrs. A. Carlaw is principal of the school, located in north-central Toronto. Children are taken from the age of two.

Programs include a number of routine activities such as nurses' inspection, a mid-morning milk break, dinner, nap, indoor and outdoor play.

"Our youngsters romp around the outdoors, riding the merry-go-round, sliding, building sand castles while others may take a turn at climbing the 'jungle jim' bar," said Mrs. Dempsey. "Indoor activities include ballet lessons for the girls while the little boys are kept busy with construction sets and playing with trucks."

Even the two-year-olds take part in the ballet lessons, she added. They wear soft ballet shoes and sing nursery rhymes with their movements. The older children are also taught some bar work.

Tots are first taught to make paper cut-outs, paste and color. They are also shown one-finger painting and by the time they reach four they can work with the whole hand.

Music time is a big event each day and all youngsters love to take part. Actions songs are stressed and children are taught dancing movements to accompany the songs.

Also a daily event is the afternoon nap. The routine is usually so planned to encourage sleep. A child is taught to lie still and be quiet in the sleeping room and usually he ends up by having a nap, Mrs. Dempsey said.

Mrs. Dempsey urges parents to bring their children to nursery school for a few visits prior to the first day. She also suggests during the first week that parents call for the children early. This makes a child realize that school is not taking him away from his mother and his home.

If children get the "second week blues" pay no attention, she said. This often occurs even after a happy first week at nursery school when children suddenly decide they've had enough. They are soon diverted and forget their distress and inside of a day or two are back into the swing of nursery school life.

Salads From The Press Club Christmas Party

By Mary Moore

My notice said "Bring large green salad in bowl, and servers"

Later the convenor phoned to say another member who was to have brought a salad too was sick. So I offered to make two salads — for 35 people.

Actually it solved a problem for I could not decide which of two new ones I would make — so I made both.

This first one was a smash hit. Marianne said she heard the girls raving over the second one too. So save these recipes if you have large crowds to provide salads for.

PRESS CLUB SALAD:

Incidentally, I served this in a huge antique wooden butter bowl. One 8-oz. tin lobster, drained and chopped, 3 tablespoons capers, ½ can drained bean sprouts (Chinese), 1 4-oz. tin pimientoes chopped, 1 green pepper cut in fine strips, ½ cucumber cut in wafer thin slices, 2 medium heads hard lettuce with first 3 or 4 outer leaves peeled off, 1 medium head celery, well trimmed and sliced thinly, about ¼ cup grated Gouda cheese, about 2-3 cup herb-flavored French dressing, about ½ cup or a little more genuine mayonnaise. Mix all but lettuce and mayonnaise. Pour French dressing over and let stand in refrigerator 2 hours. At serving time, cut the hard lettuce into bite-size pieces, fold in with the mayonnaise. Turn into lettuce-lined bowl. Garnish with some of the whole lobster tail pieces reserved from the can and plenty of jumbo-size ripe olives in groups of 3. While this would not serve 35, with the other salads on the buffet it was plenty.

PARTY BEET RING:

The Ring:

To fill a 9½-inch ring mould, drain ¾ cup of the liquid from 2 15-oz. tins of shoestring beets. In this ¾ cup liquid soak 3 tablespoons plain gelatine, for 5 minutes then stir it over hot water until dissolved. Return it to the shredded beets and remaining liquid and add 1 can frozen orange juice concentrate, ¾ cup water, juice of 1 medium lemon, and pour into ring mould, then chill until set. Turn out on large canape or sandwich plate.

TO FILL CENTRE:

Gently mix together drained sections from 1 can Mandarin oranges, ½ lb. cottage cheese and 1 smallish head of celery sliced very thin.

TO GARNISH OUTER EDGE:

Russian Women Advised to Keep Necklines Up

LONDON (Reuters) — Russian women were advised today to avoid plunging necklines "if your neck and shoulders are not beautiful."

The advice came in a "good taste" series broadcast on Moscow radio by Latvian artist Erna Rubene.

Plunging necklines, she said, should "not be worn every day and everywhere" but should be saved for the beach or as an evening dress.

"If your neck and shoulders are not beautiful, such a dress is out of the question altogether even if it is fashionable," Erna said.

Other hints:

1. Don't wear socks with high-heeled shoes.
2. Narrow and slit skirts are "ugly."
3. Artificial jejwelry is "a sign of bad taste."
4. "It is as improper to go shopping with an evening bag as it is to take a shopping bag to the theatre."

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

"What makes me a trifle nauseated," said a well-known McFarland fan, and the guy was serious, "is that whenever a team, whether it be hockey, football, baseball, checkers, or any other sport, goes into a slump, somebody is immediately tabbed as the goat.

"Take the Yankees or any other major league baseball club, or National Hockey League club that is doing right well and suddenly drops three, four or five games in a row, and the armchair experts immediately go into diagnostic action.

"Sometimes they're right," he said. "Big league players and managers are known to have been removed when the club is not clicking but this is usually after a prolonged period. The Yankees, the White Sox, the Braves, Dodgers and other topflight baseball clubs all had their slumping periods last year but look where the Braves and the Yankees finished. Their potential was not affected. They merely had one of those periods when everything goes right for the opposition and everything goes wrong for them.

"The McFarlands," he went on, "have not been playing the hockey they are capable of producing the last two or three times out. They were beaten by a terrific Whitby team by a 10-2 score last week. Previously they had dropped three of their last four starts.

"After the Whitby defeat some of the 'experts' went into action. A half dozen of the Macs were picked as wearing the horns including playing coach Ike Hildebrand.

"The greater majority of hockey fans here are fair-minded men and women. They cheer the McFarlands in victory but do not condemn them in defeat. Some of the minority are not satisfied unless the team has a perfect record in the win column. I can remember a few years back when a Belleville senior club went through its schedule undefeated. What happened? You guessed it. They were eliminated in the semi-finals in straight defeats. Some of the experts yammered — but what could be done about it then?

"I, like a lot of other fans have faith in the McFarlands and their playing ability. I believe they will c[illegible] fire again and prove to their detractors and other cl[illegible] in the league they are the best in the Eastern senior circuit.

"After all, they are in second place, that is, as far as the playoff teams of the league are concerned. The Ottawa-Hull juniors are holding down the place spot merely because they are awarded three points for a win and two for the first tie. And don't forget," he said a bit grimly, "there are other clubs in the league with a worse record and more consistent 'slumping,' if it can be called that, than the McFarlands.

"As for me I cannot see where blame can be attached to any single individual. Gordie Bell has come under fire by some of the diehards, as has Hildebrand and other individual players. As for the seven-goal debacle in the second period of the Whitby game, I was there and in my opinion there was not a club in all of Canada which could have withstood the perfectly-timed onslaught the Dunlops staged at that time. If they can repeat that performance against the Russians we need have no fear as to what country will win the world hockey championship."

The Macs clash with the Cornwall Chevies tonight in Memorial Arena and it will be a grimly-determined squad that Gordie Bell leads on the ice. Coach Ike Hildebrand has driven his charges hard all week and it is hoped they have shaken the gremlins that have been affecting their offensive play for the past couple of weeks. A win tonight is a "must," for the Pembroke Kings are still breathing down their collective necks.

NEAT KEGLING

Looking over the findings of Cec Hardwick, their demon statistician, one can scarcely blame the Major "A" Bowling Leaguers from strutting a trifle and shoving out their chests an inch or so. The records of the first half of their seasonal schedule show they are justified.

With the second quarter of the schedule finished, 28 of the leagues 48 players boast an average of 220 plus. They are topped by Art Atkin with a 252 with Bill Bateman second with a 245.

Thirty of them have rolled triples of 800 plus, with C. Bandy topping the heap with 944. Next is Cec Hardwick with 930. Atkin had a 928 besides an 816, 842, 863, while Bateman rolled an 810, 826, 867 and 895. Four other players have rolled more than one triple of 800 plus.

Nine high singles keglers have marks of 350 and over. D. Bennet is tops with a 430 and next is S. Mulholland with a 420. Bateman had two 300-plus singles, 350 and 365. O'Connor's holds the team high single with a top of 1430. McEvoy's, who won the second quarter title, has a 1300-1341. O'Connor's also have singles of 1325, 1369 and 1395.

Seeley's Clippers lead the high team triples parade with a 3603-3853.. O'Connor's is next with 3649, 3649 and 3829. Murray's has a 3692 and McEvoy's a 3620.

Actually Seeley's Clippers are setting the pace. They won the first quarter title; have a total two-quarter tops pinfall of 48787; scored most points (72); the entire team has averages of 200 plus with Art Lalonde tops with 236 and W. Dever low with 227, and all have rolled triples of 800 plus. Besides this they have the high team triples. Not bad, eh?

Hand Toronto 5-2 Setback With Moore Sparking Attack; Can Break 2 League Marks

By KENNEDY WELLS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The Montreal Canadiens of 1957-58, one of the most powerful teams ever assembled in the National Hockey League, have a good chance to break two league records this season.

The Canadiens turned the corner into the second half of their 70-game schedule by whipping Toronto Maple Leafs 5-2 Thursday night to go 12 games ahead of the second-place New York Rangers who have played two more games.

The win was their 23rd in 36 games and gave them, with five ties, a total of 51 points.

By stepping up their pace just a trifle in the remaining 34 games they can break Detroit Red Wings' 1950-51 record of 101 points during a season and their own record for total wins, set in 1955-56, of 45.

TWO FOR MOORE

In Montreal before 14,275 fans, Dickie Moore scored twice for the Habs to make his season's total 18. Henri (Pocket Rocket) Richard counted once to keep abreast of Moore. Claude Provost and Jean-Guy Talbot added the others.

Toronto scorers were Brian Cullen and George Armstrong.

Canadiens, who waged a 27-penalty battle with Boston Bruins Wednesday night, were relatively peaceful last night and only Andre Pronovost felt inclined to do battle. Bob Baun of the Leafs felt the same way and the two drew majors for fighting in the third.

The teams each had 30 shots on goal.

Canadiens now have taken injuries to Maurice (Rocket) Richard; netminder Jacques Plante, Jean Beliveau, Henri Richard, Bernie (Boom-Boom) Geoffrion and assorted others with scarcely a stumble and with the Rocket and Beliveau due back this month the rest of the season should be only a question of how big a total they can pile up.

PILOUS MEETS PRESS

In Toronto Saturday night Rudy Pilous will make his debut as coach of Chicago Black Hawks. A 43-year-old veteran of minor league jobs, Pilous moves to the last-place Hawks after a successful career with their farm team, St. Catharines Teepees of the OHA Junior A series.

Meeting the Chicago press Thursday, Pilous, who frequently provides colorful copy, said: "I don't expect to be a miracle man, but we'll try our hardest for fourth place . . . My team will know, though, that I believe a hockey club should battle for its share of the ice and more than its share of the puck."

Gaudaur Will Oppose New Block Suggestion

HAMILTON (CP) — Jake Gaudaur, general manager of Hamilton Tiger-Cats, says he will oppose any proposal at the Big Four Football Union meeting Saturday to allow all players to block 10 yards from scrimmage.

Jim McCaffrey, general manager of Ottawa Rough Riders, said Tuesday he will ask the Toronto meeting to approve such a rule change.

At present only linesmen and no more than two backfielders, who must be outside the ends, can block 10 yards from scrimmage. All others can block only one yard from the line .

Gaudaur said Thursday he is not in favor of the change because "with our backs-in-motion rule it would run the linebackers right out of the league.

"It's like so many other rules, to change one you have to change several and personally I think our game has too many good features to go around making indiscriminate changes."

Canadian rules allow all backs to be in motion before the ball is snapped. U.S. rules, which permit unlimited blocking, allow only one back in motion.

Soccer Cup Play Starts On Saturday

LONDON (Reuters) — The major leagues of English soccer start playing Saturday. for the Association Cup.

Hundreds of villages, hamlets and cities have battled since August for a place in the cup competition. Now the number of teams has been narrowed to 64 and the first and second divisions of the soccer leagues have their first cup games on tap.

Two small-city teams are still in there fighting.

United of Hereford, a city of 33,000, will battle Wednesday of Sheffield, a city of 522,000, at Hereford. It will be the first time a first division club has visited Hereford.

Yeovil Town, with a population of less than 20,000, will travel to London to fight Fulham, leaders of League II.

The cup winner won't be decided until May 4 in the big cup final at Wesmbley Stadium.

ALSO LEAGUE TITLES

While the teams will devote some Saturdays to cup play, they also will be battling for league titles. Both competitions run parallel.

The Wanderers of Wolverhampton hope to win both the cup and the League I championship, but it will be a tough job. No team has won the double crown in this century.

The Wanderers are three full games in front of the pack in the league and are rated to win the championship. In Saturday's cup contest they should manage an easy win over Lincoln City, an also-ran in the second division.

Four of the 32 cup games Saturday are between first division clubs, four are all second division clashes and two brings together third division teams. The other games, set up by a draw, are a mixed lot.

Gonzales Wins Over Lew Hoad

BRISBANE, Australia (AP)—Pancho Gonzales, professional tennis champion from Los Angeles, defeated Australia's Lew Hoad Thursday in a thrilling, five-set battle that opened their 100-match series.

An overflow crowd of 9,000 fans saw the tall California edge Hoad 5-7, 8-6, 6-2, 4-6, 97.

Police reinforcements were called out to control crowds seeking admission. More than 3,000 fans in this tennis-mad city were turned away.

It took Gonzales two hours and 33 minutes to conquer the former Wimbledon champion and Davis Cup star, who was more impressive than when he first turned pro last summer.

"I think this is going to be the toughest series I ever encountered", Gonzales said.

Hamilton won 7-4, after having beaten Barrie 4-1 Wednesday night.

In the other junior game, fifth-place Toronto St. Michael's and fourth-place Peterborough Petes battled to a 4-4 tie.

Hamilton had a 4-1 lead at the end of the first period, but it was cut to 4-3 on two Barrie goals in the second. The Cubs banged in three goals to one by the Flyers in the third period.

At Peterborough, St. Michael's had a 3-2 lead after a close-fought first period and increased it to two goals at 1:52 of the second, but the Petes came roaring back to tie the contest in the same period. The third period was scoreless.

St. Michaels' Lou Angotti and Darryl Sly each scored two goals. Peterborough marksmen were Wayne Connelly, Guy Black, Jim Mikol and Chuck Hamilton.

Argos Tempt Rose Bowl Star

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four are negotiating with Don Sutherin, hero of Ohio State's Rose Bowl victory over Oregon, general manager Lew Hayman said Thursday.

Sutherin, whose 24-yard field goal in the fourth quarter broke a 7-7 deadlock, conferred with coach Hamp Pool Thursday in Pasadena, Calif. He is reported to have confided to teammates that he will play in Canada if his demands are met. Sutherin is a native of Toronto, Ohio.

At Chicoutimi Lou Smrke scored three goals and Guy Rousseau Jackie Leclair and Fern Perreault two each against the Cats. Counting for Shawinigan were Claude Laforge, Dick Bouchard, Ron Attwell and Jean Paul Denis.

Tigers Adopt Tough Policy On Salaries

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Tigers are adopting a tough policy on player salaries and some of the higher-priced talent can expect cuts in 1958.

General manager John McHale says the Tigers in the past have been "extremely generous to mediocre baseball players."

"We're going to take a long, hard look at performances," McHale told reporters Thursday. "Players who do good jobs will be rewarded. Players who don't do as well as expected can expect adjustments."

Shortstop Harvey Kuenn and infielder Ray Boone, two of the club's three top-salaried players, probably will have to accept pay cuts.

Outfielder Al Kaline, like Boone and Kuenn in the $30,000 bracket, will talk contract with McHale in the next few days.

The Tigers have finished better than fourth only once in the last decade They were fourth last season.

TAKE BIG STEP

TOKYO (AP) — Japan and South Korea Sunday took the biggest step to end their angry feud since formal talks broke down four years ago. The two neighbors agreed to release 850 Japanese fishermen held in Korea and 463 Koreans detained in Japan as a preliminary to resumption of negotiations for a treaty and no[illegible] diplomatic relations.

Big Four Moguls Assemble To Ready for Annual Meet

TORONTO (CP) — Representatives of the Big Four Football Union clubs gather here Saturday to prepare the way for the league's annual meeting and the proposals it will submit to the Canadian Football Council later this month.

The special general meeting will deal with the much — discussed questions of the Big Four and WIFU breaking away from the Canadian Rugby Union and a partial interlocking schedule between the two leagues. These proposals are closer to realization than ever before.

The Big Four session Saturday will forget its policy on these two vital issues and then go over them again when the league gathers in Winnipeg for its annual meeting and the CFC conclave Jan. 17-19. The Western Interprovincial Football Union will hold its annual meeting there at the same time and the two leagues will present their views to the CFC, organized two years ago by both groups to handle their related affairs.

OTHER BUSINESS

Other matters due for discussion at the Big Four meetings include the Big Four commissioner problem, rules, imports, split gates, officiating and the controlling of crowds.

The first step by the two professional leagues towards severing their connection with the CRU long the ruling body of the game in Canada — came at an informal meeting of the CFC in Toronto Nov. 28. Representatives of the nine pro teams decided unanimously to discuss it further and take formal action when they meet in Winnipeg.

The two leagues feel professional football is big business and that they should have sole control in running it. The CRU is made up also of amateur leagues and the pros don't think these groups should have any part in their operations.

City Curlers' 'Dream' Realized; Play In New Building To Start Shortly

Handsome Structure Houses New Quinte Curling Club; [illegible] Accommodate Four Rinks

By GEORGE H. CARVER
Sports Editor

Belleville lovers of the "roarin' game" will see dreams and hopes of a long period realized within the next two weeks or so.

The new home of the Quinte Curling Club, now rapidly nearing completion in the Exhibition Park will be unofficially opened for play on or before January 20.

President Bill Gault of the 200-member club, the first to be organized here in thirty years, proudly made the announcement yesterday afternoon. Executive member Steve Flintoff smilingly nodded acquiescence.

The curling surface of the new club is 150 feet by 60 feet. It will accommodate four rinks... Expansion facilities are such that four rinks can be added, two on each side.

Official opening of the new club is expected to take place about mid-February, President Gault said.

There was a hint of pride in his [illegible] when he added, "When it is [illegible]eted, we believe the Quinte Curling Club will be one of the best of its kind in this part of Ontario. At the moment we have $70,000 invested in the building and equipment, and the entire structure belongs to the club."

The executive will pursue a step-by-step policy in bringing the new club to all-out completion. Interior decor will not be finished for some time, probably not this year. This, however, is of secondary consideration at the moment. Readying the ice surface is of primary importance, so that members can start play as soon as possible.

STONES FROM SCOTLAND

Speaking of play, thirty two sets of matched stones have been imported from Scotland. These will be used exclusively by members. There will be no individual "rocks".

Located approximately a hund[illegible]ards west of the grandstand b[illegible]en the track and the Marshall Road, the club is a compact building of concrete block construction 190 feet in length and 60 feet wide.

A modern construction note is seen in seven strong laminated trusses which carry the full weight of the roof. These give the roof a resilient quality which can resist force of heavy winds and weight of snow.

At the eastern end of the club, overlooking the ice surface is a lounge 30 by 60 feet. Four large plate glass windows form major part of the partition enabling non-playing members and guests to view the play in warm comfort.

Future plans call for modern furnishing, panelled walls etc. Seven laminated beams support the roof in this part of the building.

Five miles of pipe have been l[illegible] the ice surface of the club M[illegible]n ice-making machinery has been installed. A six-foot "duck-walk" borders the playing surface in its entirety.

Five rows of lights, 13 in each row, will illuminate the rink. These are located so that all shadows will be eliminated.

On the ground floor, some five feet blow ground level, an up-to-date locker room is under construction. It measures 30 by 50 feet and will house the curling equipment of male members of the club. A coffee bar will be installed.

Nor have the ladies been forgotten. South of the men's locker room is a smaller one designed for ladies only. A powder room is adjoining.

Also on this floor are the janitor's quarters and a central heating plant. The club will be heated b[illegible] modern oil plant and forced [illegible] central master switch contro[illegible] the club's lighting system. In the south east corner is the engine room which houses the ice-making plant.

PROUD OF EFFORT

"I feel the members of the club are going to be as proud of their new building as the executive," President Gault said. "We have had our ups and downs but the all-out co-operation of everybody concerned has enabled our dream of a curling club for Belleville to come true. For instance, it cost us $3,000 to bring water and sewage facilities from the dog pound building to the club, but there was nothing else we could do."

The president paid fine tribute to the various members of the club executive. "Jerry Jarrett, the treasurer, has done a remarkable job, as has Pat Houston, the building chairman. Outstanding too, has been the work of Ernie Jones, the contr[illegible]or and a curler too, while [illegible]hairman of the ice committee, Steve Flintoff, has left nothing to be desired in his job of work."

Naturally, the president did not mention the fine effort he himself has put forth since the organization of a Belleville curling club was first mooted. Those with whom he has worked, however, paid outstanding tribute to Bill Gault's efforts before, during and since the organization of the club.

Membership, as was mentioned before, is 200. Practically all of these are city curlers. However with the organization of a club here and the splendid facilities provided by the new building, an upsurge in interest in the sport locally is predicted, and with it an increase in club membership.

Sports authorities say that interest in curling has marked a tremendous increase in the past few years. In the west it is crowding hockey in attraction and participation.

Now, as president Gault says, "Belleville with its new club can now take its place with other communities in the curling world. [illegible] have some fine curlers here, who have been forced to go out of town for their favorite sport. I believe that in the not-too-distant future we shall see some outstanding bonspiels in Belleville."

The new Quinte Curling Club is the first organization of its kind in the city in three decades, veteran curlers say. The last club was located on George St., and met a more or less ignominous end when the city took it over for back taxes. Its buildings now form part of the present city barns.

Machen, Folley Bout Suggested

MILWAUKEE (AP) The secretary of the National Boxing Association has suggested a bout between Eddie Machen and Zora Folley to establish a challenger for world heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson.

Fred J. Saddy, NBA secretary and chairman of the rating committee, said Thursday a bout between Machen and Folley, ranked No. 1 and 2 respectively by the NBA would be a "natural."

The NBA also designated middleweight champion Carmen Basilla as its choice for boxer of the year. Basilio welterweight king ranks to dethrone titleholder Sugar Ray Robinson.

Trappers Trim Bulldogs 3-0

NORTH BAY (CP) — Fifth-place North Bay Trappers moved to within two points of fourth-place Chatham Maroons Thursday night with a 3-0 win over Windsor Bulldogs in an OHA-NOHA Senior A game here.

With sub-goalie Bob Mitchell performing in standout fashion, Trappers fired a goal in the first period and two more in the third.

Trappers outshot the visitors 34-19 with both Mitchell and Windsor goalie Marv Edwards turning in sensational efforts until the homesters broke loose in the final nine minutes to break the goaltending duel.

STOLE THE SHOW AT TEACHERS' BONSPIEL

Suggest Balloon to Keep Sun From Blinding Dodger Eyes

LOS ANGELES (AP)—It may sound like a devious scheme but one man has suggested that the only thing needed to get the Los Angeles Dodgers into Memorial Coliseum next season is a balloon.

A big balloon, 50 feet in diameter. It would be to keep the sun out of players' eyes by providing them with the world's biggest eyeshade.

One of the chief obstacles to an agreement that would let the baseball team play in the 100,000-seat coliseum has been a lack of accord over where home plate should be.

The Dodgers don't want it at the east end because the sun would peer squarely in the eyes of batters and catchers.

BALLOON PROPOSED

Contractor Van Harris marched into a commission meeting Thursday with a big drawing, showing a huge balloon anchored over the west end of the stadium by three cables.

The idea, he explained, would be to adjust the position of the balloon as the game and the sun moved along, so it would cast a shadow over home plate, relieving the batter of the burden of squinting at a curve ball through blinding sunlight.

It might cost $100,000 or so, Harris admitted, but the commission could get back several times that amount by selling advertising space on the side of the balloon.

The commission took no action.

Meanwhile, Dodger president Walter O'Malley has another date Monday to talk to Pasadena officials about possible use of the Rose Bowl by the Dodgers.

Last night's score — Belleville 5 Kingston 7 overtime

Kingston Nips Belleville 7-5 In Overtime

KINGSTON (Special)— Kingston Frontenacs roared back from a second period 5-2 deficit here last night to hand Belleville Lambert-Rollins a 7-5 overtime defeat in the OHA Eastern junior "B" hockey league.

The victory was Kingston's second of the week over Belleville and lifted the winners into a second place tie with Trenton. Belleville remains in the cellar, five points behind Trenton and Kingston.

The winners scored three goals in the third period to force the overtime period after trailing 2-0 at the end of the first period and 5-2 after forty minutes of play.

Belleville goalie Jack Gilby had a terrific night in the nets as Kingston fired 54 shots in his direction against 25 by the losers. The Frontenacs outshot the losers 12-1 in the ten - minute overtime period. Belleville was without the services of two of its top forwards, Ab Wright and Leo St. Denis. Wright suffered three cracked ribs in Monday night's game and will be out of action for several weeks.

Horace Decker of the Frontenacs who was injured in a car accident two weeks ago fell heavily to the ice while scrambling for the puck with Jack Gill in the first period and was taken to a Kingston hospital. His condition was satisfactory this morning.

John Ibey, Phil Hegarty and Ken Brooks scored during the third period to force the overtime last night. In the extra session, Bill Gibson scored the winner at 6.59 and Doug Senior added an insurance marker at 9.12.

HAS CHAMPIONSHIP TOUCH AS COACH

The hockey talent he displayed so well with Detroit, Toronto and New York is standing former National League defenceman Bucko McDonald in good stead as a coach. After three Ontario intermediate titles at Sundridge, Ont., Bucko, a former member of Parliament, has taken over as coach of Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds of the Ontario Senior league. The Greyhounds sped to the lead soon after the schedule opened and haven't been seriously threatened since. Top, the coach with the championship touch, is seen discussing hockey strategy with Ivan Tennant, at left, and son, Doug. Above, he puts Doug at left, and talented forward Don McLean through their paces.

Frick Will Probe Question Is Gotham Open Ball City?

NEW YORK (AP) — Is New York an "open city" for any National League team that might want to move in? Or do the Yankees have exclusive rights to the only major league baseball show in town?

Commissioner Ford Frick and a four-man committee will wrestle with questions like that today when they start to explore the territorial problems of baseball. The shifts of the Giants and Dodgers to California put the spotlight on the muddled situation.

A committee appointed by Mayor Wagner to try to bring a National League team to New York has been assured by Frick that it will find the city "open." There were broad hints from Cincinnati last weekend that owner Powell Crosley, Jr., was thinking of moving his Redlegs.

LONG-TERM SOLUTION

Frick and his committee are to spell out the territorial rights situation for all time and for all cities. It is believed they will work out some deal so that a large city can have two teams without violating the rights of the club already operating in the city.

Under so-called baseball law, the circuit of either major league cannot be changed to include any city in the other circuit except by the unanimous consent of the clubs in both leagues.

The committee is expected to approve an amendment that will be submitted to the next joint meeting of the majors, Jan. 25 in New York.

Frank Lane, Cleveland; Gabe Paul, Cincinnati; Joe Cairnes, Milwaukee, and Roy Egan, Chicago, are the committee members.

Diefenbaker to Take Several Weeks Before Sending Reply

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — It likely will be several weeks before Prime Minister Diefenbaker replies to the Dec. 13 letter of Russian Premier Nikolai Bulganin, officials said Thursday.

They added that this is a good indication of the careful study being given the reply and of the seriousness with which the prime minister is treating the matter.

A reply now is being drafted by the external affairs department. It then will go to External Affairs Minister Sidney Smith, Mr. Diefenbaker and then probably to the cabinet before it takes its final form.

Bulganin proposed an East-West summit conference and increased exchange of information and delegations between Canada and Russia. He also warned of the "special danger" that would be created if Canada permitted the United States to store American hydrogen weapons on Canadian territory.

It is understood that Mr. Diefenbaker plans to reply fully to every point raised by Bulganin. From what the prime minister has said since the mid-December NATO summit meeting it is possible to judge the general outline of his reply.

For one thing, it is certain that he will reject Bulganin's contention that NATO's only purpose is to prepare for nuclear war and thus accelerate the arms race.

Mr. Diefenbaker has stressed frequently in recent weeks the essential necessity of reopening East-West disarmament negotiations.

He has said that unless the disarmament deadlock is resolved, defence expenditures will attain "colossal and gigantic" proportions in the next two three and four years.

Even after Russia apparently rejected NATO's call for an East-West foreign ministers' meeting on disarmament, Mr. Diefenbaker said the west must still continue to press for a reopening of negotiations.

Consequently, some officials here said, Mr. Diefenbaker may favor an East-West summit meeting — with qualifications. These would involve careful advance preparation and agreement by Russia to accept, at least in principle, some firm plan for disarmament inspection and control.

Russia has proposed a measure of inspection but the West has rejected it as entirely inadequate.

Mr. Diefenbaker, it is reported, wants his reply to Bulganin to be more than a Canadian reaction to points raised by the Russian premier. He wants to make some positive proposals himself which would require a Russian reply.

Such proposals, however, likely would be tempered by the desires of other NATO members after consultation with them.

Misses Bowling, So Is on Hand To Save Children

WINDSOR (CP)—An off-duty policeman led and carried his six children to safety from their burning two-storey frame home late Thursday night, shortly before the stairway leading to the bedrooms burst into flames.

John Laforet, who had decided at the last minute to stay home with the children instead of calling in a baby sitter so he could go bowling with his wife, battled through smoke to the upstairs bedrooms to haul his children outside in their night clothes in the cold 10-degree weather.

Hailey Will Aid Write TV Series About Science

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto playwright Arthur Hailey has been asked to contribute to a series of United States television dramas designed to portray the human aspects of engineering and science.

Mr. Hailey said he and nine other script writers have been hired as part of a national plan to restore the prestige of American science which slumped following the recent Russia satellite launchings.

He said the purpose is to take engineers and scientists out of their "ivory tower" and show the tangible rewards that come to young persons who take up science as a career. Mr. Hailey plans to write a play dealing with aviation.

Little Benny's Notebook

I was walking along with Puds Simkins and we had a argewment almost ending in a fight, Puds saying, Aw, what's a use talking to anybody so dum they think the erth is flat and goes around the moon every 24 minutes?

Meening me, and I said, Oh yeah? Well what's a use talking to somebody so dum they dont know whether they're walking backwards or fallwards or talking strate English or crooked Russian?

Meening him, and he said, Aw, I wouldn't even be bothered talking to you. I wouldn't talk to you again if the werld came to an end and we were all alone on the last desert island, he said, and I said, Oh yeah? Well before I said another werd to you I'd dive off that island into an army of maneating sharks.

And we both proved it by walking along without talking to each other, and some man stopped in frunt of us, saying, Now that's what I call an ideal companionship, just swinging along without a werd, perfectly content with each other's company. You could teetch a lot of olde peeple a good lesson with their continual yackety yak, and that includes certain members of my own family. Here is a little token of appriciation. Buy some candy and share and share alike, like the true little friends that you are, he said.

Meening a dime, and he kept on going, being a little man in a big overcoat, and I said, Heck, we'd be cheeting him if we kept on not talking now.

Sure, we might as well talk and give him his money's werth, Puds said.

Which we did, starting with another fierce argewment about whether to get gum drops or jelly beans.

Thinks Networks Should Give Women Chance to Air Views

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — A fine filmed account of Marian Anderson's tour of Asian countries on See It Now (CBS-TV) was first-class entertainment simply because the viewing audience heard and saw Miss Anderson singing. But the program was more than that.

It was a moving document of what one woman, travelling 35,000 miles under auspices of the U.S. state department and the American National Theatre and Academy, was able to do in winning friends for the U.S. A viewer could conclude that one Miss Anderson can be more influential than two Sputniks.

The See It Now program Monday evening reminded one that the influence of women is too seldom observed on television. An excellent letter to this department earlier in the week expressed a similar viewpoint. It's well worth quoting:

"I've just now—with the help of tranquilizers — settled down after exposure to three 1957 news critiques by three major networks for three hours last Sunday. I sat, sinking lower and lower in my chair and in my spirits as the far-flung correspondents, called in from all points of the globe, experienced and analyzed and took pontifical dim views.

"When it was all over I realized that, in all the welter of disturbing intelligence flooding my living room, not one woman's voice had been raised, not one woman's face had been shown, not one woman's viewpoint expressed.

"Global thinking (and didn't a woman, Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce, coin the word 'globaloney'?) in this past year of crisis involves arms and men, politics and Sputniks, but without any leavening. And I think the grim, frightening picture painted on my TV screen was completely out of focus—really only half a picture.

"It may be true that we've lost stature among our Allies; that Russia is making great strides forward in many areas; that our foreign policy is nothing but a series of errors heading toward disaster. But any woman can tell you that the world isn't in half as bad a state as the networks' boy thinkers say.

"I suppose, if they had let a woman on, they would have only let her say that in 1957 women embraced the fashions of the 1920s and accepted the sack and the chemise. Women, the networks would be surprised to learn, know it was a year when church memberships reached new highs, when people contributed more to charities, when more children were born, when millions of families had good times together.

ASKS EQUAL TIME

"Just in the name of fair play —after all, the networks have a rule about equal time—I think the networks should present hour-long Sunday programs and let a far-flung group of women say what today's world looks like to them. I wager we'd find the world in a far better condition than the big-picture gentlemen broadcasters.

"I'm not a feminist, but I don't like a lopsided viewpoint. Since the world has a few more women than men, it seems only fair that the networks should send a few intelligent females out into the world to report back how things seem to them. Or is this too revolutionary, too frightening? Or don't the networks want women who can do anything except sing, dance, emote or present, down to the last comma, the sponsor's message?"

Judy Garland Ends Contract

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Judy Garland, who walked off the stage in the middle of a New Year's Eve night club show because she thought the crowd was too noisy, ended her contract with the Flamingo Hotel Thursday.

Beyond the fact that the four-week contract, calling for a reported $30,000 a week, was cancelled after one week by mutual consent, little could be learned about the New Year's Eve incident.

A hotel source said Miss Garland stormed off stage in the middle of a number with the angry remark, "apparently you're doing fine without me."

Another source said Judy began her engagement last Thursday with a touch of laryngitis and never fully recovered.

Views on Life After Death Win Compliments for Actress

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—What happens when a movie star bares her feelings on life after death?

Recently Miss Kerr, along with a Nobel prize winner and an American senator, penned her reflections on what happens to human beings after they die. The story, released by the Associated Press, was printed widely.

The actress had done the story and forgotten about it. But she was soon reminded—the morning the story broke.

"The first thing I knew about it was when Paul Coates called me," she said, referring to the television reviewer. "He wanted me to go on the air and tell my thoughts about immortality." She politely declined.

"Then I started getting phone calls by the dozens," she said. "Nedda Logan, the wife of Josh Logan, called and told me she had cut the story out and pasted it on cardboard to save until the day when her daughter would ask her what happens when people die.

"Whenever I go out socially, the story always comes up. People are always telling how refreshing it was. The unusual thing is that I get these comments from people of all religions."

Another result: The offer from a publisher to buy an "inspirational book for women" written by Miss Kerr.

"I had to decline," she said. "To write a book like that would require recording all your thoughts over a long period. I'm just too busy for that. It took me a week of solid thinking to round up my thoughts on life after death."

On her time off from Separate Tables, Miss Kerr is wading through "a mountain of mail" that resulted from the story.

"Oddly enough, all of the letters so far are complimentary," she commented. "I expected to have a wave of protest from those who disagreed with me, but it hasn't come. Perhaps they are waiting before they strike."

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

(Author of the new "Astrology and You")

"The Stars impel . . . They do not compel! What you make of your life is largely up to you."

Friday, January 3, 1958

Aries (March 21 to April 19)—The ideal fashion in which to gain your aims today with comrades, the neighbor next door, relatives, partners in trade, good pals is by being interested in their aims. Talk them out, help, reach fine accord.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20)—If you can sell those in powerful positions with your true efficiency and talent today, the results will be wonderful for a long time to come — all around. See if you can't get Bigwig to give you leads you need.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21)—You have such a dynamic and pleasing personality today that it would be well to cultivate those new people who attract and inspire you and make them part of your circle. Read newspaper for leads you want.

Cancer (June 22 to July 21) — Much secret angling and investigating will quite certainly bring forth the vital information you need, the correct answers to problems. Good day to show real affection for romantic tie as he or she will retaliate in kind.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Pals and associates truly expand every energy to see that you get all the backing needed for your most cherished plans, whether civic, professional or in trade world. Be explicit in stating ideas, thoughts, desires.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — Increased good will and respect attained today will be determined by your own attitude, efficiency and artistry with which you perform your duties. Good day for improving apparel, health, too.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — Better see to it that you perform your daily chores perfectly, but don't neglect to seize any opportunity for expansion, enrichment of your way of life. And then recreational, entertainment activities are fine.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—Your type of mind is such that you quickly see an apportunity to increase your bankroll appreciably. This can be done today. But be sure to get views and ideas of closest ties for they can help, also.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Discuss thoroughly any points that puzzle with all partners. Then you know their thoughts, feelings and gain information not easily obtainable before. A great day to make quick headway so get going at full speed.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Many enjoyable chores are awaiting your quick application. Don't procrastinate or rationalize but delve right in and get them done! Be certain to impress with cooperation and use any mechanical gadgets that will help.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—A fine day for general and real progress, socially or romantically. Bring your fine new ideas to those who can finance them or assist in working them out. P. M. get together with most congenial friends, have fun.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20)—Get your outdoor work done early in the morning, then use energies getting the myriad of little things out of the way at home, without interference from others. P. M. relax, entertain at home, be joyful.

If your child is born today . . . The brilliant little child born today is the type who will somehow be gifted in ever saying or doing the exactly right thing that will endear him or her to almost everyone who is cultivated. There is a rare combination of the practical and the idealistic that will make the life a happy and joyful one. Fine chart for business professions, music, art, acting, designing, etc.

Crime Waves Worry Toronto And Montreal

The area, made up of the city and 12 adjacent municipalities with a population of about 1,360,000, had 15 murders in 1957, said a report issued by Deputy Chief Alex McCathie. It was the first report from Metropolitan Toronto since the police forces merged a year ago. There were no figures to compare with previous years. Seven of the slayings were in Toronto proper. There were nine in 1956.

The force's immediate problem was the rash of holdups. There have been some 70 robberies in the last month. Few suspects have been arrested.

The situation got so bad police officials met Tuesday to seek ways of combatting the wave. They declined to say what resulted from the meetings. A spokesman said only that "special new measures" were discussed.

In Montreal, The Gazette says Montreal is in the grip of "one of the most—if not the most—serious crime waves in its 315-year history."

It says crime statistics being prepared for 1957 and expected to be released later this month will "shock the average citizen" in the opinion of veteran police officers.

The newspaper says the number of crimes is expected to be a record high while the methods involved and the accompanying violence "will astound both citizen and policemen."

Company Pays $600,000 Suit

WHEATON, Ill. (AP)—For gas blast injuries that crippled a nine-year - old boy, two utility companies have settled $600,000 damages—a sum believed to be a record in Chicago courts for personal injury suits.

The boy is Michael Finn who suffered a brain injury and loss of parts of both legs in an explosion Jan. 28, 1957, in a Roselle, Ill., hardware store. His brother, Robert, 12, was killed in the blast.

Payment was made Wednesday by Commonwealth Edison Company and Northern Illinois Gas Company on an award by a Chicago Superior Court jury approved July 2.

For the death of Robert, the companies also paid $25,000, the statutory limit. Eight persons were killed and several injured in the explosion. It was charged in the trial that Commonwealth Edison was negligent in drilling into a gas line while installing a light pole in front of the store. Rail Conciliation Board Is Headed By C.P. McTague

Will Endeavor to Settle $128,000,000 Wage Issue

OTTAWA (CP) — Conciliation board hearings on the $128,000,000-a-year contract dispute between the railways and non-operating unions are expected to start late this month or in early February.

The three-man board under Hon. Charles P. McTague of Toronto, whose makeup was announced Friday by the labor department, likely will hold closed hearings at Montreal.

But unless the board is more successful than predecessors in the long post-war series of union-railway wage battles, the issue is likely to wind up again on the doorstep of the federal cabinet.

For 140,000 employees they are seeking mainly wage increases that amount to $128,000,000 a year, as estimated by the companies.

SAY RATES INADEQUATE

The railways have just received from the board of transport commissioners a freight rate increase which they describe as insufficient to cover the cost of the last previous wage increase and recent higher material costs.

Railways and unions were unable to find common ground for contract negotiations last fall, and federal conciliation was decided upon.

Their two nominees to the three man board failed also to agree on a chairman, and Mr. McTague was selected by Labor Minister Starr. David Lewis, Toronto lawyer, was nominated by the unions and Phillip F. Vineberg, Montreal lawyer, by the companies.

Now in private law practice in Toronto, Mr. McTague has been a justice of the Ontario Supreme and Appeal courts, chairman of the national war labor board and chairman of the Ontario securities commission.

Wall of Sand Best Defence Against ICBM

TORONTO (CP)—A retired air vice-marshal who now manufactures jet aircraft says the best defence against the intercontinental ballistics missile is a wall of sand strung across the sky.

J. L. Plant, air vice-marshal in the RCAF until his retirement in 1956, advanced this theory Friday at a press conference called to discuss the supersonic Arrow. Mr. Plant is Avro executive vice-president and general manager.

"[illegible] a wall of sand into the sky is the best defence [illegible] the ICBM," he told reporters. "The missile will burn itself out by friction as it flies [illegible] the sand.

"[illegible] problem is getting the [illegible] to the sky."

[illegible] no suggestions for over[illegible] the major problem of [illegible]ity.

Three Pilots Die In Flaming Copter Crash

OTTAWA (CP) — An experienced helicopter flyer and two former RCAF jet pilots died when a flaming transport department helicopter crashed in a farm field Friday about 12 miles west of Ottawa.

The victims were transport department helicopter pilot Glen Potter, 29, of Ottawa district and ex-jet pilots Roy Lake, 28, of Ottawa and Pat Griffin, 30, of Toronto. Their bodies were burned almost beyond recognition.

[illegible], who lived about three [illegible] south of Ottawa, is survived by his wife and a six-weeks [illegible] baby. Lake also was married. Griffin, here visiting relatives, [illegible].

Both the craft and its pilot were veterans of northern transport and reconnaissance flights. Potter has served as helicopter pilot aboard the department's Arctic supply ships D'Iberville and C. D. Howe.

Their flight was a routine one to keep machine and pilot in trim.

A transport department spokesman said officials were unable to explain the presence aboard of the two former RCAF jet pilots.

J. P. Pelletier of the department's accident investigation branch was preparing a report of the crash. A spokesman said Friday night it would likely be followed by a full-scale inquiry.

Want European Cars Admitted Duty-Free

TRURO, N.S. (CP)—The Nova Scotia Federation of Agriculture is going to ask the national federation to request the federal government to admit European cars and trucks into Canada duty free.

The resolution was passed Friday after delegates criticized Canadian car manufacturers for dressing up automobiles, resulting in higher costs and insurance rates. They said cars are necessary for farmers.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) Synopsis: The cold air that invaded Ontario New Year's Day remains but temperatures are moderating a little, particularly in Northern Ontario. The warmest spot in Ontario is Windsor with 10 above and Killaloe, in the Haliburton regions, is the coldest with 22 below.

Female Deer Gives Slip to Five Samaritans

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A female deer that showed up Friday on a breakwater in Buffalo's harbor easily gave the slip to five Good Samaritans who tried to capture her with lasso and tugboat.

Harbormaster Joseph Rousseau two members of a local animal welfare society and two tugboat operators pooled efforts to return the doe to the Canadian side of Lake Erie, nearly two miles away, where they thought she belonged.

The animal scampered daintily down the rocky breakwater ahead of the man twirling the rope and several times dived into the water to out-manoeuvre the tug trying to corner her.

After an hour of this in sub-freezing weather the men gave up.

Avro Bomber-Sized Jet Interceptor Nearly Ready for First Test Flight

TORONTO (CP) — A bomber-sized jet interceptor that could become the hottest item in Canada's air defence battery has been rolling along the runways at nearby Malton and may be in the air in a matter of weeks.

The $200,000,000 CF-105 Avro Arrow has completed ground-taxi tests up to 100 miles an hour. In two or three weeks it will start the high-speed tests up to its 160 m.p.h. takeoff speed and test pilot Jan Zurakowski will then decide whether to take it off the ground.

Whether the RCAF will order the Arrow, capable of carrying an atomic missile, is up to the government.

The Arrow was first unveiled last Oct. 4 by Avro Aircraft Limited. Some further progress in its development was outlined Friday by J. L. Plant, a retired RCAF air vice-marshal who took over as Avro general manager two months ago.

The delta-winged Arrow with the appearance of a giant bat is expected to hit at least 1,200 miles an hour. Designed basically as a bomber-destroyer despite its missile-carrying capacity, it now is powered with U.S.-made Pratt and Whitney jet engines but eventually will carry the Orenda Iroquois, made by an Avro subsidiary.

The $200,000,000 figure represents Canadian government investment in its development to date. Mr. Plant said it would require from 18 months to two years to deliver the first operational aircraft in the event of a defence order and each would cost more than $3,000,000 to produce.

The government so far has made no commitment either way, although Defence Minister Pearkes has indicated the government intends to equip the RCAF with an interceptor of the Arrow type.

Mr. Plant said Friday that Avro has "a private venture of its own" under way at the Malton plant but gave no indication of its nature except to say that it is not a missile.

FOUR CHILDREN BURNED TO DEATH AT VAUDREUIL

Parents, Two Others In Family Escape

VAUDREUIL, Que. (CP) — Four children ranging in age from one to six perished early today in a fire that destroyed their wooden home on the outskirts of this town 15 miles west of Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. Rosaire Legault, parents of the victims, and two other children escaped in nightclothes as flames enveloped the two-storey dwelling.

The victims were identified by a neighbor as Yvon, 6, Adrienne, 5, Giselle, 3, and Louis, 1.

The survivors with Mr. and Mrs. Legault were Aline, 3, and Jean Pierre, four months.

An over-heated stove was believed the cause of the fire.

The father, 45, unemployed laborer, suffered chest and hand burns. He said he was awakened by shouts and screams as the shack-like home went up in flames at lightning speed.

"I saw flames. I couldn't realize what had happened. It was horrible," he said.

He said he pushed his wife and the baby outside, then ran upstairs "into a mass of flames" where screams still rang out.

He said he grabbed the second child just as the floor caved in and the two of them tumbled downstairs and managed to get outside safely.

Neighbors said the house burned in 10 minutes.

Malta Governor Returns to Isle After Talks

The governor's talks centred on the threat by Dom Mintoff, Malta's socialist prime minister, to cut ties with Britain unless alternative work is guaranteed for workers laid off in the naval dockyard here under British defence cuts.

About 30 men lost their jobs in the dockyard Friday and about 100 more are due to go in the next few weeks.

The 14,000 dockyard workers staged a strike Friday in protest against the dismissals, but they called it off after a few hours when a British contracting firm offered work for the 130 men immediately affected by the dismissals.

Colonial Secretary Alan Lennox-Boyd sent a message to Mintoff in which he denied the Maltese prime minister's claim that the dockyard dismissals were "sprung on him at short notice." He said Mintoff was told last July that there would have to be discharges shortly.

In the message Lennox-Boyd disclosed that the British government had proposed giving Malta £25,000,000 in aid in the next five years — "intentions which you have now so recklessly hazarded."

Confidential Editor Kills Estranged Wife and Self

NEW YORK (AP) — Howard Rushmore, former editor of Confidential magazine and anti-Communist crusader, shot and killed his estranged wife Friday night and then killed himself, climaxing an argument in a taxicab.

His pretty blonde wife, Frances, a former newspaper woman in her late 30s, was the mother of two children by a previous marriage.

Rushmore, 45, once film critic for The Daily Worker who left the Communist party and the paper in the 1930s, moodily told a woman friend Thursday night that he was "feeling low" because Frances had left him two days before Christmas.

Cab driver Edward Pearlman picked up the pair at Madison Avenue and 97th Street. They were arguing then, Pearlman said.

He said the woman jumped into the taxi and tried to keep the man out. But the man shoved his way into the cab, telling the driver: "I'm her husband, don't worry about it."

Pearlman said the woman shouted: "If he's going to ride in this taxi, I don't want to. Drive me to the station house."

The driver said the couple continued to argue as he headed for a police station. At one point the man said, "Wait, I'll give you money." The woman replied, "I don't want your money."

There was silence, Pearlman said, then the woman screamed, "Oh, my god!" and shots rang out.

"I turned around," the driver said. "She was on the seat and he had a gun to his temple. He shot himself. I drove to the station and ran in."

A police examination showed bullet wounds in the woman's neck and head. The man had a bullet wound in the temple. A .32-calibre pistol was found.

Inside the waistband of the man's trousers, police said, was a commando-type knife with a seven-inch blade.

Rushmore's testimony was featured during the Hollywood criminal libel trial of Confidential last year. He said he joined the magazine in 1953 to expose communism but was assigned to do stories mostly involving the private lives of movie stars, and left the magazine after a dispute with publisher Robert Harrison over the type of material he was to write.

Rushmore had worked for the New York Journal American for 15 years as an anti-Red writer until he was fired in 1954 for economy reasons.

Recently, Rushmore worked for True War magazine. Mrs. Rushmore left The Journal American in 1954 to become an account executive with a publicity firm in Manhattan.

Reds May Be Having Sputnik Troubles Says Missile Chief

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chief of the United States Vanguard missile project says the Russians probably have run into difficulties trying to shoot a new Sputnik into orbit around the earth.

At the same time, Dr. John Hagen cautions that the next attempted launching of a Vanguard rocket still may not result in placing a U.S. satellite in space.

If the American baby moon does stay up, he says, it will be mainly as a by-priduct of a test firing of the complete three-stage rocket planned for use in firing aloft a fully instrumented satellite next March.

Hagen commented in a written reply to questions submitted by The Associated Press as belief spread that Russia's half-ton Sputnik II, launched Nov. 3, already is or soon will be the only man-made satellite aloft.

At Cambridge, Mass., the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory said Friday night it had no word on the fate of Sputnik I, although officials there had predicted that the 184-pound sphere would plunge to a flaming end in the atmosphere on or about Thursday of this week.

At Jodrell Bank, England, Prof. Alfred Lovell said Sputnik I probably fell to its doom without anyone seeing it.

There were reports from Flin Flon, Man., and Cape Elizabeth, Me. of bright objects having been seen in the sky which might have been the Sputnik. The reports have not been authenticated.

Jack Barkwell, Grigg Glenn and Lowell Christenson were leaving the Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting Company hydro development 75 miles north of Flin Flon when they saw a bright object racing across the sky.

New West Indies Federation Plans Canadian Trade Drive

MONTREAL (CP)—The West Indies Federation, a chain of 10 island units stretching sickle-shaped from off-shore Cuba to the coast of South America, came into being Friday and named Canada as a key factor in its drive for independence within the British Commonwealth.

The Federation of Caribbean Islands will take new steps to boost trade with Canada ,it's second-best customer, a spokesman said.

The drive will help determine how soon the federation of 3,000,000 persons, living in 8,000 square miles, will attain dominion status.

Rex Stollmeyer, trade commissioner in Canada for the British West Indies, British Guiana and the British Honduras since 1934, said Canada's trade reaction is "very, very important."

Mr. Stollmeyer is expected to be named federation commissioner to Canada pending arrival of the new island affiliation at Dominion status in the future, perhaps in "three to 20 years." After that date, a high commissioner would be named.

Economic independence is the main target of the new federation, Mr. Stollmeyer said at a press conference.

Canada was the West Indies' second-best customer behind the United Kingdom, taking $63,000,000 last year—a "good year"—in imports, the West Indies imported $33,000,000 in Canadian goods.

Sugar, of which Canada took 275,000 tons last year, is the main component.

"I don't know what we'd do if Canada stopped taking our product," Mr. Stollmeyer said Friday.

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (Reuters)—The Albanian government has promised to release today the British airliner forced down in Albania Tuesday,- the British embassy announced Friday night.

More Competition Among Students May Be Answer

TORONTO (CP) — Education Minister Dunlop says he is working on new regulations to reintroduce competition into Ontario schools and return to fundamentals in elementary and secondary schools.

He gave his views Friday in an interview. Mr. Dunlop credited the Sputniks and publicity on Russia's approach to education with bringing Ontario's point of view around to his. He said he convinced some people and Russia's space satellites did the rest.

Mr. Dunlop said marks will be given out to students. He added: "They will be told exactly what marks they got and where they stand in their class. They have to meet competition in adult life."

ASSAILS PROGRESSIVES

He assailed "so-called progressives," who don't want to give out marks because this discourages the student.

"I don't think it does,' he said.

Mr. Dunlop said he will stress mathematics, English and sciences at the expense of some options. He didn't think any subject would have to be eliminated.

In elementary school, the stress would be on reading, writing, spelling, arithmetic and composition. It would not be necessary to cut out anything now on the elementary school curricula.

He said he does not contemplate changing the length of the school year or the length of the school day.

"If we have a good five-days-a-week, 10-month school year, that is enough."

WILL NOT CUT ARMS SPENDING SAYS MINISTER

Pearkes Terms Burden 'Terrific'

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadians need not look to any major cuts in defence spending in the near future to ease their burden of financing federal government operations.

Defence Minister G. R. Pearkes Friday night termed the defence burden "terrific" but said any relief would have to await a comprehensive East-West disarmament plan.

It would be foolish, he said in the Commons, for one country to start paring down materially defence spending until there was such a disarmament pact.

COSTS DEBATED

Mr. Pearkes spoke at the close of a day's sitting in which the cost of running the government was the main item of business.

Up for Commons approval was the 1957-58 defence budget of $1,723,000,000—nearly one-third of the government's total outlay. Debate on that continues today.

Earlier, after more than five hours of debate, the House voted the government $272,000,000 as an interim money supply to pay January bills pending final approval of the entire spending program.

Mr. Pearkes spoke in reply to Stanley Knowles, deputy CCF leader, who asked whether Canada was moving toward lower or higher defence spending.

Mr. Pearkes said he couldn't discuss next year's defence estimates at this stage, but he gave these figures on spending this fiscal year in two of the armed services:

Army spending down by some $9,000,000 from the original estimate of $400,100,000 and navy spending down by almost '$1,000,000 from the planned $272,798,000. Involved in the army figures was a $20,000,000 cut in the construction program.

W. J. Henderson, Liberal defence critic, said the army would have been $11,000,000 over the mark if the construction program had been carried out. Mr. Pearkes agreed.

Report Soviet Troops Mutinied

BERLIN (AP) — A Russian emigree organization today relayed unconfirmed reports that Soviet troops in East Germany recently staged an anti-Communist mutiny.

The National Alliance of Solidarists, which has been conducting a propaganda campaign for the overthrow of the Soviet regime, said it has heard that four Russian officers and soldiers escaped to West Berlin after the mutiny and now are believed to be in West Germany.

British officials in Allied-occupied West Berlin announced Thursday that a Russian sergeant escaped to West Berlin and asked for political asylum. Armed Soviet troops patrolled East Berlin Thursday in an apparent search for deserters, but were withdrawn that night.

SOLDIER QUIZZED

British intelligence agents in Bonn today were reported questioning the Russian sergeant, but despite a flock of rumors about sensational disclosures, informed sources said "the man has made no [illegible] revelations."

Pistol-Packin' Granny at 84 Has Arsenal Loaded for Robbers

WHITE ROCK, B.C. (CP)—A pistol-packin' grandmother, 84 and in no mood to die, has an arsenal loaded and ready in case robbers come back "to get me."

Mrs. Pansy Mae Stuttard has a roomful of her own big-game trophies in her bungalow at this coastal resort town 30 miles south of Vancouver. A robber or two could complete the collection, she surmises.

Mrs. Stuttard fired two shots from her 12-gauge shotgun as two men she said robbed her of nearly $15,000 fled into the darkness Monday night.

She came to British Columbia from New York in 1905 and later married a British navy captain. They bought five boats for a coastal freight business. The business was sold and Mrs. Stuttard became proprietor of five "soft drink' cabarets.

"They had soft drinks, near-beer and girls."

Later she owned beach property near here which she sold recently for $32,000. Some of this money was included in the cash the robbers took.

Mrs. Stuttard says she does not keep money in a bank because she had three "bad experiences" with Canadian banks and no longer trusts them.

She still is suffering from a head blow received in the robbery incident. She lay in her home for four days until someone found her and called a hearse an ambulance and a priest, she said.

"I've got the bill for the hearse in my drawer. I'm going to live to be 100. The Lord don't want me and the devil won't take me."

East Half Of U.S. Still In Grip Of Bitter Cold

Gale Winds Pound Many Florida Areas, Two Dead

CHICAGO (AP) — Bitter cold maintained a firm grip on much of the eastern half of the United States today, but the prolonged chill—sharpest of the young winter season—eased its hold on the northern plains states.

Snowflurries persisted near the southeastern shores of the Great Lakes, although amounts were light and Friday's heavy depths remained unchanged.

Southerly winds carrying higher temperatures warmed the great plains. Readings early today were generally 10 to 20 degrees above zero in the Dakotas and parts of Minnesota, or about 10 degrees higher than at the same time Friday.

However, below-zero temperatures were reported for the third straight night at many points in Wisconsin and Michigan and in the northern New England states.

The mercury settled into the 30s as far south as northern Florida, while readings in the 50s prevailed in southeastern Florida, southern Texas and southern California.

Skies cleared in southeastern Florida where gale winds pounded many areas Friday and dumped as much as two inches of rain on Miami and Fort Lauderdale. Winds, which caused an estimated $35,000 damage at Miami, subsided, although gusts continued during the night.

Two men were dead and several boats were unreported in the wake of the nor'easter which goes down in the records as southern Florida's most violent winter storm in 50 years.

Killed were a Sicilian sailor, who suffered fatal head injuries when mountainous seas raked a grain freighter, and a Miami pedestrian struck by an automobile during a rain squall.

There was fear today that crop damage will run into the millions unless the sun comes out to dry sodden farm lands.

Migrant farm workers were left in desperate straits, deprived of jobs by weather conditions and without money to buy food. Many were given meals at an emergency food station near Miami.

In western New York state, Buffalo and its northern suburbs, which escaped the snows that swept around most of the area Thursday and Friday, came in for a late share Friday night when up to three inches fell in the city and district. Streets were coated with a freezing glaze.

Roads throughout western New York were reported open today but still slippery in sections.

HILLARY WINS RACE TO POLE

Winning a race to the South Pole, Sir Edmund Hillary covered the last 500 miles with light equipment that invited disaster. His race with Dr. Vivian Fuchs, who was leading a British expedition across Antarctica and who intended to cross the Pole and join Hillary at the base 500 miles away. However, they changed their plans when Hillary arrived at his base ahead of schedule. It is the first time the pole has been reached by land since the Scott expedition of 1912.

Lost Nomination So Plans to Run As Independent

ST. THOMAS (CP)—After losing the Progressive Conservative nomination by a mere 20 votes, Dr. David A. Monteith of Shedden announced Friday he will contest Elgin County's Jan. 30 provincial by-election on a straight independent ticket.

Hillary Won't Wait for Fuchs, Will Fly Back

WELLINGTON, N.Z. (Reuters)—Sir Edmund Hillary, claiming he has "had enough of ice and crevasses," decided today to leave the South Pole without waiting for a British expedition which is attempting the first crossing of the frozen Antarctic continent.

The 38-year-old New Zealand beekeeper-explorer apparently reached his surprise decision after learning that the British group, led by Dr. Vivian Fuchs, was still 360 miles away from the "bottom of the world" and had again run into trouble.

Hillary, who Friday became the first man to reach the pole by an overland route in 46 years, radioed to the New Zealand base on McMurdo Sound that he and the four other members of his party will fly back "by the first vailable American aircraft."

Hillary did not explain his decision, but it was believed the New Zealand explorer feared his 26-horsepower tractors, which took an "awful thrashing" on the final dash to the pole, would not be able to keep up with Fuchs' heavier Snocat and Weasel vehicles on the 1,300-mile trip back to Scott Base on McMurdo Sound.

The 17-man American group at the pole, established and maintained by air, served the New Zealanders beans and hot dogs after their arrival. The five had camped in sight of the base Friday night, with tractor gasoline left for only 20 more miles.

The New Zealand Antarctic expedition headquarters said Hillary had fully completed his original assignment by establishing fuel and food depots marked by arrowheads of snow cairns along an almost crevasse-free route.

Theatre Guild Will Cast for Major Play

Casting for the Belleville Theatre Guild's first major production of the 1957-58 season will take place on Wednesday evening at St. Thomas' Parish House.

"The Shining Hour," a drama by Keith Winter, will be directed by Betty Sadler. This play has been produced with considerable success by two Western Ontario groups during the past year. It has also been a Dominion Drama Festival entry.

The cast consists of three men and three women. These roles should prove most rewarding to those chosen to portray them and it is hoped that all members will be present at the meeting.

The Belleville Theatre Guild is constantly in search of talent, and new members who are interested in any phase of the drama will be most welcome. For the information of new citizens, membership fees are just $2.

13 Major Fires, $52,555 Loss Report Shows

TRENTON — Thirteen major fires claimed three lives and $52,555.50 in property losses during the past year in Trenton according to the annual report of the fire department revealed by Fire Chief Clarence Orser yesterday.

The property damage figures more than doubles the figure for the same period in 1956 when the estimated fire loss was $23,229.

Besides the 13 serious home fires the fire department also answered call to 11 fires in Murray township during the year and four calls in Sidney township.

The chief also listed 151 other calls for grass fires and flooded oil stoves and flue fires. Nineteen false alarms were also recorded. The chief explained that false alarms are mainly when the alarm is sounded and no major fire develops.

The fatal fire was in early 1957 when three young children perished and a large grass fire at Carrying Place also claimed the life of one man who died of a heart attack believed brought on when he over-taxed himself fighting the blaze.

There was only one injury to fire fighters reported during the year and this was sustained by a fireman who cut his hand on glass during a fire on Sidney Street.

The report says two practices in connection with the Prince Edward and Hastings Mutual Fire Aid Association under Fire Chief Gerald Vance of Belleville were held and one practice with fog nozzles and pumper truck.

Prompt action by local firemen is credited with keeping many of the minor fires recorded in the report from being major ones and the chief's summary stresses the point that although Trenton's fire loss figures are higher this year it remains quite low in comparison with other towns of the same size.

Town Briefs

Officers for 1958 of the Trenton Kiwanis were installed into their respective committees at their regular meeting held on Thursday evening. President for the coming year is Grant Gooding. Past president is Al Weaver.

Local firemen will be on hand when members of the local Boy Scouts, Cubs and Rovers hold their annual 12th night of burning Christmas trees which have been discarded. The burning will be held in the Bayshore Park area on Monday night and it is hoped the trees can be piled on the ice on the bay. The boys will begin the collection of the trees today. The boys will hold a sing song during the tree burning.

About 400 youngsters of the Trenton Minor Hockey Association took part in a day - long display of hockey Thursday when the boys demonstrated their skill in 45 minute games before their parents and friends. Play started at 9 a.m. and ended that evening with a regular league contest between the Trenton Juveniles and Wellington. A good turnout of both players and fans was reported.

New license plates for cars went on sale in Trenton Friday at the House and House Hardware Company on Front street. Sale of the plates which normally begins the day following New Year's was postponed for one day this year due to most stores being closed for stock taking.

Coffee Shop Interior Gutted By Flash Fire

TRENTON (Special) — Creswells' Coffee Shop on Sidney Street was completely gutted in a flash fire last night that kept firemen busy from 11 p.m. to 2 a.m.

The exact cause of the fire was unknown, although Mrs. Creswell, owner of the small shop, told firemen she had just closed for the night and after arriving at her nearby home, she had heard an explosion and, looking out, saw the shop in a mass of flames.

It was reported there was no stove of any kind in the front part of the shop but there was an oil stove and a gas stove in the next room. However, the fire was mainly in the front of the building, where it had burst through the outside walls in several places, especially along the north wall.

Firemen fought the blaze in zero weather.

The stock was insured and it was reported the insurance adjuster will make his examination today. An estimate of damage was not available at press time. The entire stock was ruined.

The firemen were called out earlier, at about 8 p.m., to 25 Front Street, where a plumber's torch had set the floor afire between the first and second storeys of the home.

It is said the plumbers were thawing pipes when the wood caught on fire. Firemen quickly had the blaze under control and estimated damage at around $200.

Mr. Sharpe was a member of Fellowship Lodge, A.F. and A.M., No. 490, in Flint, and had been employed at the Buick Motor division as a supervisor for 35 years, but retired July 1st, 1954.

83-Year-Old Man Dies of Exposure Near Sulphide

TWEED (Special) — An 83-year-old bachelor who lived in a two-storey frame house near Sulphide was found dead Friday afternoon in his back yard by a neighbor.

Lloyd Loftus, who was blind, is believed to have gone outside for a pail of water some time Thursday.

A neighbor, Austin Meyers, noticed the elderly man's house door open and fire out on Friday and went over to his yard and found the man dead.

Coroner Dr. R. S. Berry, of Tweed, said Loftus died from exposure in freezing temperatures.

Ontario Provincial Police at Madoc theorized that Loftus became confused as he went for the water. His body was found at about 4.45 p.m. Friday.

Mr. Loftus is believed survived only by a half-brother, George Lloyd of Northbrook. He is resting at the W. M. Bush Funeral Home in Tweed for funeral on Monday.

BRIDGE COLLAPSES

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A 185-foot steel section of the closed Chestnut Street bridge just west of midtown Philadelphia collapsed Tuesday, hurling about a dozen workmen into the Schuylkill River. One man was reported missing. The span had been closed while a dismantling crew removed sections so the bridge could be widened.

Rev. J.C. Eastcott Inducted As Pastor Tabernacle Church

Several ministers of the Belleville Presbytery joined with members of the congregation last night to witness the induction of the Rev. James C. Eastcott as minister of Tabernacle United Church.

The charge to the minister was delivered by Rev. C. W. Coleman, of Holloway Street United Church. In his address he emphasized some of the criticisms levelled at some types of ministers and offered general advice to all ministers.

The ministry is "the highest task to which the sons of men may aspire, and the highest glory," he said. "But it is also a difficult task because a minister must deal with intangibles, such as God and men's souls," he added.

Because of the nature of their profession, there is a danger ministers must avoid — that of becoming a "permanent resident" in an "ivory tower", locked away from the reality of day-to-day living, he said.

In this day many unnecessary demands are made on ministers Some, constantly on the go, socially are so busy they fail to allow God to catch up with them.

"It is therefore necessary for ministers to appraise their duties—they must remember they are primarily the mind through which God thinks, the voice through which God speaks."

Although they must not make nuisances of themselves by constantly making unnecessary calls on members of their congregation, they should not be "silent spectators" either, for they "carry in their hearts the cure of souls entrusted in their care," Mr. Coleman said.

In closing he said, "I hope the congregation may be blessed and made strong by your ministry, Mr. Eastcott, and you made strong by them."

CONGREGATION CHARGED

The charge to the congregation was given by Rev. W. E. G. Dovey, of Cannifton United Church.

Mr. Dovey urged the congregation to remember a minister is only human and "if you demand perfection in a minister, you must be perfect yourself."

"A congregation influences a minister just as a minister influences his congregation," he said.

The congregation can encourage a minister to do his best by attending services consistently, by faithful and fervent prayer, by showing sincere appreciation, and by co-operation of every member, working together in Christian fellowship.

In speaking of attendance, he said, "A minister cannot be successful with half a congregation anymore than a teacher can be successful with only half a class."

He urged members of the congregation to pray for their minister to strengthen him for his arduous task.

Mr. Eastcott and his family were formally welcomed by Rev. Harry M. Davis, of Bridge street United, who conducted the service.

A social hour was held afterward to give members of the congregation an opportunity to meet their new minister.

Dept. Reports Bancroft Area Mining Activity

TORONTO — The story of the feverish prospecting and mining activity in the Bancroft area of southeastern Ontario during the last few years is told in a report released today by the Ontario Department of Mines. The report titled "Radioactive Mineral Occurrences in the Bancroft Area" will be incorporated in Volume 65 of the department's annual reports.

In his introduction, the author, Dr. J. Satterly, a member of the deparment's geological staff, points out that between 1954 and 1956, about 125 properties in the area were subjected to exploration work. Of these, five companies were able to establish sufficient ore to warrant production-purchase contracts totalling a little less than $145,000,000.

Altogether, 149 of the 181 pages of the report are made up of descriptions of these various properties. The rest of the report consists of an over-all assessment of the geology of the area.

The report is accompanied by a collection of 23 maps, plans and figures. There is no charge for the report except for 50c for handling and mailing.

In the fruit line, McIntosh and Sweet apples were 75 cents a basket; Greenings 50 cents, and Delicious 85 cents.

Toronto Boy Elected Premier Of Parliament

Robert Oben of Toronto was elected premier of the 1958 session of the Ontario Older Boys' Parliament. Leader of the opposition is Charles Robbins of Kirkland Lake. The 1958 ranking cabinet minister is George Thompson of Port Credit.

More than 100 boys attended the 1957 parliament at Albert College. Members passed bills calling for regional weekend Older Boys' conventions in eight zones in Ontario, support of boys' programs and support of a campaign to raise $25,000.

Anglican, Baptist, Presbyterian, United and Evangelical congregations were represented at the parliament, which ended this week.

Brucellosis Control Plan To Be Studied

W. P. Watson, Ontario livestock commissioner, has announced that next week meetings will be held with livestock representatives of Prince Edward, Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry counties with a view to having these counties certified as brucellosis control areas. Delegates from Hastings and Northumberland counties will also attend.

Mr. Watson made this announcement at Woodstock, where plans were laid Friday to certify Oxford County as a brucellosis control area. Oxford would be the first certified county in Ontario. Certification would declare the county free of the contagious disease, which causes abortion in cows and undulant fever in humans. The plan calls for periodic health checks, slaughter of infected herds at market prices and compensation to the owner ranging up to $100 a head for purebred stock.

Universal Week of Prayer

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

The week, including next Sunday — Since 1846, in ever-increasing numbers, Protestant churches all over the world have observed Universal Week of Prayer during this first week of the New Year. It always begins on the first Sunday in January and ends on the second Sunday.

Sponsored in America by the Department of Evangelism of the National Council of Churches, the purpose of this Week is to emphasize prayer as a vital force for developing man's relationship with God, rather, one infers, than as a magic means of getting God to do man's will.

The Department hopes during the week to develop small inter-denominational prayer groups in local communities throughout the country. This year's subject, for which the Department supplies a booklet of daily devotions, is "On Praying the Lord's Prayer."

Other printed materials, also available from the Department, deal with such matters as how to pray and how to teach children to pray.

Aside from traditional Christian festivals like Christmas, Easter, etc., Universal Week of Prayer, now in its 111th year, is perhaps the oldest of Protestant observances.

OLDER THAN CHRISTMAS

Monday, Jan. 6 — The Greek word "epiphany" means literally "manifestation" or "showing" — and, less literally, a moment of perception or recognition.

It is in this larger meaning that the Feast of the Epiphany is an important day in the Christian calendar. It focuses on the occasions — three of them — when men could not avoid seeing that Jesus was more than human. These three events were:

1. The visit of the three Oriental Kings to the stable in Bethlehem, when for the first time the Gentile world saw unmistakably that the Babe of Bethlehem was Lord of all and not only of the Jews (St. Matthew, chapter 2, verses 1 to 11).

2. The baptism in Jordan, when unbelieving Jews saw the Holy Spirit descent upon Him in the form of a dove and heard a voice from heaven say, "This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased" (St. Matthew, chapter 3, verses 16 and 17.

3. The miracle at the marriage in Cana of Galilee, when His own family and close friends saw dramatic evidence of His unearthly power (St. John, chapter 2, verses 1 to 11).

This festival is older than Christmas. One reads about it in the works of Clement of Alexandria, who died in 216, and there are plentiful historical records to show how over the next two centuries it spread over the Eastern part of the Church and became, along with Easter and Pentecost, one of the three great days of the Christian year.

The emphasis in those early times was on just one of the three events, the baptism of Jesus, and this is still the main emphasis in the East. The West, however, has stressed the visit of the Three Kings, and the reason for this is of interest.

Current in the second and third centuries was a heresy known as Adoptionism, the gist of which was that Jesus was not born divine but became so at His baptism. This, in the opinion of the Church fathers, was an error, and to put the commemoration of the baptism in the same class with Easter and Pentecost would tend to give support to this erroneous doctrine.

Christmas was therefore instituted as a separate festival celebrating the Lord's birth and asserting that He was divine from the very beginning. The Epiphany then sank into a secondary position, with the baptism "played down" and the visit of the Three Kings as its prominent feature.

RICH IN SYMBOLISM

The day is one of our richest in symbolism. Many ideas have been advanced as to the meaning of the Kings gifts — gold, frankincense and myrrh. One of the nicest speculations about this is that the three gifts meant something very revealing about the men who offered them, that their gold showed their charity, the frankincense their devotion, and the myrrh their self-sacrifice.

Another interpretation takes into account the fact that these Three Kings were among the wisest and the wealthiest of all men, and says that their visit to the manger means that the wisdom and the wealth of the whole world must be placed under the province of the Son of God.

One thing about the story of the Three Wise Men has been a puzzle to scholars and legend-makers alike. St. Matthew makes it quite clear that their errand was known not only to the King of Judea, but also to his counselors, and to the chief priests and scribes.

In short, all the leaders of the country, both civil and ecclesiastical, were in on the astounding facts of this most remarkable situation. Why, then, was there not one Jewish scholar, priest or government official with enough curiosity — if not interest — to go along with the Wise Men to see what would happen at Bethlehem?

SOME OBJECTIONS RAISED TO COMPULSORY INSURANCE

As might have been expected, the announcement by Premier Leslie Frost that he favors the principle of compulsory liability insurance for Ontario motorists has resulted in the opponents of such a system trotting out some of their arguments.

These arguments should not be dismissed lightly They deserve consideration, even, (or perhaps we should say especially), by those who have become convinced that a compulsory insurance law is the fairest and most efficient way to remedy the present deplorable situation in Ontario - - and other areas where many irresponsible motorists carry no insurance.

First, though, let us state that in our opinion any person, except a rich man or woman, who would drive a car without carrying adequate public liability and property damage insurance is irresponsible and that any protest against insurance laws from such persons does not deserve any consideration at all.

Objections which do deserve consideration are those coming from insurance companies, or their representatives. One such representative, Ray Murphy, general counsel for the Association of Casualty and Surety Companies in the U.S., has listed several arguments against compulsory insurance.

At the outset it should be recognized that insurance companies are not disinterested. Murphy says that insurance companies frankly fear compulsory insurance as a potential blow to private enterprise, in other words to the future of their business in the automotive insurance field. But, while the fact that these companies have a vested interest in the question under discussion should not be overlooked, this does not automatically invalidate all their objections to compulsory insurance.

Let us consider some of these objections.

Murphy says that compulsory insurance "runs insurance rates up."

Now there are several possible explanations for such a result. One would be an increase in accidents and, indeed, Mr. Murphy says that compulsory insurance "has been accompanied by a dramatic increase in accidents in Massachusetts." This statement might be more impressive if we did not learn, a few sentences later, that Massachusetts has had compulsory insurance for thirty years. When did the "dramatic increase in accidents" occur? And, even if such an increase is proven, would it be correct to conclude that compulsory insurance was a cause? Does the fact that he carries insurance make a man drive carelessly? We doubt it. Perhaps, though, in any area where every driver is insured there will be more claims for damages, because the injured party will be certain that he will be able to collect if he gets judgment. Is this necessarily a bad thing?

And what happens to the theory of cheap goods through mass production, which ought to work in the insurance as well as the manufacturing field? Universal insurance ought to tend to reduce rates, rather than to increase them, unless - - and this is a point that deserves careful consideration - - accident-prone drivers are now either being denied insurance or are the irresponsible type who refrain from acquiring such protection for others. If this is true, then an increase in insurance rates is avoidable if motor licence authorities clamp down on drivers with bad accident records - - a course which they should take altogether aside from the question of insurance rates.

Murphy also raises a serious objection to compulsory insurance when he says that many drivers let their insurance lapse. This, though, could be remedied by requiring a driver to produce a paid-up policy for the full period of the annual car licence.

As for the question of protection in the case of drivers from outside the province, nobody is suggesting that the Unsatisfied Judgments Fund should be abolished. This fund could take care of such cases, as well as those cases in which the driver responsible for the accident was unknown.

Murphy also says that compulsory insurance makes rate setting a political football, city dwellers objecting to paying higher rates than those who reside in the country, where the incidence of accidents is lower. This, while it is an excellent argument against a state-operated insurance plan, ought not to provide any new problem as long as private companies provide the coverage. The difficulty will be, of course, that once insurance is compulsory there will exist a strong case for state supervision of rates. The best safeguard against such supervision would be vigorous competition amongst these private companies. As long as they do not all set the same rates, but base their rates on their own individual losses, the case for state interference in their rate structure will be weak.

It is obvious, though, that the whole field of compulsory insurance is a difficult one and that Premier Frost was wise when, in answering a brief from the Ontario Municipal Association, he made it clear that there is a difference between favoring compulsory liability insurance in principle and being prepared to introduce legislation for such a system. Between the conviction that such legislation is desirable and the presentation of such legislation to the Ontario Legislature there should come careful consideration, not only of such objections as Mr. Murphy has advanced but also of other obstacles, as well as of the arguments for such legislation.

HISTORIC BELLEVILLE

(Article thirteen in a weekly series contributed by members of the Hastings County Historical Society.)

MEDICAL MAYORS

The year 1958 sees two doctors seated on Belleville City Council. That certain medical men should be interested in civic affairs is not a new development. Over the past century, many physicians have taken an active interest in local government.

One of the periods of greatest interest would seem to be from 1846 to 1863. During these years, four doctors served on council and two of them held the office of mayor.

The first doctor to hold civic office apparently was Dr. William Hope. A native of Ireland, Dr. Hope came to Canada in 1822 with his parents, when he was seven years old. For some years he was a clerk in a general store at Bath, but after studying medicine at Fairfield in New York State came to Belleville in 1838. For 43 years "he devoted himself assiduously to the practice of his profession."

At the same time he found occasion to take an active part in everything that made for the improvement of the community. For several years Dr. Hope was a member of the board of police and in 1846 and 1847 was a member of the village council.

Following the incorporation of Belleville as a town (1850) he again stood for public office and represented Samson ward from 1856 to 1859, becoming mayor in 1860.

Dr. Hope was also keenly interested in education and was a school trustee for many years According to historian William Canniff, he was "largely instrumental in introducing the free school system into Belleville, the first municipality in which it was established in Upper Canada."

In later years, he was appointed sheriff of the county of Hastings, which position he held from 1881 to 1894.

A medical contemporary of Dr. Hope who also became mayor of Belleville was Dr. Rufus Holden. Canadian by birth, Dr. Holden began his medical practice locally in 1844.

In 1850 he was elected as one of three councillors for Ketcheson ward and was also chosen reeve of the town. In 1856 and 1861 he was again elected, and was mayor for two terms, 1864-65.

Higher political office was denied him, however, as in his attempt to win Hastings West for the Reform Party, in the 1867 general election, he was defeated by Conservative James Brown.

Dr. Holden died (1876) in his 68th year.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

To the local folks, street directions and highway signs are always adequate. Pawff Who does not know that, even if there is no right-hand turn sign at the foot of the main street, that's the way to highway 406 and so to Perkinsville?

Why add to the already complete confusion of signs by adding another at the foot of the main street?

Highways are a provincial or state responsibility. And therefore, each region has its own idea with regard to what the diection signs should look like. In many parts of the continent, the speed laws are given on the same shaped notices as the number of the route. You think you are still on highway 30 when, at 50 miles per hour, you are blithely hustling through a controlled zone.

And the great trouble is, that when a cop overtakes you, and you try to explain that the signs are confusing, he is unimpressed. To the local folks, you really need no signs at all.

The day may come, and it may not be far off, with the rapid increase in traffic, when a federal commission may be set up to establish uniform traffic signs throughout the continent. And one of the first things the commission might do is control the erection of advertising signs within 100 yards of a traffic diection. In some parts of the United States and Canada both, it is little short of ridiculous to expect strangers to pick out the traffic signs from amidst the tangle, the jungle, of reaching, gesticulating, flashing, pleading, begging signs that encumber the highways in or around communities.

It is a free country. And everybody makes free.

BEYOND THE EYE

The invisible world!

Do you believe in it? In a very interesting TV program recently, a great scientist explained electrons, protons, neutrons, and cosmic rays. He ended up by saying that there is also a substance which registers its presence on scientific devices and can be measured and evaluated. But it cannot be seen. It appears to be completely invisible — beyond, at least, our limited range of vision.

It is always dangerous to compare physical and spiritual realities and particularly dangerous to try to show a definite relationship between them. But every man and woman having religious faith worthy of the name believes in an invisible world. Round about us, or perhaps in realms far distant, an order of life different from our own physical life certainly appears to exist. We cannot prove the presence of such an order of life as we prove scientific facts in the material world. But millions are confident that the invisible world is real.

To believe this is not to believe in spiritualism. This is Old and New Testament religion shared by the devout of every theological persuasion. There is an invisible world we believe, more real than the physical world in which we live.

The basic tenent of Christianity is that the living presence of Jesus Christ continues to exist among men even though our physical senses cannot apprehend his presence.

Says Sneeze Road Hazard

Windsor Star

Sneezes occur in the most embarrassing of places: it is virtually impossible to prevent one, at least without closing the eyes. Automobile drivers are not immune. It must be a rare person, if any at all, who can sneeze without closing the eyes.

True, a sneeze is a momentary thing. But, if a couple or three come in close proximity, they can be long enough to take a driver's eyes off the road. In heavy traffic, an accident can occur in a moment.

We don't know how many accidents are attributable to sneezes, but it is a wonder there aren't more. A sneeze might properly be termed an "act of God" rather than a deliberate carelessness.

Smart Geese Tend Sheep

Kitchener-Waterloo Record

At least two farmers, living at widely separated places in the United States, have ganders which they claim tend sheep. In each, the big bird leads the flock to water, then returns it to pasture.

Like their domesticated brothers, the free, high-flying wild geese that go honking down the sky at the season's turn rate high in intelligence. They carefully inspect the ground for possible danger before landing, and while feeding post sentinels.

A farm goose does a good job of weeding crops: It is also valuable after the harvest season is over. Feathers and down are marketable, and roast goose for Christmas rivals the turkey as a table tradition.

HE HAS NOT LIVED IN VAIN

He has not lived in vain
If men can say
When he has passed away:
"He labored not for gain."

If one can truly say:
"I loved him for his smile;
He walked with me a

And cheered my weary way."

If only one shall stand
And sadly murmur this:
"My friend, my friend I'll

The pressure of your hand."

If only this remain:
One heart that he has

His monument is reared;
He has not lived in vain.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

SELF-APPROVAL

We are our own best critic, adviser, and friend. To gain the approval of ourself is of greater value than to gain it from anyone else. In Shakespeare we read these famous lines: "To thine own self be true, and it must follow as the night the day, thou canst not then be false to any man." And in that great poem "Kasidah" Burton said this: "From none but self expect applause."

No one can appraise us as accurately as we can ourself. We ought to take pride in this fact. Self-approval is more valuable to us than approval from any other source It gives to us the most satisfaction, and makes us the most influential. People trust the one who trusts himself!

All through life we are faced with problems, and most of them we have to solve alone. This is to our advantage, for we grow stronger each time that we make a definite decision. Many and many a time we must fall back upon ourself for self-approval. Integrity, courage, and faith start with all that we are. Great characters are set apart as the "strong men." Thoreau said: "Public opinion is a weak tyrant, compared with our private opinion. What a man thinks of himself, that it is which determines, or rather indicates his fate."

The lasting and living are those with independence of mind and action Character is something that we build within us, and demonstrate to the world, or in our separate stall among others. We are happiest when we gain our own victories, and become an example to our fellowman. We need to be patient, wrapped in humility and backed by our own courage. Nothing can be so free as the mind. Self-approval is something that we borrow from our Creator!

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

Are Your Bones Fragile?

According to Meltzer, the best way to deprive the body of calcium is to give magnesium (as in magnesium sulfate, commonly known as Epsom salts; or milk of magnesia); and Mendel Benedict and others have shown that magnesium forces calcium from the system . . . . "The harmful effect of a diet deficient in calcium is increased when it is at the same time rich in magnesium, as the cereal grains, meat and potatoes . . . ." It would seem that there must be danger in the repeated administration of magnesia, at least to children or to those with fractured bones or bad teeth.

Lest some trick specialist dismiss the foregoing statements as Brady's pipe dreams, perhaps I should say that I quote them verbatim from Bastedo's Materia Medica, Pharmacology and Therapeutics.

The calcium requirements of women are greatly increased by maternity. The need of an abundance of calcium for the rapidly growing skeleton of an infant is obvious. Before birth, and normally for several months after, this demand of the child is satisfied through the mother, whose need for calcium is thus greatly increased. The weakening of the bones and teeth which is said to be common accompaniment of pregnancy and lactation is doubtless largely due to a withdrawal of calcium from these structures to meet the nutritive requirement of the fetus or the nursling.

Lest some physician or dentist question the foregoing statements, perhaps I should say that I quote them verbatim from Sherman's Chemistry of Food and Nutrition.

The ordinary mixed diet of Americans and Europeans, at least among dwellers in cities and towns, is probably more often deficient in calcium than in any other chemical element.

That, too, I quoted from Sherman's famous textbook.

The National Research Council's estimate of the minimum daily requirement of calcium for an adult is 750 milligrams — equivalent to about 12 grains, the amount of calcium one gets in a diet which includes milk, cheese, eggs, peas, beans, greens, nuts and peanuts, that is, what doctors call a "high calcium" diet. The "minimum daily requirement" means barely enough to prevent manifestations of nutritional deficiency disease, malnutrition. To maintain vigorous health, vite, the daily requirement is at least half as much again.

Read again Prof. Sherman's statement about withdrawal of calcium from the bones and teeth of the pregnant or nursing woman who doesn't get an optimal daily ration of calcium and vitamin D. Keep it in mind when a nineteenth-century dentist opines that the calcium content of teeth never changes.

As a result of the low calcium diet of most Americans, adults experience a long-continued loss of calcium through the years. This does not become superficially manifest because the great calcium stores in the bones are drawn upon to supply calcium to the blood and tissues, such as the heart and artery muscle, the nerves, mucous membranes, gums. As a result of this constant depletion the bones become poor in calcium and more fragile — (Boa's Treatment of the Patient's Past Fifty.)

Think of this when you notice an elderly person withering away, actually shrinking in height, weight and strength as he or she worries through the years on a low calcium diet. Think of it when an elderly person breaks his or her — or rather think of it years before the poor soul's bones have become depleted (osteoporosis) of calcium that a trivial injury is likely to cause fracture. And try to make the poor soul understand that he or she must consume at least 1½ pints — three glasses — or whole milk, skim milk or buttermilk every day, or the equivalent in other high calcium foods, plus an adequate daily ration of vitamin D or the equivalent in exposure of skin to skyshine or sunshine, to hold back these cold gradations of decay.

Belleville in the '90s

THE '98 GOLD RUSH

Although gold was not found in any great quantity in Canada until the Bonanza Creek discovery in the Klondike, Yukon Territory, in 1896, within two years the output had reached twenty-two million dollars in value, the population had increased to 30,000.

However the big rush to the Klondike was not until 1898, which gave Robt. Service the material for his book "The Trail of '98", and marked the appearance of Mike Mahoney, the "Klondike Mike" of Merrill Dennison's book of the same name. Mahoney, an Ottawa Valley giant, was said to have carried a piano on his back up the Chilcott Pass, boxed with the world's heavyweight champion of that day, and was guest of Mr. Dennison at his cottage at Bon Echo shortly before his death.

Gold was on everyone's mind in those days. Even in Belleville, thousands of miles from the gold discovery, according to the Sun and County Miner of that day, a Belleville party was preparing for a trip to the Yukon.

Under date of Thursday, February 3, 1898, Sun Editor Cameron Brown had this to say: "The members of the Klondike party left Belleville this (Thursday) morning and start from Toronto Friday. Mr. Robert Bogle, one of the party, has gone on to Vancouver to make preparations. The other members of the party are: Joseph D. Clarke, manager; S. S. Moore, treasurer; Victor E. Wensley, Edward Sprague and John C. Keith. They are taking two teams of dogs from here."

And in the advertising section the late Sandy Burrows, always ready to help his fellowmen, reported: "I have spared no pains to collect together the latest and most reliable information regarding the various routes to the Klondike, and will be pleased to aid in this way those who may be contemplating the journey."

The Week's News

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The New Year was greeted in Venezuela by screaming jet planes with rebel pilots at the controls.

Residents of Caracas, the capital, dived for cover as the planes flashed over their heads and anti-aircraft guns opened fire. At least one rebel aircraft was forced to land.

Gen. Marcos Perez Jimenez, the 43-year-old rotund dictator of Venezuela, quickly sent four columns of soldiers marching against Maracay, the air force base which was the centre of the revolt.

Within 24 hours, the president announced that Venezuela—No. 2 oil producer in the world—was "absolutely tranquil" again. Censorship excluded the details.

The rebellion broke out only 17 days after Perez Jimenez was returned to office for a five-year term in a dictator-type election in which the people were offered only this choice: The dictator or nobody, yes or no.

ENTER 1958

Venezuela provided the most spectacular scene as the Year of the Sputniks went out and 1958 toddled in, but there were fireworks elsewhere as well.

Twelve bombs were exploded along main thoroughfares in Havana, capital of Cuba, damaging the fronts of stores, movie houses and business buildings.

The followers of rebel chief Fidel Castro, who have been holding out in the hills for months, had threatened even greater bombings.

OTHER OBSERVANCES

Millions marked the occasion in reverence at home and in places of worship.

At [illegible] City, Pope Pius [illegible] Year's blessing to [illegible] of which he is [illegible] of Italy, casu[illegible]d 100 as vola[illegible]ned the New [illegible]thing from bul[illegible]ery.

C[illegible] PEANUT

Vivien [illegible]ellmeyer, who is only 2, was still a bit shaky at New Year's because of the peanut she ate at Christmas.

Vivien's parents, who live in Port of Spain, Trinidad, rushed her to Montreal by air after the peanut went down her windpipe and lodged in her lung Christmas Day.

Dr. R. Hall McCoy, who fished up the peanut in a Montreal operation, said he inserted a tube the size of a soda straw down Vivien's windpipe and reached through it with fine forceps.

Vivien came through the operation "just fine," the doctor reported.

PLANE INCIDENT

Albania announced New Year's Day that Communist jet planes forced a British civilian cargo plane to land because the DC-4 had violated Albanian air space.

In London, the foreign office said it was informed the six crew members, including one woman, were "safe and well."

An Italian news agency said Italian [illegible] tracked the big plane, en route from West Germany to Singapore, as it wandered from a regular air corridor in poor visibility.

GOOD CHEER

Despite the many woes of the cold war, a friendly East-West exchange of greetings gave hope that 1958 may see an improvement in international relations.

Russian boss Nikita Khrushchev and other leaders sent greetings to government leaders and chiefs of state around the world.

The Soviet message to Prime Minister Diefenbaker, vacationing with his wife in the Bahamas, was an invitation "to work together in building up trust and active co-operation . . . on the principles of coexistence."

Queen Elizabeth, in a message, extended cordial greetings and good wishes to Soviet President Klementi Voroshilov and the Russian people.

KHRUSHY'S TOPIC

In a New Year toast to President Eisenhower, Khrushchev called once again for exclusively United States-Russian talks to settle the problems of the world, especially disarmament.

"Most of the world's problems would be solved" by such a meeting, said Khrushchev. The U.S. has been cool to the idea of bilateral talks.

Eisenhower told Khrushchev in his message that the U.S. "will extend every effort" to better relations between the East and West.

B.C.'S BIRTHDAY

British Columbia, land of towering mountains, dizzying canyons and booming cities, launched centennial year celebrations with a radio-television spectacular.

Lieutenant - Governor Frank Ross opened the hour-long show, televised and broadcast from a Vancouver theatre, with an open invitation to the year-long birthday party.

B.C.-born entertainers were featured. They included movie actress Yvonne de Carlo, singer Ed McCurdy, actor Alan Young and cartoonist Stephen Bosustow, who created "Mister Magoo."

HYDRO IN WILDS

Premier Joseph Smallwood of Newfoundland announced that a 500-foot cableway has been strung across the mighty Hamilton Falls in Labrador, where one of the largest hydro projects in the world is planned.

The cable was suspended between 75-foot towers to assist in the movement of machinery weighing up to 25 tons. A footbridge also spans the river.

FLOOD TRAGEDY

An official report placed at 250 the number of persons to lose their lives in raging floods in Ceylon More than 325,000 were left homeless.

Most of the cultivated rice paddy land in Ceylon was destroyed, the government reported. All livestock was lost in some areas.

A number of Commonwealth countries and the United States sent emergency supplies by sea and air. The RCAF flew relief supplies from Lachine, Que., by North Star transports.

Garden Notes

Dish Gardens for Decorations

By FLORA M. SAVILLE

A week ago I wanted a fresh centerpiece for the dining table. We had used a bowl of vines, violets in bloom, and bittersweet a dish garden would be a pleasant change.

Last year I had received a dish garden that held our interest for several weeks. It contained a purple and silver wandering jew (zibrina) plant, which bloomed and bloomed. The flowers were minute, perhaps a third of an inch across, with four bright pink petals and golden anthers. The blooms lasted only a few hours, but they were usually at their best in the evening when we were having dinner. In the dish there were also two small jade plants, a coleus, an ivy a begonia and three pieces of dried moss. Around the edge small colored discs of oyster shell had been scattered. In this "jungle" of plants a three-inch figurine of a child dressed in red added that impish note.

I still had the eight-inch planter bowl and the figurine. Bi-organic was used for the soil. I went around collecting a snippin' of this and a pinch off that plant. There were two pieces of green and white wandering jew, and one piece solid green, two anthuriums, nipped off the stolens the parent plant puts out. This has a green and white stripe leaf and is grass-like. Three vines (called blood leaf) a jade plant and an ivy.

I set the plants in and took them out until I had them arranged in a balanced picture. For added color I dropped in a handful of bright glass marbles and the figurine. (I think she is little red riding hood.) The planter was placed on a pedestal dish and this on green rimmed plate. The green rim forms a frame for my picture.

Several times I have used a clear glass rose bowl for a dish garden. This will take a very few plants, but the glass seems to magnify and spotlight the contents. An inch and a half of soil, a few little sprigs and cuttings will form a lovely arrangement. I have a tiny figure of Kwan Yin, the Chinese godess of mercy. She lends that special touch of interest. At other times plastic dolls provided the interest.

A pair of bright ceramic pheasants sometimes live in my coffee table planter. In the long black planter filled with foliage plants the birds look quite at home.

Since planters or dish gardens used on tables away from outdoor light they should contain plants which are used to low light intensity. Such plants as pepperomias, marantas, philodendrons, ivies, pothos, defenbachias, and pick-a-back plants are suitable.

Ornaments such as birds, animals and people done in ceramics, wood or metal, dried and dyed plant material, moss, stones, or any small object which seems to fit in can add further interest. Strive to keep the effect natural.

For a holiday coffee table fill the planter half full of plastic snow, or sand. Collect several kinds of evergreens. Buy some holly, and mistletoe, (real or artificial). Cut the evergreens to six and eight-inch lengths and push into soil. Use the holly and mistletoe for accents. You may also add one or two of any of the following, glass tree ornaments, tall and short candles, sprays of frosted branches, or cones (spray with white paint), branches of barberry with plenty of berries on.

Your Car

Water Is Your Muffler's Most Dangerous Enemy

By EUGENE MILMOE

Your car's muffler is designed to do more than deaden exhaust noise. It must help the engine breathe properly by carrying off burned gases, offering as little resistance as possible to their passage.

A leaky muffler, or one partially clogged with carbon or dirt, invites such troubles as excessive noise, escape of deadly carbon monoxide fumes, loss of power, or burned exhaust valves.

Water is the unrelenting enemy of the muffler. It attacks the outside when splashed up by the wheels and, as a by-product of combustion, it condenses inside the muffler to do more damage.

Eventually, although the muffler may have been treated to retard corrosion, the combination of hot exhaust gas and water causes pitting and rusting.

Short-trip driving, especially in winter weather, causes muffler cracks and or holes to develop sooner. Because the car isn't driven very far, the exhaust system doesn't get hot enough to pass off water vapor, which thus condenses and settles in the muffler.

Mrs. J.Y. asks: "My question is simple enough, yet none of six drivers I have asked could give me a positive answer. What is the chemical solution in a car battery?"

(A) A concentrated solution of sulphuric acid and water makes up the electrolyte in the battery.

J.F. writes: "I own a 1953 sedan with standard shift transmission. The car runs well enough, but there is a squeaking noise from the clutch which usually occurs when it's disengaged. What would be causing this type of noise?"

(A) Often it indicates that a clutch part needs lubrication. The most likely sources are the clutch release bearing, the pilot bearing or the release sleeve.

From A.J.: "My car battery, which is less than 6 months old, hasn't been getting a strong enough charge from the generator. Last week I put in a new generator regulator myself, but it didn't change things one way or the other. Would this mean that the generator itself is going bad?"

(A) It may — but it's also possible that the low output is being caused by a loose or slipping generator drive belt.

G.S. writes: "Is it harmful to race the engine in the morning in order to warm it up faster?"

(A) The popularity of this practice probably explains why so many engines wear out prematurely. First of all, with a cold engine it takes a little time before the oil begins to circulate freely.

Secondly, the rich mixture needed for a cold start means that some raw gasoline will wash down cylinder walls, carrying oil with it Cylinders, pistons and rings are therefore inadequately protected during these moments, and racing the engine really speeds up more wear than warmth.

Battling Berserk Pet Deer With Penknife, Sharbot Lake Man Rescued by Rival Buck

A hand-to-horn battle between a Sharbot Lake restaurateur and berserk buck deer is told in a gory story released by a Lands and Forest official.

Joe Vinkle who lived to tell the story after a furious no-holds-barred fight for life thanks a two-inch bladed penknife for his still being able to breathe.

Joe who owns a restaurant and service station on Highway No. 7 at Sharbot Lake, has a menagerie which includes two large bears, three foxes, two raccoons, red and black squirrels, a beaver and a dozen deer. Also around are birds, monkeys and a burro.

The twelve deer roam in a quarter-mile square wire-fenced enclosure. They never lack for food. Six does range from 9½ years down to a teenage 1½ years. Boss of the herd is a 4½-year-old buck.

Joe loves his animal family. Oftimes he enters the cage and wrestles with his bear duo. They weigh 541 and 534 pounds respectively.

CHARGED BY BUCK

All was well one morning when Joe entered the deer compound to gather wooden pickets. He had picked up an armful when "a loud snort and whistle" startled him. He looked up. Charging at him was the boss buck, "nostrils flaring and eyes ablaze".

The buck hit Joe chest high like a pro football linesman. The pickets, he said saved his life on this occasion. Joe went down and the deer somersaulted over him. Coming in for the second round, Joe grabbed the buck by the antlers and hung on for grim life. He went down again but clung to the horns and their base, taking a terrific pounding.

Joe's leather jacket, he said, was ripped to shreds. The skin was scrapped off his legs in that wild buck-tossing few minutes.

REACHED KNIFE

Through what must be a miracle, Joe managed to extract a two-inch blade penknife from his pocket, and open it.

He plunged the blade into the deer's neck, jaw and beneath the left eye. "Soaked in blood," Joe said, some of it his own, "I managed to drive the knife in behind the deer's left ear and felt it relax."

Joe managed to get to his feet and get up on a stump, about five feet off the ground.

But Kid Buck was not through. He was far from dead. He charged Joe again — and then came a life-saving diversion. A young buck probably a challenger for the herd championship appeared on the scene.

The bloody old warrior wanted no part of a tag-team match so he turned on the younger intruder. The youngster stood his ground for a few minutes then realizing discretion was the better part of valor, turned tail with the boss buck in hot pursuit.

MAKES HIS ESCAPE

When they disappeared over a knoll in the compound, Joe said he decided to get out of there. He hopped the fence and nearly scared the family to death with his tattered bloody appearance.

"Didn't you hear anything?" Joe inquired of the family.

They said they did, but thought it was the burro of the family doing a bit of prospecting.

The Lands and Forests official issued a warning after hearing Joe's story. "Leave the wildlife where it is intended to be. Quite often when the young are captured and reared in captivity they become unafraid of humans, and are far more dangerous than when left in the wilds," he said.

Elzevir Reeve To Be Candidate For Wardenship

Although the inaugural session of Hastings county council is still nearly two weeks away discussion is already underway as to who will be the successor to the warden's chair being vacated by Leslie McLaren of Tyendinaga township.

Reeve Lloyd Price of Elzevir, member of Hastings county council for the past four years, has announced that he will be a candidate for the honor, while it is expected that veteran council member Reeve Tracey Adams of Dungannon township will also toss his hat into the ring.

Reeve Adams lost out in his bid for the wardenship last year. Reeve Price will be making his first attempt.

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

By WINIFRED WILSON

Did you know that some birds nest in mid-winter? We think of breeding time as late spring and early summer; but there are exceptions. With neither cold nor snow to deter them, many tropical birds nest at all seasons. Brown pelicans found on the Atlantic coast of the U.S. have the curious habit of laying eggs in autumn. Hardest to believe, however, is the fact that several kinds of birds actually nest in the snow.

Those roving oddities, the crossbills, erratic in habits as well as in movements, may begin building in January — or may wait until August. The nest is saddled on an evergreen, given a foundation of twigs, made of bark fibres and rootlets, and lined with moss and plant down felted together. This padding is very necessary to shield eggs and nestlings when parents are so inconsiderate as to carry on housekeeping activities in freezing, snowy conditions.

Great horned owls start operations near the beginning of the year, even those living in the New England States, the most southerly section of Quebec, and the populated part of Ontario. A mild January may produce the urge, though usually it is February or March before eggs are laid. As old nests of crows or hawks are generally taken over, these owls first have only to do a little repair work, using weed stalks and feathers for a warm mattress. It is quite customary for the brooding bird to be almost hidden by a blanket of snow. Sometimes several days elapse between the laying of eggs, so owlets vary greatly in age.

February is a favorite month for Canada jays to breed, so no wonder much warm material is built into the bulky nest. It is placed in a dense conifer, near the trunk for protection. The outer layer is made of twigs and strips of bark; the lining is very thick, composed of fur, feathers, and down. Eggs are often laid when the temperature is below zero, and the sitting bird is accustomed to be covered by snow.

Nests of horned larks have been found occupied by mid-March. Eggs and youngsters are in the greatest danger of being destroyed by weather conditions as well as predators, because the home is built right on bare ground, in the open. In fact, if the territory shows any signs of growing vegetation the birds move. Grasses forming a cup are placed in a slight depression, or beside a stone or lump of earth. Plant down, hair, and feathers make a warm lining for eggs and nestlings.

THE GOLDEN YEARS

Employees Voice Strong Dislike Of Compulsory Retirement Plans

By THOMAS COLLINS

Business firms that say employees must retire at age 60 or 65 go into the new year saying more of the same.

And in the name of common sense a good many people are asking why.

"Executives who are not yet 65," says Robert R. White, "are enforcing the business policies which decree that the people who are 65 must take a pension and go. There is a psychological factor involved there. But let's not get into that. Do these executives not realize that they are perpetuating policies that are going to slit their own throats? They, too, unless somebody has changed the rules, will be 65 in time. And executives, more than anybody, don't want to retire."

Mr. White, who describes himself as a former "white-collar straw boss" for a corporation, is living near Santa Barbara, Calif., on a retirement income of $285 a month and a nest egg of $8,700.

"Anybody who has worked with people," says Donald Haskell, "knows that a company policy which forces people to retire at 60 or 65 is a fine device for sweeping useless and contrary old folks out of the joint. But the broom also catches 65-year-old people who are not useless, contrary or old. And I don't think there is a company in the land which can prove that its gain from getting rid of the bad is as large as its loss from kicking out the good. . . Companies are retiring some 65-year-old men whose experience and wisdom are worth fortunes."

Mr. Haskell, a corporation staff lawyer, is retired in Alabama. He has stocks and bonds.

POLICIES ARE POPPYCOCK

A man named J.B. McConnell, who is two years out into retirement and who commutes between Brownsville, Tex., and Bradenton, Fla., in a trailer, thinks some companies are falling back on poppycock in trying to justify their arbitrary retirement policies.

"One of the silliest excuses I know for retiring people at 65," he says, "is that a company constantly needs new ideas and the best way to get them is to move old folks out and younger folks in. Don't companies know it is the mature employees — age 60 or beyond — who are best at accepting and activating new ideas?

"People under 55 are the ones who usually stomp new ideas to death. By age 60 and beyond, an employee, even if he's too tired to dream dreams himself, is usually tolerant of those who do."

ANOTHER ARGUMENT

"When they retired me, I protested. And the argument I got was that young men in the organization had to have a chance. And the only way they could advance was for the old men to retire. In fact the smart young men might quit if the retirement policy was dropped.

"I don't see the profit of swapping a smart old man for a smart young one. Anyway, if a company has all its marbles, it can find ways to keep the young men happy. With money, for instance."

And this — from a 64-year-old man who has one year before he must go: "The normal man coming up to age 60 and knowing he will have to retire at 65 starts thinking about his heart and his stomach. And wonders why he should break his neck from here on in. He's got nowhere to go. And he's not likely to be fired.

"Compulsory retirement policies are making high-class gold-bricks out of a lot of good 60-year-old men . . . and doing companies a great deal of harm."

These comments have been selected from hundreds, all of them in the same theme. I do not find anywhere any people who were forced to retire who like it.

Most of them grow philosophical about it after a while and discuss it calmly.

Impressive Candlelight Service Held

SHANNONVILLE — There was a good attendance at an impressive candlelight service which was held in Shannonville United Church on Sunday evening. The church looked lovely with a lighted Christmas tree and lighted tapers in the windows. The communion table depicted the nativity scene and was lighted with tall white candles. A beautiful Christmas plant adorned the piano.

Junior members of the congregation asisted the pastor, the Rev. J. P. Robinson with the service.

As the pianist, Mrs. Harry Sine was ill, Mrs. Damon Hinchey presided at the piano. There was a full choir and a lovely anthem was sung. Misses Marina Mastin and Gail Juby rendered a vocal duet and Mr. Tom Hinchey contributed a solo. Christmas hymns were used throughout the service.

Tom Hinchey led in the responsive reading and Jim Hinchey read the Bible lesson. Donald Little read an interesting Christmas story.

The address by the minister, Mr. Robinson, was most impressive.

Appreciative thanks go to the pianist, choir, Sunday School members and all those who helped with this Christmas service.

WEDDINGS

BAKER — McLUSKIE

The marriage of Miss Elizabeth Jane McLuskie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. James McLuskie to Mr. Raymond Baker, son of Mr and Mrs. Harry Baker, took place at the home of the bride's parents on Victoria Avenue, on Saturday, December 21st. The Rev. L. E. Mason officiated at the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father wore a powder blue taffeta gown, with clip hat to match and a corsage of pink roses.

Her sister, Mrs. Carl Haynes, was matron of honor, and Mr George Masterson attended the bridegroom as best man.

The young couple will reside at 5 Grove Street, Belleville.

BURTON—WAGAR

Tall standards of pink and white flowers decorated the chancel of St. John's Anglican Church, Kingston, for the recent marriage of Miss Faye Eleanor Wagar and Mr. Eric William Burton of Hamilton. Canon Minto Swan officiated at the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Rev. Oscar E. Wagar of Belleville and Mrs. R. E. Mattice of Kingston. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. H. Jeffrey, Essex, and the late Mr. Frank Burton.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an original gown of white French silk trimmed in lace and embroidered in pearls, the skirt falling into a soft train. Her fingertip veil was inserted with rosepoint lace and she carried a prayer book with a cascade of American Beauty rosettes and white streamers.

The bride's attendants were her twin sister, Frances Anne, as maid of honor; Miss Grace Wilson of Barriefield, as bridesmaid, and Miss Jeanette Norgate of Amherstview as flower girl.

The maid of honor wore a shrimp pink gown and carried a nosegay of white and pink 'mums. The flower girl's costume was pastel yellow and she carried a basket of white and yellow baby 'mums.

Mr. Norman Evans of Ottawa was groomsman, and Mr. John Wagar of Belleville, brother of the bride, was usher.

During the signing of the register Mrs. Jack Telford of Belleville sang "Because." A tape recording was made of the ceremony.

A reception was held in the church hall, after which the couple left for a motor trip, the bride travelling in a grey suit with dusty pink accessories.

FOSTER — BRIMLEY

Tall, white standards of white chrysanthemums and red poinsettias against a background of pine boughs and silvered cones formed a lovely setting for a late December wedding in Wellington United Church, when Vaunga Marie Brimley, of Wellington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brimley, junior, became the bride of Gary Arnold Foster, of Bloomfield, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dunam Foster. The Reverend Alfred Poulter, pastor of the church, officiated.

Mr. Garth McCreary, soloist, sang, "A Wedding Prayer," and "I'll Walk Beside You," accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Jack McNeill.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was radiant in her waltz-length bridal gown of imported white peau de soi, featuring a fitted bodice with scoop neckline accented by sequin embroidery. Soft tucking circled the skirt ending in a small bustle effect. The long, sheath-like sleeves were lily-pointed over the wrists. She wore a sequin-studded headdress and elbow-length veil of tulle illusion, and carried a white Bible crested with red carnations, white 'mums and flower-knotted streamers.

The maid of honor, Miss Patricia Keane, of Kingston, and the bridesmaids, Miss Shirley Cherrington, of Toronto, and the Misses Margaret Brimley and Marilyn Brimley, twin sisters of the bride, were gowned identically in waltz-length gowns of red, silk taffeta fashioned with "V" necklines in front and back of the molded bodices, with bouffant skirts. They wore white, feathered headdresses, and carried baskets of white 'mums.

Mr. Eric Arkett attended the bridegroom, while Dr. Maurice Foster, Mr. John Buyers and Mr. Vernon Kemp, ushered the guests.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the town hall, Wellington, with catering by the Women's Institute.

The bride's mother received, attired in blue crystalette, with matching feather hat, matching accessories, and corsage of pink roses. She was assisted in the receiving line by the bridegroom's mother, who wore medium blue crepe, with matching accessories, and pink rose corsage.

For the wedding trip to New York City, the bride chose an ensemble of royal blue, with black accessories, and feathered hat, topped by a fur jacket. Upon their return, the young couple will reside in Bloomfield, Ontario.

Guests attended from Alliston; Belleville; Consecon; Campbellford; Kingston; Kitchener; Odessa; Stratford; Carnduff, Sask.; Toronto; Beeton; Barrie; Picton, and Bradford, about 95 in all.

The bride, previous to her marriage was enterained at several showers.

This --- and That

By HARRIET STEVENS

Sometimes a correspondent is rewarded through the medium of indirect, but nevertheless gratifying approach. Since we wrote the column on December 21, 1957, there have been reports that traffic on Ritchie Avenue has experienced some impetus. The sensational or spectacular scoop is not inevitably the most lasting. You see, this was no scoop. It was the pride of neighbors in neighbors. T & T hopes that as many people as possible saw the Yuletide decorations created by Mr. Fred Beeby.

Late on the evening of the last day of 1957, Mr. Beeby created a novel display which exemplified the good wishes to all for 1958. You could not drive by without stopping or turning around to come back for a second glance at the electrical message. You saw from out of the blackness of New Year's Eve a dawning sun ushering in the brand new year of 1958. This column thanks Mr. and Mrs. Fred Beeby and the neighbors who were so proud of the ingenuity of friends down the street.

A street after all is a city, or town, or village, or maybe even a nation and since peace on earth is the plea on all our hearts, then Ritchie Avenue gave its message to everyone everywhere.

Our readers know that we turn often to this and that from here and there for a weekend thought. For our first column in 1958, we thought that we would offer our own little gesture. 1957 was in more than one way a year of recompense for your column in The Ontario Intelligencer. We received suggestions and advice. We received helpful criticisms. We received a few compliments. When they are put in the same bowl and mixed, we find that all in all there is a leavening process.

T & T thanks you one and all for your criticisms and your help. We humbly solicit your patience and your suggestions for 1958. T & T aspires to be worthy of its readers and if we were seeking a quotation one comes to mind from the New Testament: "In your patience, possess ye your souls." And thus we commence 1958.

You Can Vacation in Florida Without Breaking Your Budget

By SHIRLEY AND BOB SLOANE

If you're among the 20,000,000 North Americans who will take a winter vacation this year, it's a good one out of three chances Florida will be your destination.

But if your budget isn't as optimistic as your intentions, here are some tips that may bring the two closer together for you:

1. If you want to stop at a resort hotel or motel generally only the newest and finest are as expensive as you've heard.

In a land where places to stay are as numerous as palm trees and go up faster, and where — around Miami particularly — they are referred to disdainfully as "last year's hotel" while they'd still be drawing sight-seers in your hometown, they've got to do things to attract customers as surely as any hotel anywhere. Foremost among these is making the rates attractive.

The woods — or beaches — are full of hotels which, glamorous though they were a few years ago (and still are), have been overshadowed by more imposing competitors. They still have swimming pools, beautiful air-conditioned rooms and excellent food, but alas, so does everyone else.

Well, what do you care so long as it costs less? Choosing an older or more modest place with fewer lavish touches will get you the same sunshine more cheaply.

Too, most hotels have a considerable spread in their room rates based on the location of the room. If you don't mind walking a little further to the pool, you can save quite a few dollars a day.

AVOID PEAK SEASON

2. The highest rates are during the brief peak season of about Feb. 1 to March 15. It's just as cold up north and just as warm in Florida before and after those dates, so why not plan your vacation accordingly?

3. No, you don't need a whole new wardrobe to keep up with the styles. For one thing, no one wears formal clothes. For another motels make almost a fetish of convincing their guests that they don't have to dress up, and many hotels are following suit (no pun intended). Many's the man who's gone through a complete Florida holiday without a necktie.

4. Don't overlook the possibilities of vacationing in other areas than the luxurious southeast coast. To Southerners, northern Florida is a summer resort, with winter rates to match, but many Northerners find it plenty warm for them.

The quiet, relaxed and beautiful west coast of Florida, with its island hideaways, water lands and white beaches is just as warm as the east coast and less expensive. It has a minimum of night life and excitement, but that may not be what you're looking for.

SHOP AROUND

5. Don't be afraid to shop around for accommodations in your price range in resort areas. You'll find more of them than you may believe possible, ranging from boardinghouses to the posh hotels. Write to any place which appeals to you, talk to any travel agent, or go down and take your chances. Except during that peak season, and then only on weekends, you won't run much risk of having to sleep in the car.

6. Don't be afraid to take the children along. All motels and most hotels now admit them for very little additional on the rate and have facilities that will keep them out of your hair all day. Cheaper than a nurse at home and more fun for the kids.

7. For entertainment, and particularly if you are alone, take advantage of such economical diversions as dancing and the shows in your own hotel or motel (no minimums, usually, for guests and even small hotels and many motels have these features). It's informal, good fun, and a great way to make friends.

There are also night club tours by bus in Miami where you meet congenial people and see two or three of the top shows in town for $10 a head, a fraction of what it would cost you on your own.

You won't get the best table or more than one drink and a snack in each place for that money, but the big spenders have to get something for their money, too.

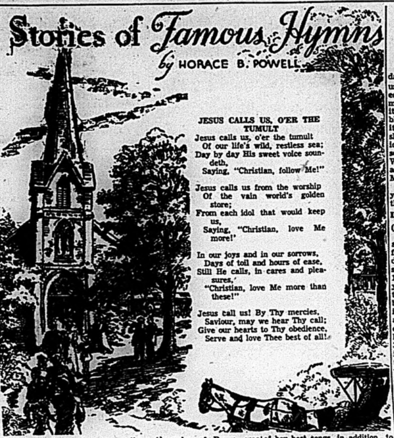
Stories of Famous Hymns

by HORACE B. POWELL



JESUS CALLS US, O'ER THE TUMULT

Jesus calls us, o'er the tumult
Of our life's wild, restless sea;
Day by day His sweet voice soundeth,
Saying, "Christian, follow Me!"

Jesus calls us from the worship
Of the vain world's golden store;
From each idol that would keep us,
Saying, "Christian, love Me more!'

In our joys and in our sorrows,
Days of toil and hours of ease,
Still He calls, in cares and pleasures,
"Christian, love Me more than these!"

Jesus call us! By Thy mercies,
Saviour, may we hear Thy call;
Give our hearts to Thy obedience,
Serve and love Thee best of all!

In these days when many men and women are turning from "the vain world's golden store" to seek more enduring treasures, the message of this beautiful hymn, written in 1852 by Mrs. Cecil Alexander, is finding a new popularity.

The hymn has always been a favorite with church people, however, and because of its ringing challenge for a reconsecration of lives to the Master's service, it is widely used in religious conferences — especially in men's rallies.

Mrs. Alexander, a native of Ireland and the wife of Bishop William Alexander of Derry, was thinking as she wrote her verses of the Bible text in Matthew 4:19, "He saith unto them, Follow Me:" The scriptural passage refers to Jesus' calling of Peter and Andrew to discipleship at the Sea of Galilee.

She wrote other hymns and poetry including "Verses For The Holy Seasons", "Hymns For Little Children", "Hymns Descriptive and Devotional", and "The Legend Of The Golden Prayers". Her most popular hymns were written for children but they are treasured and sung today by youngsters and adults alike. Two of her best songs, in addition to the one here offered, are "Once In Royal David's City" and "There Is A Green Hill Far Away".

Always modest about her talents, Mrs. Alexander was indifferent to the praise heaped upon her by her friends. One day, however, when a caller told her of a young lad whose life had been transformed through conversion at a religious service in which her hymn, "Jesus Calls Us", was sung, she was plainly delighted.

"Thank God:" she exclaimed. "I am happy — very happy — to hear that!"

As Conducted by Mary Moore

Question: . . . recipe for . . . date cake that my Grandmother used to make years ago. It looked and had the texture of a very moist chocolate cake. She baked it in one of those large flat black pans and as I remember it never rose too high. On this she would use a thin almond icing. The dates must have been soaked and mashed very well. Would you have a recipe for anything such as this? . . . Mrs. R. A.

Answer: Could you work out your remembered recipe from the following with variations?

LOAF DATE CAKE

(With Variations)

One-half cup sugar, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 cup flour, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1-2 lb. dates cut small, 2 eggs, beaten separate 1-2 lb. cut nut meats, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Beat egg yolks and sugar 5 minutes. Sift together unsifted flour, salt and baking powder and fold in; fold in finely chopped dates and nuts and vanilla. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into paper-lined buttered loaf pan, bake at 300 deg. F. 1—1 1-4 hours. Variation 1: Use 2 cups flour, 4 teaspoons of baking powder, Variation 2: Use brown sugar—3-4 cup. Variation 3: Leave dates (stoned) and nutmeats whole, and use 1 lb. of each. Use 4 eggs, increase sugar to 1 cup, baking powder to 3 teaspoons. Shallow pan (about 15x7 1-2) with 3 layers of waxed paper on bottom, the top one greased. This cake keeps well.

Dinner Menus

SATURDAY

Turkey Hash (see Thursday); Chopped Spinach with Lemon; Sliced Carrots; Baked Rice Pudding with Raisins; Coffee.

Question: . . . Have you a recipe for a batter for a batter pudding to be made in the double boiler? Would like very much to have one if you have any. And in making batter puddings I am often tempted to substitute all or half whole wheat flour but I don't know if one uses same quantity of whole wheat as white. I liked all the whole wheat recipes you gave some months ago and now substitute w.w. in my white sauce. Nice flavor. When one is told to "bring to a boil" does that mean have it boiling all over the place, or just a bubble here and there. I always seem to come out alright no matter what way I interpret it, but would like your opinion . . . Mrs. R. B.

Answer: "Bring to a boil" means boiling all over.

BATTER PUDDING

One and three-quarter cups sifted flour, 2 1-2 teaspoons baking powder, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-4 cup shortening, 1 cup sugar, 1 egg, 1 teaspoon vanilla 2-3 cup milk. Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Cream shortening and add sugar gradually. Beat in egg and vanilla. Alternately add flour and milk to sugar mixture beating after each addition until smooth. Place a thick layer of fruit in bottom of greased baking dish if desired, pour batter over it. Bake in 350 deg. Fahr. oven 45 minutes, or steam in top of greased double boiler for 1 hour tightly covered. Don't peek. Substitute sifted whole wheat flour for 1-2 the flour if desired.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

WHY MAKE GUESTS WAIT HOURS?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Thank you for answering for me in your column the two questions I have sent you about my wedding plans. Now will you please answer another question for me? My wedding is to take place at approximately 9 or 10 o'clock in the morning. This early hour is to avoid the expense of a wedding breakfast or dinner at noon. I should like to have my reception at noon until 4 o'clock. This would enable me to serve a buffet luncheon. As we expect many guests from out-of-town, I thought this would solve the problem of serving a big dinner. Please advise me if this would be within the lines of etiquette, and if it is not, what would be the best hour for such a reception? — D.R.

I never approve of having the reception or wedding breakfast or luncheon or dinner or whatever the post-ceremony plan is, take place such a long time after the ceremony . . . unless this procedure is absolutely necessary.

In your case, what are the guests supposed to do between the end of the ceremony and the beginning of the reception? This is awkward planning. Wouldn't it be possible to have the ceremony at, say, 11 or 11:30, and then have the reception follow immediately, and after the reception, serve a simple but substantial Wedding Breakfast? This is really a luncheon, and may be served buffet style.

HOW TO WRITE NAME ON CARD PROVIDED BY STORE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I usually find it more convenient to send a wedding present from the store where I buy the article. When I use the card provided by the store, to enclose with the gift, how should I write our names on the card — "Mr. and Mrs. — " or with our first names and surname? (I want to be sure that I'm doing this correctly.) — Frances M.

If you wish to write only your names on the card to be enclosed, you write: Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Martin. Just as the names would be engraved on your visiting-card . . . as is more customary in this circumstance . . . you would sign the informal names to the message. Like this, for example: "Every good wish for your happiness, always. John and Frances Martin." (When you are the one signing the cards, you should write your name last.)

A Lift for Living

The Higher Value of Living

By DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN

Perhaps no subject has been so much discussed during the year 1957 as the high cost of living. But as we begin the new year I should like to think with you about the higher value of living, which is a more important matter than the cost of living.

What we get for our money is of more importance than what we pay for it. Why do I say that? For this reason — sooner or later we pay out all we have. If I have spent $10,000 this year and save $3,000, I may say to myself that I am ahead of the game. But when the game of life is called by the Divine Umpire, all my money will be gone whether I have spent it or saved it. Hence the financial cost of living is secondary to the values received.

Let us think then about what we are getting for what we are spending. And let us turn for light to the One we call the Master of life. In the 16th chapter of Luke's Gospel, Jesus is recorded as saying: "If then you have not been faithful in the unrighteous Mammon, who will entrust to you the true riches?"

UNRIGHTEOUS MAMMON

First of all, why did Jesus call money the "unrighteous Mammon"? Our Lord appeared utterly indifferent to money for His own use. There is no mention of what He earned as a carpenter, what He received as a teacher, of what He spent as a traveller. He is never recorded as asking for alms, and the Gospels contain no treasurer's report.

But while Jesus seemed free from any personal concern about money, there is scarcely any subject to which He made more frequent reference. Realist that He was, He recognized how the considerations of wealth are woven into everyday living.

He saw that the love of money can generate an almost demonic power. Hence Luke reports Christ as referring to money in the Aramaic word "Mammon," and personifying it as a veritable rival of God. Listen: "You cannot serve God and Mammon, for either you will love the one and hate the other, or else you will hold to the one and despise the other."

When the love of money becomes covetous greed, it becomes "the Mammon of unrighteousness," for it drives men to further and further excesses. As Emerson said, "Want is a growing giant whom the coat of Have is never large enough to cover."

If we would get more for our money, here are two suggestions. First, cultivate a better sense of values when we buy. During the Second World War Hermann Goering, Hitler's right-hand man, plundered the courts and art galleries of the countries he conquered. He amassed a vast collection of art objects in his mammoth place near Berlin.

Visitors to Goering's estate reported that his collection contained some objects of value but they were piled indiscriminately side by side with baubles. Goering with his vulgar taste did not know the value of the articles he had acquired. We fool ourselves and are laughed at as fools when we lack a sense of values.

UNSELFISH SPIRIT

Another suggestion. Cultivate a more unselfish spirit when we give. Now that Christmas is over, suppose you sat down to figure up the cost of what you gave and what you received. You pick up a present from John Williams, and you happen to know that it cost $15, while the gift you made to him cost $20. You say to yourself, "I lost $5 on that exchange."

Then you take up a present from Charles Jones which is worth $25 while your gift to him only cost $12. And you say, "That makes me feel cheap." Think how we can spoil the whole spirit of Christmas by trying to balance the costs of our gives and takes.

Now we see why Jesus told us not to give only to those who give to us. He said, "When you give, let not your left hand know what your right hand does." Give without thinking of the return. Our deepest satisfaction comes when we give to those who cannot pay it back — to little children, to persons in need, to good causes.

Whether or not 1958 brings us more money, it can bring us more for our money.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Gerald M. — She's always been against him.

Dolly M. — Three years ago my brother-in-law got in trouble for a minor offence and spent some time in jail. Now my husband wants to take him into business with him.

It isn't exactly that I don't trust my brother-in-law, but I don't think it would be good for the business to have a jailbird in it. A lot of people know about my brother-in-law and there'll be plenty of talk. People don't stop to ask what the offence was. They just know he's been in jail.

Besides, my brother-in-law isn't a good influence on my husband. He always tries to get him to carouse around. He tells him that he's henpecked if he comes home early and refuses to do a lot of drinking. My husband is headed for trouble with that brother of his.

Gerald M — Who's going to give my brother a chance in life if even I turn him down. Doesn't a man owe some loyalty to his family?

My wife insists upon calling Bill a jailbird. But Bill is no criminal. He got into a little trouble, yes, but it could happen to anyone. None of us is perfect. Bill had the bad luck to get nabbed.

My wife has always been against Bill because she's had this idea that Bill is a bad influence on me. But Bill isn't a bad sort — just happy-go-lucky. He doesn't believe in letting women boss your life. I can't say I blame him.

Dolly is boss in our home, but I don't think that it's right when she tries to boss the business too. I'm old enough to do as I please.

The Council: We think that Dolly is on the right track — for the wrong reasons.

Bill does need a chance in life. If he behaved well in the business, others, beside Gilbert, would be fair-minded and willing to let him prove himself. There might be talk and undoubtedly some individuals would be influenced by it, but in the long run most persons are willing to overlook the past of a man who proves his mettle in the present. Dolly's calling Bill a jailbird, however, would be no help toward his living down that record.

From Gerald's acount, however, there is good reason to believe that Bill is a troublemaker. The fact that Gerald tends to minimize Bill's imperfections and to look up to him indicates that he is by no means the right person to give Bill that chance in life. Gerald seems to have a rather weak character and looks to his brother to help him fight the "bossiness" of his wife.

Gerald's attitude toward Bill would bring out the worst in that young man. Bill should get a chance to prove himself with a boss who is not inclined to coddle his weaknesses. That is the only way he can become a more responsible person.

By all means Gerald should boss his own business, and he needs employees he can dominate. We have a strong suspicion that he could not do that with Bill around.

Tobacco Selling System Under Fire at Meeting

TILLSONBURG (CP) — The ale-auction method of tobacco elling, inaugurated with high ope[illegible] the Ontario flue-cured [illegible] marketing board just ast month, is coming under eavy fire from the province's rowers.

Disturbed and angered by the low sale of the $70,000,000 1957 rop, many of the 3,600 growers hrough the Southwestern Ontario obacco belt met in a series of neetings Friday night to argue he merits of the new system gainst the old method of selling crop whole instead of piecemeal.

At three stormy meetings, two n Delhi, one in Burford, the growers voted for a return to the lo method; at one, equally tormy, in Mt. Brydges, the vote vas two to one for the new nethod. At a Monday meeting in Waterford, 1,000 growers told the card they will return to the old system by Jan. 10 if sales do not [illegible].

FISTICUFFS THREATENED

DIRECTORS STAY AWAY

Three board directors had been invited to attend, but none were there and no action was taken on the suggestion. Instead telegrams were sent to Agriculture Minister Goodfellow asking "that the tobacco be sold by the whole crop method."

The vote, by show of hands, was 396-6 in favor of the whole crop system at one meeting and 93-7 in favor at the other meeting.

Stirling

STIRLING — Approximately 70 people enjoyed a delightful New Year's eve party at the IOOF lodge hall, when the old year of 1957 was ushered out.

The C.P. and T. committee of the IOOF lodge and Rebekah lodge were in charge of the proceedings.

Through the courtesy of Jack McCaughen a television was set up where those who wished could view the various programs. Promptly at midnight the group ushered in the new year with horns, colored balloons and colorful paper hats and drank toasts of a flavorful fruit punch. The committee had a busy time passing out f[illegible] and later they served b[illegible]tiful refreshments which consisted of sandwiches, cheese, cookies, light and dark cakes, tarts, coffee and relishes.

The early part of the evening was spent in playing euchre when 15 tables were at play.

The awards were: ladies' high, Mrs. John Carlisle; low, Mrs. Doug Robson; men's high, Kenneth Belcour; low, Robert Hulin.

Guests were in attendance from Eldorado, Belleville, Trenton and all the nearby points.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Well, that one should satisfy some of the critics. The McFarlands' efforts last night against the full-strength Cornwall Chevies proved they have what it takes when they bring it to the surface and share it with their puck-chasing foemen.

While they dominated the play almost throughout the game, it looked in the first few minutes of play as though they had not regained their inside-the-blueline effectiveness. Then they caught fire and after Minnie Menard's brilliant goal-scoring effort were masters of all they surveyed.

Their defensive work was outstanding except for one slight lapse when the goal-hungry Chevies quickly took advantage and fired their lone goal of the evening. Joe Lepine had an enjoyable evening against his former mates and the big guy has never looked better in a Macs' uniform. Minnie Menard and Paul Payette, along with El Beppo were flying both ways all night. In fact the whole club came up with one of the best two-way performances they have staged this season.

They never looked better as opportunists for they scored two of their goals while a mate was looking on from the penalty box. Paul Payette's effort when he snitched the puck from a Chevie defender near his blueline to race in and score unassisted was a fine piece of work. Big Joe Lepine engineered the other goal, barging away from a Chevie power play to feed Muretich the puck, who in turn flipped it to the flying Ike who potted it from close in.

Meanwhile the Kingston CKLC's came up with a surprise win that must have stunned the Pembroke faithful. Dick Allen's crew waltzed into the Lumber Kings' lair, handed them a 3-0 shutout and waltzed right out again. It was goalie Lin Davis' first blank of the season. The victory kept the Kings three points in arrears of the McFarlands who at the moment are tied with the Ottawa Canadiens for second place with 30 points, three in front of the northern town crew.

Michael J. Rodden, erudite sports editor of the Kingston Whig Standard, east o' here, and one of the toughest, battlinest, stubbornest, fightenest, most efficient whistle-bell-and-sweater man ever to thumb a hockey sinner to the hoosegow, raises his hackles and fires a blazing broadside from his trusty typewriter at those who dare point a critical finger at his favorite sports homo sapiens, the hockey referee.

It seems that one, Stafford Smythe, son of Toronto's Little Caesar of the icelanes, who blasts everything and everybody who does not see eye-to-eye with him, verbally A-bombed the officials after, as El Miguel puts it, "Last Sunday afternoon's disgraceful scenes," in Maple Leaf Gardens, which resulted in nine Junior "A" gore-seeking gladiators being tabbed with ten-buck fines.

Writes Mr. Rodden: "In verbally blasting referees, Stafford Smythe has bitten the hands that feed him and his associates. Why officials tolerate such abuse from an inferior detractor is a mystery that defies lucid explanation. A Lou Marsh, Jerry LaFlamme, Bobby Hewitson, Cooper Smeaton or Mickey Ion would have rushed player disturbers out of competition and included talkative managers and coaches in the ouster." Michael should have included one M. J. Rodden in that select group.

Mr. Rodden suggests the OHA executive should give referees free rein to handle situations or conditions as they develop and should support them unwaveringly if the referees do not veer from their entrusted duty.

"In the unlikely event that such a system fails, the OHA could call on Stafford Smythe, Conn Smythe, Harold Ballard, Hap Emms, Turk Broda and other noted 'authorities' to officiate in some of those junior games on Sunday afternoons and thereby prove that the present incumbents are not worthy of their hire."

Mr. Rodden recalls the unfortunate experience of a re[illegible] Toronto scribe who forty years ago attempted to [illegible] a game between the Dentals and the St. Patricks [illegible] OHA series. In that brief outing, M. J. said, he [illegible] that the task is not as easy as it looks.

[illegible] unable to skate faster than a person can walk, [illegible] adventurer had to cling to the boards [illegible] he could see the fans more clearly [illegible] watch the onrushing players."

[illegible] the duel neared its end with the teams deadlocked [illegible] a Dental player fell and was hurt when trying to [illegible] an attacker and the referee ruled off the latter. In appreciation for the favor conferred, the official waved off the non-offending puck-carrier to the penalty bench and during his absence the Dentals scored two goals that gave them a 6-5 victory."

"Could Stafford Smythe improve on this performance?" asks Mr. Rodden. "A test should be made imperative."

Writers Vote On Election to Hall of Fame

NEW YORK (AP) — Voting is under way by 10-year members of the Baseball Writers Association to elect new members to baseball's Hall of Fame.

To be eligible a player must have played in the major leagues between 1928 and 1952 and must have been retired as a player for at least five years.

This makes eligible such current big league managers as Birdie Tebbetts of Cincinnati Redlegs and Al Lopez of Chicago White Sox and such former pilots as Leo Durocher, Jimmy Dykes, Charley Grimm, Lew Fonseca, Bucky Harris, Ben Chapman, Fred Fitzsimmons, Stan Hack and Billy Southworth.

Each writer votes for 10 players and any player whose name appears on 75 per cent of the ballots will be elected. The last time the writers voted they named Joe Cronin Boston Red Sox general manager and Hank Greenberg, former Cleevland general manager, although it is possible that no player will get the required number of votes.

The balloting ends on Jan. 24.

Abel, Pilous Sharpen Spurs For Wings, Chihawks Battles Against Canadiens, Toronto

By KENNEDY WELLS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Two new coaches, poles apart in temperament and experience but facing a common dilemma, take over National Hockey League clubs tonight.

The two are Sid Abel and Rudy Pilous and their common problem is getting their teams—Detroit Red Wings and Chicago Black Hawks—up from the bottom of the league and into the playoffs.

Abel, a 39-year-old veteran of 12 seasons as a great NHL centre and two as an NHL coach, takes over a Detroit team which has floundered this year after nearly a decade of supremacy. Pilous, 42, is making his first appearance in the big time, as player or coach, at the helm of a team which has known only last place for many years, but is trying to rebuild.

SCENE OF TRIUMPHS

For Abel the return to Detroit's Olympia Arena is a return to the scene of his greatest triumphs—as centre for Gordie Howe and Ted Lindsay on the Wings' great production line in the late '40s and early '50's.

Tonight's game against the Canadiens in Montreal will be the quiet-spoken Abel's first active participation in hockey since he resigned from the Black Hawks after two years as coach, which included their only appearance in the playoffs since the 1945-46 season.

Abel is Wings' fifth coach in 31 seasons but the Black Hawks are a coaching graveyard with a record of 20 different coaches in 31 seasons, the most in the NHL.

But Pilous isn't worried.

"Call it vanity if you will," he says. "but I've always wanted this chance. If I flop, I can always make a spectacular exit by jumping from the top of the Wrigley Building."

VARIED BACKGROUND

A heavy-set man with ready and often biting wit, Pilous can't match Abel in NHL experience, but is his master with a quip and for variety of hockey background.

Told he was too slow a skater for the NHL, he played in Canada, the United States and England and coached at Louisville, Ky., San Diego, Calif., and Houston, Tex., among other places.

In 1950 he returned to St. Catharines, where he had played and coached, to take over the Junior A Teepees, a Hawk farm club. No team he had ever coached ever missed a playoff and he kept his record clean with Teepees, taking them to the Memorial Cup championship in 1954.

DEVELOPED BIG LEAGUERS

Four players he developed—Pierre Pilote, Ivan Cushenan, Elmer Vasko and rookie Bobby Hull—are now with Hawks and others are scattered through the league.

He promised Chicago fans no miracles when he took the job, but those who know him say the task of getting Hawks into the playoffs can be no tougher than a challenge he took up during the depression.

Bet 50 cents he couldn't go from Winnipeg to Calgary and back on $2 within a week, he and a friend made it in five days—with 17 cents still in their pockets.

MONTREAL (CP) — Dunc Munro, 56, hockey and football star during Canada's colorful sports era of the 1920s, died here Friday night.

A native of Toronto, he was captain of Canada's 1924 Olympic championship hockey team and the first high-salaried professional hockey star as a member of Montreal's National Hockey League Maroons.

A 220-pound defenceman, he played with Maroons for eight seasons and spent a ninth with Montreal Canadiens before he retired to business life here in 1933.

Although best known as a hockey player, Munro first gained sports prominence as a hard-plunging halfback with Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four Football League in 1920.

He was with Argonauts for three years. But his efforts as a ball - carrier — although applauded—were overshadowed by Canadian sports immortal Lionel (The Big Train) Conacher, a teammate.

CAPTAINED CHAMPS

In 1923, he was captain of the Toronto Granites hockey team that won the Allan Cup and the following year led his club through a successful Olympic campaign.

Munro turned professional when Maroons were formed in 1924.

Signed at a time when pro hockey players were low-paid, he became one of the first big-salaried performers, drawing $11,000 in one four-year period with a percentage of program sales.

After his retirement, Munro was president of a now-defunct professional lacrosse league encompassing two Montreal clubs and teams from Toronto and Cornwall.

It was his last link with organized sports.

A bachelor, Munro had been ill for the last couple of years. Funeral services, to be announced later, are to be held in Toronto.

Barons Close In on Bears With 5-1 Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cleveland Barons have no intentions of letting Hershey Bears make a runaway of the American Hockey League race.

With Bears faltering now and then after a fast start, Barons have closed within seven points. They picked up two Friday night in downing Springfield Indians 5-1.

Meanwhile, Rochester Americans moved into a tie with the idle Buffalo Bisons for fourth place by defeating Providence Reds 5-1.

KUTS LOSES AGAIN

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP)—Olympic distance champion Vladimir Kuts of Russia was beaten for the second time in less than a week Friday when he placed third in the 5,000-metre run in a track meet here. Oswaldo Suarez of Argentina won the event in 14:23.3 and Manuel Faria was second in 14:24.3. Kuts was clocked in 14:45.

Rocket, Beliveau Hockey Futures Still Uncertain

MONTREAL (CP)—Bill Head, whose patients at the Montreal Forum clinic include two of the most valuable pieces of hockey chattel in the game, is optimistic over progress made by Montreal Canadiens' long - injured stars, Maurice (Rocket) Richard and Jean Beliveau.

Physiotherapist Head was still uncertain, however, when the two will return to National Hockey League play.

The 36-year-old Rocket suffered a severely cut Achilles tendon during a game in Toronto Nov. 13.

Beliveau was sidelined with a fractured rib cartilage during a game against New York Rangers in Montreal Dec. 12.

For some time Richard wore a cast covering his entire leg. Then it was shortened, foot to knee. It was discarded about 10 days ago.

MAKING RAPID RECOVERY

"Richard is doing fine and the limp is gone," said Head Friday. "A limp might be noticeable now if he tried to run. In view of the seriousness of the injury I think he has been making a rather rapid recovery.

"The test will come when he skates. We are leaving it to him as to when he starts. He may even try next Monday."

Head said Beliveau is coming along slowly but steadily. The big centre has already resumed skating.

"A cartilage rupture is worse than a rib fracture in that it doesn't heal as readily," said Head. "It is not as easy to handle and is more easily disturbed.

"Beliveau hasn't been able to dig in yet since he started skating. I doubt if he will be able to play for two or three weeks."

Kingston Blanks Kings 3-0 Dutchmen Take Over Top

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen, trailing league-leading Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds since mid-season, have nosed into top place in the OHA-NOHA Senior A standings.

Dutchmen vaulted over Greyhounds Friday night with a 7-4 victory over Chatham Maroons. The win gives them a one-point lead over the Sault squad.

At the other end of the table, cellar-hugging Sudbury Wolves chalked up their third win in four starts under new coach John (Peanuts) O'Flaherty. Third-place Windsor Bulldogs were the victims—3-1.

IN SECOND-PLACE TIE

In the OHA Senior A eastern division, Belleville McFarlands moved into a tie for second place with Ottawa-Hull Canadiens, defeating Cornwall Chevies 5-1, while Kingston CKLCs shut out Pembroke Lumber Kings 3-0.

A five-goal second-period took Kitchener to victory.

Ron Howell paced Dutchmen, scoring twice. Other goals came from Ken Laufman, Billy Graham, Ralph Hosking, Don Rope and Gerry Theberge. Chatham marksmen were Ross Graham, Fred Pletsch, Ted Power and Jim Connelly.

Third-period goals by Joe Zorica, and Jim Logan gave Sudbury victory after Bulldogs had taken a 1-0 lead in the first period and Frank Bathgate's goal. Gord Heale tied the score in the second.

Goaltender Lynn Davis of Kingston was in sparkling form turning back 43 shots while his teammates fired only 23 at Lumber Kings' goal.

At Belleville, the hometowners led all the way. McFarlands' scoring was shared by Wiener Brown, Johnny Muretich, Paul Payette, Minnie Menard and playing coach Ike Hildebrand. Guy Henri scored for Chevies.

Quebec Hockey

MONTREAL (CP)—Bob Duncan, defenceman with the Quebec Hockey League Montreal Royals, has been suspended for "indifferent play," coach Roger Leger announced Friday night.

Leger also announced left winger Ernest Dupuis from Fort William Canadiens of the Thunder Bay Hockey League will remain with the club for at least one more game. Dupuis has played well in two games with Royals.

HORSE FLIES TO U.S.

SHANNON, Ireland (AP)—Golden Emblem, an unraced filly bought by Mrs. M. E. Person-Lunn of Upperville, Va., for $100,000, flew from Shannon airport Friday en route to her new home. The bay two-year-old was described here as the most valuable unraced filly to be sent from Ireland to the United States.

McFarlands Back In Second After Decisive 5-1 Win Over Cornwall

Flash Fine Two-Way Effort In Return to Winning Form; Clinch Victory in 3rd Period

By GEORGE H. CARVER
Sports Editor

Flashing their old form in a brilliant display of two-way hockey, the McFarlands drew on second-place even terms with the Ottawa - Hull Canadiens here last night, decisively defeating the Cornwall Chevies 5-1 before a crowd of nearly 1,700 fans.

The Macs with 30 points hold a three-point lead over the Pembroke Lumber Kings, who fell before an inspired Kingston CKLC crew 3-0 in their first shutout on home ice.

Ike Hildebrand's crew was full value for their victory, leading 1-0 at the end of the first period, splitting two goals in the second frame and slamming home three unanswered markers in a hard-driving final chapter.

Defensively the McFarlands stood out. Three times with a man advantage the Chevies never fired a shot at Gordie Bell's citadel. On the other hand, Hildebrand's penalty-killers scored goals on two occasions while a mate was in the penalty box.

PAUL PAYETTE
Slipped A Quickie

The Menard - Payette-Guidolin line sparked the winners' offensive with Minnie and Paul each scoring and getting an assist and El Beppo being credited with a helper. Wiener Brown, Ike Hildebrand and Johnny Muretich, who played one of his best games of the season, also scored with Johnny having an assist.

While the entire McFarland defence stood out Joe Lepine came up with his best effort since donning a McFarland uniform. The big guy was a tower of strength and engineered the paydirt foray that was climaxed with Hildebrand's goal.

Referee Gordon Fevereau of Toronto handed out eleven penalties with the McFarlands collecting eight of them. Outstanding penalty-killing efforts thwarted any successful Cornwall attacks and the lone Cornwall goal was scored with both teams at full strength. Guy Henri was the marksman picking up a loose puck outside the Belleville crease and robbing Gordie Bell of a shutout.

JOHNNY MURETICH
Looks Like Oldtimes

The McFarlands bouncing back from a more or less lethargic period when they lost four of their last five starts, held the upper hand throughout the entire game, outshooting the Chevies in every period with an overall total of 32-21.

The victory was all the more impressive since the Chevies were at full strength for the first time in weeks with injured playing coach Bob Bingley and George Aitken back in harness. They flashed several good plays and on a few occasions missed from close in, but generally the close-knit Belleville defence spoiled their efforts.

Close-checking featured the first five minutes of the game and the Chevies had the advantage when Marineau drew the first penalty of the game. Bell never stopped a shot during his sentence and on his return Guidolin and Paul Payette missed from close in.

Nor did they bounce any pucks off Bell when Crawford got the gate at 14.34.

Minnie Menard broke the scoring egg at 18.51 with a brilliant goal. Payette dashed down the right centre and tobied a perfect pass to the stick of Menard. Minnie caught it in full stride and his blazing shot found the opposite corner behind Frederick in the Chevy cage.

Guidolin bounced a drive off Frederick's pads from close in when in the clear early in the second period. The Chevies bounded back and Pete Payette broke into the open but was taken out neatly by Crawford before he could get his shot away. The Macs drove back and Frederick kicked out Muretich's hard shot only to have Wiener Brown blast in the rebound with a neat backhand drive from outside the doorstep to give the Macs a two-goal lead at 9.57.

Marineau and Muir got the heave-ho and four minutes later Brown was chased with no damage done. Three minutes later on a Chevy power drive Guy Henri scored, picking up a loose puck that Botley overskated.

MINNIE MENARD
Started the Ball

Moe Benoit was chased after 1.07 of the third period and the Chevies powered their play. Joe Lepine slipped away from a scramble, passed the puck to Floyd Crawford on the wing, who in turn flipped it across the ice to flying Ike Hildebrand and the coach blasted home the first insurance marker.

Kowalchuk and McPhee got the gate for tussling with no harm done and Ray Labelle's penalty proved costly midway through the period. Minnie Menard ripped down the centre and slipped flanking Johnny Muretich a perfect pass. Johnny blasted a high centre shot that caused Frederick to duck. The puck hit the underside of the top cross bar and ripped downward into the net.

Three minutes later the McFarlands scored their second goal with a man short. Benoit was in durance vile when Paul Payette neatly stole the puck from a Chevy defenceman, raced in alone and beat Frederick cleanly for the Mac's final goal.

The Chevies battled desperately to whittle down the margin but the Macs' defence and Gordie Bell, with neat back-checking efforts by the front lines held them off the score sheet.

MAY BOX IN BRITAIN

LONDON (AP)—Boxing promoter Harry Levene said Friday "there is a strong possibility" world heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson will come to Britain this month to appear in an exhibition bout. "I spoke early today by phone to Patterson's manager, Cus d'Amato," Levene said. "He asked me to book three steamship reservations for Patterson, a sparring partner and himself. I will know definitely in two or three days if they are coming."

Majors Expected to Approve Large Cities' Eligibility

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball's major leagues, at their joint session three weeks from today, are expected to approve a recommendation to make any city with a 2,000,000 population eligible to have two major league clubs.

This recommendation, along with a number of provisions, was included in a report to baseball commissioner Ford Frick by his specially appointed four - man committee. The committee, consisting of two officials from each major league, was appointed last month to explore the territorial rights situation.

The recommendations could possibly make two-team cities out of Los Angeles, Philadelphia, Detroit and New York, along with Chicago, and would condemn New York's Polo Grounds park. They will be voted on at the next scheduled joint meeting here Jan. 25. The five cities are the only ones with 2,000,000 or more population.

HAS DECIDING VOTE

The vote will be by leagues, not by clubs. In case of a deadlock, the commissioner will be empwered to cast the deciding vote. Frick indicated how he will vote when he said he was "very much in favor" of the committee's recommendations.

It is a foregone conclusion how the National League will vote. The National, at a meeting last month, sought to make available for future moves all the territory in New York but was opposed by the American loop. Frick prevailed upon the two leagues then to table a final vote until the Jan. 25 meeting.

At Friday's hour session in Frick's office, the committee recommended:

1. Any community which has a population of 2,000,000 or more within the city limits will be eligible for a second major league club.

2. Any major league club desiring to transfer to an area which has reached this population standard must obtain the consent of its league.

3. In obtaining this consent, the league must first determine that the club desiring to transfer shall have a park with a seating capacity and other standards acceptable to the league.

4. Such a park shall not be less than five miles from the park of the existing club. This, however, shall not prohibit clubs occupying a single park if circumstances warrant joint use.

TWO WOULD BE LIMIT

The committee also recommended that the rule be amended to limit any city to two major league clubs.

Under those conditions, the American League, if it is desired, could move into Los Angeles and Philadelphia, while the National could move into New York and Detroit. Under those provisions, the National could have only one club, either in Brooklyn, Queens or any one of New York's five boroughs. The Polo Grounds, only about a mile away from Yankee Stadium, would be out of bounds.

If the committee's recommendations are accepted, it will mean the death of the present rule of franchise shifts. Under the existing rule one club can prevent either league from bringing a new team into one of its cities.

Guelph Shades Teepees 2-1; Ottawa Wins 11-2

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A coach and a goaltender made their debuts in the Ontario Hockey Association's Junior A series Friday night and both must wish they'd stayed at home.

Glen Sonmor took over the reins of St. Catharines Teepees from Rudy Pilous, who moved up to the National Hockey League, and saw his first-place team lose 2-1 to last-place Guelph Biltmores.

Young Aurie Jelly, whose only previous experience was in Junior C hockey, stepped into Barrie Flyers' nets at the behest of coach Hap Emms and was swamped 10-6 by Toronto St. Michael's.

In Ottawa, Carl Wetzel, picked as the league's all-star goalie by opposing coaches, faced 51 shots as his teammates on Hamilton Cubs wilted before the Canadiens and went down 11-2.

LATE GOAL WINS

At Guelph, Biltmores, last season's champions, got their win with a goal from Ron Brain with four minutes left in the game. Leon Rochford had given them a 1-0 first period lead which was erased by John McKenzie's goal for Teepees in the second.

Apparently picked over regulars Norm Jacques and Ross Brooks in an effort to shake up the fifth-place Flyers, Jelly faced 39 shots and allowed five goals in the third period.

St. Michael's, in fourth place, got four big goals from Hank Marczak, recently acquired from Toronto Marlboros, two from Jackie Costello and one each from Dave Keon, Gino Ubriaco, Dick Mattiusi and Tim Hook.

Billy Forhan had three goals for Flyers; Bernie Cote picked up two and Danny Patrick scored the sixth.

DEFENCE WEAK

Cubs could have made good use of Howie Young, the starry but controversial rearguard who left the team Thursday. Canadiens scored in on Wetzel at will, especially during a seven-goal second period.

At the other end of the ice rookie goalie Eric Reid had a fairly leisurely first two periods but had 15 shots in the third from the aroused Cubs. He stopped all but two, from Don Blackburn and Brian Smith.

Four Canadiens—Bob Boucher, Bob Rousseau and brothers Jean-Claude and Gilles Tremblay—scored two goals each and John Annable accounted for the three others.

A black note in Canadiens' triumph was the loss of defenceman Andre Tardif who suffered a broken left arm in the second period and will be out for at least a month. Ottawa lost defenceman Claude Ruel earlier in the season.

Rosi Awarded Split Verdict Over Busso

NEW YORK (AP) — By the margin of one point on the scorecard of referee Teddy Martin, Paolo Rosi today owns a split 10-round decision over Johnny Busso in a battle of lightweight contenders.

Although New York fights are scored by rounds, officials may resort to a four-point system in case the rounds come out even. The winner of a round gets from one to four points and the loser none.

Martin gave Rosi two points for his third-round effort against Busso Friday night at Madison Square Garden and voted it even in rounds, 5-5. Each round winner received only one point with the exception of Rosi in the third when he shook up his heavier opponent.

Judge Joe Agnello voted for Rosi 6-4 by rounds and judge Jack Gordon saw Busso a 5-4-1 winner.

Rosi, fifth-ranked lightweight, complained about the weight after the fight. He gave away 5 pounds to Busso who weighed 141 to Rosi's 135½. Rosi's handlers claimed they had a private agreement at 138 pounds although the official contracts called for 140, give or take a pound.

"When I'm supposed to fight a lightweight, I want to fight a lightweight, not a 140-pounder." complained Rosi, a 29-year-old Italian who now lives here.

Busso, a 23-year - old New Yorker, thought he won. "I was beating him to the punch and he was missing," said the loser.

The fight was postponed four times due to various aching bones, muscles and cuts since its original date in March. Rosi finally went off a 2-to-1 favorite.

Pencil Slip Costs Golfer 34 Strokes

LOS ANGELES (AP)—It was real easy, that 40 for one hole attributed to amateur golfer Frank Hardison of La Canada, Calif., in the Los Angeles Open Friday.

It was done with merely a slip of a pencil.

What happened was that Hardison's lady scorer wrote "40" for his score on the 18th hole and it should have been 40 for the last nine holes.

But Hardison, without looking, signed the card. And once a card is signed, it cannot be changed.

So the score went on the big board, and into the records, as: 45-74-119.

Actually, the score was 45-40-85.

Baseball Leafs Have Tough Exhibition Sked

TORONTO (CP)—The pennant-winning Toronto Maple Leafs will preface their 1958 International Baseball League season—starting April 16 at Columbus, O.—with 21 exhibition games in Florida, and they'll only have 24 days to play them in.

For the exhibition schedule, the club says it will base itself at Fort Pierce, Fla., playing its home games at nearby Jaycee Field. All games will be played against Triple A and major league farm teams, with 11 at home and 10 away.

Leafs' first game will be played against Spokane at Vero Beach March 22, marking the first time a Toronto baseball team has met a Pacific Coast League club in training. They will wind up the exhibition series in a game against St. Paul Saints of the American Association at Fort Pierce, April 14.

Two days later they fly to Columbus, to commence the regular schedule against the Jets.

Reporting day for the batteries is March 10, says manager Dixie Walker. The rest of the team reports five days later.

Should Your Son Have a Gun?

In the Bill of Rights, I believe, is the provision that every United States citizen shall have the right to bear arms. Regardless of that, there are a lot of youngsters in this country who each year are being denied the rights of citizenship, kids who are plenty old enough to be out in the country enjoying the sport of hunting.

Every family, probably, which has in it a teen-age boy who is active and healthy is faced with the problem — "should he have a gun?" There is a great deal of divided opinion on the subject. Much of this opinion has been formed on incomplete knowledge of the matter in hand.

Quite naturally this department is quite prejudiced on the question of youngsters and guns. My boy, Dick, was given a 22 rifle on his ninth birthday by his uncle. Of course his mother raised sand about that gun, laying down all sorts of typical female rules.

Dick looked at me and I gave him a broad wink, whereupon he stood up under his mother's admonitions without saying a word, an almost unheard of performance for him. Then when the storm had blown itself out, Dick and I retired to talk things over in earnest.

[illegible] was twelve, he and [illegible] should be "heirs," I [illegible] an old .410 double [illegible] stock, suitable for a [illegible] blessed day, we moved [illegible] on top of Orange [illegible] outside the city limits [illegible] New Jersey. There [illegible] of open country there- [illegible] Dick and I set about [illegible] safe gun handling in [illegible] st.

[illegible] PENALTIES

The first lessons were at the skeet range and the boy learned his gun manners in proper surroundings. Then came the first hunting trips. Under the constant watchful eye of his father he learned safe gun handling in the [illegible]. The penalties were heavy—one mistake and Dick spent the balance of the day carrying an empty gun. As you can well imagine, there were few mistakes.

When Dick was sixteen, there was one thing and one thing only that he wanted for his birthday — a trip to a game farm. He had that trip with the guarantee that his father would pay for all the birds he could kill. A friend who had three good bird dogs went along and we found birds, plenty of birds. Dick killed two and came home the proudest boy in town. That was a day to remember.

Today Dick is the outdoor editor of the newspaper, Newsday. He is an excellent shot with rifle or shotgun. (One day last fall I watched him run 46 straight on ringneck while serving as a "gun" at a field trial.) And his son, John Alden III, now turned six, is following along in his footsteps.

Admittedly, non-shooting parents tend to regard guns and youngsters in much the same light as most folks regard alcohol and gasoline — ingredients which should not be mixed. That, I think, is rather unfair. youngster need not "be turned loose with a gun," as some of them put it. Nowadays there are plenty of willing and competent instructors who will teach safe gun handling to any boy. Inquire at your local sporting goods store.

Offsetting natural fears on the part of the parents are the advantages. These are many-fold. Hunters, seasoned hunters, are good folks as a class. You can do your boy a favor by putting him in a position to meet and know such men. One of the most advantageous business deals ever to come my way originated in a pheasant camp in South Dakota.

LEARNS QUICKLY

A boy with a gun in his hand learns more about the outdoors in one week than the average non-hunter will learn in a lifetime. Hunting, pitting his own knowledge and skill against the cunning of the creatures of the wild, gives him a sense of self-sufficiency and keen, critical judgment, timed in split seconds, that is hard to come by any other way.

In World War I, a friend of mine was a private in an infantry company. This man is a woodsman, one of the best, and an excellent shot. His company, 250 strong, fought through seven major battles. They marched out thirty-seven strong, under the direction of the one remaining sergeant. My friend wasn't even scratched.

In World War II a youngster who spent much of his teen-age days shooting woodcock, grouse and deer with Dick and me, found himself in a demolition squad on the beaches during the invasions of the South Pacific Islands. Those fellows, as you know, were open season for snipers. A piece of shrapnel from a mortar shell caught him in the shoulder but at the close of the war he was the only man alive from the entire squad.

So when you consider the pros and cons of giving your boy that much-desired gun think on these things. Even though you are not a hunter, there are many excellent reasons why that boy should have a gun if he wants one.

HABITANT ROLE

Doris Lussier, a 38-year-old Montrealer, is made up as the greying Uncle Gedeon in the CBC television serial "The Plouffe Family." Lussier, who once taught economics at Laval University in Quebec City, is one of the busiest actors in Montreal. He plays the part of the fun-loving French-Canadian on television, takes part in a television panel program, does a disk-jockey stint on a Montreal radio station and is writing a play. "The Plouffe Family" is telecast in English and French. (CP Photo).

Portrayal of Uncle Gedeon Profitable for Doris Lussier

By CHRISTINE STEWART
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP) — Portrayal of a rollicking, fun-loving French-Canadian habitant has developed into a profitable career for Doris Lussier, university professor turned actor.

Twice a week—once in French and once in English—he appears as uncle Gedeon in the television serial The Plouffe Family and as such is known to thousands as a carefree farmer from Quebec's Beauce County.

One of uncle Gedeon's main interests in life is women. He once went on a diet of vitamin pills when he feared he was losing his interest in women. He recommended a similar diet for a politician who in the House of Commons criticized his portrayal of Beauce County farmers.

Mr. Lussier, a 38-year-old Montrealer, created the uncle Gedeon role for a few friends while teaching the philosophy of economics at Quebec City's Laval University.

"I had no idea of turning the character creation into a profession until Roger Lemelin, who writes The Plouffe Family, invited me to join the cast," said Mr. Lussier in an interview.

"For a while I was teaching at the university and doing the television role, but I couldn't keep up both. I love acting, so uncle Gedeon won out."

Mr. Lussier is one of the busiest actors in Montreal. He rehearses six to eight hours a day for The Plouffe Family is master of ceremonies on a weekly French-language TV panel show, Le Point d'Interrogation, does a disk jockey program on a Montreal radio station, and is busy writing a play.

That's not all.

Nightly, uncle Gedeon ambles between the crowded tables to the stage of a Montreal night club, the Cafe St. Jacques, where he tells spicy stories of life at home in Quebec's Eastern Townships. Hired for two weeks, he has been held over by the management for more than four months.

The TV character's love of wine, women and song led to remarks in the Commons by Dr. Raoul Poulin, independent member for Beauce, who said the role of uncle Gedeon was a "disgusting type of propaganda." The MP said "his flightiness and vulgar manners" were not portraying faithfully "the way of life in the wonderful homes and worthy population of the constituency of Beauce."

Referring to an episode in which uncle Gedeon, armed with vitamin pills, went south and eyed the pretty girls, Dr. Poulin said "there are some people, no doubt, who go to Florida during the winter, but it is no lustful junket requiring personal priming up with pep pills."

Mr. Lussier replied he was pained to see what was happening to Dr. Poulin. "It seems the poor doctor no longer likes to look at beautiful women . . . uncle Gedeon advises the doctor to take three vitamin pills a day after each meal. If there are no beneficial results within a month then a little trip to Florida will put him on his feet."

Doris Lussier's own love of life evolved from a childhood of considerable hardship. When he was three his father died. To pay for his education at Le Seminaire de Quebec he worked two years as a lumberjack in the woods near his Eastern Townships home of Lambton, Que.

"There I got an intimate knowledge of the backwoods French farmer," he says. "Out of that knowledge uncle Gedeon emerged."

He is asked whether he has any regrets about leaving teaching to become an actor.

"Definitely not," he replies. "I loved teaching very much because I loved ideas. And I loved my students. But human destiny has chosen for me a new career which so far has nothing but pleasant surprises.

"I consider it a gift of life to be given the opportunity to explore successively such different yet such thrilling fields as knowledge and art."

TV NOTEBOOK

by John Wettlaufer

[illegible] noticed a while back where the producer of "White Hunter", an adventure series filmed in Kenya, opined that "Africans" might well replace westerns as a prime staple on TV.

The fact that western epics have gained an inordinately strong toehold in public favor is generally attributed to appeal of action — and lots of it, wrapped up in a story line which doesn't overtax the thought processes of viewers from five to ninety-five.

Admittedly, an African locale should afford any desired amount of action, and the woods are apparently full of writers who can ham up story after story as easy to follow as a two-line obituary, but, still and all, we doubt that any proposed action or adventure series will manage to hogtie the appeal of the rough ridin' "he went thataway" program.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

Saturday, January 4, 1958

Aries (March 21 to April 19)—Earliest morning hours are best for conferences with friends who cannot be reached during work week, since judgment is very sound. Also good for shopping, getting in supplies. P.M. follow fine intuition to make pals happy.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20)—All sorts of constructive, artistic thoughts are yours in A. M. how to do work better and make your possessions more attractive, increase their value. Get help of partners. P.M. a thoughtful associate brings happiness.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) Fine day to make yourself as beautiful and attractive as possible, and then be with those whom you admire, have a fine time. P.M. give thought to how you can be more prosperous than in the past, hit on a fine idea.

Cancer (June 22 to July 21) A specially fine day to investigate and study solution to that problem that has vexed you for some time, and give yourself the feeling of getting ahead. Also, see how you can be more useful, and in P.M. enjoy yourself and be cheerful.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) — It is possible to get off to some mutually enjoyable spot or activity with a close pal in A.M. Good for getting data which has eluded you for some time. P.M. stay at home and relax, or give a dinner party. Be jolly.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)—Plunge into all those tasks of a civic or artistic nature that are impossible to you during busy work week. In P.M. a really satisfying evening is possible by getting together with congenial friends, ties.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — This is the day to take a little trip, go exploring for facts, data, knowledge that combines business with pleasure. Enjoy yourself! P.M. is fine for seeing the other person's side of things, gain respect, approval.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—A chance is yours today to quietly ferret out those things that have puzzled you for some time. Work steadily at finding better ways of increasing your progress, being truly successful. P.M. let sociability reign. Amuse all.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Devoted comrades today will extend the backing you require and have been wishing for, plus some really smart suggestions for increasing prosperity. P.M. start ball working quickly, secretly.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Get all those little tasks behind you today and even enjoy doing them. Don't fail to show others that you truly like cooperating with them and the results will be fine, benefits to you increased a hundredfold.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) The day is yours for doing those things that most please, attract you. Have a marvelous time at them. Get into your finest clothes and saunter about town, the picture of elegance and sartorial splendor. Be wonderfully happy.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) A.M. is fine for giving attention to those important things that have to be done at home which brings happiness and satisfaction in their wake. P.M. get together with the person you most like and have a delightful time.

If your child is born today—The clever little child born today is the type who it would appear intuitively knows all the answers to problems, emergencies. The reason is that in reality the mind works at such a rapid rate of speed that the solution is reached faster by logical reasoning.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) There is an opportunity to cement better relations with an associate who is very opinionated but is necessary for your well-being in A.M. In P.M. wisdom should take you visiting and leaving dull tasks behind.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) A.M. you get fine ideas from those wise advisors who live according to their teachings as to best way to progress by leaps and bounds. Tonight, be clever and have fun at inexpensive recreations, sports.

Cancer (June 22 to July 21) Friendliness is the keynote today. Also give others an idea of your highest aims and ambitions. They will understand, approve and aid you quickly. P. M. there may be friction at home if you are not wise, silent.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) Commune with Inner You today, do some quiet reflecting, private ferreting out of things that puzzle, for best results in taking care of what most concerns you. P. M. be careful on the road, control your temper.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Be a little bit selfish and less critical today in getting what you want and enjoying yourself. In this way, you increase own happiness and do not disturb good setup. Tonight do not be extravagant.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Many situations come into the open today, and this is good, for it gives you a chance to straighten them out, know where you stand. Be intelligent and calm. P.M. it is important to follow all regulations well.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) A wonderful day to listen carefully to the worthwhile, inspired talk of famous prelate, rabbi, minister, evangelist of your choice. Absorb and put philosophy to work in own life. P.M. dwell on highest precepts.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) A.M. hunches are fine for methods to use in gaining more of life's best gifts in several directions. See that you are most ethical in everything, and things work magically for you. P.M. sidestep quarrel between partners.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) This is the day to cement relations better with associates and competitors. Lend a good ear to their ideas, understand, and be as fair as a judge. Get true picture. Tonight, avoid arguments with anyone.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) The importance of co-operation and understanding with fellow workers will be the highlight of this day's talk at services of your choice. Put ideas to work in own life. P.M. forget own monotonous duties and see how others live.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) An ideal day for being in the company of little children, great friends, wonderful scholars — all those who best and most attract you. Have a glorious day. P.M. be careful not to make promises above your ability to perform.

If your child is born today . . . The child born today is the highly sensitive type whose life will be filled with activity, but it is your duty to teach adroitness and quick observance to fine chances that come his or her way for the great success possible in this chart. And teach, also, that not all desires can be or should be fulfilled, or the nature may become selfish, deaf to the needs of others or to their rights.

First Seed Catalogue Makes One Think of Next Spring

By DAL WARRINGTON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Gardening is more fun right now than at any other season. The more snow on the ground the better the gardening.

This when the seed companies start mailing their beautiful 1958 catalogues.

No matter how long you've been gardening, the first catalogue, crammed with pictures of giant hybrid petunias and mouthwatering extra early tomatoes, is the first sign of spring. It's almost as good as Christmas.

ROSY PLANS

The gardener's enthusiasm rises. He pores over the pages of pictures and plans the biggest and best garden ever.

Backaches, mosquito bites blisters, sunburn, dull hoes, weeds, floods, drought, cutworms, blight, manure and stones are farthest from his mind.

As one of Canada's largest seed houses says of its 1958 edition, "this book tells you all about the loveliest and finest things to make your 1958 garden the most pleasureful ever.

"The best and newest in flowers, vegetables, fruits, strawberry plants, roses houseplants, bulbs, nursery stock. Marvellous new chemical garden aids. Many other accomplishments of the scientist's skill and plant breeder's art . . ."

And in most of Canada this sort of thing will go on for another three months or so before melting snow and thawing soil brings the gardener face to face with reality.

Of course, even in January, there are a few well-intentioned kill-joys who voice words of caution. College and government agricultural experts, for instance.

POINTED REMINDER

The Nova Scotia agriculture department says pointedly, "a pretty girl on a seed catalogue cover may make seed selection more interesting, but actually such seeds will not necessarily grow any better than those purchased from a local dealer who handles a good line of fresh seeds.

"In the same way there is not always a real close connection between the colored picture of carrots, let us say, and the product of your garden . . .

"Reality is always a few laps behind the rosy pictures,"

And a horticultural expert says, "if you are able to devote only a limited amount of spare time you may find that a plot 20 by 20 feet or even less is as much as you can take care of."

But this gloomy advice is tempered. C. M. Collins, the Nova Scotia government's garden adviser, admits "the spirit of adventure should not be entirely curbed and the matter of seed selection made too prosaic . . . . Leave sufficient opportunity to produce the unexpected to satisfy the gambling urge present in all gardeners."

Two Boys, Sister Held For Setting 10 Ottawa Fires

Firemen Are Kept Hopping By Blazes, Two in Churches

OTTAWA (CP)—Two brothers and their sister—all juveniles—today were charged by police with setting 10 fires in east-central Ottawa during a 20-hour period Sunday and a school fire Dec. 22.

The children, ranging in age between nine and 12, were arrested today following an intensive police and fire department investigation of the series of fires.

The three will appear in juvenile court later this week, police said.

They were picked up early today for questioning and charges were laid against them at noon.

BURNED SCHOOLBOOKS

Police began a search for school-age children when partly-burned schoolbooks and paper were found under the verandah of an apartment house where fire was discovered Sunday.

They later discovered that the burned shell of St. Joseph's Separate School, where a $160,000 fire broke out Dec. 22, had been entered and a few remaining schoolbooks and some paper removed. As a result of this discovery, police searched every school in the east-central section of this city as a precaution against another attempt to burn a schoolhouse.

Police said the juveniles at first denied all knowledge of the fires but after intensive questioning police obtained information on which to base charges.

REMAIN IN CUSTODY

The three will be held in custoday until their court appearance.

Heaviest damage was suffered at Sacred Heart Roman Catholic Church on Laurier Avenue East at Cumberland Street. Two fires were found 40 feet apart near entrances to the church basement. Damage was estimated at $10,000.

The last of the series of blazes was at the Basilica, seat of the Roman Catholic Church in Ottawa. Prayer pamphlets were found burning in a balcony but the fire was extinguished by a caretaker before it could spread.

WITHIN EIGHT BLOCKS

All the fires were within an area eight blocks long—the distance between Sacred Heart Church and the Basilica, on Sussex Drive at St. Patrick Street—and six blocks wide.

All the remaining fires were minor, most of them set in rubbish heaps or under verandahs.

The fires in order of occurrence were: In a locker room trash bin at Union Station at 12:09 a.m. and in the station's ladies' rest room at 12:11; in rubbish under stairs at the rear of a home on Nelson Street, 2:35 p.m.; in rubbish under a verandah of a 16-unit Friel Street apartment building, 2:30; Sacred Heart Church, 5:18; in rubbish piled against a shed at the rear of a Besserer Street drug store, 6:05; in piles of rubble behind a meat market and a neighboring tinsmith shop on Clarence Street, 7:14; in a rubbish pile behind a King Edward Avenue warehouse, 8:16; at the Basilica, 8:45.

Believed Gas Sparked Blast In Montreal

MONTREAL (CP) — Seeping domestic gas is believed to have sparked an explosion that demolished a two-storey building in the north-end Saturday, sending 14 persons—including seven children to hospital.

All were reported in "good condition."

At least five firemen and several rescue workers were treated on the scene for minor injuries such as cuts and bruises suffered while probing the debris.

The blast trapped 11 persons in the shattered-brick and wood-splintered rubble of the structure at the intersection of Henri Julien Avenue and Faillon St. Flying debris injured three others.

Firemen and rescue workers fought through a tangled mass of wires and beams to reach many of the stunned victims. The temperature hovered at five degrees above zero.

The building contained a restaurant and dwelling on the ground floor and two flats on the second floor.

The explosion, shortly after 5 p.m. EST. levelled both floors and ripped a wall from an adjoining structure, damaging two other flats. Several windows in other buildings in the area were shattered.

SAVED MANY

Police said the explosion fortunately was not followed by fire, "undoubtedly saving many of the injured from death."

Traffic in the area halted and a huge crowd gathered while the injured were pulled from the natural gas corporation emergency crews searched under the street for the source of the leakage.

British Party Makes Good Time In Polar Trek

WELLINGTON, N.Z. (Reuters) British explorer Vivian Fuchs was estimated to be 310 miles from the South Pole today as his team made up ground lost to bad weather.

A radio message from the leader of the Commonwealth Antarctic expedition said his party had covered 38 miles Sunday.

Sir Edmund Hillary, who reached the American air base at the pole last week, was flown out by American planes today to Scott Base.

Fuchs message said his vehicles now have caught up with his dog teams. It was doubtful whether the dogs would be able to keep up with the motor vehicles.

In a message Saturday Fuchs said "we now hope to arrive at the pole in 15 days if surface conditions permit."

Hillary previously had reported that Fuchs was brought to a temporary halt 357 miles from the pole by mechanical trouble and a "whiteout that whitens the sky and makes it merge with the snowy landscape to eliminate the horizon and make travel difficult.

Hillary and three of his companions found a pile of parcels and telegrams waiting for them when they arrived back at Scott Base after a half-day flight over the route it had taken them 11 weeks to cross. They were still in their stained and somewhat tattered polar clothing, and sported beards.

TORONTO (CP) Synopsis: A new cold wave will bring snowflurries and sharp temperature drops to Northern Ontario today and Southern Ontario tonight. SHAKEUP NEEDED IN U.S. MILITARY SETUP--PANEL

Rockefeller-Financed Study Group Reports

WASHINGTON (AP) — A civilian study group says American strategy and military forces are out of step with the tempo of the missile age, and need big changes and billions more in money

United States defence spending should be increased about $3,000,000,000 each year for the next several years, says a special 21-man panel of the Rockefeller brothers fund.

Summing up findings in a study which began in 1956, the panel concludes among other things that:

1. Strategy "lags behind developments in technology" and the U.S. "is rapidly losing its lead in the race of military technology." The lag in missiles and space machines "reflects our national complacency."

2. Strategy, as evolved by the joint chiefs of staff, is "a patchwork of compromise" among the rival armed forces. The joint chiefs of staff "functions too often as a committee of partisan adversaries engaged in advancing service strategic plans and compromising service differences."

NEEDS TO BE SHAPED

The panel says the JCS chairman "should be in a position to shape strategic planning," with the other members merely advising him, and adds that the secretary of defence now is compelled to devote much of his time to acting as a referee in service disputes.

3. Combined commands should be created in which land, sea and air units would come under a single commander with the composition of the combined force patterned to the mission it would perform.

No longer would the chiefs of staff of the services direct military operations of their services. The departments of the army, navy and air force would become agencies for recruiting and training men and procuring and distributing equipment and supplies.

SUGGESTION STARTLES

Even more startling to the observers of military tradition is the group's proposal that all officers above brigadier rank cease to be identified with an individual service, becoming officers "of the armed forces of the United States."

This non-governmental assessment of what's wrong with defence, issued Sunday night in a 15,000-word report, became available to the public while the White House kept secret the report of its own presidentially picked committee.

The panel headed by Nelson A. Rockefeller included scientists, former diplomats, former defence officials and military officers, industrialists, atomic experts, educationists, publishers and a labor union representative.

The Rockefeller study group says that perhaps the most difficult thing for the American people to accept is 'the reality of our peril."

IRAQ FLOODS

BAGHDAD (AP) — Continuing thunderstorms were forecast throughout Iraq today following torrential weekend rains which left 4,000 people homeless in the northeast. Ten persons were believed buried under the ruins of their houses.

HITCH-HIKING A RIDE WITH A HELICOPTER

A U.S. marine corps helicopter is seen air-lifting an observation plane from the deck of the aircraft carrier USS Lake Champlain during recent exercises. The copter ferried the plane to shore. In addition to airlifting supplies and equipment, 'copter squadrons have been organized to carry assault troops from navy ships to shore and land them behind enemy lines.

U.S. Army Chief of Research Quits, Hits 'Pentagon System'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A spectacular one-man revolt by Lt.-Gen. James M. Gavin has spurred demands for a shakeup in the United States military high command.

Gavin, chief of the army's research and development program, told a reporter he is sticking by his announced intention to retire from the army March 31. By that time he will be 51 years old and will have completed 30 years of service.

"I won't compromise my principles and I won't go along with the Pentagon system," Gavin said.

Some members of Congress expressed concern at Gavin's move, and a Senate subcommittee plans to explore the matter promptly.

Senator Estes Kefauver (Dem. Tenn.) said Gavin's stand emphasizes a need for Congress to consider overhauling the present military setup.

Gavin said Saturday night that "I haven't been able to get much done, the system being what it is." Without elaborating on this, he said he is "not doing any good" inside the army "so I'll take a cut at it on the outside."

As a civilian, Gavin said, he would be freer to "recommend, to apply creative thinking to national defence."

Testifying before the Senate month Gavin said the joint chiefs of staff system should be abolished for its present purposes of planning over-all military programs. He suggested that it be replaced by a planning group not specifically representing the different armed services.

Reds Do Not Want Atom War Declares Hon. Sidney Smith

CALGARY (CP)—Canada's external affairs minister says the Russians do not want a nuclear war "any more than we do" and Soviet proposals should be considered seriously.

Sidney Smith said Saturday night in an address to the Alberta Progressive Conservative Association that the free world should find out if Russia is serious in its propositions.

"I cannot believe the Russians want a nuclear war any more than we do," the external affairs minister said. "Such a war could mean the elimination of mankind."

It had been the practice in some world capitals to have some unidentified official dismiss any note from Russia as propaganda. Western countries should take time out to examine at least the feasibility of each offer.

Canada supported the building of NATO defences but at the same time intended to urge NATO countries to find out "if there is some way, some place, somehow we can sit down with the U.S.S.R. and see if they are not willing to discuss some reasonable proposal . . ."

Russia's nuclear strength made it imperative the West must always be ready "to lead from strength," but Western countries should be ready at the same time to discuss any proposal with Russia or take the initiative in making proposals.

History had shown that arming for peace eventually breaks down.

Three U.S. Mothers Enter Red China To Visit Sons Imprisoned There

HONG KONG (AP) — Three American mothers crossed apprehensively into Red China today to visit their imprisoned sons—almost three years after the Communists first invited them to come.

The three mothers are:

Mrs. Mary Downey, mother of John Downey, 27. He is serving a life term. She is accompanied by her son William, 25.

Mrs. Ruth Redmund, mother of 38-year-old Hugh Redmond, whom she has not seen for 11 years. He also has been sentenced to life in prison.

Mrs. Philip Fecteau, mother of Richard Fecteau, 30, sentenced to 20 years.

The three middle-aged women and William Downey are the first Americans to make a non-official visit to Red China with state department sanction since the Korean war.

Another American, Los Angeles lawyer A. J. Wirin, crossed the small bridge into Red China shortly after the mothers. Travelling separately, he is seeking information to defend John Powell, former American editor of a Shanghai newspaper now charged in the U.S. with sedition. The judge told the government he would dismiss the case unless Wirin were allowed to gather information in Red China.

Redmond was a businessman in Shanghai. Downey and Fecteau were aboard a plane shot down during the Korean war and were accused by the Chinese of dropping supplies to anti-Communist agents in Manchuria. They were "civilian employees of the army, which has denied the charges against them.

Although the women had told reporters in Tokyo that they were not afraid to venture into Communist China, they admitted they were nervous and anxious as they headed for Canton to make contact with the Chinese Red Cross.

Consumer Price Index Drops Fifth of Point in December

OTTAWA (CP)—The consumer price index at the start of December declined one-fifth of a point to 123.1 from 123.3 a month earlier, the bureau of statistics said today.

The drop in the index—which is based on 1949 prices equalling 100—was the second consecutive monthly decline in 1957. At the start of November, the index eased to 123.3 from a record 123.4 the previous month in the first drop in the index last year.

The decrease at the start of December resulted from lower food prices. The food subindex declined 1.2 per cent to 118.8 from 120.2, more than offsetting increases in other groups.

The index for average wages and salaries at Oct. 1—the latest figure available—was 160.3, on the basis of 1949 equalling 100.

This compares with 148 at Jan. 1, 1957, and with the following average figures for the preceding years: 1956, 149.4; 1955, 141.7; 1954, 137.1; 1953, 133.4; 1952, 126.0; 1951, 115.5; 1950, 104.4; 1949, 100.

The shelter subindex increased to 136.7 from 136.3, the clothing subindex to 109.9 from 109.8, the household operation subindex to 120.6 from 120.5 and the other commodities and services subindex to 128.4 from 127.7.

The decline in the food subindex reflected lower prices for eggs, bacon, lettuce and imported fresh fruits. Egg prices declined by an average of seven cents a dozen. Smaller decreases were shown in the price of coffee, tea, sugar and margarine.

Beef prices at the start of November showed their first increase since August. Tomatoes and celery also registered price increases.

The rise of two-fifths of a point in the shelter subindex was caused by increases in both the rent and home-ownership components.

Small scattered price increases resulted in the clothing sub-index advancing one-tenth of a point. The increase of one-tenth of a point in the household operations subindex also was caused by scattered increases in prices of a wide range of commodities.

The relatively sharp increase of seven-tenths of a point in the other commodities and services subindex reflected higher prices fr new 1958 automobiles as compared with the previous month's prices of 1957 models. Gasoline prices eased but the cost of toilet soap was higher.

HOUSE PASSES DEFENCE BUDGET FOR FISCAL YEAR

Pearson Says NORAD On 'Shaky Basis'

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's $1,723,000,000 defence budget for the current fiscal year ending next March 31 has been approved by the Commons.

However, approval came Saturday only after another go-round of criticisms directed against what Lester B. Pearson described as "a very shaky basis" for the establishment of NORAD.

NORAD is the joint North American Air Defence Command, set up at Colorado Springs, Colo., six months ago with an American commander and a Canadian deputy.

Mr. Pearson, former Liberal external affairs minister, criticized the fact that this command, unlike other commands within NATO, was established without a prior formal agreement being negotiated between Canada and the United States.

The formal agreement, which he said was necessary to maintain civilian government authority over the military, was needed to set out NORAD's operational principles and its relationship with the Canadian and U.S. governments.

"SHAKY BASIS"

He said the oral agreements between Canada and the U.S. for the establishment of NORAD were "a very shaky basis" on which an American commander could order Canadian planes in Canada into action.

Defence Minister G. R. Pearkes replied that he too believes the civilian authority must be maintained over the military. There had been an exchange of draft agreements, based on oral agreements, and as soon as they had been approved by the two governments, Canada would submit the formal text for parliamentary approval.

He said that, in effect, political authority is established by the fact that the chiefs of staff of both countries must account to government ministers.

Mr. Pearkes said NORAD makes possible a defence of North America that would not have been possible otherwise. There would be no time to call Parliament when enemy planes were over Canadian territory for approval to send up defenders.

Sons of Freedom Leave Vancouver On Moscow Trip

VANCOUVER (CP) — A delegation of four Sons of Freedom Doukhobors has left here for Moscow in hopes of completing plans for a mass move of the religious sect to new homes in Russia.

Bill Moojelsky, delegation leader and Freedomite secretary, said Friday the delegation plans to stop over in Ottawa to confer with Russian Ambassador Dimitri Chuvahin. In Russia the delegation will inspect sites offered there for relocation of the sect, Moojelsky said.

Mr. Chuvahin said in Ottawa that he sees no difficulties in the way of the delegation's visit to Moscow. However, to his knowledge no sites had been offered the Freedomites.

Moojelsky said some 2,500 Doukhobors, most from the Kootenays of southeastern B.C., have indicated they wish to migrate to Russia. It was from Russia that the Doukhobors fled in 1899 because of religious persecution.

'Wouldn't Matter if It Were Queen' Yank's Defence of Sentry's Action

SCULTHORPE, England (Reuters) — British newspapers today criticized a sentry at an American air base who aimed his gun at two British workmen.

The men were trying to repair a telephone cable when the sentry challenged the validity of their passes, and made them march with their hands on their heads.

"It was worse treatment than I ever received in Stalag IV," said Dick Smith, 46, a former prisoner-of-war.

"I felt like breaking the rifle over his silly head but I was on the wrong end and I am sure he would have fired had we not obeyed him."

Smith and his companion, Kenneth Fowell, 44, a town councillor at nearby King's Lynn, were marched 150 yards until an officer passed in a jeep and ordered their release. But both men refused to complete the job.

Capt. George Hogan, base spokesman, said: "What the hell, we're always stopping people like this. We did the same to one of our own colonels the other day. It wouldn't matter if it were a general or even your Queen."

He added that Britons "should be glad our security is so high."

Macmillan Urges Non-Aggression Pact With Russia

'Might Do Good' He Says On Eve of Eastern Tour

LONDON (CP) — The foreign office said today Prime Minister Macmillan's suggested non-aggression pact with Russia was not intended as an isolated offer but as a "complement" to wider international agreements.

This statement was offered as an interpretation rather than as a correction of the prime minister's suggestion Saturday that Britain would be ready for such a pact in the interest of easing international tensions.

There was no question of a conflict of views between the prime minister and his own foreign office.

Macmillan's suggestion appeared to have startled some of Britain's allies, including the United States.

A foreign office spokesman said Macmillan had not consulted with the Allies before setting forth his non-aggression pact idea.

SEEN NATO TOPIC

In Paris a French government source said the North Atlantic Treaty governments will hold consultations on the pact suggestion, but there was no indication that it would be brought up at the NATO permanent council's meeting Wednesday.

The French source said the Paris government would not define its final attitude on the pact suggestion until full NATO consultations are held.

At today's regular London foreign office press conference the spokesman met a barrage of questions on the subject.

Asked whether the idea had been canvassed beforehand among NATO governments, the spokesman replied: "No, because I do not think there is anything particularly new in this idea. I do not think this represents any major change in British policy.'

SUMMONS CABINET

The prime minister meanwhile was meeting again today with his cabinet for a final conference before leaving on a six-weeks tour of five eastern Commonwealth countries.

Pressure of work compelled the prime minister to call a three-hour emergency session Sunday night, the first Sunday cabinet meeting since the Suez crisis of 1956.

The cabinet discussed Macmillan's weekend speech in which he called for a non-aggression pact between the countries of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the Soviet bloc.

Such a "solemn pact of non-aggression," he said in a broadcast, "would do no harm" and "might do good."

BASIS FOR TALKS

His outline of foreign policy is expected to form a basis for talks with the prime ministers of India, Pakistan, Ceylon, New Zealand and Australia on his 30,000-mile trip. They also will discuss Commonwealth affairs, including trade relations.

He first will confer with India's neutralist prime minister, Jawaharlal Nehru. He will give about 20 public speeches on his tour, including one to the Ceylon Parliament.

Macmillan, 63, took over office from the ailing Sir Anthony Eden last January after the Suez crisis His journey will be the first of a prime minister to these five Commonwealth countries. In Britain, R. A. Butler, leader of the House of Commons, will be in day-to-day charge of government affairs.

TORONTO (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker, stopping in Toronto briefly en route from Nassau to Ottawa, said Sunday night British Premier Macmillan's suggestin of an East -West non-aggression pact "could add greatly to the prospects for peace."

Mr. Diefenbaker told reporters at the airport:

"Any agreement such as this would be another link to be forged in the chain of peace. I do not see that it adds greatly to the pledges inherent in the UN, but actually, if achieved, it could add greatly to the prospects for peace."

Mr. Diefenbaker said imposition of oil import restrictions by the United States could have the effect of diminishing the economic unity which should prevail among NATO nations.

Canada's Trade Balance Better During November

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's international trading position showed major improvement in November due mainly to a sharp decrease in imports from the United States and higher exports to that country.

Preliminary figures issued today by the bureau of statistics also showed that Canadian purchases from Britain rose moderately in the month and that exports declined.

The bureau gave no reasons for the decline in imports and a rise in exports over the month. A bureau official said information on commodity movements is not available at the time preliminary import-export figures are prepared.

The month's drop in imports and rise in exports resulted in a November trade deficit of $18,300,000, the smallest for any month in 1957. The deficit in November, 1956, was $95,800,000.

The over-all trade deficit with all countries in the first 11 months of 1957 declined more than 11 per cent to $754,100,000 from $851,300,000 the previous year.

The bureau said the decline was caused mainly by reductions in hte deficit in October and November. There were only slight reductions in the deficit in the preceding five months.

Canadian imports in November declined 14.8 per cent to $545,200,000 from $521,500,000 in the corresponding month in 1956. Exports in the month rose 2.5 per cent to $435,900,000 from $425,800,000.

For the 11 months purchases totalled $5,236,100,000 as against a record $5,303,500,000 in the 1956 period. Shipments in the 11 months advanced to $4,482,000,000 from $4,452,200,000.

RESIDENTS ASKED TO GET RID OF CHRISTMAS TREES

Fire Chief Gerald Vance today appealed to householders in Belleville to get rid of Christmas trees this week as the longer they are allowed to sit in a house and dry out, the more of a fire hazard they create.

The chief said: "Christmas trees should be put out this week for the works department to collect. By this time, trees still in houses are likely to be quite dry, thus producing a fire hazard."

Robert G. Hamilton, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce, is working on plans to have a giant bonfire of Christmas trees this Friday night on Zwick's Island. Close to 6,000 will be burned.

Shoulder Broken In Car Accident

A Hamilton woman, Mrs. Margaret Cameron, suffered a broken shoulder shortly before noon on Sunday when the car in which she was riding was struck by another vehicle on Highway No. 2 just west of Deseronto.

Provincial police said that William McIntosh, Toronto, was westbound and was attempting to pass another car when the driver, Lester Brant of Deseronto, suddenly turned left, colliding with the side of his vehicle. The McIntosh vehicle went through a fence. Damage to the McIntosh auto amounted to about $400 and to the Brant vehicle about $100. Provincial Constable Gordon Oliver investigated.

He took a most active interest in the work of the congregation, especially the young people. He also was most interested in the work of the community and was always ready to give of his time and ability to worthwhile projects. He had charges at West Hill and Bowmanville before coming to Belleville and then went to Maple and Collingwood.

Mayor's Inaugural Address

Following is the text of the inaugural address of Mayor Gerald B. Hyde at the first meeting of the 1958 city council, held this morning: —

Members of Council, Ladies and Gentlemen.

This morning's ceremonies have marked the inauguration into office of the 50th Mayor of this city, and his council, and in attempting to preview some of the problems which lie ahead of us this year I cannot help but feel that in all likelihood the year 1958 must go down in the record book as a year of positive decisions, a year in which a council composed of elected representatives, determined to work harmoniously together for the common good, must deal with each matter of policy to come before it, in a forthright and progressive manner.

TAX PREPAYMENT SYSTEM

The first of these policy decisions will be placed before you in by-law form for discussion later in this meeting and that by-law will provide for the establishment in this city of a tax prepayment system which will have a two-fold benefit for our ratepayers. Commencing today, and continuing until February 28th, any ratepayer may purchase certificates valued at $100 or any multiple thereof at a discounted rate, calculated daily, equal to 4½% per annum interest on his money and these certificates may then be presented as cash when the ratepayer receives his tax bill for the year and settles it at the tax office on the due date. Thus the taxpayer, who has the funds readily available now, and who knows that from year to year his municipal tax bill is approximately "X" dollars, may purchase these certificates at a 4½% profit to himself, and at the same time the city will in effect be making a saving of ¾ of 1% in interest charges on borrowed money, this being the difference between the rate paid to the corporation's bankers on borrowed monies and the rate paid on prepayment monies which will be received under this scheme. I hope that the passing of this by-law will be but the first in a series of progressive steps to be taken by the 1958 Belleville city council and I would recommend its passage when it comes before you for your consideration.

FUTURE PLANNING

In giving consideration to future planning for this city our thinking is, of necessity, clouded at the moment, pending receipt of the decision of the Ontario Municipal Board on the application made by this city for annexation of parts of Sidney and Thurlow Townships to our corporate borders. Such things as sewage disposal, reassessment and industrial expansion etc, hinge to quite a degree upon the magnitude of this decision which I am given to understand will be forthcoming shortly.

ANNEXATION

If all or most of the lands requested are awarded to this city, and Belleville's area is increased to 3 or 4 times its present 2200-acre size, there can be no doubt but that council must give immediate attention to planning and zoning for the newly annexed areas, so as to provide for the proper establishment of residential and industrial areas, school sites and property assessments, parks and green spots, streets and sewers, wards and sub-divisions and the dozen and one other things required in the makeup of sound municipal administration. It is essential that a planning committee of council be established promptly, comprised of interested aldermen and perhaps with citizen representation, to assure a smooth transition period for present, as well as new, city residents and taxpayers.

The matter of a sewage disposal system for Greater Belleville is a "must!" While the suggested cost seems astronomical it is inconceivable to me that any of our citizens believe that we should continue to pollute our Moira River and Bay of Quinte by the continued dumping of raw sewage. We have received instructions and advice from the Ontario Water Resources Commission as to when this project should be started and how it can be financed and I would request that each member of council refresh his memory on this subject, study everything available which is pertinent thereto and be prepared to deal with a recommendation on this question at a time subsequent to the receiving of the annexation decision from the Ontario Municipal Board.

COMMUNITY CENTRE PLANNING

A community centre for the city of Belleville is another "must" in the minds of many of our people and is a point that I promised would be given attention if I were chosen as your mayor this year. In speaking conversationally with many people, I find a great deal of misunderstanding exists as to the total probable cost of such a building and the method by which it would have to be financed and particularly is this so on the aspect of a government grant which would apply thereto. My own thinking on this whole matter is very much open to suggestion and I would appreciate having any citizens who are interested in this project, whether they are thinking of it chiefly as an outlet for recreation or for sport or for drama or music or what have you, to let me know of their interest and if sufficient numbers of persons express their concern I will see that a meeting of interested persons is held for the express purpose of discussion and bringing forth of a community centre planning committee.

WINTER UNEMPLOYMENT

At this time, it would appear that the year 1958 could very well be the most costly one experienced in our welfare department in many years and particularly is this so in the field of providing cash relief to unemployed employables. Due to the nature of my own everyday business I am very much aware of the regular falling off of construction work in the winter months with its consequent layoff of tradesmen and laborers. Similarly in my own work, I have the opportunity of quoting on many jobs over the past 12 years which have come up at a time of year when there was plenty of work for everyone, jobs which could just as well have been decided upon by the owners in the slack winter months. Ladies and gentlemen—if anyone within the sound of my voice or who may read this in the public press—is contemplating building construction or alteration work, particularly repairs and alterations, in 1958, please, please give serious consideration to having it done now. You will find that workmen and materials are more readily available and that quotations will generally speaking be lower but, most important of all, by providing work for tradesmen in their slow period of the year you will be helping your city, and your country, as well as helping yourself.

COUNCIL OPERATION

Today marks the start of my sixth consecutive years as a member of your city council and as its leader this year may I extend a word of sincere welcome to the council chamber to the three new members with us this year, Aldermen Forrester, Ireland and Wishart. I know that, with your individual public service backgrounds and experience, each of you will make a real contribution to the work of this council and I am sure that I speak for all other members in extending a warm welcome to the deliberations of this body. And to Aldermen Temple, Safe, Digby, Argue and Tice, who have been returned by the electorate for further terms of office, congratulations and welcome! We have been able to work harmoniously together in the past and I look forward to receiving the assistance and wise counsel which each of you will also bring to the deliberations of this body in 1958. Together with the six other aldermen who are commencing today the second year of their two-year terms of office, we will face problems great and small, as has every council which has gone before us and as will every council that will follow.

In only ask that we face up to each problem squarely, deal with it decisively and then move on to the next item of business. Only in that manner can each of us merit the support we have been given by the citizens of this city who have elected us to look after their municipal affairs.

Thank you!

Quinte Fire Insurance Marks Years of Progress

The Bay of Quinte Fire Insurance Company at its annual meeting reported another year of uninterrupted progress. Fire insurance coverages increased by about one million dolllars in 1957 and supplementary coverages total another two million, the treasurer's report stated.

Treasurer Hilton McCartney told the meeting the company's losses ar no higher than in the previous year in relation to the total risks now carried. On account of increased replacement costs, many straight-line companies have had to increase rates, he said. "The same conditions affect us; our rates have not increased for many years but we may have to take a new look at them."

Hastings director Fred Campbell told the meeting that in 1947 the company carried 22 million insurance. Last year it carried 36 million. This denotes a steady increase over the years.

It was pointed out that the company operates with a low cost of administration with a staff of only two men in the Picton office. It has been decided to add another, Mr. Grover Smith.

President Howard Leavens referred to the loss by death of two of the company's directors in 1957, Colonel Roscoe Vanderwater and W. O. Striker. "Both were men of ability and integrity", he said.

Gas Explosions Kill Man, Wife

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Gas explosions and fires in two downtown areas early Sunday resulted in the death of a middle-aged couple and caused property damage estimated at $500,000.

Three simultaneous explosions and ensuing fires destroyed most of a city block, blew the front out of a repair shop and caused minor damage but no fire at an air force base.

William McGrath, 63, died several hours after a gas explosion destroyed his home. His wife, 54, was killed.

The state fire marshal's office said the blasts were caused by failure of a regulating valve, which rushed gas under high pressure into lines equipped for low pressure loads. Explosions occurred where gas seeped through weak points in the lines.

One Accident Since Jan. 1

TRENTON —One minor accident last Friday has been the only one reported to town police officials since 2.30 a.m., January 1 Police credit the fine weather, which has left the streets bare and dry, to be the biggest factor for this accident-free period

The lone mishap happened when a car driven by Paul Mamguy of 188 Dundas Street, East, collided with one being operated by Kenneth Glendenning of 22 Namao Drive, Middleton Park, at the intersection of Byron Street and Dundas East.

Roads were dry at the time, police said, and total damage to both cars was estimated to be $50.

Firemen also reported a quiet weekend. This followed three fires late last week. The first was at a home on Front Street where a plumber's torch had set a ceiling on fire; the second at Creswell's Coffee Shop which was totally gutted in a flash fire and the third on Saturday morning when firemen were called out of town, on the Wooler Road, to a flue fire which had been brought under control before the fire truck arrived a few moments after the call.

With the bay frozen over in the recent cold spell hundreds of skaters turned out Sunday many for the first time this winter. No serious injuries or mishaps were reported although many of the beginners received the usual bruises. Ice boats were also out taking advantage of the ice and the stiff wind blowing across the bay.

Year of Policy Decisions For City Council Forecast By Mayor Hyde in Address

The year 1958 will be one of policy decisions for the city of Belleville council, it was forecast today by Mayor Gerald B. Hyde in his inaugural address at the inaugural session of city council held this morning at city hall.

In his address Mayor Hyde introduced a tax pre-payment system to encourage the early payment of city taxes, the covering by-law later being passed by council, and noted that planning and zoning to cover any properties awarded to the city in its annexation application would be of paramount importance.

He cited a sewage disposal system for the city as being an "absolute must" despite its high estimated cost and said that he had an "open mind" on the matter of a new community centre which he said was on the minds of many citizens of Belleville.

UNEMPLOYMENT PROBLEM

Also one of the problems confronting council would be the matter of cash relief to employables who in a period of unemployment might not be able to secure jobs.

To ease the heavy unemployment which is quickly building up Mayor Hyde urged that any citizens contemplating repairs or alterations to have these jobs done during the winter months when they might conceivably be done cheaper while at the same time providing jobs for out-of-work tradesmen.

COUNCIL CHAMBER FULL

The council chamber was full to capacity as the 1958 inaugural session got underway. Present were representatives of the various civic bodies, along with Warden Leslie McLaren and rural council members.

City Clerk Mrs. Anne Haggerty read the election declarations, called elected aldermen to their respective seats and asked two new aldermen, Aldermen Dr. James H. Forrester and John A. Ireland, to escort Mayor Gerald B. Hyde to his chair. Alderman Forrester then placed the chain of office about Mayor Hyde's neck, while Alderman Ireland presented the mayor's gavel. Later the third new alderman, George Wishart, expressed the appreciation of council to the mayor for his inaugural address.

TAKE OATHS OF OFFICE

Mayor Hyde then took the oath of allegiance, followed in turn by the aldermen collectively taking the oath of allegiance. City Police Chief Walter Probert and Fire Chief Gerald Vance acted as guard of honor.

The Salvation Army Band under the direction of Captain C. Ivany, was on hand, beginning the inaugural session with "O Canada" and ending the program with that well loved hymn "Abide With Me." During the ceremony and following invocation and Divine blessing by Rev. Harry M. Davis of Bridge Street United Church, the band played "God Save the Queen."

One of the highlights of the inaugural session were the presentations of scrolls to ex-Mayor Jane Forrester, and to ex-Alderman Charles L. Hyde. One other former alderman to receive the scroll is Dr. John Stock who could not be present for the ceremony.

EX-MAYOR GIVEN GAVEL

Mrs. Forrester and two ex-aldermen will also receive plaques in recognition of their service, while Mayor Hyde presented Mrs. Forrester with the gavel used by her during her two terms as mayor.

In presenting Mrs. Forrester with the scroll Mayor Hyde said that she had earned the respect and confidence of the citizens of Belleville. The scroll, he said, was in recognition of faithful service to the city.

He noted that Mrs. Forrester had been the first lady mayor of the city.

In expressing her appreciation Mrs. Forrester said she would treasure always the mementos received of what she termed her "stimulating experience" in council. She assured her listeners she would continue to be interested in the progress of the city.

Mrs. Forrester in turn presented to Mayor Hyde a gavel to be used during his term of office.

SON HONORS FATHER

In making the scroll presentation to ex-alderman Charles Hyde, Mayor Hyde said it was not often that a son had the privilege as mayor of honoring a 28-year-service record on the part of his father.

Mayor Hyde noted that his father had served 18 years as alderman, nine years on the school board and one year on the board of health.

On the verge of tears as he accepted the scroll from his son, ex-Alderman Hyde said "Thank you, Your Worship. Your mother and I are happy and proud of you in your new position and hope you will be an honor to the city."

PASS BORROWING BY-LAW

One of the first matters of business to be considered by the new council was a borrowing by-law empowering the city to borrow $1,445,304.70 to cover the cost of city operations until the payment of taxes. The by-law was passed without discussion.

When the by-law providing for the purchase of credit certificates by the the taxpayers to be used in prepayment of their taxes came up for discussion. Alderman Ralph Graham wanted to know why the interest rate of 4½ per cent had been set. He said the rate seemed to be high.

Alderman Douglas Moxam in reply noted that the rate had to be interesting enough to encourage taxpayers taking their money from the bank where it would be receiving three per cent.

Mayor Hyde said the rate would apply only as long as the bank interest rate remained where it was. If the bank rate fell, the interest allowed taxpayer for pre-payment would also fall.

Alderman Dr. J. Forrester wondered if the extra clerical work involved would necessitate hiring of any extra clerks and in this way offset the advantage to the city.

City Manager Drury Denyes said he did not anticipate any extra clerical help would be necessary.

Tumor-Stricken Boy Dies In Father's Arms

CHICAGO (AP) — An eight-year-old boy afflicted with a brain tumor died in his Evangelist father's arms at a prayer meeting Sunday night as his parents and members of the congregation sang hymns and offered prayers.

Daniel Longs condition was diagnosed more than a year ago. Doctors said an operation might save his life but that his brain would be damaged.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Long nursed him at home through his illness. Sunday, Mrs Long noticed her son weakening. She and her husband took the boy to the Brother Bridges Bible Church where he died.

Mr. Diefenbaker told reporters: "I'm 100-per-cent fit. My cold is gone.

Followed Trade Of Carpenter For 65 Years

After a lifetime of following the carpenter trade, during which period he has built over 100 houses and has laid "hundreds of acres" of hardwood floors, Mr. J. M. Clarke, of 80 East Moira street, feels it is about time to quit. He recently celebrated his 79th birthday.

"After 65 years in the business it is time to let someone else do the work," he says.

Mr. Clarke followed in his father's footsteps as a carpenter and started with his father working 10 hours a day for 50 cents per day.

In 1900 when the Canadian West was in the throes of its land boom, he built the first boarding house and the first barbershop in Weyburn, Sask.

At that time there was only the C.P.R. station and three other buildings in Weyburn. The postoffice was half a mile up the track in a sod house. He spent two summers in Manitoba and one in Toronto finishing houses.

Following the big fire in Stirling in 1908 he looked after the rebuilding of three stores. He worked for 23 years with Arthur A. Sills and Son, Ltd.

He kept putting coins into his mouth.

When the patient finally complained of "loss of appetite," doctors x-rayed him, saw the collection of coins and operated.

HILLARY AND THE POLE

The success of Sir Edmund Hillary in leading a New Zealand expedition on a "hell-bent" dash to the South Pole is intriguing for three separate and varying reasons.

It shows that the same qualities which equip a man to climb a mountain make him a leader of men half a world away from the scene of his original fame-winning exploit.

It provides a striking contrast with the first successful expeditions to the South Pole, when in 1912 Roald Amundsen and Capt. Robert Scott, in that order, crossed the vast frozen continent to reach the southern tip of the world. On his arrival Scott was shocked to discover that Amundsen had reached the pole a month earlier. Hillary was welcomed by a "village," established at the pole by U.S. planes.

Thirdly, the fact that Hillary should spend eight hazardous days to reach by land a point which was accessible by air in a few hours once again poses the question of what rules man will set for himself to preserve challenges which his own ingenuity tends to eliminate.

That the pole could be reached by air did not prevent Hillary from undertaking the feat of reaching it by land. But he could not bring himself to ignore advances of science and attempt the trip with the same type of equipment available to Amundsen and Scott forty-five years ago. Man is being continually torn between the conviction that it is senseless to refuse to use the products of his skills and the realization that the utilization of these products makes simple tasks which challenged past generations. Hillary, ignoring the airplane but adding snow tractors to the dog-sleighs of earlier expeditions, is like a man with an auto-loading shotgun using long-range shells who balks at employing a recording of duck calls.

Hillary's dash to the pole is newsworthy, as no flight to the pole can be. But never again will a polar expedition rank with those of Amundsen and Scott as landmarks in the history of man's conquest of his physical world.

The Sputniks have come just in time; man needs other worlds to conquer.

HARD TO CHOOSE A SIDE

We suspect we share with our readers an abysmal ignorance about things Venezuelan - - and especially about Venezuelan politics.

Ignorance of this kind is particularly annoying when one wakes up one morning to discover that there is a tidy little revolution in progress. After reading a couple of contradictory reports from the rival camps, it is realized that we do not know which side to cheer for. The dilemma is especially aggravating when it comes right after a sampling of a wide variety of New Year's bowl games, Sugar, Orange, Cotton and Rose, which called for an arduous round of choosing the heroes from the villains.

War veterans may have found their bewilderment eased when they learned that the air force was leading the revolt, while the army was trying to crush it. Navy veterans, if they were wise enough to hang back before making a choice, could go over to the rebel side when the report came through that the Venezuelan navy was backing the rebels. Army men no doubt argued that these kind of odds just made it an even fight.

Civilians, though, were left sitting on the fence, unless they took exception to a president who would arrest his political opponents before an election and offer a totalitarian-style "yes" or "no" choice with himself as the only candidate.

We have a hunch that no matter which side won it would not have greatly altered the type of regime in Venezuela. Revolts may be started by an air force recruited by a dictator but rebels of this type are more likely to be interested in changing the guard than in altering the system.

One good thing, though, remains to be said for Venezuelan politics. So far neither side has charged the other with being Communist-led. Which is a welcome change.

THE NEW YEAR

May your New Year's skies be bright ones
And your New Year's troubles few;
May your New Year's cares be light ones
And your New Year's friendships true.
But if sorrow should come tapping
At your chamber door, then may
You with courage hear the rapping,
And with faith endure the day.

May your New Year's joys be splendid,
And your New Year's plans succeed;
May your Old Year's cares be ended,
May you get whate'er you need.
May your New Year's sun keep shining;
But should your skies turn to gray,
May you view them unrepining
And keep plodding on your way.

May your New Year's days be lucky;
But should grim misfortune fall
May it find you always plucky
And undaunted by it all.
May you harvest sweeter pleasure
Than the Old Year ever gave;
But if gall should taint the measure,
May you quaff it and be brave.

Lawyer of Many Quarrels Had Woes With Big Ben

By S. H. Kessels in the Port of London Authority Monthly

Those who feel fit for nothing after the day's labors might well consider and marvel at a man like Edmund Beckett Denison, who became the first Baron Grimthorpe, for any one of this busy lawyer's side-lines would have filled an ordinary life. Especially might he be remembered when the deep note of Big Ben is heard, because it was he who designed the great clock which is so often called by the name which really belongs to the bell and not the clock.

Yet Grimthorpe remains half-forgotten.

The son of a Yorkshire banker, Edmund Beckett was born in 1816 and, like his father, added the name Denison in his maturity. He qualified as a lawyer at a fortunate time, for the great railway boom of the forties gave him plenty of work—a thing he always relished — and he soon made a small fortune. In 1854 he took silk; from 1877 to 1900 he was Chancellor and Vicar-General of York; and in 1866 he became Baron Grimthorpe. By that name, to avoid confusion, he will be called in these notes.

Despite the demands of an exacting profession he contrived to find time to be learned in astronomy, to become an expert on clocks, locks and watches, on theology and canon law; and "as to the bells he was consulted by every anxious vicar before ordering a new peal." As if this were not enough, he dabbled in architecture sufficiently to convince himself that he knew better than professional architects.

At the age of 64, he virtually forsook law for building, but long before then he had written two books on the Gothic style, designed several churches in the Midlands, and done much by way of restoration.

It may be that the love of controversy which was in his blood had urged him into the law. It certainly colored everything he undertook. He argued with bishops, he published polemics on the Apocalypse, on marriage with a deceased wife's sister, and on ritual — a practice he called "millinery, incense and nonsense."

In 1850 he produced a textbook on clock and watch making, which ran to at least eight editions and is only rendered out of date now by advances in metallurgy and gear-cutting, not by those in horology. At the end of his life he could not remember exactly how many large clocks he had designed, but they included that of St. Paul's. The greatest of all was the famous, the incredibly accurate one at Westminster.

When Sir Charles Barry was rebuilding the Houses of Parliament, he was authorized to provide a suitable time-piece for his bell-tower. The Astronomer Royal, Professor Airy, demanded an accuracy that daunted the horologists, including Vulliamy, the Queen's clockmaker, but by 1851 E. J. Dent had submitted a quotation for a clock to meet the Astronomer Royal's requirements, guaranteeing accuracy based on his experiences in making the Royal Exchange clock. This was accepted by the Ministry of Works on the recommendation of the referees in spite of the objections of the Clockmarkers' Company.

Grimthorpe then stepped in with his own design for a clock which, to the dismay and fury of the professional clock designers, Airy approved. Dent began the construction of it but died suddenly in 1853. His stepson, Frederick, carried on and by 1854 the job was done before the tower was ready for it. The clock was kept on test in Dent's factory for some four or five years, being modified from time to time so that Grimthorpe's original layout was virtually redesigned.

Bitter feuds ensued with Barry, whom Grimsthorpe accused of muddle and delay. Architects seem to have been his betes noires, and later in life he described himself as "the only architect with whom I have never quarrelled."

Barry had done nothing towards the production of bells, and again Grimthorpe came forward with plans, this time for a 14-ton bell — bigger than any made here before — and four smaller ones. He was encouraged by Sir Benjamin Hall, the popular Commissioner of Works known as "Big Ben" after whom the great bell was named. It was cast at Stockton-on-Tees, but it turned out the wrong shape and weight and gave the wrong note Grimthorpe had it struck and struck "to bring out the tone", and mistakenly increased the weight of the clapper to 13 cwts., at which it shattered the bell. The pieces were recast at White chapel by George Mears; the weight was now right at 13½ tons and the note was a true E.

In 1868 the Horological Institute made Grimthorpe president "on condition that he does not attend dinners". It was no doubt feared that he would make so much fur fly that it would spoil the food. Modesty and tact were foreign to this confident, capable and cantankerous man who plainly declared he "saved the Westminster clock from being jobbed into incompetent hands" and who made enemies faster than he found them.

So well designed and made was this great clock that never has it erred by more than four seconds from Greenwich time; only once since it began ticking 98 years ago has it stopped from mechanical failure, and that was not due to its own defect but to the German bomb which shattered the House of Commons and shook the tower in 1941.

Even that did not cause the clock to fail until 1944, when the pendulum spring broke. In July, 1956, the clock was stopped for its first overhaul in 22 years, and Great Tom, the 247-year-old bell of St. Paul's, sounded over the radio in place of Big Ben during a period of four months. A worthy substitute, but a much smaller bell and less resonant.

Grimthorpe died in 1950. For all his many attainments, he was far from a genius of the order of Leonardo or even William Morris; yet despite his unpleasant personality and his grave gaucheries in architecture, he must be ranked as one of the remarkable men of his century.

Ulstermen Army Chiefs

Windsor Star

People of the north of Ireland are a proud, perhaps even stiff-necked race. Though their own ancestry is a mixture of native Irish with Scottish and English, they refuse to be submerged, whether as part of the whole of Ireland or of the United Kingdom.

In one respect they have particular, even unique, cause for pride, as proved in a special Northern Ireland supplement of The Times of London, England. This little area of 1,300,000 people has produced no fewer than eight field-marshals for the Imperial army, of whom five have become Chiefs of the Imperial General Staff.

The eight are Field Marshal Sir Archibald Montgomery-Massingberd (born a Montgomery); Field Marshal Lord Rawlinson of World War I repute; Field Marshal Sir John Dill; Field Marshal Lord Alanbrooke; Field Marshal Lord Alexander; Field Marshal Lord Montgomery; Field Marshal Sir Claude Auchinleck and Field Marshal Sir Gerald Templer.

Montgomery Massingberd was chief of staff in the interval between the two World Wars, Dill and Alanbrooke, successively, in World War II; Montgomery in the postwar period and Templer now holds that high office. In addition Major-General Sir John Kennedy, another Northern Irishman, was vice-chief of the Imperial staff under Alanbrooke.

This coterie, with other Northern Irishmen who have achieved rank, are familiarly known as "The Ulster Captains." Most of them, except Montgomery-Massingberd and Rawlinson, gave distinguished service in both World Wars. In the latter, they occupied the top positions both in the planning and combat aspects of military service.

Ulster, of course, is known for its fighting stock. At the time of the American Revolution, one-sixth of the population of the colonies were of Ulster origin. Many of the leaders of the Revolution, military and civilian, were of Ulster birth or ancestry. And, in the Civil War, Generals Grant, McClellan, Polk, Jeb Stuart and Stonewall Jackson had Ulster blood in their veins.

Ontario the Good

Ottawa Journal

Sometimes Ontario is accused of being rich and selfish, indifferent to the needs of less-favored provinces. On the other side, it should be noted that in the campaign of the Canadian Cancer Society (which raised $2,235,472) Ontario was responsible for contributions of $900,000 or slightly more than 40 per cent.

World Needs Patience

Cleveland Plain Dealer

If you should be given a 25th hour each day what would you do with it?

A group of high school students who had the question put to them came back with diverse answers. Some said that they'd use it to catch up on their sleep; one indicated that he'd spend every minute of it eating; still another proposed to save up the extra hours and "go back to Alabama for a little while".

What would we do with a 25th hour? We'd like to spend it quietly, thinking; heaven knows these days require it. And one of the things we'd like to contemplate is patience, and how to achieve it.

This country needs patience today more than it has ever needed it. Patience to work out some of the most pressing problems, such as integration. Patience to develop better facilities for the young. Patience for the old. Patience to try to understand all nations of the world including the Russians. Patience to plan ahead—years ahead— and stick to the plan. Patience to realize that the world is a mighty big place and that we are not necessarily the only concern of the Almighty.

To be sure, there are those who have no patience with patience and Shakespeare, who wrote: "How poor they are that have not patience. What wound did ever heal but by degrees?" also wrote "That which in mean men we entitle patience, is pale cold cowardice in noble breasts". And an old proverb declares: "He preacheth patience that never knew pain."

And yet we incline to the belief that there is nothing ignoble in patience, for patience is the fruit of self-discipline. Few people are naturally patient — they have become so because they refuse to let their emotions and prejudices and dislikes and jangling nerves take control.

They, as the poet has said, have become the masters of their fate, the captains of their souls. In these troubled times it's a goal worth seeking.

SOMETHING TO TRUST

All over the world thousands of people have stared into the sky to see the Russian satellite go whirling by. Other artificial moons, it seems likely, will soon be launched also. Perhaps within a few years such satellites will be so common as to excite no notice at all.

But turn back the clock fifty years. Last month's newspaper accounts of Sputnik would have been regarded as the fantastic imaginings of a writer of science fiction. Turn back another fifty years. The automobile, the airplane, the submarine, and the electric light would have seemed equally impossible.

Every century produces new things at which even the best and most respected minds of the previous century would have been incredulous. Our own most widely accepted laws of chemistry and physics may well be invalidated by the year 2000. In material concerns, it is closer. Today's wisdom is merely tomorrow's folly.

Is there nothing left, then, in which a man may trust with some confidence that he will not someday find it obsolete or untrue? Yes, there is much. Man's wisdom may be transitory folly, but God's wisdom is eternal truth. The words of Jesus have remained unshaken for nearly 2000 years. Religion is still the stable center of an unstable world, the only value never inflated or deflated, man's one quest undisturbed by the wheeling of centuries.

Personal Health Talks

Ten Million Credulous Customers

From what readers report from Arizona, Saskatchewan, Michigan, New Hampshire and Florida I gather that—

1. Chronic joint disability is "diagnosed as arthritis in most instances.

2. Failure of the standard remedies to stay the progress of degeneration is attributed to the cold, damp weather — everywhere but Florida and Arizona, where there are so many lame visitors from Saskatchewan, Michigan and New Hampshire that the doctor's don't take time to explain anything and their customers don't really want to know anything.

3. Because they have been "through the clinic," many of these poor souls seem content to drift along insidiously going from bad to worse as they eat aspirin and other pain killers and give little or no thought to their nutritional condition.

A Connecticut reader says:

"Family benefited from your teachings about nutrition and other health subjects. My ailment was diagnosed as arthritis and for many years treated for that."

(The medical merchants are kind about that. They go right on treating victims for "arthritis" year after year, as long as the poor souls care to play.)

"Within the last three years I have learned that my trouble is rheumatiz as described in your booklet. Since I have followed your regimen for correcting malnutrition my hands, knees, elbows, etc. have been so much less painful and my general health has improved a great deal.

"My condition, I find, seems to be better or worse according to my faithfulness to the regimen.

"My husband, who formerly ridiculed these things, now follows the regimen almost as carefully as I do.

"When any of the "powers" that put pressure on you get too arbitrary, just holler in print, and I wouldn't be surprised if you could create . . .

Sincerely yours
(Mrs. ——)"

Rheumatiz is the name I give physical degeneration of joint tissues, which, I think, is the usual cause of joint disability that develops insidiously in the course of a year or more while the victim fools around with "treatment for arthritis."

The Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation admits:

"The principal shortcoming of modern drug therapy" (of arthritis) "is that while the results are more dramatic and immediate" (yes, even I was fooled by one such miracle medicine) "they disappear when medication is discontinued. Besides, the various drugs in use today have not shown conclusively that they can alter the natural course of the disease or prevent crippling."

And yet some ten million credulous customers are still taking drug treatment for "arthritis."

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

KEEP GOING FORWARD

A person, or business, that keeps going forward has nothing to worry about. Each advance in mind and business gains inspires itself. Ideas are the fuel that keep everything on the go, continually breaking all records. It's only when that flow stops that recession sets in.

Keep going forward, should be the motto of us all. People follow a leader. Follow yourself and keep gaining on yourself and you will go far! We should keep in touch with ourself, not someone else. We are our own world. No one can patent our dreams!

The athlete keeps his eye on the record that someone else has scored. It's his aim to beat that record. He can by continuing to go forward, by becoming master of himself. Gene Tunney once told me that he kept the championship ever in his mind. He intended to become the champion heavyweight boxer of the world! So he won the title.

We ought to keep examining and appraising ourselves. By so doing we can't help but draw nearer our goal. The nearer we get to that goal the more inspired we become. It's that simple. It's little by little that we become bigger and bigger. That familiar line from the poet Longfellow has always inspired me. He said: "Lives of great men all remind us we can make our lives sublime and, departing, leave behind us footprints on the sands of time."

To dream, to aspire, to keep going forward, can become the plan and purpose of us all. How inspiring are the life stories of all our great men! They walked right past Failure. They never took note of discouragement or temporary defeats. They kept going forward!

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

In my day, which was some time back, if you sang through your nose, you couldn't even sing in a church choir, even in a little country church where they might be short handed. As for singing more publicly, such as at community concerts, bazaars or other cultural occasions, if you sang through your nose, or grated your voice through your throat, you hadn't a chance. Even at home, even locked in the bathroom, you were dissuaded from singing.

Today, singing through the nose is considered high style. To my ear, something more, than seventy-five per cent of the professional singers on radio and TV and in amusement spots sing through their noses. Only Sinatra, Como, Bing and a few others bring their voices from their diaphragms and out of their open mouths. That is old-fashioned singing. Maybe that is why these few are at the top of the heap, and stay there.

Sometimes you get the impression, especially from rock 'n roll and the popular cowpoke and hill-billy quartets, that you don't really need a voice to sing anymore. Any of us can sing. All we have to have is about three notes, somewhere around our middle register, which we can blast through our throats the way a cornet player blasts his favorite two or three notes, as loud and brassy as possible, really hot, through the horn.

Hog calling, sort of.

GOVERNMENT "GROUNDED" AIR FORCE REVOLT

Police in Caracas are seen examining damage done by rebel bombings during a revolt by Venezuelan air force units. Describing the rebellion against the government as a brief skirmish, President Perez Jimenez asserted that it had taken only a few hours to thwart the attempt. Government troops captured the insurgent garrison at Maracay, 50 miles west of Caracas, then put down the uprisings in the Caracas barracks. A few hours later, Los Teques, centre of the remaining opposition was taken. The arrest of Gen. Hugo Fuentes, commander of the ground forces, who had expressed his dissatisfaction with present government policy is said to have led to the uprising.

By JOHN BARBOUR

NEW YORK (AP) — Those comets that blaze fiery trails across our skies may not really be on fire at all. In fact, they may be icebergs of space. And pretty dirty icebergs, at that.

At any rate, that's the theory fathered and propounded by Dr. Fred C. Whipple, director of the Smithsonian astrophysical observatory in Cambridge, Mass.

With Russia's Sputniks drawing attention to the heavens above, more and more questions are being asked about comets and probably more and more comets will be seen.

Three were reported visible to the naked eye last year.

A layman's chances of discovering a comet are pretty good if he has a telescope. And, if you see one, astronomers want to hear about it. They'd like to know more about these wanderers of the solar system.

COLLECTION OF GASES

Whipple's "dirty iceberg theory" was formulated only recently. It goes like this:

Comets are a collection of frozen gases, ice and bits of spatial dust, dirt and meteors. They form far out in space, millions of miles from the sun.

The bases freeze and collect more celestial debris. Moving through space, they gather speed as they near the sun and the pull of gravity increases.

At the same time, subtle changes begin to occur as the frozen nucleus of the comet warms up. The gases vaporize somewhat and become fluorescent in the rays of the sun. The dust of the nucleus reflects the light of the sun, too.

As it first appears to us on earth, the nucleus (or head) looks like a bright point of light—a little star. Then, as it moves faster and more gases vaporize, the tail appears, a thin stream of fluorescent gases and dust.

There are very few rules for a comet to follow. One inescapable law is that it must revolve around the sun. Some pass close to the sun, some pass far away.

FANTASTIC SIZE

Comets move in elongated ellipses, some of fantastic size. It is estimated that the orbit of a comet sighted in 1864 now is so long it may be more than 2,000,000 years, before it returns.

About 50 comets are known to have orbital periods of less than 100 years. Halley's spectacular comet, which took up most of the southwestern sky when it appeared to the naked eye in 1910, is expected to show up again about 1985. Its tail was so long that the head appeared in some places in early morning while the tail was still visible to other parts of the earth the preceding evening.

Some comets are highly unusual.

The comet of 1744 had six tails in a great fan. The Great Comet of 1843 had a tail 200,000,000 miles long.

The head of a comet may be 30,000 miles in diameter or it may be 1,000,000. Some comets 10 times as large as the earth have been seen.

B.C. STUDENTS CLAIM CDN. ROCKET RECORD

The home of 16-year-old John Percival, of Vancouver, is undoubtedly a very busy place for it recently became the birthplace of a do-it-yourself rocket called "West Van-nik." Made of plumbers' pipe, baking soda and certain chemicals, the 6 1/2-foot rocket, seen left with John, was flung 10,000 feet into the B. C. sky to claim for its launchers, a Canadian and possibly a world amateur record. The rocket fever started a year ago when John read an article on rocket design. He talked up rockets among friends at his high school. And the syndicate that hurtled "West Van-nik" into the skies was formed at $5 a head.

MACMILLAN

In his Saturday night radio-television address he called for an agreement on nuclear weapons and conventional armament but said any such agreemnt must be fulfilled by action.

NEED DEEDS

"Peace cannot be secured just by words," the prime minister said. "We need deeds as well."

His broadcast was a report to the people on the actions taken at the NATO summit meeting at Paris in December. It also provided the prime minister the opportunity to outline Britain's program for peace.

"The Commonwealth is more than an alliance," Macmillan said. "It is a living force, held together by ideas which live in men's hearts."

Some people thought Britain a "spent force," but "the world would be a very different and lot less hopeful place if Britain did not exist.

"We are the heart and centre of the Commonwealth."

WINS SOME APPROVAL

Macmillan's suggestion for a pact of non-aggression surprised Europe. There was a general impression here that approving reaction in Europe and among some NATO leaders would counteract unfavorable impressions quickly voiced in the United States.

The Communist party newspaper Pravda said Macmillan had made "rude anti-Russian attacks," Moscow radio reported. This was comment on Macmillan's reference to subjugation of Baltic states by the Soviet Union.

But Pravda noted with approval that "the British governments intends to continue to seek an agreement with the Russians."

At Bonn, Chancellor Korad Adenauer said he had received a good impression of Macmillan's call for a non-aggression pact and perhaps a summit meeting later.

OTTAWA'S FIRST FATAL 'COPTER CRASH KILLS 3

Ottawa's first fatal helicopter crash claimed the lives of three men, identified as Glen Potter, 29, of Ottawa, pilot; Roy Lake, 28, Ottawa, and Pat Griffin, 30, of Toronto. The helicopter, which belonged to the department of transport, crashed into a farmer's field, three miles west of the city. Lake, seen above, and Griffin, were just "going along for the ride" as Potter gave the four-seater Bell 47-J helicopter, stationed at Uplands, a check flight. Eye-witnesses said the craft was flying at low altitude when its motor began to backfire. Suddenly a mushroom of flame enveloped the machine before it plunged to the ground.

Police Blotter

A stolen car from Elliott's used car lot on Dundas street, west; a hit-and-run accident on Pinnacle street, and a break-in at a Sunoco Service station just east of Trenton, were among the occurrences investigated by city and provincial police in the Belleville area over the weekend.

The auto taken from Elliott's was stolen Sunday night, while the break-in at the service station was reported this morning. Police were still investigating the Trenton area break-in shortly before noon today.

James McKenna told police that he left his car parked on Pinnacle street opposite the hydro office and when he returned he found it had been damaged by an unknown vehicle. Police are looking for a car damaged about the front right fender.

Another minor accident on Front street was investigated while William Vesterfelt, 155 Moira St. W., also complained of having his wallet stolen while he was playing hockey at the arena.

Some Believe Powerful Mafia Exists in United States

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP)—Who rubbed out Albert Anastasia? Who shot Frank Costello?

Is America on the brink of a gory crime war? Who is No. 1 in the crime hierarchy? Who wants to be?

Is the Mafia ominously real? Or is it a storybook word to catch the headlines?

These are problems occupying law enforcement agencies while a disturbed public awaits the next move.

Hints of a possible new blood bath are to be found in Costello's brush with death, Anastasia's gangland-style killing in a hotel barber shop in midtown New York and the recent mysterious "summit conference" on a wooded hilltop in Apalachin, N.Y.

PROOF COMES HARD

Crime is a shadowy substance. It's much easier to suspect than to prove. Most authorities believe it operates at a national level. Some think there is an organized international group.

For years many have scoffed at the existence of a powerful Mafia. They tell you the old Sicilian-based society was wiped out by Benito Mussolini years ago. Some say the real leadership rests in the Unione - Siciliano, a multi-national confederation. Others insist the Mafia, the old Neopoltan Camorra and the Unione are interchangeable parts of the same organization. Even the authorities disagree.

The Mafia, once known in the United States as the Black Hand, is a Sicilian protective and benefit organization at home, called "the Honorable Society" by Sicilians.

It was formed centuries ago as a secret underground to protect Sicilians against their foreign rulers. Mafia became virtually a state within a state, enforcing its own law for the benefit of those under its protection.

HAS LONG ARM

Mafia still collects "taxes" to finance its "benefit" in Sicily. Its driving force is the vendetta, or revenge against those who scorn its protection. It can reach into prison to avenge a betrayer. It can see that farms prosper—or don't.

The U.S. narcotics bureau rates the Mafia as a most important factor in the drug traffic.

But the FBI doesn't see eye to eye.

An FBI source in Washington says 30 or 40 years ago there was some basis for talk of Mafia terror on a local scale. He insists tales of an international network are nothing more than "a nice storybook phrase."

Debatable though the Mafia seems to be, everybody has a pet theory about the Costello shooting, the Anastasia murder and the affair of Apalachin.

COSTELLO SEMI-RETIRED

Costello, often described as the No. 1 man of the syndicate, is in trouble with the income tax and immigration people. At 66, he generally is pictured in semi-retirement, about ready to hand over the reins to a new No. 1.

His scalp was creased with a 38-calibre slug on May 2, in an awkward attempt to kill him. In his pocket was found a slip of paper on which had been written figures corresponding exactly to the take of a Las Vegas gambling casino.

Was Costello shot because he was talking too much? Or was he in the way of a younger element, seeking to take charge?

The attempt on Costello's life was amateurish compared with the professional killing of Anastasia in October. The man who allegedly had a hand in 63 killings as the reported "lord high executioner" of Murder, Inc., had no hint of his end. He walked into the barber shop of a New York hotel and calmly took a seat. Two masked men walked in, pumped 10 shots into him and fled.

Anastasia, 53, was old enough to be a member of the old guard which must go if a younger element takes over. He also was reported to be a "don" (leader) in the Mafia and a potential threat to the man who might succeed Costello. Some even said he had been involved in the attempt on Costello's life.

THE MOB MEETS

The "why" of the Apalachin convention attended by 58 workers is even more debatable.

Some of the theories advances say it occurred:

1. To cut up Anastasia's empire.
2. To stamp out a revolt of the youthful element.
3. To consider the effects of the U.S. Senate investigations.
4. To elect a new No. 1 of the Mafia.
5. To handle blabbermouths who were talking too much.
6. To execute—or spirit away—Anastasia's killers.

If any of the Apalachin visitors are deported to Italy, they will have plenty of company. Lucky Luciano, convicted of compulsory prostitution in the U.S. in 1936 and deported 10 years later, and Joe Adonis are back in Italy.

The old order seems to be crumbling. But a new generation, lean and hungry, is eager to take over. Perhaps the shot at Costello and the slaying of Anastasia are the first signs. If the Apalachin barbecue was a real council of war, the worst is yet to come.

BREAK FOR PANAMA

BALBOA (AP) — The Panama Canal Co. reported today that the closing of the Suez Canal last year boosted its revenue by $3,000,000. The company said about 1,600,000 tons of cargo that would have gone through the Suez came here instead.

More power to you

There was a time when I was always out of pocket because of carrying charges. You know how it is. My wife and I would see something we'd like for the home, so I'd buy it the easy way . . . or so I thought. Actually, I always finished up paying more than I had to. But, I smartened up. Know what I do now? I save for the things we want, at Imperial Bank of Canada. While I'm saving, my money earns me interest and, of course, I end up saving more money simply because I buy with cash. If you're one of the smart ones who saves for what he wants, more power to you.

Remember—when you buy on time, you pay interest.
When you save at Imperial, we pay you interest.

Mrs. K. Crouse Tosses Energy Into New Job

By CAROLYN WILLETT

Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Mrs. Katherine Crouse says she's looking forward to life at a slower pace.

But in the meantime she's tossing boundless energy into her job as president of the 4,000-member Ukrainian Catholic Women's League of Canada.

The tall, plump and pleasant Ottawa housewife returned last fall from a Rome meeting of the congress of the World Union of Catholic Women's Organizations.

Enthusiastic about her first overseas trip, this second-generation Canadian who speaks Ukrainian and understands other Slavic languages terms her six weeks abroad a "wonderful experience."

"I always was so proud of what people said about Canada," Mrs. Crouse said in an interview.

BUSY TRAVELLER

Now she's making plans to tell about congress meetings and her visits to Ukrainian refugee centres in Europe.

The world union, representing 36,000 members in 65 countries, was attended by two official Canadian delegates — Mrs. Crouse and Mrs. F. A. Bussieres of Quebec City, national president of the Catholic Women's League.

Mrs. Crouse, a native of Yorkton, Sask., says her schedule leaves little time to relax in her Ottawa apartment or to visit her son and daughter and four grandchildren in Toronto.

But her interest in her work keeps her going through the strain of meetings, speeches and travels.

Her husband, Julius, helps, too. "He knows what I'm doing and nags me along," says Mrs. Crouse.

Now a linguist with the federal citizenship department, Mr. Crouse formerly taught school in rural Saskatchewan where he was active in community welfare work with newcomers and where he met his wife.

Mrs. Crouse says one of the UCWL's major tasks is to take a "positive approach" to applying Christian standards to life.

And the Canadian workers were in "spiritual communion" with the "silent church" behind the Iron Curtain.

An organizer and charter member of the 14-year-old UCWL, she was elected national president two years ago and expects to retire from the post in July.

Weddings

HARRIS — COOMBES

On Saturday, December 28th., St. John's Anglican Church, Stirling, was the scene of a pretty Yuletide wedding when Enid Marilyn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Coombes of River Valley, became the bride of Mr. George Everett Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Harris, of Goderich. Rev. H. C. Secker of Kingston, formerly of Stirling, officiated.

The wedding music was provided by Mrs. Harry Morrow at the Hammond organ. A junior trio, Misses Gail, Linda Anne and Margaret Morrow, sang "Where'er You Walk" and "O Perfect Love."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride, carrying a white prayer book with gardenias and stephanotis, wore a gown of petal-white rosepoint lace and net over satin. The fitted bodice was fashioned with long sleeves ending in lily-points, and the bouffant net skirt was appliqued with points of lace. Her double fingertip veil of bridal net was held by a bandeau of mother-of-pearl.

The maid of honor, Miss Mavis Coombes, wore a waltz-length dress of azure blue crystal charm and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. Miss Veva Coombes in matching dress of twilight blue with bouquet of pink carnations, was bridesmaid.

The best man was Mr. Bruno Lapaine, while Mr. Bert Alexander and Mr. Martin Secker acted as ushers.

The reception line in the parish hall included the bride's mother attired in navy with corsage of red carnations and the bridegroom's mother in teal blue brocaded satin with pink corsage.

During the luncheon, which was in charge of St. John's Ladies' League, telegrams of congratulations and good wishes were received from the bridegroom's grandfather and grandmother Harris of Goderich; his grandmother MacDonald, Len and family, of Lucknow, and Mr. Al Leighton of Toronto.

For travelling to Brockville the bride chose a dress of turquoise wool with grey kid jacket and corsage of red roses. On their return they will reside at Knob Hill, Scarborough, as both are teachers on the Scarborough staff.

WIGGINS — BRONSON

On Thursday, January 2nd, at 2.00 p.m., a quiet wedding was solemnized in the United Church at Madoc, by the Reverend J. F. Lane, when Patricia Joy Bronson, of Crookston, Ontario, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bronson, became the bride of Marvin Bruce Wiggins, of Madoc, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wiggins.

The bride was becomingly attired in a beige wool suit with white accessories and corsage of pink roses. She was attended by Miss Sheila Smith, of Madoc, wearing a pearl grey suit with matching accessories, and coral corsage.

Mr. Brian Danford, of Madoc, attended the bridegroom.

Following a short honeymoon, the happy couple will reside in Trenton, Ontario.

SHAW — BEERWORTH

Trinity United Church parsonage, Madoc, was the setting on Saturday, December 28, for a quiet wedding when Mary Pearl Beerworth, of Bancroft, Ontario, was united in marriage to Eugene Shaw, of Oshawa, by the Reverend J. F. Lane, pastor of the church.

The bride wore a pretty gown of midnight blue silk crepe with white accessories, and corsage of pink carnations. She was attended by her daughter, Mrs. Norman Bruce, who was attired in light blue silver-flecked taffeta with blue accessories, and corsage of yellow carnations.

Mr. J. C. Bruce, of Bancroft, attended the bridegroom.

Following a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Shaw will reside in Oshawa.

ROLLINS — RAMSAY

A quiet, but pretty wedding was solemnized on Tuesday, December 24, in Trinity United Church, Madoc, at 2.30 p.m. when the Reverend J. F. Lane united in marriage Donalda Mary Ramsay, of Millbridge, Ontario, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Ramsay, to Carl Wellington Rollins, of Lakewood, California, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Rollins, of Cooper, Ontario.

The bride was attractively attired in a navy blue ensemble with white accessories, and carrying a white Bible crested with rosebuds.

She was attended by Mrs. Ernest Carswell, of Madoc, sister of the bride, wearing a plaid ensemble with white accessories.

Mr. Fred A. Rollins, of Cooper, Ontario, attended his brother.

Following the ceremony, the young couple left for a short wedding trip, after which they will leave for Lakewood, California, where they will reside.

Sack Silhouette Definitely Due for Big Push in '58

NEW YORK (AP) — Call it chemise, sack or shift—whatever the name, it's what most women are going to be wearing this spring.

As New York designers prepare to preview their spring collections for some 200 visiting fashion editors, it is apparent that if you're going to be in step with fashions in 1958, my dear, you're going to accept the sack silhouette.

This controversial fashion, which has been on its way for the last several years, was given priority at last fall's Paris showings, and is definitely due for the big push this spring.

Women who recall with horror the graceless styles of the 1920s may shudder and vow, "Never again!" But most of them will find themselves stepping out along about Easter in the modern version of flapper fashions. Such is the force of the high potentates of international fashion.

NOT AS BAD AS 1928

Though the outlook may be grim, it's really not as bad as it seems. Today's sack is far different from those of 30 years ago, and also different from the extreme versions shown in Paris. Designers have retained the basic silhouette but have modified and adapted it until it has become actually wearable.

The 1958 chemise is carefully shaped, smoothly fitted at shoulder, bust and hipline and often comes with a half belt, back or front. It has that new look demanded by the changing tides of fashion, but it doesn't necessarily make every woman look like a sack of potatoes.

The hemline is shorter, but only an inch or two shorter—not to the knees. And designers have found ways to draw the eye away from the unfitted midriff to other areas of the anatomy.

Interest at neckline and hemline focuses attention at these points, instead of at the waist. Much thought has been put into flattering necklines, which may stand away from the neck, portrait fashion, or may employ detail or color contrast as accents. Hemlines may be finished with a pleated flounce or slashes or low-placed trimming. Thus is the eye trained to accept a new silhouette.

UNFITTED SUITS

In the spring suit lineup, the unfitted look again is evident, with jackets straight and short, usually hugging the hipbones. Skirts are slender, often slightly pegged, and overblouses are almost universal.

The cropped jacket barely reaching the waistline also is important, as is the bloused jacket, usually with back fullness starting at the shoulders and drawn snugly in at the hips.

The dress-and-jacket costume, beloved by most women for its versatility, also is present in force. The chemise dress and full-length matching coat is another useful and effective outfit slated for spring favor.

ROPES OF BEADS

With the new straight, loose dresses, women are wearing ropes of beads and necklaces, earrings and bracelets. Hair is shorter and upswept. Shoes have pointed toes and needle heels. Hats also are likely to stress height.

The woman who has a small waistline and likes to make it evident will be happier with cocktail and evening dresses, which still are available with fitted tops and full skirts.

It may take a little time to get used to the new fashions—but at least they're new.

World Traveller

By TRACY ADRIAN

This young tourist was pictured while viewing the royal palace in Stockholm but she would be just as perfectly outfitted any other place in the world.

Her costume, designed for wear at home or abroad, consists of a sheath-type dress with three-quarter sleeves and a neat bow-tie neckline. It is of jersey in black, blue, green or gray-brown and rust in a herringbone pattern.

BASKING IN THE SUN

APPENDIX REMOVED

FREDERICTON (CP)—Major-General E. C. Plow, soon to become lieutenant-governor of Nova Scotia, underwent an appendicitis operation here Friday. His illness is expected to postpone the general's taking over the lieutenant-governor's post.

APOSTLE LEADS

ROSENORT, Man. (CP)—Nine girls and one boy were in the final round of a spelling contest here. Winner was Richard Apostle, 13-year-old grade eight student.

BIG MEAL

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Two boys and 16 girls learning cooking at Beal Technical school provided an 18-item meal for visiting education officials and the school committee. Roast turkey was the main dish.

Sisters of Charities Lay Stone for Mother House

HALIFAX (CP)—The Sisters of Charity, a Roman Catholic order whose members serve in many parts of Canada and the United States, have laid the cornerstone for a new mother house that will be on of the largest buildings in ground area in Eastern Canada.

It covers 4½ acres, has six intersecting wings with four enclosed courts, and will take two more years to build. It will have nine acres of floor space, be four storeys high in the front section, two storeys in the rear.

There will be sleeping quarters for 613 people, offices of the order, classrooms for Mount St. Vincent Academy and a chapel seating 650.

ESTABLISHED IN 1855

The Halifax community of the Sisters of Charity became a separate unit in 1855, six years after the first group of four sisters came here from New York. There are five other communities in North America, all in the United States. Their headquarters are in New York, Emmitsburg, Md., Cincinnati, Convent, J.J., and Greensberg, Pa.

The Halifax group has grown to more than 1,600 members scattered across Canada, the eastern U.S. and Bermuda. They are teachers, nurses, hospital and college administrators, social workers, professors, custodians of orphanages and of homes for the aged.

They are found in 93 establishments in six provinces and five states.

The sisters operate several hospitals. They opened a surgical ward in Halifax in 1886. It became the Halifax Infirmary. Others are at North Sydney, N.S. and Westlock, Hardsity and Jasper, all in Alberta.

They opened schools in Roxbury, Mass., in 1887 and Hamilton, Bermuda, in 1890. Later they went to schools in other parts of New England, New York, Western Canada, Quebec and Cape Breton.

They staff Indian residential schools at Cranbrook, B.C., and Shubenacadie, N.S.

Probably their most heroic performance was in 1866 when three sisters nursed hundreds of cholera victims landed at McNab's Island in Halifax harbor from a New York - bound immigrant ship. Three hundred of the 1,300 passengers were dead when the ship arrived. The rest were housed in tents until the epidemic was over.

The sisters left convents in Boston to nurse flu victims in the 1918 epidemic and gave first aid in Halifax after the 1917 explosion which destroyed much of the city.

OPERATE COLLEGE

They operate Mount St. Vincent College and Academy at suburban Rockingham, where the new mother house is being built. "The Mount" is the only independent women's college in Canada.

The new mother house replaces the original building destroyed by fire in 1951.

Newcomers to the order—postulants—go through a six-months probation period. Then if they desire and their superiors agree they begin two years as novices. At the end of that time they take vows of poverty, chastity and obedience and become full-fledged sisters. Another six years pass, however, before they take their final vows "in perpetuity."

The sisters spend at least three hours a day, seven days a week, in prayer and religious ritual.

Women's Activities

UNITED CHURCH W. A.

WELLINGTON—Mrs. Harold Nash opened her home for the December meeting of the United Church, W.A., Friday afternoon. The president, Mrs. Harry Pierson opened the meeting with a poem, "New Year's Eve Meditation", a welcome to the members, and visitors and a thank you to the hostesses.

The president reported on the Christmas cheer, plants, boxes, cards and candy sent to the Sunday School members.

Mrs. R. A. Thompson, corresponding secretary reported sending nine letters. A thank you note was read from Mrs. A. Morden, a cheery Christmas card from Mrs. L. N. McFaul, who is in Belleville for the winter. Letters were to be sent to the sick and bereaved.

Community friendship was reported by Mrs. Nash. She spoke of the new church parlor and how proud the W.A. should all be of the men who have worked so faithfully.

The report of the sale of Christmas calendars was not complete, as there are some still to be sold. The installation of officers for 1958 will be in January. The bills were received and moved to be paid. An executive meeting to plan for the new year's activities was held December 30th at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Bishop. The January meeting will be at the home of Mrs. C. Cleave the 28th at 2:30 p.m.

Group IV was in charge of the program. Mrs. Norman Allison announced the numbers.

Mrs. Ross gave a fine devotional on the New Year. The Scripture reading was from Revelations, 25, "Then I saw a new Heaven and a new Earth." Her theme was a new venture for tomorrow. She closed with a prayer for guidance for the New Year.

Mrs. Marvin read the "Legend of the Work Away Woman", who followed the three Wise Men.

The Spirit of Christmas, was read by Mrs. Allan Pettingell followed by a poem, read by Mrs. Bishop, "How the Great Guest Came".

There will be a sewing meeting January 16th at the home of Mrs. Pierson. Please bring scissors and a new apron pattern. Refresments were served by Group IV and a social half hour was enjoyed.

CHARGE POLICEMAN

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP)—Police officer Joseph E. Cameron, 31, has been charged with murder in the beating death of a Negro prisoner, Police Chief E. S. Moncrieff said Friday. The Negro, C. H. Pickett, died Dec. 23 at home after telling members of his family that he was beaten in city jail the night of Dec. 21. Pickett had been jailed on a drunkenness charge.

Mother's Helper

ALMOST every boy (and plenty of girls, too) gets the stamp collecting bug at some time. You can be helpful with this simple way of removing stamps from envelopes: cut off the stamped corner and soak it briefly in warm water. The stamp will peel off without damage, and will dry flat in a fold of newspaper under a heavy book.

Scarf Tricks

By ALICE ALDEN

Buyers' order-writing would indicate that the chemise is "in" and that it won't be wise to be "shiftless" come spring. Seasoning for the shift is important, especially in the form of neckline excitement. A richly beautiful scarf can be arranged and worn in individual fashion.

This one is of silk, its Paisley pattern interpreted in jewel tones to glow brightly against a neutral dress or to pick up sparks of color in tweeds. Tied loosely over the shoulder, the scarf adds a piquant touch as it points up the straight lines of the silhouette.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

Editor's Note: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Mrs. J. B. — Adele's punishment is too harsh.

Mr. J.B. — We've got to lay down the law now.

Mrs. J.B. — My 16-year-old daughter recently confessed to me that she was involved in intimacies with a boy at her high school. She was afraid she was pregnant and that's why she told me, but it turned out that she was mistaken.

Adele has sworn that such a thing will never happen again. She says she has learned her lesson. The poor girl was so terrified that she lost 15 pounds and became almost a nervous wreck.

Right now Adele says she does not want to go near another boy. She didn't even argue with her father when he said she would not be permitted to go on dates until she gets out of high school. But I am afraid the punishment is too harsh.

Mr. J.B. — What kind of punishment can be too harsh for a thing like that? How can you trust a girl who gets into that kind of trouble at her age? I'd never trust her again under any circumstances, but at least we can hedge her in until she gets out of high school. After that, I guess we'll just have to hope for the best — and keep our fingers crossed.

The way I see it, Adele has the fear of God in her now, but she'll get over the whole thing in a couple of months and will be raring to go out again. Unless we lay down the law now, we'll never be able to handle her later.

My wife has always been too easy on Adele and that's why this happened.

The Council: The question of punishment and what is too easy or too harsh puts the emphasis in the wrong place.

The real problem here is how to guide Adele toward a better life.

Fear is not enough to keep Adele on the right track morally or to lead her toward a happier life. Adele needs religious and personal guidance. She needs to fully understand why her behavior has been wrong. She needs to find a positive desire to do right through a deeper knowledge of society's reasons for condemning behavior like hers. She can only gain this through religious and ethical training.

It is very likely that within a couple of months Adele will be "raring to go out again." She needs to go out and to learn to socialize with boys without running into trouble — and without fear of herself and the boys. The long punishment her father prescribes will only build up her fears, her feeling of resentment and a desire to break completely free at the earliest opportunity.

Adele's problems are probably already too serious for her parents to handle by themselves. They should enlist help from their clergyman and possibly a social worker connected with a family agency.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Beeckman

TODAY'S COURTESY TIP. . GRACE-NOTES FOR YOUR NEW YEAR

As you step forth into the New Year, let that shining word grace be your inspiration to good and endearing manners. The goodness and kindness you put into what you do and what you say is, remember an outward and visible sign of an inward and spiritual Grace.:

In thought-compelling and highly-inspirational words, the very wise Hilaire Belloc wrote these never-to-be-forgotten lines:

"Of Courtesy, it is much less
Than Courage of Heart and Holiness,
Yet in my walks it seems to me
That the Grace of God is in Courtesy."

HOST MENTIONS HIS GUEST'S ORDER FIRST

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

This is a bet, and we'd like to have you settle it. We're A and B, and we agree with you that, when a girl is the guest of a man at dinner in a restaurant, she should give her order to her host, and not to the waiter. But our bet: A says that when the man then gives both orders to the waiter, he should mention the girl's order first, that he should make a point of doing this, because it is more polite, sounds much better. B maintains that it makes no difference which order he mentions first. Who wins the bet?

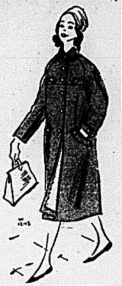
— A and B

A wins the bet! I hope you are A, and I have a feeling you are, for you give such perfect reasons for your point of view. When the host does what he should do . . . mention his guest's order first, as he is giving the two orders to the waiter . . . this sequence is a pleasant and subtle compliment to her. (As a matter of fact, when a man is host to another man at dinner in a restaurant or in his club, he should courteously mention his guest's order first as he gives both orders to the waiter.)

TRIAL IS FATAL

KRUVERSDORP, South Africa (Reuters)—A 43-year-old father of four, Frederick Jacobs, enjoying a drink in his home here with a friend Thursday night, suddenly declared: "I want to see how a person shoots himself." Lifting a pistol to his head, he fired two shots—and fell dead.

Teen-Age Fashions



By VERA WINSTON

Teen-agers live in a world of their own these days. More and more fashion houses are turning out clothes especially for them, clothes that are as attractive as they are suitable, and as pleasing to mother as to daughter. Here is a typical design, a coat of gray wool flannel lined in white orlon pile. Distinguishing yoke detail marks front and back; buttoned banding is repeated at the pockets and sleeves. The topper is attractive, too, in red.

Meat-Penny Plain Or Tuppence Fruited Fancy

By Mary Moore

Has the excitement subsided? Are you relieved to know that you can go to bed early tonight?

Would you like to cook a plain meal, or are you still on the fancy list?

Dinner Menus

by Mary Moore

MONDAY

Turkey Chop Suey; Fluffy Boiled Rice; Tossed Green Salad; Hot Broiled Grapefruit; Crackers and Cheese; Coffee.

Believe it or not I have offerings to suit both states of mind.

You could serve the chopped beef cakes with or without jelly-glazed bananas or the Swiss steak with or without spiced apricots.

I hesitate to prod you about costs but these meat recipes are so basic and should be in the beef section of your meat file for easy reference.

CHOPPED BEEF CAKES
(With or without fruit glaze)

Mix 1½ lbs. ground beef with ½ cup soft bread crumbs, 1-3 cup milk and 1 well-beaten egg. Season with salt, pepper and 1 teaspoon grated onion. Shape into round cakes. Place on a greased hot broiling pan and broil, until done to the degree that you like. While these are cooking you can be glazing the bananas at the same time.

GLAZED BANANAS:

Peel and quarter 4 underripe bananas cutting lengthwise and then crosswise. Place them in a shallow baking dish. Beat ½ cup of jelly with 4 tablespoons melted butter, juice ½ lemon, until well blended. Pour over bananas and place under broiler with the meat cakes. Baste bananas occasionally. When the meat is done the bananas will be done and soft with a wonderful glaze. Place meat cakes, each on a round of toast, pour over a little of the glaze and arrange bananas around the platter. Pour remaining glaze over and serve piping hot.

SWISS STEAK
(With or without fruit garnish)

Buy a 2½ to 3-lb. piece from the round of beef, about 1 to 1½" thick. Mix 1½ teaspoons each dry mustard and salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, and ¾ cup flour. Pound the seasoned flour into the meat with a mallet or the edge of a saucer using all the seasoned flour possible. Melt 3 tablespoons fat in large frying pan and brown the meat well on both sides. (You may use a Dutch oven). Sprinkle 1½ cups sliced onions, 2 carrots, diced over the meat. Add 2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce and 2 teaspoons brown sugar to 3 cups canned tomatoes and pour over meat. Cover and bake at 325 deg. F. Or simmer on top of the stove for 1½ to 1¾ hours till done. Skim off fat from sauce and thicken to consistency of medium white sauce. Serve on hot platter garnished with:

SPICED APRICOTS:

Drain the syrup from a 20-oz. tin of whole apricots. To the syrup add 1-3 cup cider vinegar, 1-3 cup sugar, 12 whole cloves and 1½ sticks of cinnamon, that has been broken into pieces. Simmer 15 minutes. Pour hot syrup over apricots and let stand overnight or longer if you wish.

These apricots are a good investment to have for cold meats. The longer they stand the more highly spiced they become.

WORKING WITH CANADIANS IN EVERY WALK OF LIFE SINCE 1817

MELROSE

W.M.S. Elects 1958 Officers

MELROSE — The Melrose Woman's Missionary Society met at the home of Mrs. Russell MacFarlane for the meeting of the New Year.

Mrs. Charles Bates, president, opened the meeting with a welcome to all, extending best wishes for a happy and prosperous year in 1958.

The theme for the worship service, conducted by Mrs. Bates, was "The Second Mile".

Mrs. R. MacFarlane read the Scripture lesson. The discussion period as given in the missionary monthly. led by the president, was well answered by several members.

A short business period followed. Miss McLaren gave the treasurer's report and stated that the allocation of $270 for 1957 ha dbeen forwarded to the Presbyterial treasurer. Mrs. Demille, card secretary reported sending Christmas greetings to several senior ladies.

The World Day of Prayer meeting will be held late in February at the home of Mrs. Clayton Osborn.

OFFICERS INSTALLED

In an impressive ceremony, Mr. Robinson conducted the installation of officers for 1958, as follows: past president — Mrs. George Morgan; president — Mrs. Charles Bates, Sr., 1st vice-president — Mrs. J. Milligan, 2nd vice-president — Miss M. Bailey, secretary — Mrs. S. Demille, treasurer — Miss M. McLaren, pianist — Mrs. S. Demille, Mission Band leader — Miss Nancy Scott, assistant — Mrs. N. Demille, Baby Band leader — Mrs. J. MacFarlane, assistant — Mrs. M. Lazier, secretary of stewardship — Mrs. C. Osborn, citizenship — Mrs. E. Badgley, literature — Mrs. J. Milligan, supply — Mrs. R. MacFarlane, missionary monthly — Mrs. R. Badgley, community friendship — Mrs. G. McLaren, card and flower fund — Mrs. E. Embury, press secretary — Miss M. Bailey, assistant — Mrs. J. Mulligan.

Mrs. E. M. Badgley, group leader, opened the program with a New Year's mesage on a "Lesson plan for our lives for this year" Mr. Robinson read the prayer hymn, "O Master, Let Me Walk With Thee", asking each one to make these lines an individual prayer.

READS INDIAN LETTER

Mrs. Bates and Mrs. Milligan read a letter received from the Rev. John Lougheed and Mrs. Lougheed, now serving in India, which told of their work and also of their family life. Mrs. Bates gave a New Year's poem followed by a paper, "Taking A Spiritual Inventory" by Mrs. Milligan.

Mrs. Demille quoted those beautiful old lines, "Ring Out the Old, Ring In the New," and Miss Bailey read a message in preparation for the World's Day of Prayer, after which she gave a summary of the 4th chapter of the study on Japan, "Post-War Trends and Gains." "Old-age traditions are deep rooted and there is a life and death struggle in Japan now between the new and the old.

"During the war, all freedoms were suppressed but now the people are free to think their own thoughts and dream their own dreams. The change of the status of women is startling. Now they have equality with men and are invested with the same rights."

"The expanded freedoms that have been given to the Japanese people affect their religious life. Before and during the war Shintoism could be demanded of every Japanese but now that day has passed. The Christians of the West have a heavy responsibility for these people for our nations have been the agents of change in Japan. But before we can give effectual help we ourselves must be filled with the spirit of our Master.

"As the New Year dawns may it bring us all closer to our Master, fill us with love and faith so that we can fulfil His command to 'Preach the Gospel to Every Creature'."

Mrs. Badgley thanked all who had helped to give this fine program.

Mr. Robinson closed the meeting with prayer.

A social hour was spent when the hostess served refreshments.

Opera Singer Apologizes For Stormy Walkout

ROME (AP) — Prima donna Maria Meneghini Callas had dispatched a letter of apology to President Giovanni Gronchi as the tempest rages on over the stormy soprano's Rome opera walkout.

Gronchi cooled his heels nearly an hour Thursday night with 3 000 other customers after the first-act curtain rang down on Bellini's Norma. The management finally announced that the show would not go on after Miss Callas tearfully told officials she had lost her voice.

The tempest was over the question: Did she lose her voice or her temper?

Miss Callas' husband, Milan millionaire Giovanni Battista Meneghini, said earlier that it was not necessary for hs wife to apologize to the president, but she apparently changed her mind.

While the American-born prima donna kept to her bed with what her doctor described as bronchitis and laryngitis, music lovers peppered her with criticism.

TEMPER TROUBLE

Italian newspaper critics claim it was her temper, not her voice, that got out of control.

The papers also have levelled shafts at Elsa Maxwell, American columnist, television performer and party-giver, for defending Miss Callas, a close friend.

Miss Maxwell hastened to the singer's dressing room Thursday night to comfort her. She later told reporters Miss Callas had tried to sing the lead role despite a bad cold and described the attempt as the "bravest thing I ever saw."

Miss Maxwell criticized the opera company management for allegedly insisting that Miss Callas sing despite a cold, and called the public's reaction to her performance "in extremely bad taste."

One Italian newspaper retorts that Miss Maxwell herself was guilty of bad taste "for meddling in what does not concern her."

Leading Polish Scientist Tells Why He Fled

BALTIMORE (AP)—Dr. Jerzy Leon Nowinski, one of Poland's leading theoretical scientists, says he defected to the West to escape "political, moral and religious conditions" in his native land.

"It is this feeling of freedom we feel so strongly in the United States that compares with the difficult problem of living in Poland," the 52-year-old mathematical wizard told a press conference Friday.

Nowinski arrived here Nov. 16 as a guest professor at Johns Hopkins University. He applied to the FBI for refuge shortly after learning that his wife and seven - year - old daughter had reached safety in England.

Nowinski is internationally known as a specialist in thermoelasticity—the study of stresses caused by heat on materials.

Discussing his reasons for defecting, Nowinski said he was "rather disappointed with the political, the moral and the religious conditions in Poland after the war."

A Romakn Catholic, he said he and his wife had decided that their daughter "must attend a school with better religious and moral conditions" than the Communist schools of Poland.

Carmel

CARMEL — A nice Christmas Day was enjoyed by several who entertained their friends.

Mrs. M. Reynolds entertained her family, and the Patterson's had as Christmas dinner guests Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tummon and family, Mr. and Mrs. Garth Haine and family, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Patterson and family, and Mr. and Mrs. D. Williams and girls.

Mr. and Mrs. George Moorman entertained friends Christmas Day.

Mrs. E. Zufelt spent Christmas and the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Dafoe and family.

PHONE BOOK OMISSION

NEW YORK (AP)—The state Supreme Court has ruled that the New York Telephone Co. need not reprint 889,000 copies of the 1958 Brooklyn classified directory because the book omitted a subscriber. Seymour R. Bittner, who operates three metal and glass firms, contended that the omission might cost his companies $25,000 in lost business.

Culture Palace Breeding Ground For Hooliganism

WARSAW, Poland (Reuters)—A Warsaw newspaper Friday pictured the huge Russian - built Palace of Culture here as the scene of wild drinking and sex orgies by young comrades.

The story in the newspaper Glos Pracy says the lounges, theatres and bathrooms are breeding grounds for hooligan parties by evening technical school students.

An army of Russian workmen constructed the 30-storey palace between 1952 and 1955 as a gift to Poland from the Soviet Union.

Delving through 310 pages of palace records, a reporter for Glos Pracy says he has uncovered these accounts of scenes:

"The calm of a television show in the palace's public television hall was suddenly broken by a woman's cry of 'lights on.' When the lights flashed on the audience saw a half-naked girl struggling with two youths in a corner.

"Night watchmen passing through the warm, soft-carpeted corridors in the upper part of the palace surprised a couple under the influence of drink behaving immorally. The youth started a quarrel.

CAUGHT IN ACT

"In a marbled exhibition hall, a 13-year-old girl was writing a rude phrase on the wall with her lipstick. She did not realize two ushers were standing behind her. Her mother was called and reprimanded the girl for having admitted that she was to blame.

The newspaper adds that parents called to the palace to discipline their children claim they are helpless, saying: "Deal with them yourself—we have given up already."

Little Benny's Notebook

My cousin Artie stayed for dinner, and we were waiting to be called for it up in my room arguing and having fun, and pop stuck his head in, saying, For Peet sake dinner is reddy, didn't you hear me calling you?

No sir, we must of been too bizzy talking to each other, I said and pop said, You meen too bizzy yelling at each other like primitive savages in a primeval jungle. If you 2 civilized cousins cant get along peacefully together, what's going to happen to you when you are thrown out amung hostile barbarians who are no relation to you? he said.

Well heck, pop, we weren't fighting, were we, Artie? I said, and Artie said, Heck no, we were just talking frendly.

Yee gods, when peeple are frendly do they yell in each others faces as if they were a block away from each other? pop said, and I said, Sure they do, pop. All the fellows do, I said.

But for the love of Peet why? pop said, and I said, It proves they're interested.

In that case I better prove I'm interested, pop said, and he stuck his face close to ours and yelled. Dinner is on the table downstairs and we're on the 2nd floor, so let's go.

Sure, pop, let's go, I yelled back and Artie yelled, Let's go, I am hungry.

Which just then ma called up, William, cant you get those boys down in a peaceable manner for land sakes?

The result being we all went downstairs laffing and feeling grate.

Proving nuthing is more sociable than a lot of noise.

Minister Sees No Defence Against Subs

OTTAWA (CP) — Defence minister G. R. Pearkes says North America is vulnerable to attack by missile-launching submarines.

He told the Commons Saturday "There is nothing to prevent" any vessel approaching to territorial water limits, which in general extend only three miles off coast.

He spoke in reply to Victor Quelch (SC—Acadia) who had asked how near the North American coast could enemy submarines approach before action could be taken against them.

The minister said they could not be attacked before they entered territorial waters "unless they committed some overt act of war," such as attacking a Canadian vessel.

Mr. Quelch said Canada is in a vulnerable position because it can be ringed around by Russian submarines which the Allies believe are armed with rocket-launching devices

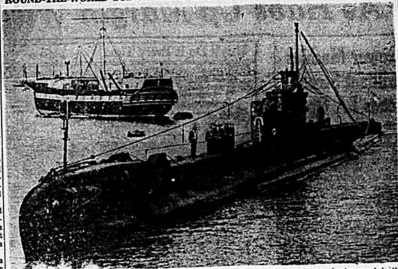
ASKS RE ATTACK

"If this is so, what is to prevent them at a certain specified time launching an attack on towns all around the American continent?" he asked.

[illegible] Pearkes replied: "I will [illegible] that we are in a vulnerable position and that is a threat which we have to face. But as long as there are naval craft of another country cruising off our shores in a peaceful way we certainly cannot take any hostile action . . . We are not going to start a war. If they start launching rockets against us then of course we will take immediate action against the submarines."

He added, however: "Let me stress the fact that it is the fear of retaliation which we hope will stop the foolhardiness of any country in attacking this continent by any means whatever."

ROUND-THE-WORLD SUB RETURNS HOME TO U.K. AFTER EIGHT YEARS



The HMS Thorough, believed to be the first submarine to sail around the world, left Plymouth, England, on October, 1949, for Sydney, Australia, where she provided anti-submarine training for the Royal Australian and New Zealand navies. Since then she has sailed 126,021 miles and included, in her last voyage, crossings of both the Pacific and Atlantic oceans. Above, the Thorough is shown as she returned to Portsmouth under the command of Lt. Cmdr. Richard Mason, after an absence of eight years. In the background is the Foudroyant, captured by the British from the French in 1758, used by Lord Nelson as his flagship in 1799, veteran of battles against both the French and Dutch, and more recently, used as a British training vessel.

First Weekend Of 1958 Brings 28 Fatal Mishaps

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Canada's first weekend in the new year had 28 accidental deaths.

Traffic mishaps accounted for 17 of the fatalities, a Canadian Press survey from 6 p.m. local time Friday to midnight Sunday showed.

Quebec led with 10 deaths, six traffic victims and four children who burned to death in their house at Vaudreuil.

Ontario counted six traffic victims, an accidental shooting and an 83-year-old blind pensioner who froze to death when he left his cabin to get water and lost his way.

Nova Scotia had three fatalities and New Brunswick one. Saskatchewan had two fire deaths and British Columbia and Manitoba two traffic fatalities each.

Ontario deaths:

Gerald McGuigan, 22, of Oshawa was fatally injured Sunday when thrown from his car as it left Highway 401 and crashed into trees at Pickering near Toronto.

Dr. Richard Flach, 50-year-old dentist, shot himself accidentally while cleaning his gun Sunday night in his home near Hamilton.

Harold Whetham, 26, of Norval was killed Saturday when his milk transport was hit by a CPR train at Brampton.

Lloyd Loftus, 83, a blind pensioner living in a cabin at Sulphide, 30 miles northeast of Belleville, was found frozen to death Saturday. He apparently became lost when he went to pump some water.

Andy Jensen, 28, and his son Lais, 2, were killed Friday night when the family car struck a passing CNR passenger train at Georgetown, 20 miles east of Guelph. Jensen's wife, Mirsten, 24, and a daughter, Benta, 4, were slightly injured.

Larry Heptings, 27, of Azilda was fatally injured Friday night when his truck was hit by a CPR train in Azilda, 10 miles northeast of Sudbury. Passenger Olivier Sylvain, 35, was severely injured.

Russell Keith Nicholson, 24, of Toronto was killed Sunday when a car crashed at St. Catharines while being chased by a police cruiser on the Queen Elizabeth Way.

The driver of the car, Berlyn Schnare, 30, of Toronto, was charged with criminal negligence after treatment for minor injuries. Constable D. A. Holmes of Niagara Falls said he began chasing the car when it passed him.

After two miles the car went out of control on a curve, crashed through a traffic signal and came to rest against the wall of a restaurant. Nicholson was thrown from the car as it swerved off the highway.

OPERA STAR TO SING "THE BLUES?"

The gala opening of Rome's opera season was ruined by fiery soprano Maria Meneghini Callas who locked herself in her dressing room after singing the first act of Bellini's "Norma," complaining of hoarseness. The 34-year-old singer from New York, who is seen at right walking off the stage after the first act, has been embroiled in many incidents. Her latest brought boos from the audience which contained many dignitaries, when the management called off the remainder of the opera. Miss Callas apparently had "felt that hoarseness coming for days" and tried to overcome it by taking quinine and a stimulant injection before the performance.

Mr. Leslie Reid, Mrs. Emma Rowe and Wayne Rowe, were New Year's dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Cooney.

Protection ...at your fingertips

Safety in the automobile is optional at no extra cost. No mechanical safety device can replace the protection of careful driving.

Last year, traffic accidents claimed the lives of more Canadians than ever before. Someone was injured every 8 minutes. A car was damaged every 48 seconds. Automobile insurance claims rose to more than $150,000,000.

One result of this is higher automobile insurance rates — because what is paid out in claims must be brought in by premiums. But even more important is the fact that you hold your life, and the lives of others, in your hands when you get behind the wheel of a car.

Safety pays dividends . . . saves lives, helps to lower your insurance costs. Be Careful.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

The way of the hockey coach is hard. This has been and is being a particularly hard semester on the guys who helm the puckchasing ships. Not a few have fallen by the wayside due to some reason or other. They are coming and going, and the strange fact is that none of the clubs which have switched coaches, playing and otherwise, has noted much change fo rthe better. In some cases it is the opposite.

Gerry Plamondon of the Pembroke Lumber Kings is an outstanding case. A few weeks ago Ken Campbell, playing coach of the Kings since the start of the season, resigned from the director's post and went back to the playing ranks. Just who brain-stormed the Kings for the period between appointments is not known by this department, but Wally Lenser's crew suddenly showed surprising power, whipping Cornwall, Kingston and Whitby, the latter club in their own arena, in a row. The Kings went on a rampage that bade fair to take them to the top.

Then the McFarlands tied them, and they dropped the next game. Lenser then announced he had appointed Gerry Plamondon, who coached the Cornwall Chevies last year to second place—and what happened?

Not only have the Kings not won either of their two starts under Plamondon as coach, but they appear to have lost their offensive potential completely. The Kingston CKLC's who have not been setting the league afire, surprised the Eastern circuit by blanking the Kings 3-0 in the Pembroke arena, and Saturday night the Whitby Dunlops had their revenge for a former 5-4 setback by the Kings in the Dunnies' arena by hanging a 7-0 collar on the guys from the northern town.

The Cornwall Chevies after dickering with several name players as coach for their 1957-58 squad finally draped the mantle of ice and bench leadership on last year's defence star, Joe Lepine.

After a not too successful start the Cornwall brass decided on a shuffle. They released defenceman (or rather sold him to Washington), Hugh Campbell, and gave Lepine his outright release. As is known the McFarlands picked up Joe and from his performance last Friday night against his old club, the Macs made no mistake.

After a period of ups and downs, mostly downs, the Chevies' management appointed another Chevie player to take over the coaching reins—and play, too. He is Bob Bingley, a rugged defenceman, but who from the records has no coaching experience. However, as in the case of Lepine, the Cornwall "bugle" rang out loud and brassy tooting the fine qualities of Bingley as a coach. It could be it is readying a requiem.

But the sad story is, as in the case of Pembroke's Plamondon, the Chevies have yet to win a game under their new mentor. They were well beaten here last Friday 5-1 and were trounced again in Whitby 7-0 Saturday night and again on Sunday by the Dunnies in their own little backyard. The Chevies have now lost eight games in a row, the longest losing string in the Eastern League to date this season. They form the opposition for the Macs here next Saturday night and not the Ottawa-Hull Canadiens as was erroneously announced.

Even the Whitby Dunlops powerhouse had its coach troubles, or so it was reported. In any event Manager Wren Blair relieved playing coach Bus Gagnon of his duties last year before the playoffs and took over the job himself. This year he acquired former Leaf Sid Smith as playing mentor and thus far the choice has paid off. After all, what serious trouble should a coach encounter with puck talent like the Dunlops have in the east?

Other leagues have had their troubles. The Windsor Bulldogs fired their manager Georgie Gee. The Sudbury Wolves let Nick Tomiuk go and hired Johnny "Peanuts" Flaherty for the third time.

Down Kingston way a great guy, "Bun" Cook, is quietly juggling his hockey cards. Undaunted by early ill-success with more than a modicum of bad luck, "Bun" is building a squad that is now showing promise as a contender for league honors. Here in Belleville, Ike Hildebrand—well, nuff sed. The Macs are in second place.

PETERBOROUGH HERE TONIGHT

The Peterborough Stoneys, leaders in the Eastern Ontario Junior "B" league, will be the guests of the Belleville Lamports-Rollins youngsters in Memorial Arena tonight. The Petes are a classy bunch of puckchasers who have been beaten but once this season, but the local youngsters have their own ideas about tonight's game.

The last time the teams clashed in Peterborough the Belleville kids led all the way until the last half of the third period when the Petes popped home enough goals to snatch victory from what looked like defeat on their home ice.

The locals dropped a toughie to Kingston in overtime the other night, but they figure they can take this starry Peterborough club on their own ice tonight. Game gets under way at 8.30.

Cougars Get Rags Raglan

VICTORIA (CP) — Clarence (Rags) Raglan, 30-year-old defenceman who had three tries in the National Hockey League, has been acquired by Victoria Cougars of the Western Hockey League.

Raglan, a native of Pembroke, was released by Saskatoon-St. Paul Regals to conform to the WHL Prairie division's new 12-player limit. Coach Pat Egan of Cougars said he had not decided whom Raglan will replace.

Quebec Hockey

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Upsets marked Quebec Hockey League action Sunday as the pace-setting Chicoutimi Sagueneens took a day off.

Danny Belisle scored three goals and netminder Jacques Marcotte recorded his second shutout of the season in a 5-0 triumph for fourth-place Trois-Rivieres Lions over third-place Quebec Aces.

The tail-end Montreal Royals walloped second-place Shawinigan Falls Cataracts 7-3 in the other game at Montreal.

Blues, Wings Bow to Leaders, Black Hawks' Three-in-Row Tightens Spread in Pack

By MARTY GOODMAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

For one team in the National Hockey League the rest of the schedule is apparently only a formality. But for the five other teams a nip-and-tuck race is just beginning.

Montreal Canadiens won both their weekend games to increase their first-place lead to 16 points over New York Rangers. A 4-0 victory Sunday in New York destroyed any illusions about an upset in the race to the title.

But the loss—New York's fifth straight—and three straight wins by the last-place Chicago Black Hawks tightened the spread between second and sixth place to seven points from 13.

COACHING DEBUTS

The weekend also featured the coaching debuts of Rudy Pilous of Chicago and Sid Abel of Detroit. Hawks won two games for Pilous, who succeeded Tommy Ivan, defeating Toronto Maple Leafs 4-2 Saturday and Boston Bruins 4-3 Sunday.

Red Wings lost 2-1 Saturday to Montreal Canadiens as Jim Skinner watched Abel's progress but won 3-2 Sunday at home against Toronto Maple Leafs when Abel officially took over.

In Saturday's third game Boston defeated New York 7-4.

The results left Bruins in third place, three points behind New York and one ahead of Detroit. Toronto trails the Wings by two points and is one ahead of Chicago.

LEAD ALL DEPARTMENTS

Montreal's victories made a shambles of the standings. The Canadiens now are the only team with more wins than losses, are the only team to average better than a point-a-game, have scored almost twice as many goals as Chicago and have been least scored against. And during their latest rampage—six straight victories — they've been without Maurice (Rocket) Richard and Jean Beliveau, both out with injuries.

Sunday at New York the Canadiens scored four goals in the first period and then coasted to victory. It was only their third win against five losses in nine games against the Rangers.

Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion scored his 17th and 18th goals and had an assist. Dickie Moore and Claude Provost were the other Montreal scorers.

Saturday Don Marshall's 15th goal tied the game in the third period and Bert Olmstead tipped in Doug Harvey's shot to win it. Red Kelly scored for Detroit.

Ron Murphy scored the tying and winning goals for Chicago Sunday. Ed Litzenberger and Billy Dea were the other Hawk scorers.

Johnny Bucyk, Bronco Horvath and Fleming Mackell scored for Boston.

Ted Lindsay sparked the Hawks Saturday with two goals, the second into an empty net after Toronto removed goalie Ed Chadwick for a sixth forward.

Pierre Pilote and Dea also scored for Chicago. Billy Harris and George Armstrong were the Leaf marksmen.

Boston scored six goals within seven minutes in the third period Saturday to come from behind a three-goal deficit and beat New York. Bucyk had three goals and Vic Stasiuk a goal and three assists.

Other Bruin marksmen were Real Chevrefils, Larry Regan and Jerry Toppazzini.

Scoring for New York were Bill Gadsby, Camille Henry, George (Red) Sullivan and Dave Creighton. It was Henry's 20th goal of the year. He is tied for the goal-scoring lead with Detroit's Gordie Howe.

Howe's 20th came Sunday and was the winning goal against Toronto. Detroit has yet to lose to Toronto this season, having won five and tied two. The loss was Toronto's fourth straight.

John Wilson and Kelly also scored for Detroit. Brian Cullen and Tod Sloan scored for Toronto.

Springfield Bids For 4th Spot With Two Wins

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Springfield Indians are out of the American Hockey League cellar and bidding for fourth and last playoff position.

While the top four teams—Hershey, Cleveland, Providence and Buffalo—were splitting two weekend games and the Rochester Americans were dropping a pair, the Indians won two.

The Indians defeated Rochester 7-4 Saturday night and then turned back Cleveland 4-3 Sunday night to move a point ahead of the Americans and a point back of Buffalo.

The Bisons split a pair with the league-leading Hershey Bears, winning 7-4 on their home ice Sunday night after dropping a 4-3 overtime decision at Hershey Saturday. The Barons whipped Providence 7-2 Saturday and then the Reds defeated the Americans 7-2 Sunday night.

INDIANS NOT

Al Nicholson scored the deciding goal at 9:18 of the third period in the Springfield-Cleveland game as the Indians chalked up their third victory in the last four games. Nicholson's goal came after Harry Pidhirny tied the count at 1:48 of the final period. Both goalies had busy nights in the net. Johnny Bower has 45 saves for Cleveland and Claude Evans 44 for Springfield.

Dick Gamble tallied twice in leading the Bisons to their victory over the Bears Sunday night. The seven goals matched Buffalo's highest output for the season as the Bisons registered their second triumph of the campaign over the Bears.

Jim Bartlett scored twice in five seconds to match the league record for the two fastest goals and four in all in pacing the Reds to their one-sided triumph over the Americans. The scrappy forward's twin strike came during the 14th minute of the first period, one on a 35-foot blast and the other on a 45-footer on the following faceoff.

Brewer Mashies Brilliant Stroke, Leads LA Open

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gay Brewer Jr., 25, a comparative youngster on the golf tournament trail, leads the pack by one stroke in today's final scramble for the $7,000 first-place money in the Los Angeles Open.

Brewer climaxed a brilliant third round Sunday by dropping a 15-foot putt on the 18th hole as the sun cast long, deep shadows across the green lined with a good portion of the gallery crowd of some 20,000 fans.

A loud roar exploded when the ball plunked home, giving the husky young pro a brilliant 67 for the afternoon and 207 for 54 holes. His total was one stroke better than Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, who also turned in a 67.

TWO STROKES BACK

E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, second round leader by two strokes, turned in a par 71 over the 7,100-yard Rancho course and remained in striking distance with a 209 total.

Tied at 210 were Billy Casper of Apple Valley, Calif., with a 68 and 22-year-old Tommy Jacobs of nearby Whittier with a 70.

Four strokes off the pace at 211 were Toronto's Al Balding with a fine third-round 68, and Bo Wininger of Odessa, Tex., with a 70.

Balding's previous rounds were 71 and 72.

The field was cut to 76 for fourth-round play, with scores of 221 or lower qualifying. Jerry Magee of Toronto was eliminated with a 77-70-75—222.

Braves Mail 1958 Contracts, Fingers Crossed

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Milwaukee Braves' front office expects to mail out 1958 contracts at the end of the week, well before the major league deadline of Jan. 15.

With the National League pennant and world series stowed away, there's little doubt that salary demands will be high. Just about all of the Braves will expect raises, hefty ones in many cases.

For instance, there are Hank Aaron, the league's most valuable player; Series hero Lew Burdette, Red Schoendienst, Eddie Mathews, Johnny Logan, Bob Buhl and Warren Spahn.

Aaron and Burdette received about $28,000 apiece last season. It's safe to assume Aaron will ask for $40,000 and Burdette $35,000. Spahn, in the $50,000 bracket, was the highest paid Brave last year. Schoendienst made around $40,000. Both, no doubt, will want more.

Dunnies Whip Kings, Chevies Charlie Burns Scores Four

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

You've got to be mighty careful when mentioning the name Whitby Dunlops in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A eastern division nowadays. The other clubs are probably feeling a bit touchy about it.

who wouldn't? Dunlops have lost only five of 29 games this season in piling up a 16-point lead at the top of the standings. And their goals-for total—156—reads more like a basketball statistic.

They added two more wins to their list during the weekend, shutting out Pembroke Lumber Kings 7-0 Saturday and whipping Cornwall Chevies 7-2 Sunday.

Chevies, now in the cellar, took another beating, 8-5 from Kingston CKLCs Saturday.

FOUR FOR BURNS

Centre Charlie Burns blazed in four goals against Pembroke, who collapsed before a five-goal third-period blitz without replying.

John Henderson, back in the Whitby net after a three-game layoff, recorded Dunlops' first shutout of the season.

Playing coach Sid Smith, with two, and Alf Treen scored the other goals.

Against Cornwall, Dunlops built up a 4-0 lead by the end of the second period with goals by Bus Gagnon, Smith, Gordie Myles and Jack McKenzie.

Connie Braden, George Samolenko and Bobbie Attersley added the others. Cornwall marksmen were Guy Henri and George Aitken.

Kingston came from behind a 5-1 deficit to upset Chevies.

Billy Colvin, Mike Bukacheski and Ted Toppazzini each scored two goals for Kingston. Don Bellringer and Kenny Linesman added singles. Moe Savard, Grigg, Szydlowski, Macphee and Burke tallied for Chevies.

Rote Sparks Hawaii All-Stars To Victory

HONOLULU (AP) — Hawaii All-Stars, behind Detroit Lions' quarterback Tobin Rote, scored four touchdowns in the first nine minutes of the Hula Bowl Sunday and then held on for a 53-34 victory over the U.S. College All-Stars before an estimated 25,250 fans.

Rote fired too many passes for the all-America studded collegians who staged a second-half comeback after trailing 40-7.

Texas A and M back John Crow and Michigan State's Walter Kowalczyk kept the Collegians' hopes alive and managed to pull the underdogs to within three touchdowns of their pro-studded opponents.

O'Malley Angle For Rose Bowl

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Walter O'Malley, still looking for that home away from home for his Dodger baseball team, calls on Pasadena's mayor today to talk about the Rose Bowl.

Things are beginning to get ticklish for O'Malley, with the National League season starting in about three months and the Dodgers with no place to play except a minor league stadium seating about 22,000.

Opposition from property owners in the vicinity is brewing, but Pasadena officials seem interested in hearing what O'Malley has to offer for the big bowl, which has only one big pay day a year now, on New Year's Day. The Rose Bowl seats 100,000.

Big Four to Consider

Television Could Be Factor In Interlocking Schedule

By WILF GRUSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — Television [illegible], which has proved a life-saver to Big Four Football Union teams striving against soaring costs, probably will be the factor that will push the East and West into an interlocking schedule.

The East's Big Four league Saturday tackled the long - discussed idea again and decided it isn't feasible for this year at least, unless a proposal is forthcoming to solve the many problems connected with it.

The principal objection voiced by some clubs is the high travelling costs of an interlocking schedule. However, the expansion of TV into the West increases the importance of such games to a sponsor and TV rights could possibly give the teams enough revenue to make East-West games profitable.

TV CONTRACT EXPIRES

The Big Four will be free to give the idea more serious consideration after this season. The [illegible]'s TV contract, which gives [illegible] club $80,000 yearly, expires at the end of the 1958 season and the league likely will discuss with the Western Interprovincial Football Union proposals to offer telecasts of interlocking games at a higher price.

The two big pro leagues will be able to pave the way for this plan if they stick to their present plans to break away from the Canadian Rugby Union—long the ruling body of the game in this country—and form a new body comprising their own officials. The Big Four Saturday reaffirmed its intention to take such action if the WIFU is still willing.

The final decision will be made in Winnipeg Jan. 19 at a meeting of the Canadian Football Council, a group established two years ago by the nine pro teams to handle common problems. The CFC will gather after the Big [illegible] and WIFU hold their an[illegible] meetings the two previous days.

TENTATIVE AGR EMENT

Both leagues agreed tentatively last November to set up their own organization for pro football and Saturday the Big Four decided to propose at the CFC meeting that Syd Halter of Winnipeg, WIFU commissioner, be appointed commissioner of the new setup with an assistant under his jurisdiction to supervise Big Four operations.

Halter would have powers over both leagues, except in the matters of finances, scheduling and television. For the time being each league would retain its own identity until such time as one league was formed with western and eastern divisions as in the case of the National Football League in the United States.

[illegible] Winnipeg, Halter said he [illegible] "nc comment" on the proposal.)

FOR FURTHER STUDY

Bob Moran of Toronto, Big Four president, said in announcing the decisions of the closed meeting that the question of a partial interlocking schedule will be gone into further at the CFC meeting.

Moran, discussing the proposal to have a national commissioner and assistant for the eastern league, said a letter from Judge Allan Fraser was read to the meeting. Judge Fraser has served as Big Four commissioner for two seasons with limited powers and his letter said he does not wish to be considered for reappointment under those conditions.

Moran said no action was taken on the letter because of [illegible] plans to work jointly with the [illegible]U. It was indicated, however, that Judge Fraser would not be considered for the job as assistant commissioner. Moran did not di[illegible]e whom the Big Four has [illegible] mind for this position.

OTHER MAJOR ISSUES

The other major points dealt with at the meeting included imports and the 1958 schedule. The Big Four will recommend to the West that to cut costs the import limit be set at 13 after each team's third game and that only 12 play in a game. Last season the teams could carry as many imports as they wanted while playing only 12. However, 14 changes could be made after the third game until Oct. 18, when the teams had to list the 12 they intended to go with for the rest of the season.

This season the schedule, with each team playing 14 games, will open Tuesday Aug. 19 with Hamilton in a twilight game and Toronto at Ottawa in a night encounter. Only six night games will be played unless the TV sponsor can clear night TV time. The league is committed to telecast 22 games.

Proposals for a change in the rules to provide increased blocking made little headway. They were referred back to the teams and their coaches for further study. It was suggested that all backfielders, instead of two who might flank the ends, be permitted to block 10 yards as linemen now do and that unlimited blocking be allowed on pass interceptions. A suggestion was also presented that blocking be allowed up to 10 yards on short passes over the scrimmage line. At present blocking is not permitted on forward passes or on pass interceptions.

Meeker Resumes Coach Talks

TORONTO (CP) — Howie Meeker, former coach and general manager of Toronto Maple Leafs, has left for St. John's, Nfld., to discuss a coaching job in the city.

Meeker said as he left Toronto Friday night he hasn't accepted or rejected the job, offered last October when he left Leafs of the National Hockey League.

The St. John's Memorial Garden Commission has offered Meeker the job of coaching amateur players and selecting and grooming two all-star clubs in the St. John's area.

Teepees Rout Biltmores 8-3; Junior Habs Tie

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Matt Ravlich, St. Catharines Teepees' winger who has taken a back seat to some of his teammates in Ontario Hockey Association Junior A scoring this season, went into the driver's seat Saturday night.

Ravlich was on the ice only 23 seconds before scoring his first of six goals during an 8-3 rout of Guelph Biltmores. It was the first home game—and the first victory for Teepees since coach Glen Sonmor took over the reins Friday night, succeeding Rudy Pilous, who moved to Chicago Black Hawks of the National Hockey League.

The victory left St. Catharines on top of the standings with 40 points, 10 ahead of Hamilton Tiger Cubs and Toronto Marlboros, tied for second. Marlboros tied Guelph 2-2 and Toronto St. Michael's Majors tied Ottawa-Hull Junior Canadiens 4-4 in other weekend games.

Ravlich's outburst boosted his season's output to 37 points—18 goals and 19 assists—good for a fourth-place tie with Pete Panagabko of Barrie Flyers. Two other Teepees, Ed Hoekstra and Jack McKenzie, hold down the two top spots with 46 and 41 points respectively.

BILTS LED EARLY

After Ravlich's early first-period goal, Guelph appeared headed for their second victory over St. Catharines in two nights, taking a 3-1 lead on goals by Leon Rochefort, George Usitalo and Ron Brain.

Ravlich came back in the closing seconds of the period to make it 3-2 and from there it was all St. Catharines and Ravlich. He got three more in the second and one in the third, Ted Wright and Wayne Hillman adding one apiece for good measure.

In Toronto Sunday, fourth-place St. Michael's fought back three times to gain the 4-4 deadlock with Canadiens. Lou Angotti scored two goals and Bob McKnight and Jack Costello one apiece as Majors overcame 2-0, 3-2 and 4-3 deficits. Gilles Tremblay, John Annable, Claude Richard and Ralph Backstrom tallied for Ottawa.

The second game of the doubleheader saw Marlies hold a 2-0 lead until the 13:37 mark of the third period over last - place Guelph. Doug Riseley drew first blood at the 52-second mark of the first period and Bob Davidson added another late in the stanza. John Kraft narrowed the margin and Gord Brown salvaged the tie for Bilts.

Arsenal Ousted By Northampton

LONDON (Reuters)—Two battling Third Division clubs knocked First Division soccer teams out of contention Saturday in the third round of play for the Football Association Cup.

Luton Town, holder of sixth place in the First Division, also was bounced from play, beaten 3-0 by Stockport County.

Two other First Division teams were ousted by Second Division clubs. Cardiff City edged Leeds United 2-1 and West Ham United walloped Blackpool 5-1.

Three First Division teams were ousted by opponents from their own league. West Bromwich Albion whipped Manchester City 5-1, Tottenham Hotspurs downed Leicester City 4-0 and Bolton Wanderers blanked Preston 3-0.

OHA Bans Two, Ups Fines In Junior A Brawl Probe

TORONTO (CP)—Officials of the Ontario Hockey Association met twice this weekend to see what can be done to stop brawls

Under the new fines ruling, when two players start scrapping the linesman will step in and break it up with the necessary penalties being assessed. Players who join the fracas will be fined.

SIX-GAME SUSPENSION

At a Saturday meeting, the OHA executive decided to suspend Albert Lebrun of Guelph Biltmores for six games for his part in a fracas in which Wally Boyer of Toronto Marlboros was kicked in the face during a game in Guelph Dec. 27.

Lebrun will play again after missing four games. He has already missed two.

Bob Wilson of Chatham Maroons was also handed a six-game suspension for an incident Dec. 21 in which John Lumley of Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds was hit over the head with a stick.

Wilson, having missed four games, will be eligible to play after missing two more.

The executive said if Lumley's actions matched their reports of his play they would ask the NOHA to consider disciplinary action.

which have plagued the Junior A circuit in recent months.

Outcome of the meetings was the suspension of two players and an increase to $25 from $10 in the fine for joining in a fight on the ice.

But the coaches, managers and referees, who met Sunday in general council with OHA officials didn't emerge with entirely clean hands. They took part of the blame themselves.

It came out during discussions among representatives of all clubs except Barrie Flyers, who did not attend, that some coaches had in the past sent players on the ice with instructions to start a fight.

The referees came under fire too.

NEED STRICT ENFORCEMENT

All speakers at the Sunday meeting agreed the rules are not being sufficiently enforced and that all referees should rule strictly by the book.

Coaches and referees promised that neither loose rulings nor instructions to start fights will be permitted in the future.

The OHA's referees' committee raised the fines and empowered referee-in-chief Pat Patterson to send a representative to all games to file a report to headquarters on officiating and players' behavior.

Industrial Hockey

Hillcrest Wreckers took over first place in the Industrial hockey league over the weekend when Tweed defaulted its second game in succession because of a lack of players.

Meanwhile the Terrors recorded their third consecutive victory by shading the faltering Don's Delivery crew 4-3. Don's, in first place several weeks ago, have gained only one tie in their last three games and are now in third place, just one point ahead of the Terrors.

Hillcrest has nine points, Point Anne eight, Don's seven and Terrors six. Circle TV is in fifth with two points while Tweed has yet to win or tie. The top four finishers will be in the playoffs.

Leo Goyer fired two goals in the Terrors' victory, including the winner with three minutes left to play. Bill Storms and Vern Goyer bagged the other Terror goals with Storms also scoring one in his own net.

Bill Muirhead fired two markers for Don's Delivery with Bud Payette getting credit for the goal which Storms accidently steered into his own net. The losers replaced goalie Chuck Kingston with an extra forward in the final minute of play but could not score the equalizer.

Dutchies Whip Wolves Twice; Bulldogs Lose

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Coach John (Peanuts) O'Flaherty of the struggling Sudbury Wolves, last - place in the OHA-NOHA Senior A series, today will probably start planning phase two of the team's recovery program.

Phase one, which started by bringing the Wolves three wins in four outings, ended abruptly during the weekend. They played two games and crashed twice, 6-0 to league - leading Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen and 5-3 to Windsor Bulldogs.

The defeats clamp Wolves in the loop's cellar, three points behind fifth-place North Bay Trappers.

Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds, who lost first-place in the standings last week to Dutchmen, are fighting desperately to get back into the top berth. They slammed in two overtime goals to defeat Windsor 5-3 in the series' only other weekend game.

JUST ONE POINT

Dutchmen, still only one point ahead of Greyhounds, flashed in four unanswered first - period goals Saturday to give Wolves their first defeat of the weekend.

Rightwinger Buddy Horne scored twice with Billy Graham, Don Rope, Ron Howell and Ken Laufman getting the others.

Windsor's Erwin Grosse took over Horne's role Sunday, turning in a three-goal performance. Lou Bendo and Mickey Roth scored the other Windsor goals. Gord Heale, with two, and Norm Guimond scored for Sudbury.

Overtime goals by Ron Rubic and Nelson Podolski kept Greyhounds in pursuit of Kitchener after Windsor winger Wally Maxwell pumped in two goals in the closing minutes of regular time to tie the score 3-3.

Notre Dame Comeback Team

NEW YORK (AP) — Notre Dame, a football team that won only two of 10 games in 1956 but rebounded to halt mighty Oklahoma's 47-game winning streak and post a 7-3 record for 1957, was voted the comeback team of the year today.

The annual year-end poll of the Associated Press gave coach Terry Brennan's fighting Irish an overwhelming total of 105 first-place ballots as Notre Dame beat out Cleveland Browns of the National Football League.

In the balloting, 211 sportswriters and sportscasters cast ballots, and the 105 firsts for Notre Dame helped roll up a total of 423 points. A first place vote counted three points, with two for second, and one for third. Cleveland had 23 first and 131 points.

The Browns, who won only five and lost seven games in 1956 after six straight eastern division titles and three world championships, won their conference crown this fall with a 9-2-1 record. They clinched it as early as Dec. 8 but lost in the NFL final to Detroit Lions.

Little southpaw Bobby Shantz of the New York Yankees, plagued with a bad arm and assorted injuries in recent years, received 11 first-place votes and 99 points to take third place over Ted Williams, Boston Red Sox slugger who led the American League in hitting. Williams received 14 firsts but only 81 points.

Shantz, who won 11 games and lost five, had the best earned run average in the American League, with 2.45.

90-Minute 'Where We Stand' TV Journalism at Its Best

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — An absorbing 90-minute television examination, Where We Stand, dealing with the relation of the United States to Soviet Russia as a world power, was presented Sunday night on CBS-TV.

A realistic examination of the facts by the CBS news staff resulted in these conclusions:

Militarily the U.S. lags at least two years behind Russia in the capacity to wage intercontinental nuclear war. Americans face economic sacrifices and the necessity of changed attitudes if they are to achieve par with the Russians.

Americans are almost totally apathetic to the problems of civilian defence—but so, too, are the Russians. Most important, the U.S. must re-examine its entire educational system if it hopes to remain a first-class power in the age of the satellites.

The forthright appraisal of Where We Stand conducted by Walter Cronkite, Howard K. Smith, Alexander Kendrick and CBS' Moscow correspondent, Daniel Schorr, was an important TV public service to all willing to look, listen and think.

Well conducted interviews with general, admirals, scientists and educationists did not bring any new answers to current widely discussed questions. Nevertheless, television has a dramatic impact on many persons who are inclined to ignore the printed word.

A filmed report on a missile plant lucidly explained many of the problems in that complex field. Direct interviews with persons in a typical American town Morris Plains, N.J.—revealed the general apathy to the civilian defence program more dramatically than thousands of descriptive words.

This program was television journalism at its best.

Minor Hockey

The goalies were the key men on the ice in the bantam hockey league Saturday morning as all four games resulted in shutouts as the clubs swung back into action after the holidays.

Doug Tulk, regular goalie for the Canadiens, had one shutout as his club edged the Maple Leafs 1-0 and added number two for the day when he filled in in the Black Hawk nets and blanked the Rangers 3-0.

Bill Meens of the Bruins also chalked up a goose egg, downing the Red Wings 2-0 while Peter McNevin held the Browns scoreless as Barons took a 4-0 decision.

Jerry Gray and Ken Nolan were the Bruin marksmen with Gilroy earning one assist.

Billy Carson had a goal and assist for the Black Hawks with Adams assisting on two goals. Richard Jones and Ken Rushlow were the other marksmen.

More Rock 'N' Roll Records Promised in Coming Year

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — What does 1958 promise in popular music?

More rock 'n' roll, I'm afraid, but there are some hopeful signs, too. This is according to Randy Woods, founder and president of Dot records, and he's a man who should know.

Randy parlayed a record store in Gallatin, Tenn., into a releasing company which was sold to Paramount Pictures for $3,000,000. He is still the head of Dot and last year piloted the firm to the highest sales of pop records in the industry.

SEES BIG YEAR

"I figure we have sold between 17,000,000 and 18,000,000 units in 1957, compared to 14,000,000 the year before," he reported. "From all I can gather, 1958 is going to be an even bigger year for the industry."

"There will be more rock 'n' roll," he predicted. "Actually, rock 'n' roll is nothing new; it's the same thing that my generation enjoyed—Artie Shaw, Benny Goodman and even Glenn Miller in pieces like In The Mood.

"At least 50 per cent of the records will be rock 'n' roll or at least some kind of music with a beat. If grown-ups would buy single records, the situation would be different. Then we could do numbers with waltz tempo and other slow music that grown-ups like.

THEY WANT A BEAT

"But it's the teen-agers who buy pop records today. What they want is music with a beat, so we give it to them."

The situation is not all grim for us oldsters, however. Ballads can also make the grade today, as evidence by last year's big sellers — Debbie Reynolds' Tammy and Pat Boone's Love Letters in The Sand.

Randy reported that his protege Boone's current smash April Love, will probably hit a world-wide sale of 2,000,000 records before it is finished.

Will Dot continue to present celebrities who have not previously been pop singers?

HAD GOOD LUCK

"Absolutely," he replied. "We have had very good luck in that line. I don't think there is any more consistent seller among the girl singers than Gale Storm, who had never before done any records. We also had fine results with Tab Hunter, who took a beating from the critics but managed to sell 2,000,000 records with Young Love.

"We'll continue striving for new sounds in 1958. That's what the teen-agers want."

M-G-M's POWERFUL LOVE DRAMA!

Stars Clamoring for Guest Spot on Dinah Shore Show

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It's usually the kiss of death in Hollywood to call an actress a gracious lady. But it hasn't hurt Dinah Shore.

The singing star is rolling to her biggest season on TV, after nearly seven years with the same sponsor. And she's been a lady every step of the way.

When she started in 1951 no self-respecting girl ever made a TV-appearance without a neckline that plunged all over the 14-inch screens.

But Dinah commissioned a top-stylist to create 25 new gowns for her debut and decreed that all be in good taste.

"I think families, even the men, are embarrassed to see cleavage in their living rooms at an hour when the children are still up," she told a reporter at the time.

"I guess it's my southern upbringing," the Nashville singer added "A decollete gown is for the cotillion ball."

PAID OFF

Her respectability paid off. What started out as a twice-weekly 15-minute show now is 24 one-hour shows on NBC's prime Sunday night time. Where once she and her producer used to ask stars to make guest appearances, the situation now is completely reversed.

Top talent agencies will tell you that their clients now ask them to get a spot on the Dinah Shore show. That's the way it used to be with Bing Crosby on radio

Dinah is even gracious with rival girl singers—often plugging their hit records for them.

"I might as well," she comments, "I haven't any of my own to plug."

She's underrating herself because Dinah sells records very well. But there are good reasons why asuccessful TVstar doesn't hit 1,000,000 sales with every record. As Dinah explains:

"Television is so demanding, so time-consuming that an artist hasn't got time to select proper material. And that's the most important thing about making records"

OBJECTIVE HUSBAND

Big record sellers, such as Eddie Fisher, all say that records and TV success don't go hand in hand. It takes a lot of time-consuming work with the disc jockeys, record stores and fan clubs to push a record over the 1,000,000 mark.

Does Dinah herself know what has made her a TV giant?

"I think," she answers, "I owe a lot to the fact that I have a most objective husband. He tells me when I'm bad. I know George will always give me an honest answer. And that keeps me from getting satisfied with myself."

George Montgomery, the strapping western star, also has a lot of confidence in his wife. When she started on TV, Dinah was doing well but not spectacularly in a lot of fields. Movies were almost a disaster for her, thanks to "Aaron Slick from Punkin Crick," one of Paramount's most memorable flops.

Pakistan Star Racquets King

DETROIT (AP)—Roshan Khan of Karachi, Pakistan, became U.S. open squash racquets champion Sunday by defeating Henri Salaun of Boston in a four-game match.

Three of the games went to extra points with the 30-year-old Khan winning 15-18, 15-7, 18-7 and 18-16.

Salaun, the American amateur champion, entered the title round with a five-game upset victory over the champion's cousin, Azam Khan of London, England, 8-15, 15-19, 9-15, 15-12 and 15-11.

Roshan Khan defeated Calvin MacCracken of Englewood, N.J., 15-13, 15-4, 15-11 in his semi-final match. He succeeds Hashim Khan, brother of Azam, who did not defend his title.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

(Author of the new "Astrology and You")

Monday, January 6

Aries (March 21 to April 19)—Take care you are not guilty of doing something that will annoy or hurt one of your own household today. Spend time going over accounts, paying indebtedness and putting things in order. Tonight, don't argue with clan.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) — Be very careful on the road or in action today to stave off some unfortunate situation that could limit you for some time to come. Too, be certain you comprehend perfectly what others say, for there is a play on words this day.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21)—You'd like to promise above your financial capabilities today. Do not! Just be sure you study well whatever ideas, ventures come your way and see the true values. P.M. have fun inexpensively, keep savings intact, and get joy out of this.

Cancer (June 22 to July 21)—You could really enjoy mourning over your seemingly poor conditions today, but this would only set you farther back, prevent your good to come to you which is around the corner. P.M. relax, don't flutter around.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) — This is the right day to look squarely at those problems that seem impossible to conquer. Think them out quietly and intelligently instead of going on a rampage, doing strange things, and all is O.K. P.M. help the needy.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)—A highstrung, disturbed pal can really be quite an annoyance this day if you permit him or her to take your time. But if you must, just be a sponge for vexed feelings as you wisely go about your work.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — A day to be very careful, or you become whipping boy over some very slight error or unguarded word. Be as meticulous as Lot's wife. Follow all set laws, and turn chaotic conditions into beneficial steppingstones.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — You are in the mood to throw in the towel and dash off to some other activities that have all the earmarks of going from frying pan into the fire. Hold fast to what you now have, and perseverence will win out in the end.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Seeing the apparent success of others, you feel you can do the same thing to get rich. But remember that everyone is different and your forte lies in different directions. Know thyself, than start thriving in own field.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — A highstrung associate endeavors to hoodwink you today if you permit it, although quite without forethought since it is an emotional reflevx oc an emotional reflex from troubled conditions in own life. Set up better business arrangements.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Some fellow worker may not be able to give you the correct data today that will enable you to do the fine, precision work so much a part of your makeup. Do your best, however, and all is well. P. M. rest and relax.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20)—This is one of those days when you would spend your last cent just having fun, but oh, how you would grieve later. So take yourself out of this wrong ray you are following. Keep to general practice, don't dip into your reserve.

If your child is born today . . . The delightful child born today is the kind who forever seems to be getting into interesting things and coming up with some highly imaginative ideas, which if not set straight immediately could lead to grave complications. A fine horoscope for professions where smiling, working with public, making recordings, singing and the like are concerned. Teach consideration for others early.

HOUSE PASSES

During the defence debate, Mr. Pearkes made these other points:

1. The militia's new civil defence role does not mean it will take over civil defence from provincial and municipal authorities, but would better prepare it as "an aid to the civil power." Civil defence was a realistic role for the militia which would be involved in the initial "battle for survival" should a nuclear attack come.

2. The RCAF is considering the advisability of replacing its old Canso aircraft for search and rescue operations, but no decision has been reached.

3. The $1,100,000 available for defence research grants to universities this year will not be reduced next fiscal year.

PEARSON RAISES POINT

During the debate on the NORAD issue, Mr. Pearson said it is important to know where U.S. General Earle Partridge, the commander, gets his authority over RCAF defence units in Canada while having no obligation to any NATO agency.

He accused Prime Minister Diefenbaker of misleading the country in giving the impression that NORAD has the same relationship to NATO as any regular NATO military command.

The connection was "very tenuous."

Mr. Pearkes replied that NORAD very definitely is part of the whole NATO deterrent to war. The Canadian deputy, Air Marshal Roy Slemon, was in every respect, the deputy at Colorado Springs. If Gen. Partridge was away, Air Marshal Slemon would be in full command of both U.S. and Canadian air defence squadrons.

Paul Martin (L—Essex East) said this authority of the Canadian deputy commander appears inconsistent with an earlier statement by Mr. Pearkes that Gen. Partridge could not order Canadian aircraft up without permission from Ottawa.

Mr. Pearkes made no direct reply to this. But he said that NORAD is related to NATO because it comes under the Canada-U.S. regional planning group of chiefs of staff that reports to the NATO military committee.

Stanley Knowles, deputy CCF leader said no one quarrels with the need for joint Canada-U.S. defence, but any joint command should be established only after a political agreement.

Leonard T. Stick (L—Trinity-Conception) said the important thing is to set up a command as soon as possible that would have full authority to order planes up in the event of an attack.

YUGOSLAVS FLEE

ANCONA, Italy (Reuters)—Twenty - one Yugoslav refugees, including four women and five children, were picked up from a sailing vessel by an Italian trawler Saturday night and landed here. They asked for political asylum.

U.S. ARMY

Gavin said at the time that he was not criticizing any past or present military or civilian leaders at the Pentagon defence headquarters. But he expressed dissatisfaction with the present system under which decisions are reached by compromise among the operating heads of the services.

The army said Gen. Maxwell D Taylor, the army chief of staff, had tried for two weeks to get Gavin to change his mind, but that Taylor "became reluctantly convinced of the finality of Gen. Gavin's decision."

The preparedness group, looking into the status of U.S. missiles and earth satellite programs, resumes its hearings to- (Dem. Tex.) said the group will inquire this week into "the circumstances surrounding Gen. Gavin's retirement decision. . . ."

Several subcommittee members asked that the group look into reports that Gavin was threatened with transfer to some obscure post unless he changed some of his views on the missiles program.

Flourishing Monitor Reaching 120 Lands With Circulation Of 180,000 Now 50 Yrs. Old

BOSTON (AP)—When Paul S. Deland quit his newspaper to join the newly-founded Christian Science Monitor, his managing editor told him he was being silly.

"That thing," said he, "won't last six months. I'll hold your job for you."

This was half a century ago. Today Deland, who has been with "that thing" since its first issue of 1908, is the Monitor's associate editor and one of the men who make the remarkable enterprise hum.

People who predicted failure for the church - owned daily in its cradle days—and several publishers did — found their crystal ball to have been singularly opaque.

Celebrating its golden anniversary year, the flourishing Monitor reaches 120 countries with a circulation of about 180,000. And it has built this far-flung readership without local mass circulation in Boston itself—90 per cent of it being outside. In the profession, this is considered an unusual feat indeed.

Monitors are delivered by camel in African wastes, dog sleds in snowbound lands and native runners in tropical isles. In some remote localities readers pay up to $400 for airmail annual subscriptions. (The regulator rate is $18.)

89 AWARDS

Throughout its career, the Monitor has resolutely eschewed sensationalism, flamboyance, and advertising from sources it declines on principle—tobacco, liquor, medicinal remedies.

Winner of 89 national and international awards and tributes extending to all phases of its operation, the Monitor is presided over by Erwin D. Canham, 57, its greying, friendly - eyed editor, who himself holds a dozen awards for contributions as a newspaperman, educationist, author, lecturer, and radio and television commentator.

From the vantage point of the Monitor's milestone, Canham casts a thoughtful look at the future of the medium with which his professional life is identified.

"The years ahead," says Canham, "will call for richer skills and greater responsibilities from newspapers and newspaper men.

"As the world becomes more complex, perilous, and full of portents for good as well as danger, the newspaper will have a bigger job than ever to help guide citizens through the mazes.

"It will remain everlastingly necessary to probe for the hidden fact and the obscured event."

NEWS BEATS

The Monitor has long been given to such calm, persistent probing. Among its more notable news beats was the story by its United Nations staffer William Frye foreshadowing Gen. Douglas MacArthur's dismissal from command in Korea four days before the event.

And in 1942, the Monitor disclosed for the first time the full extent of U.S. shipping losses since the start of the war—losses considerably greater than the government had announced.

While the Monitor is really a national and international newspaper, it keeps an alert eye on its own bailiwick—Boston. A series on municipal affairs including an expose of assessing practices earned staffer Robert C. Bergheim a Boston Junior Chamber of Commerce award.

All of which, and more besides, points up Canham's conviction that "the day of the printed word is far from ended . . . swift as is the delivery of the radio bulletin, graphic as is television's eyewitness picture, the task of adding meaning and clarity remains urgent. People cannot and need not absorb meanings at the speed of light."

And, touching on another remarkable aspect of the Monitor's operation, Canham added:

"The relationship the Monitor has always had with most of its readers — it reaches them after they have already had the spot news—is now the relationship of nearly all newspapers, though all have not yet realized it. Thus we feel we have done some useful pioneering.

"We are eager to advance with the wave of the future, into a period of newly challenged, newly responsible, newly effective journalism."

The Monitor as founded by Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy who—as far back as 1883—declared that a "newspaper edited and published by the Christian Scientists has become a necessity." Later she added: "Through a paper of our own we shall be able to reach many homes with healing, purifying thought."

Yet while it is one of the few daily newspapers owned by a church, its principal aim is not devotional or church membership work. And many of its employees are non-scientists.

Reflecting its religious persuasion, the Monitor prints no regular obituaries (though it does report deaths of prominent persons in accordance with the news value of the event). It prefers to use the phrase "passed on" for "died."

It covers the medical field sparsely, treats crime news with restraint and never carries "cheesecake pictures" — showing pretty girls in alluring poses. It has no society pages.

Its own newsroom, lodged in a modern plant across the street from the Mother Church reflects the paper's personality. What is a castle of confusion in most newspapers, here is orderly and neat, with reporters' desks tidy and newsroom conversation never boisterious or profane.

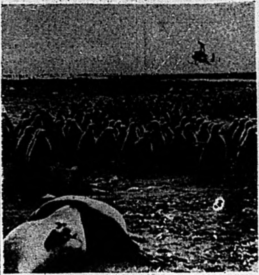
There's no formal regulation governing these matters but the long-standing tradition operates tacitly—and powerfully.

Smoking is a different matter. As editor Canham explains: "Christian Scientists don't smoke Nor do they drink alcoholic stimulants. These concepts are part of their religious convictions, which is to live free from enslavement to a false appetite."

A story relates to this practice. Once, the late Gen. Evans Carlson visited the Monitor's foreign editor, the late Charles E. Gratke. Carlson, who was to lead his raiders on Guadalcanal in the Second World War, prepared to light up a cigaret and asked casually, "I suppose it's all right to smoke here?"

"Oh it's all right," said Gratke. "Of course, nobody ever has."

JUST ANOTHER BIRD TO THEM



A colony of penguins sits up and takes notice (all but a few lazy ones) at the arrival of a visitor to their home on Grozet islands, French Australasia. The "visitor," a Djinn helicopter with photographic equipment was sent to the islands to take aerial photographs of the coastline and to transport equipment to the Kerguelen islands where it will participate in glaciology work in connection with the international geophysical year.

Little Benny's Notebook

I was taking a walk with pop for the good of his helth, and we passed some gerls skipping rope, and I said, What's you think, pop? Dopey Shorty Judge skips rope, I said.

Really? How's he getting along at it? pop said, and I said, He's pritty near better than the gerls, but heck, who wants to skip rope if they're not a gerl?

Do you know who Julius Seezer was? pop said, and I said, Not exactly.

I'm not serprized, pop said. He didn't skip rope. At leest there's no historical mention of it. Do you know who John L. Sullivan was? he said.

Of course, I said. He was one of the greatest best prize fighters that's ever been. Sure I know who he was, I said, and pop said, I thought you would. He skipped rope every day of his life, and probably some of his nights, he said.

G, what for? I said, and pop said, It trained his feet to move almost as fast as his fists. He probably skipped rope better than any gerl that ever lived, he said.

Gosh, do all prize fighters skip rope? I said, and pop said, They'd better, or they'll get expelled from the Collyflower Union. So you see, you cant judge everything just because gerls go in for it, he said.

Oh well, maybe I'll practice skipping rope by myself, but if I do, beleeve me it'll be in our back yard and not out on the frunt street, I said.

Proving no matter what you think, you cant help thinking of what other peeple might think.

Eisenhower Will Ask Congress To Spend $74 Billion

President Thinks Year Will Be Better Than Last

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Congress convened today for a session certain to be over Russian strides into space.

Among many of the returning members there was an apparent sense of urgency such as prevailed in the early days of the war.

Tax-cut talk is hushed. Instead, the question some members are asking is whether a sagging economy can be bolstered and defence needs met without resort to red-ink financing.

President Eisenhower gave word to his Republican legislative leaders headed by William Knowland of California that he will present a balanced budget Monday of about $74,000,000,000. This would be an increase of about $2,000,000,000 from his budget for the current fiscal year.

SETS SOMBRE TONE

The sombre tone of the congressional mood was sounded by Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas in an address to senators of his party shortly before the opening of the new session.

Johnson said the future of world civilization may rest upon the decisions reached in this session.

Eisenhower's view that a $74,000,000,000 budget can be met out of tax revenues and be a balanced one obviously anticipates there will be no serious business recession.

Knowland reported he got the impression Eisenhower is convinced the current year will be better from the standpoint of business generally than last year.

Knowland made his report at the close of a White House briefing on the State of the Union message Eisenhower will deliver to Congress Thursday.

The conference came just in advance of the noon opening of the second session of the 85th Congress, in which national defence is marked for top priority.

Eisenhower is expected to deal almost exclusively in this half-hour talk with national defence and foreign policy issues raised by the Russian Sputnik launchings and the latest reported Soviet feat of firing a manned rocket 186 miles into the atmosphere.

FEEL U.S. LAGGING

These Moscow accomplishments have left many of both parties in Congress feeling that the U.S. is lagging in the military race and that something drastic must be done about it.

Congress seems likely to get its first crack at this problem when Defence Secretary Neil McElroy asks for immediate appropriation of more than $1,000,000,000 in new money to finance a speedup in the U.S. missile program and other defence measures.

On the eve of the session a nationally prominent economist said in a New York speech that, in a sense, Russia already has won the cold war and that "life in America will never be the same as before Sputnik."

Malcolm P. McNair, of the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration, made the statement in the principal address to the National Retail Dry Goods Association convention.

McNair said Americans must prepare for heavy sacrifices in personal liberty and the standard of living if the U.S. is to overtake and pass the Soviet Union in science.

"In a very real sense the Soviets have already won, because it is now demonstrated that we cannot match Russian progress toward specific objectives of knowledge, power, and achievement without voluntarily submitting ourselves to a substantial degree of purposive direction of our lives . . . investment . . . manpower . . . and education."

Dulles Decides To Stay on Job Despite Critics

WASHINGTON (AP) — John Foster Dulles has decided to stay on as secretary of state, associates said today, and is steeling himself to resist what he anticipates will be a mounting Democratic demand that he retire.

President Eisenhower is understood to have assured him of full backing if he will continue in the top U.S. foreign policy job he has held for the last five years.

Dulles is reported to have considered his future carefully within the last few weeks, coinciding with his approaching 70th birthday, Feb. 25, and the opening of a new session of Congress today.

Now that he has made his decision, informants said, he has no intention of quitting under domestic political fire.

The big question mark hanging over his future is his health. Dulles is understood to be confident, however, that he will be able to withstand the arduous duties of his office.

Salvation Army Hostel Burns; Find 3 Bodies

PEACE RIVER, Alta. (CP)—Three bodies were recovered today from the ruins of a Salvation Army hostel destroyed in an overnight fire.

None of the victims was identified immediately. However, police and about 1,000 volunteers ended their search of this northern Alberta town for two children and their father, reported missing at the height of the blaze.

Sonny Klapp, 5, and his 14-months-old sister Carol had been living at the hostel with their mother, who was taken to hospital suffering a heart attack shortly after the fire was discovered. It was believed Mr. Klapp may have died in an unsuccessful attempt to save the children.

The fire, of undetermined origin, broke out in the two-storey frame building at 8:30 p.m. and was beyond control when the fire brigade arrived.

Not Yet Ready To Send Man Into Space

LONDON (Reuters) — Russia is not yet prepared to send a man [illegible] space, a Soviet embassy spokesman was quoted as saying today.

Yuuri Modin, embassy first secretary, spoke to a deputation of British animal lovers who called at the embassy to protest against sending up dogs in Sputniks.

Modin told them Russia's general attitude was that in scientific experiments, animals come first.

"Mr. Modin said the Russians are not prepared to send up a man," the delegation spokesman said.

He said brief mention was made about reports that a man had ascended 186 miles in a Russian rocket, but the issue was not discussed further.

GOVT. STUDIES HOW TO ENACT BILL OF RIGHTS

CCF Chief's Motion Not Acceptable

OTTAWA (CP) — The government is studying how best to have Parliament enact a bill of rights spelling out the various freedoms of Canadians.

It gave this reason Monday for not supporting in the Commons CCF Leader Coldwell's resolution asking the government to consider the advisibility of amending the constitution by the addition of a bill of human rights.

Justice Minister Davie Fulton said the government suports the principle of a bill of rights, but the best way of enacting one required a great deal of careful consideration.

A bill of rights could be established either through a constitutional amendment or a separate statute or declaration.

The government did not reject outright an amendment to the British North America Act, but such a course would be acceptable only if all provinces aproved.

BASTION OF FREEDOM,

The constitution was the "great bastion of freedom," and to suggest an amendment to it, without all provinces aproving, would in the name of freedom do freedom its greatest disservice.

Mr. Coldwell's resolution would prohibit Parliament or provincial legislatures from enacting laws abridging freedom of speech, religion, the press, lawful assembly and association. It would ensure equality before the law, prohibit excessive bail, cruel or unusual punishment, exile, unreasonable interference with privacy, arbitrary arrest without charge, and denial of counsel.

These, and the right to vote, would be enjoyed without distinction of race, sex, religion or language.

The principle of the resolution was suported by Fred D. Shaw (SC—Red Deer), only member of his party to take part in the debate. He suggested, however, that the question be studied by a joint Senate-Commons committee.

Alexis Caron (L — Hull), the only member of the official Opposition to speak in the debate, opposed the idea of a formal declaration of human rights. He argued that all the things it proposes already are ensured by the BNA Act.

"It's goodwill that's missing, not laws," Mr. Caron said.

A similar view was expressed by A. DeB. McPhillips (PC—Victoria) who said, "let's not goof on this question."

"We have all those things (freedoms) now," he said. "If we are going to circumscribe rights by words we are going to have difficulties."

David J. Walker, parliamentary assistant for justice, suggested parliament "move cautiously" in enacting a bill of rights

He said Prime Minister Diefenbaker's view always has been that the Supreme Court of Canada should be asked to give an opinion on whether the various matters of human rights come under federal or provincial jurisdiction.

Germans Doubt Red Army Cut Significant

BONN (AP) — West German officials expressed doubt today that Moscow's announcement of a cut in Soviet armed forces by 300,000 men has any real significance.

To assess the genuineness of Moscow's professed readiness to disarm it was essential to know whether the released troops were highly-trained specialists or supply and administrative personnel, the German officials said.

Britain's Economic Experts, Thorneycroft, Aides, Resign

LONDON (CP) — Prime Minister Macmillan, a cabinet rift apparently healed, left London today on a six-week tour to unify Commonwealth thinking on international problems.

His visit to India, Pakistan, Ceylon, New Zealand and Australia dramatized the fact that Britain's relationship to the Commonwealth countries now is one of equal partnership.

Minutes before he stepped on his plane the prime minister, smiling and jaunty, said he had resolved the differences in his cabinet revealed by the unexpected resignation Monday night of the chancellor of the exchequer, Peter Thorneycroft.

Thorneycroft, who objected to the cabinet's decision to increase government spending slightly next year, was succeeded by Agriculture Minister Derick Heathcoat Amory. Several other cabinet shifts resulted, but the shakeup did not delay Macmillan's trip.

Thorneycroft said a limit on government spending was needed for "the stability of the pound, the stabilization of prices and the prestige and standing of our country in the world."

"The government itself must in my view accept the same measure of financial discipline as it seeks to impose upon others."

Macmillan retorted in a letter that "your resignation at the present time cannot help to sustain and may damage the interests which we have all been trying to preserve."

At 48 Thorneycroft had been one of the youngest men in the top command and his prestige had appeared to be on the rise. Quitting along with him were Financial Secretary Enoch Powell and Economic Secretary Nigel Birch.

John Hare, 47, moved from war minister to agriculture minister and Christopher Soames, former financial secretary to the treasury, became war minister.

Soames, 37, is married to Sir Winston Churchill's daughter, Mary. As war minister he will work under Defence Minister Duncan Sandys, 49, the estranged husband of another Churchill daughter, Diana.

Many observers were mystified by Thorneycroft's walkout over what seemed to be a relatively small sum—about £50,000,000. He said, however, that he felt most strongly that the government should practise scrupulously the belt tightening it has been preaching to business and labor.

Demand Army Answer Claim Gavin Promotion Sidetracked

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Democratic Senate leader demanded today that the United States Army answer Lt.-Gen. James M. Gavin's testimony that his expected promotion was sidetracked after he criticized its missile policy.

Gavin, chief of army research and development, disclosed last weekend that he has asked retirement from the army effective March 31 to be freer to "apply creative thinking to national defence."

Senator Lyndon Johnson (Dem. Tex.) said the Senate preparedness subcommittee, of which he is chairman, will question Army Secretary Wilber Brucker later this week to "establish the facts." The group also wants to question Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, army chief of staff, but Taylor now is en route to a meeting of the Baghdad pact in Turkey.

"It is a matter of serious concern to us that there be even a hint of reprisal against any witness that appears before us," Johnson, the Senate majority leader, told reporters.

Gavin informed a closed session of the subcommittee late Monday that he announced his retirement after Taylor told him he was "no longer being considered" for promotion and assignment to the continental army command.

Johnson quoted Gavin as saying he could not "document" a statement that this post was refused him because of testimony he gave the committee last Dec. 13. He said he had been told a year earlier that he was being favorably considered for the post, and added:

"I feel intuitively that the decision (to change that plan) may have been clouded by my testimony."

Brucker declined direct comment until he has had a further chance to talk with Gavin, but said through an aide that Gavin "has a brilliant future in the army" and expressed hope that he "will reconsider his thoughts of retirement" and remain in his present post.

Meanwhile Senator Estes Kefauver (Dem. Tenn.) recommended that the committee urge Brucker not to accept Gavin's request for retirement and that he give Gavin "the promotion he deserves."

Appearing before the subcommittee Dec. 13 Gavin testified that he had been turned down repeatedly on requests for authority to send a satellite aloft with the army's Jupiter-C experimental missile.

Arctic Air to Push Mercury To Zero and Below Tonight

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Arctic air, pushing steadily south, is expected to plunge temperatures to zero in Southern Ontario by tonight.

The cold air, carried by winds of 20 to 40 miles an hour, will bring zero temperatures to Toronto and Windsor.

In the Georgian Bay, Kirkland Lake, North Bay and Sudbury areas of central and Northern Ontario, the weatherman said the temperature will drop from a high of five degrees today to a low of 20 below tonight.

The cold spell is expected to last until Wednesday.

While Ontario shivered in cold, wintry weather today mild air hung over parts of Alberta and temperatures climbed to the 50-degree level. Jasper expected a high today of 32, Edmonton 37, Calgary 51 and Lethbridge 53.

Saskatchewan also expected sunny weather with thawing temperatures.

Trapped in Linen 'Airing Cupboard', Housewife Toasted, Then Chilled

H.SBURY, England (Reuters) "Airing cupboards" — Britain's unique method for keeping linen dry in houses without central heating—almost proved fatal to a housewife here.

The door slammed behind Mrs. Anne Robins when she stepped inside the two-by-three foot closet. There was no handle on the inside and her family was out.

A coal fire downstairs made the water tank inside the closet hotter and hotter. The 38-year-old housewife became faint and feared death by suffocation. She wrenched down a shelf and tried to batter down the door, but was too weak.

Hours later, the hearth fire went out and the tank cooled off. Mrs. Robins wrapped a blanket around herself and lay on the floor.

Twelve hours from the start of her ordeal, her husband came home and heard faint knocking. He opened the door and his wife fell into his arms.

Manned Rocket Tales Stopped By Red Censors

LONDON (CP) — Western correspondents in Moscow are running into difficulties with Soviet censorship in relaying reports that the Russians have fired a manned rocket into space.

Harold K. Milks, The Associated Press bureau chief in Moscow, advised that one AP story on file was being held up by the censors and referred to another which had not been received although filed Monday night.

Railway Unions Protest Choice Of Board Head

MONTREAL (CP) — A protest "in most vigorous terms" has been made by the non-operating railway unions to Labor Minister Starr regarding the appointment of Charles P. McTague as chairman of a conciliation board appointed to hear a contract dispute with Canadian railroads.

Frank Hall of Montreal, chairman of the 15-union joint negotiating committee, said in a statement today the protest is based on the fact Mr. McTague is a corporation lawyer, president of two companies and director of nine others and a man who has represented employers in other cases.

Mr. Hall said his letter to Mr. Starr argues that because of these connections the rail employees feel that Mr. McTague cannot be considered an appropriate person to serve in the neutral capacity of chairman of a conciliation board in an important dispute affecting more than 130,000 rail workers.

Mr. Hall said Mr. McTague has been nominated by the City of Toronto in an arbitration case affecting the city's firemen.

The railway unions presented new demands, including a 35-cent-an-hour wage package, in November and negotiations speedily broke off. A conciliation board was requested.

POWER OFFICIALS TRYING TO FIND OVERLOAD CAUSE

Quebec Hard Hit For 90 Minutes

MONTREAL (CP) — An overload on the equipment of Hydro-Quebec's station at nearby Bout de L'Isle was responsible for the blackout Monday night in the Montreal area and other parts of the province, a hydro spokesman said today.

Cause of the overload has not yet been determined.

The spokesman said Bout de L'Isle is one of the major stations serving Montreal and is an important link in the province-wide, tem.

The overload started a chain reaction in the Quebec hydro system and the sources of supply were unable to contain the load.

EXPERTS SEEK CAUSE

Hydro experts now are attempting to find the cause of the overload.

Duration of the supper-time blackout varied from 90 minutes in parts of Montreal to a fraction of a second in Riviere du Loup, 300 miles northeast.

For greater Montreal, a metropolis of 1,800,000 persons, the power failure struck with paralyzing thoroughness. Everything operated by electricity — including street cars, trolley buses, elevators, trains, street lights, factory machinery and stoves—was stopped just after 5 p.m. EST.

Key operations—city hospitals, Montreal airport, the RCAF air defence base at St. Hubert and similar centres — switched immediately to auxiliary power supplies to continue during the blackout.

MAN DIES

A bus passenger, J. Brochu, 64, collapsed and died apparently of a heart attack when the city street lights dimmed and darkened. Five-year-old Giovanni Onofrio was badly burned when a makeshift gasoline torch exploded at his home and showered him with glass and flames.

Under Mont Royal, a rush-hour commuters' train bound for the suburbs with 400 passengers stopped inside a dark railway tunnel and a diesel had to be sent to pull it out. Train service was halted at CNR's Central Station.

A priest at downtown St. Patrick's Church continued to celebrate Roman Catholic mass on the Feast of the Epiphany in the shadowy light of candles and one flashlight.

Some 2,000 teen-agers watching a rock 'n' roll movie at a downtown cinema filed outside without panic—and not one asked for his money back.

LOCK DOORS

Shopkeepers locked their doors. Drivers drove slowly in pitch-black streets without the benefit of traffic lights.

Trois-Rivieres, a city of 47,000 persons 85 miles northeast, was caught in a 15-minute blackout, while at Sherbrooke, 100 miles east of Montreal, the power failure lasted four minutes. Other Quebec communities reported similar brief blackouts.

A Quebec hydro spokesman said a "disturbance of unknown origin" occurred somewhere on an inter-connected provincial grid system. This put power generators in the complicated network "out of step" and automatically disconnected them.

Restarting of the generators took time, accounting for the varying periods of blackouts in the province.

RESCUES CANINE FRIENDS

SACO, Me. (AP) — Dr. Clyde Dutton, 58-year-old veterinarian, suffered serious burns Monday in an effort to save between 30 and 40 dogs from his flaming animal hospital. Thirteen dogs died in the blaze, but Dr. Dutton managed to release the remainder from their pens.

Britons Draw Closer to South Pole As Controversy With Hillary Grows

WELLINGTON, N.Z. (Reuters) Dr Vivian Fuchs and his British team advanced another 31 miles toward the South Pole today as disagreement mounted with Sir Edmund Hillary on Fuchs' chances of crossing the frozen Antarctic.

The 49-year-old Briton, determined to "go it alone" if necessary on the last leg of his 2,100-mile crossing of the ice-covered continent, today was 290 miles from the pole. He expects to reach it before Jan. 17.

What happens after that has brought the disagreement between Fuchs and Hillary, who last week with four New Zealand companions became the first overland team to reach the pole since 1912. The co-conqueror of Mount Everest has advised Fuchs to stop at the pole, while the Briton says he will push on.

Under the original plan Fuchs was to continue past the pole towards Scott Base on McMurdo Sound, using supply depots Hillary set up in his advance to the pole. It would be the first time an overland expedition had crossed Antarctica.

Hillary advised Fuchs to stop because to continue past the pole might bring danger to the party as the Antarctic winter set in.

Kremlin Silent On Report Of Man In Rocket

Said Man Carried 186 Miles in Air

MOSCOW (AP) — The Kremlin kept silent today on unofficial reports that Russia has fired a man-carrying rocket 186 miles high and got the passenger back to earth.

The official blackout aroused speculation that the rocket experiment, if it did happen, may not have been a complete success.

(Reuters News Agency reported that a spokesman for the Soviet Academy of Science laughed off the report, while a spokesman for the state committee for cultural relations with foreign countries said: "If the report were true it would be in the Soviet press.")

Neither Tass, the Soviet news agency, nor any of the Moscow newspapers made any mention today of the reported experiment.

Non-official informants, who have proved reliable in the past, said the experiment took place a day or so after Jan. 1 and that the passenger parachuted back to death.

The informants did not say whether the first space traveller went all the way up with the rocket, or just how he escaped from it.

There were no hints as to the mystery traveller's identity. Many Russians have volunteered for pioneering flights into space.

IMPORTANT ADVANCE

If verified, the experiment could have as much or more scientific import as the launching of the dog-carrying Soviet satellite last fall. It would mark another Soviet triumph in the space race.

The reported altitude of 186 miles, while not high enough to escape gravity pull and put a rocket into orbit about the earth, is nearly eight times higher than any human has ever gone. The world altitude record of 126,000 feet—less than 24 miles—was set in September, 1956, by Maj. Ivan Kincheloe of the United States Air Force in the X-2 experimental plane.

The U.S. Air Force recently said it plans to send a man above 100 miles in a new rocket plane now being built, the X-15. Kincheloe told an interview Monday night that he has been assigned to make the flight within a year.

VIOLENT CHANGES

A human making the rocket trip attributed to the Soviet pioneer would hurtle through the 70-below-zero chill of the stratosphere into the withering heat of the ionosphere, there to be bombarded by cosmic rays and burning x-rays and ultra-violet rays from the sun.

The Moscow sources said the Russian rocket man parachuted successfully to earth. They did not specify whether he was alive when he landed, but it was inferred that he was safe.

Observers believe the traveller was released from the rocket in a pressurized container, then broke clear to jump when the container dropped far enough.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unconfirmed reports that Russia has fired a manned rocket 186 miles into space brought varied comment in the United States today—but no expressions of outright disbelief.

Some scientists said the U.S. may not be too far from such a test.

Dispatches from Moscow Monday quoted reliable sources in Russia as saying a rocket carried a man aloft to the unprecedented height, and that the passenger parachuted successfully back to earth.

Senator Lyndon B. Johnson (Dem. Tex.), chairman of the Senate preparedness subcommittee which is investigating the U.S. missile programs, said:

"If this report is true it represents an extremely important achievement. It emphatically underscores the information already collected by this committee—that we have and can no longer, ever, ever afford to under-estimate Soviet efforts."

REPORTS ONLY SO FAR

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, noted that "they are still reports"—a reference to the lack of a formal Soviet announcement. He declined further comment.

There was a flurry of comment from several rocket experts.

Dr. Fred Whipple, head of the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory, expressed no surprise, but said he would like time to study the reports.

"They've been talking about doing this for some time," Whipple said, "and they've already sent up a space object with a dog inside."

Dr. John S. Rinehart, associate director of the observatory, said a rocket to put the man aloft would not have to be nearly as large as that required to launch a satellite, since the rocket and its passenger would need only to reach the desired height, then fall back to earth by gravity.

NOT FAR BEHIND

Dr. John L. Barnes, president of Systems Corp. of America, said he did not think the U.S. is "very far behind in such an accomplishment."

"We're close to doing better . . . and in a manned airplane."

Dr. Fritz Zwicky, astrophysicist at the California Institute of Technology, said an experimental rocket already built by Aerojet-General Corp. could carry a small man 200 miles into space.

"Our difficulty would be to get permission to send a man up in a rocket, human life being more valued here than in Russia."

Canadian Dollar Premium Drops

NEW YORK (AP)—The Canadian dollar declined 9-32 of a cent Monday to its lowest point in more than a year.

Strike of 400 Stops Work

GERALDTON, Ont. (CP)—The strike of more than 400 bush clearance workers on a 370-mile right of way of the trans-Canada pipeline from Port Arthur, to Hearst brought work to a halt today.

A federal labor department inspector is on his way here to investigate any contravention of the federal fair wage scales legislation.

The strikers allege that wages are below the standard of the area, and that the persent $1.20 an hour rate is "unfair." They are seeking a 27-cent-an-hour increase

Most of the men are members of the Sawmill Workers' Union (CLC) whose spokesman has said the strike is a "wildcat" walkout by the men themselves.

SHRINERS PRESENT MACHINE TO HOSPITAL

CAMPBELLFORD — A new suction machine for use in the operating room was presented to the Campbellford Memorial Hospital by the Kawartha Shrine Club of Peterborough, on Friday, when a dozen Campbellford members of the club met at the hospital to make the presentation.

Mrs. Betty Drummond, superintendent of the hospital, accepted a cheque for $400 covering the cost of the machine, from Noble J. F. R. Douglas, Q.C. of Campbellford. REMANDED ON CHARGE OF COMMON ASSAULT

Rodney Sharpe, 20, of Belleville, was remanded in custody until Friday on a charge of common assault when he appeared today before Magistrate T. Y. Wills.

Truck Stalls On Railway, Driver Escapes

Forced to jump clear when his truck stalled on the track as a C.P.R. diesel hauled freight was approaching, Joseph Cavanaugh, 66, of 209 ½ Front street, Belleville, escaped injury north of Tweed early Monday afternoon.

Mr. Cavanaugh jumped from his stalled truck as the train was about 100 feet away. His half-ton pickup truck was almost completely demolished and the front of the diesel was damaged by the impact.

The accident occurred on the Tweed-Sulphide road as Mr. Cavanaugh was driving towards Tweed. As he approached what is known as the Black Creek crossing he saw the eastbound freight approaching and applied his brakes.

But the truck skidded on the slippery roadway and then stalled on the track. When he could not get the truck going again, Mr. Cavanaugh jumped to safety just before the diesel struck his truck.

Provincial Police Corporal Thomas Lummiss of Madoc investigated.

Lengthy Service Recognized

Recognition for 28 years service to the city of Belleville — 18 of them as alderman — was accorded Monday to Ex-Alderman Charles L. Hyde, when at the inaugural meeting of council he was presented with a scroll by his son, Mayor Gerald B. Hyde. In addition to his 18 years on Council Mr. Hyde served for nine years on the Board of Education and for one year on the board of health.

Gavels Exchanged at Inaugural Meeting

An exchange of gavels by Mayor Gerald B. Hyde and Ex-Mayor Mrs. Jane Forrester, first woman mayor of Belleville, was an interesting highlight of Monday's inaugural meeting of city council. The gavel used last year by Mrs. Forrester was suitably engraved and presented to her by Mayor Hyde. In turn Mrs. Forrester presented incoming Mayor Hyde with a new gavel.

Quinte Secondary Teacher Tells of His Native India

India before and after independence from British rule, and the roles played by Prime Minister Nehru and Mahatma Ghandi in Indian political and religious life, were discussed yesterday in an interesting address given local Rotarians by Orville Matthews, of Quinte Secondary School.

Born in India, Mr. Matthews received his B.A. from Calcutta University. After completing post graduate work he became a teacher. He taught mathematics for 15 years in India and one year in England.

He and his family came to Belleville in September of 1956 where he joined the mathematics department of Quinte Secondary School. Since he settled in Canada other members of his family have emigrated to this country.

India, according to Mr. Matthews, is culturally, socialogically, economically and geographically a land of diversity, contrast, and opposites. Even dress differs from province to province, for example. Wealth is concentrated in the hands of a few while the majority of the 400,000,000 population is poverty-stricken. While India can boast of several great philosophers, mathematicians, scientists, it has an illiteracy rate of 75 per cent, he said.

EARLY TRADING DAYS

Some 400 years ago, when Portuguese, Dutch, French, and eventually British traders came to India, they found no unified country — merely a patchwork of small, independent, political units ruled by Moslem tribal leaders in the north or Hindu maharajahs in the southern half of the country.

The northern portion of the country was composed of numerous Moslem tribes descendants of Turks, Persians and Assyrians, who had come to plunder and had decided to settle there.

When wars broke out between Moslems and Hindus because of religious difference and economic tension, the "foreign" traders found it necessary to ally themselves with the particular ruler in the area where their trade was being carried on, he said.

During the numerous battles the Dutch and Portuguese traders were almost driven out of India, and by 1757 the government of Britain was firmly established in India.

BRITISH TRAINED INDIANS

Rather than importing British personnel to fill administrative positions, the British government established an educational system to train the Indian people to fill these positions, the speaker explained.

Schools and colleges were established with narrow, limited curriculums, and missionaries were brought out to establish hospitals and clinics and to help with educational work.

After independence was established, Prime Minister Pandit Nehru and his ministers attempted to reorient the educational system — to add courses and subjects which would give the students a wider outlook on life and make them better citizens.

As an aid in unifying the country, Nehru attempted to institute a national language called Hindi, first as a medium of instruction in the schools. He met with opposition from the southern half of the population, and was forced to shelve this idea for the present.

"Nehru has undertaken a gigantic task in trying to mold diverse peoples into a homogeneous population," said Mr. Matthews. "He felt by instituting a national language he could effect a psychological change."

CASTE SYSTEM

A thorn in the side of national unity is the caste system. It has been criticized by the western world, and rightly so, said Mr. Matthews.

"The caste system dates back several hundred years, and the origin is unknown," he stated.

There are four major castes, like a pyramid, with the Brahmans, the priests and educated class, at the apex, and the Sudras, menial workers at the bottom. The lowest class of people are the untouchables or outcasts, and there are some 15,000,000 of them in India today, he informed.

"A person is born into a certain caste and he can never change his caste in this life. A Hindu believes, however, if he lives a religious life in this life, he will be re-born into a higher caste in the next life," he explained.

In commenting on caste riots which frequently flare up in India, Mr. Matthews said, "theoretically since the caste system is part of the Hindu religion, and a person has no control over which caste he will be born into, there should be no ill will between members of different castes. The primary reason for this ill will is the exploiting of the lower castes by members of the upper castes."

This exploiting of the lower castes began when the British appealed to the Brahmans, the educated class, to fill administrative positions, he said.

ROLE OF GANDHI

Mr. Matthews told Rotarians of the efforts of Mahatma Gandhi in attempting to bring about understanding among castes.

"He preached tolerance, and finally succeeded before his death, in throwing open the temples to the outcastes," he said. "Although he did not succeed in breaking down the barriers of caste, he was successful in breaking down caste prejudice against outcasts."

He was martyred because his aims were misunderstood by orthodox Hindus who felt he was trying to break down the caste system and destroy the Hindu religion, he explained.

Another champion of the 15 million outcasts is Dr. Ambed Kar, he said. Although an "untouchable," he became chairman of the committee which drafted the constitution of Free India. He even married a girl from the Brahman class.

"The outcasts or untouchables are an important class in Indian society, and their co-operation is needed to unify the country," Mr. Matthews stated.

Mr. Matthews believes the caste system is detrimental to Indian unity, but only time and future generations will determine whether it is abolished.

The speaker was introduced by past-president Harold Mott and thanked by chairman of International contacts committee, Enos David. He was presented with a token of appreciation on behalf of the club by President J. Demeza.

President Demeza announced that Rotarian Harry Ackerman is seriously ill in Belleville General Hospital. Appreciation on behalf of the club was extended to Scribe Virgil James, author of the Rotary Bulletin, and Court Miller and members of his program committee, who have arranged such interesting programs in the past year.

Rotarian Arnold Orr brought back to the local club greetings from the Bermuda conference.

Birthday Ball For Princess Held at Palace

LONDON (Reuters) — Nearly 200 guests danced until the early hours today at the belated 21st birthday ball for Princess Alexandra, daughter of the late Duke of Kent.

Prince Philip was the princess' partner in the first dance, a lively quickstep to the strains of Darktown Strutters' Ball.

But jazz and rock 'n' roll tunes took second place to rhythmic "cha-cha-cha" music from Latin America.

The celebrations began with a dinner party attended by about 20 guests, including Queen Elizabeth, Alexandra's cousin.

MARGARET ABSENT

Princess Margaret did not attend. Court officials said she had a bad cold.

It was the fifth time in recent months that Margaret had failed to show up at an expected engagement with the Queen and Prince Philip.

Alexandra was 21 on Christmas Day, but the celebrations were postponed until this post-holiday party.

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market moved narrowly lower in slow morning trading.

Profit-taking, which began to cut into gains of a four-session rally in the final half-hour Monday, was the major factor behind losses today. All sections lost ground on their indexes, led by Industrials and base metals, each off one-half point.

The 11 a.m. volume of 273,000 shares was lighter than Monday's 406,000 at the same time.

Imperial Bank was a 2½-point loser at 44 among industrials and Page Hersey Tubes lost two points at 105. Price Bros. had a similar decline at 36. Goodyear Tire and McColl dipped a point each while Union Gas gained a point at 67.

Senior base metals were generally lower in a fractional range but Hudson Bay bucked the trend to post a gain of ½ point at 43.

Western oils were easier but trading was light and price changes small.

Business Forecast for 1958

Editor's Note: The author is a native of Belleville who is active in New York City financial circles. Each year Mr. Docter kindly writes for this newspaper a forecast of business outlook as he sees it.

By JOSEPH DOCTER

There may be further readjustments in business but prices of many stocks have discounted further adjustments and offer good possibilities at present levels particularly companies with large research departments who are adjusting their affairs to take advantage of changing conditions. I continue to prefer companies with large natural resources in growth industries. Strongly suggest avoiding companies where labor and politics may hamper their activities.

World-wide political conditions are an important factor. There may be opportunities in foreign countries but conditions are too uncertain for average investor except Canada. The latter country has big possibilities particularly for expansion.

Development of its natural resources will continue, especially mining. New methods of treating iron ore in the Quebec-Labrador region where there is big water power offer possibilities. The aeroplane, radio and other scientific devices make discoveries and development possibilities in many heretofore inaccessible regions. Canada's political and economic conditions have been and will continue to be excellent, particularly for investors.

Friends Honor Dr. Demorest At Foxboro

A 77-year-old family doctor was recently honored by members of his community with a gift in apreciation of his many years of faithful service.

Friends and neighbors of Dr. J. S. Demorest of Foxboro, feeling they would like to express their appreciation in a tangible way, took up a collection to buy him a beautiful leather chair.

The chair was delivered Christmas Eve. along with a card signed by approximately 113 people who contributed to this Community gift.

Dr. Demorest has been a general practitioner in Foxboro for the past 15 years. He is on call 24-hours-a-day and is always ready and willing to minister to those who need his aid.

A native of Foxboro, Dr. Demorest attended public school there and high school in Belleville. He received his M.D. degree from the University of Manitoba, and began his first practice in Alberta, where he became succesfsul and much sought after as a consultant.

After some years, he developed a yearning to practise in his home town, and when the opportunity arose, he returned to continue his medical career. Here he developed a widespread practice, which includes not only the village of Foxboro, but the surrounding community as well.

Dr. Demorest is married and has one daughter living in Toronto.

Police Blotter

Marcus Calder, 65 Donald St., Belleville, escaped injury last night when his car went out of control on No. 2 highway west of the city, crossed the ditch and ended up inside a property owner's fence.

Theft of slightly over $1 in junior Red Cross money was reported at the Sir Winston Churchill school, while at Queen Elizabeth school a door was found insecure this morning. Police did not say if anything was missing in this instance.

And a car reported stolen Sunday night from Elliott motors used car lot on Dundas street has been found abandoned in Picton.

OTHER VIEWS

Other Progressive Conservative members expressed a variety of views.

William Thomas, Middlesex West, said he does not fully support the principle of a written declaration of human rights because such a document does not guarantee protection of its expressed freedoms.

J. M. Macdonnell, minister without portfolio, took a similar stand: "When you put things in writing you have to watch your step."

Bobby McDonald, Hamilton South, said Parliament should stand on its own feet and enact a statute setting down a bill of rights, instead of seeking to amend the constitution by petition to the British Parliament.

Council Discusses Proposed Sidney Street Sub-Division

TRENTON — Considerable discussion on the proposed Sidney Street sub-division highlighted the first meeting of the year of the new town council last night in the board room of the Municipal Building.

The mayor called the talk on the subject to an end about a half-hour after it started and the council decided to leave the matter in the hands of the town's legal department.

James F. Day asked the council to register a plan for the sub-division saying it was necessary to have this registered plan before anyone could go ahead with the building of houses. He also stated it would be easier to put in the sewer line during the winter months in this area than during the summer due to the conditions of the soil.

Following various questions by the mayor and councillors on the effect, if any, it would have with the planning boards the council decided it was best to leave the matter in the hands of the town solicitor for the time being.

Also appearing before the council concerning the classification of land in the zoning laws was R.E. Nourse, Q.C., representing Richard Brett, who owns about 12 acres of land on the west side of Sidney Street.

Mr. Nourse stated that according to the present zoning plan this area was classified under a "D" category which is considered to be for use as recreation of farming. He said his client wished to have this land re-classified as "A" or residential area. He urged the council to approve this matter which would enable him to bring it up in front of the planning board scheduled to meet on Thursday night.

Speaking on the matter the mayor said he couldn't see where this re-classification would do any harm and suggested Mr. Nourse and the town solicitor get together and draw up the consent for this change. The council approved.

Maps of the town zoning proposal were on hand for the study of the council in their discussion of the areas in question.

W.H. Turney Re-Appointed To Roads Body

TRENTON — The mayor and all councillors, with the exception of L. Worrell, were present last night for the first meeting of 1958 of the town council in the board room of the Municipal building.

Town clerk O. W. Larry read a telegram from Mr. Worrell in Winnipeg that he had taken ill and would be delayed in returning to Trenton for another seven days.

A report from the chairman of the Trenton Suburban Roads Commission, W. H. Turney, was read and approved by council. The report gave details of work done in improving these roads, and an account of costs of snow removal, repairs, ditching and bushing. It was read by the town clerk.

A resolution was passed to express the council's thanks to Mr. Turney for his work in the past year and to reappoint him to this commission for another year.

In speaking on the report Mayor Ross Burtt commended Mr. Turney, saying "He has always done an excellent job and is very conscientious."

Other resolutions passed at the meeting concerned the clerk being given authority to grant permission to hold tag days.

The constitution of the various town committees, as previously reported, was approved.

A resolution was passed which authorized the town clerk to issue permits in accordance with the schedule for the opening of gasoline service stations after the hour of 7 o'clock in accordance with the conditions of the town by-law which covers this.

Other by-laws passed concerned 292 feet of sewer on Stanley Street costing $1,888, and a sewer on Murray and Ramsay Streets, costing $17,628.24. These two by-laws were given third and final readings.

East Trenton Guides Earn Many Badges

TRENTON — Girl Guides in East Trenton district earned a total of 157 badges during the year 1957, it was announced to members of the East Trenton Girl Guides Local Association at the meeting of the group held last night in College Street School. Mrs. Ivor Walling, badge secretary, said that 86 badges had been earned by the girls during 1956. Badges earned in 1957 were 20 second class, 17 Golden Hand, 17 Brownie Wings, 5 athlete, 4 artist, 5 child nurse, 4 collectors, 5 cook, 5 cyclist, 1 dancer, 5 emergency helper, 2 friend to the deaf, 5 health, 1 homemaker, 1 house orderly, 18 hostess, 5 keep fit, 11 laundress, 1 minstrel, 2 singers, 2 swimmers, 6 thrift, 11 skaters, and 4 religious and life badges.

The meeting was opened with the Guides' Prayer by District Commissioner Helen Ferguson, commissioner for Trenton East. The recent successful tea and sale was discussed. Mrs. Ferguson described her visit to the recent Guide Leaders' conference, and her reception and entertainment there at the home of Miss Montfiore, where Guide leaders are trained.

DISCUSS BUYING TENT

Members then discussed the possibility of purchasing a ridge tent, which had been obtained by Guide Captain Eva Smith when she was at Doe Lake Guide Camp during the summer. It was suggested that the tent be purchased jointly with the West Trenton Girl Guide Local Association. Mrs. Ferguson said that the tent would provide good training for the Guides in the erection of tents of this type, as well as being very useful when camping time came around. Mrs. Walling proposed that an offer should be made to purchase the tent jointly with the West Association, and if that association decided against purchase, that East Trenton would purchase the tent for the use of its own Guides.

An East-West Trenton Guide Association joint rummage sale in the spring was also discussed. West Trenton had stated that they would like to agree on a definite date. Members decided to hold the sale on April 19th with May 3 as an alternative date.

On hearing from Mrs. Ferguson that each Local Guide Association is entitled to send two delegates to the forthcoming Provincial Annual meeting in Toronto, members discussed the possibility of sending a delegate or delegates from East Trenton to the meeting, where Gold Cords will also be presented in Massey Hall to those Guides who have earned them. Members decided to hold over the question until the March meeting.

A sum of money was voted towards the purchase of flowers for the altar of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. A letter of thanks is being written by the secretary, Mrs. Goodwin, to the Rev. D. C. McLelland, minister of St. Andrew's thanking him for the use of the church parlors for the Guide tea and sale

A small sum was also voted for the purchase of cards to be sent to committee members and pack and company mothers reminding them of the Association meetings. The possibility of a mother and daughter banquet for both Guides and Brownies was also discussed at the meeting. Mrs. Ivor Walling was appointed as lunch convener for the association's meetings.

Four Requests For Tag Days Are Approved

TRENTON — Four requests for tag days in the town of Trenton were approved by the town council at their regular meeting in the municipal hall last night.

Heading the applications was one from the Kinettes, who will be sponsoring the "Mothers' March" during the month of March. It will be in support of the Canadian Foundation for Poliomyelitis and will start a drive for the raising of funds for this group.

Others to apply for tag days to be held during the spring months were from the C.P. and T. (Cancer, Polio and Tuberculosis Committee of I.O.O.F.); the Quinte Disabled Persons Club and the Victorian Order of Nurses.

Also contained in the correspondence to the council was a request from the St. John Ambulance for their usual grant from the town. Council left this matter for the finance committee to consider when they make up the budget for the coming year.

An invitation from the local Lions Club to have the councillors and mayor attend their annual civic night to be held on Thursday, January 9th., at the Queensway, was read and accepted.

Icy Pavements Cause of Crashes

TRENTON — Although the fire department reported no activity in the past few days icy streets late yesterday afternoon brought town police officers out to investigate two accidents of a minor nature.

A wet snow which fell during the afternoon yesterday turned town streets slippery and was blamed when a car being driven by Rudolph Myndzak of 152 King Street, Trenton, ran into the rear of one being operated by Ruth Little of R. R. 4, Trenton. According to the police report the Little car had stopped in the line of traffic near the intersection of Ontario and Dundas East Streets around 5 p.m. and was hit in the rear by the Myndzak car.

Mr. Myndzak told police his foot had slipped from the brake pedal and he was unable to get the car stopped in time to avoid hitting the car in front of him.

Damage to both cars was estimated to be $125.

In the second mishap which occurred at about 5.10 p.m. Albert Christopher of R. R. 2 Belleville stopped for the car ahead of hum on Lorne Avenue, which was waiting to enter Dundas Street West. In the second car Louis Pregent of 37 McColl Street, Trenton was unable to stop in time due to the icy condition and smashed into the rear of the Christopher car.

Damage to both vehicles was estimated to be $200.

BRITONS

Fuchs rejected Hillary's suggestion and said he would find his way out from "Depot 700," where the Hillary team was originally to link up and guide him back to Scott Base. Hillary flew out Monday from the pole back to Scott Base.

Fuchs, who has had to battle dangerous crevasses and high-packed snow ridges shaped by the wind, now is weeks behind schedule. He is travelling with six tracked vehicles.

Fuchs has made daily seismic studies of what lies beneath the ice.

The London headquarters of the Commonwealth Antarctic expedition has declared its "full support" of Fuchs and upheld his decision to press on.

Charles Bowden, chairman of the committee directing the New Zealand operations, said it has not lost sight of its primary duty—to support Fuchs in making his cross-continent trip.

He said Hillary had that responsibility clearly in mind and his suggestion that Fuchs stop at the pole and continue next year was "actuated by Hillary's assessment of likely conditions."

New Zealand Premier Walter Nash commented: "My personal knowledge of Sir Edmund is such that he would at no time do other than the correct thing and the best thing for all parties concerned."

Most New Zealand newspapers have defended Hillary's decision.

Harry H. Pound Re-Elected Deputy Reeve Thurlow Twp., 3 New Councillors Named

With about one third of the ratepayers turning out at the polls, Deputy-Reeve Harry H. Pound was returned to office as deputy-reeve for the township of Thurlow in yesterday's municipal election, defeating Robert J. Hopwood-Jones.

Deputy-Reeve Pound received 1054 votes to his opponent's 633. Mr. Hopwood-Jones was a member of last year's council and this year opposed Mr. Pound for the office of deputy-reeve.

Councillors elected were Clayton Hall, Carl Thompson and Ross Bailey. Going down to defeat in the five man field were last year's council members Ralph Plumpton and Corah Howard.

Reeve Alfred Wickett was returned by acclamation to his second term of office.

In heading the polls for the council candidates Mr. Hall rolled up almost as many votes as did Harry Pound who was returned as deputy-reeve. Mr. Hall received 1037 votes, Mr. Thompson 948 and Mr. Bailey 807.

The defeated candidates Ralph Plumpton and Corah Howard received 769 and 525 votes respectively.

Township Clerk Earl Dafoe noted that the 33 per cent vote was a decided improvement over that of last year when only about 25 per cent of the ratepayers turned out.

LET'S MAKE "INTELLIGENT SENSE"

The Montreal Gazette praises a statement by Canada's National Research Council for making "intelligent sense."

Unfortunately, for once, the same tribute cannot be paid to the Gazette's observations on this report.

"There is more to science than weapon development and there is no question that Western science, as a whole, still is ahead," says the Research Council.

We join the Gazette in applauding that statement.

The Gazette, however, adds that "the West will not feel safe until that phrase 'as a whole' can be changed to 'in every field'."

Now, if that is an accurate statement, it ought to be added that this means the West will never feel safe.

For, if there is one thing which we ought to have learned in recent months, it is that never again is the West likely to acquire a monopoly on achievements in every scientific field.

The Russians are here to stay as formidable competitors. We have got to learn to live with this competition, and indeed to benefit from it.

The Gazette wisely observes: "The Sputniks were a great achievement, for man in general as well as for the Russians in particular. But this is far from being the last goal man is aiming for. It has, in fact, only brought a thousand new goals within man's sights."

What sound reason have we to believe that scientists in the West can hope to be the first to reach every one of these thousand new goals? If we set that impossible target for ourselves, we are going to face disappointment again, as we faced it when the first Sputnik started whirling around the world.

The Gazette, though, apparently believes that this target is not unreasonable. It says: "In scientific achievement, where the free mind is necessary, there is no question that the free world can not only catch up but move forward again, if it is united, industrious and clear-headed."

The trouble with that sentence is that it links two entirely different kinds of freedom, speaking of the "free mind" and the "free world" as if they were inseparable.

The mind is not so weak that it can be easily placed in chains. Since the dawn of time, men of great capacities have lived under tyrannies, yet enjoyed the luxury of keeping their minds free. Nor is political freedom any guarantee that every man's mind will be free, for there are other chains for the mind than those welded by the secret police.

The same day that the Gazette published its reaffirmation of the belief that the free mind can exist only in the free world, I. Norman Smith in the Ottawa Journal commented on a report by Dr. John R. Paul of Ottawa on the recent American medical mission to Russia. Dr. Paul said that he found the top men and women in Russian medical research were talented and original scientists well acquainted with modern techniques and "had considerable freedom from the kind of administrational distractions which plague so many research workers in our own country." Mr. Smith also reports that Dr. Paul says the mission "to its admitted surprise found differences of opinion flourished openly among Russian medical scientists; no cramped rigidity was apparent. Science seemed not to be in a straight jacket."

Freedom for scientists is no substitute for freedom for all the people, to think, to speak, to choose their own occupations and way of life, to select their own rulers. But is there any sense in deceiving ourselves with the belief that the men in the Kremlin are so stupid that they expect worthwhile scientific research to be accomplished by robots, blindly following courses charted by bureaucratic red tape?

TRUCULENT ISLAND?

The Hamilton Spectator, commenting on the present squabble between Malta and Great Britain over the future of Malta's naval dockyards, heads its editorial "Truculent Island."

Webster defines "truculent" as "fierce, cruel, savage, ferocious."

Perhaps that is an accurate description of the Maltese. But if it is, Britons have reason to thank their stars that the Maltese are truculent. This fierceness, this ferocity, was one of the main reasons why Mussolini was unable to make the Mediterranean "Mare Nostrum" in fact, as well as in his fancy, even when Hitler gave him every possible assistance. It was the heroic Maltese people who stood behind the servicemen of the Commonwealth in maintaining Malta as a base for the Royal Navy during those dark days when Rommel's Afrika Korps was threatening to lock the gates to the inland sea at Suez and in the narrow strait between Sicily and Africa.

Perhaps the Maltese are being unreasonable in their present resentment at the layoff of a few dockyard workers. But if there were ever a people who had earned the right to be unreasonable, it is these men and women of the George Cross isle.

Trees Are Not Unlike Children

Cornwall Standard - Freeholder

The North American pioneer lived a hard life. He worked from dawn to dark and then went to bed, because candles were expensive. He had no movies, no radio, no television, no light to read by. His only warmth came from a smoky fireplace. Having no telephone when he wanted to talk to a neighbor, he had to walk to him.

But in many ways his lot was anything but boresome. It was not only that he didn't know anything much better than his way of life, but that rigorous and underprivileged though he was, he was adjusted to it. He had none of the sense of privation, inconvenience and boredom which afflicts people of today when electric power fails.

Fallen wires couldn't shut off his furnace, refrigerator, lights, clocks, radio, toaster, percolator, dishwasher, laundry, orange juicer, cooking range or water supply. What he didn't have, he never missed.

Nor would he have regarded a wind-toppled tree as either a loss or a problem. He came to a continent that for a thousand miles was clothed in an impenetrable forest, and cleared it with the help of an axe and an ox. A tree across his dooryard would have been cut up into firewood in a jiffy. He did not mourn a fallen tree.

In his harsh life there was little room for aesthetics, and a tree to him was not a thing of beauty, but a nuisance that shaded his crops and gave shelter to hostile Indians and savage beasts. Besides, he had millions of 'em.

We feel differently about trees. We see them as one of nature's stateliest and most graceful works. We relax under their grateful shade, depend upon them to shield our homes from the summer sun, find them as adornment to residential streets and parklands. We feel regret when gale or hurricane or ice storm brings them to earth, their roots exposed in unsightly death.

But our regret is mixed. Unlike the pioneers, we do not know what to do with a fallen tree and have to hire a man, for a sizeable fee, to cut it up and haul it away. And when they tear down power and telephone lines, leaving our homes cold and dark and isolated, we wonder if trees are quite as valuable an asset as they seem to be in normal times.

In a way, trees are not unlike children. When they're well behaved, they bring a lot of pleasure and are nice to have around, but when they become troublesome they become very troublesome indeed.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Says a doctor friend of mine:

"If you have bags under your eyes, smile, and they vanish. The muscle structure of the face is such that when you go through the muscular process of smiling, your whole face lights up. And the bags disappear. Pleasant wrinkles gather around your eyes, pulling the bags aside."

He led me over to his office mirror, and went through the pantomime. He drew a long face. He let his mouth sag in professional gravity. There was no doubt about it. He had bags under his eyes. No wonder, of course. Because he had been up half the night attending sick babies and middle-aged women who had the 2 a.m. frets, to wake him by telephone from his troubled sleep.

Then he burst into a smile. Everything turned up. His lips, his cheeks. Around his eyes sprang forth the wrinkles of an amiable man. He raised his eyebrows, as most of us do when smiling, and deep furrows appeared on his forehead, further lifting his face.

The bags utterly vanished.

"Bags," he said, "are most conspicuous on melancholy faces. Now, stand here and you try it."

So I stood in front of the mirror and tried it.

"That'll be five dollars," he said.

I give it to you free.

Strength for The Day

TURN TROUBLE INTO BLESSING

Everybody knows of the awful scourge of rabbits in Australia. For some generations after the original settlers landed in that nether continent, it appeared that rabbits would win the day, eating crops as fast as the farmers planted them. In desperation the farmers contrived every possible method of extermination. But the rabbits did not seem to diminish in number.

At last, someone had the happy idea of switching the rabbits over from the liability side of the ledger to the asset side. Many people regard rabbit meat as quite delicious. And knowing this the farmers forthwith began killing the rabbits and canning the meat. This has gone on until the production of rabbit meat on a huge scale has become a profitable national industry in Australia. Now, the faster rabbits breed the better. What was once a curse has been turned into a blessing.

This illustrates the capacity some people have for turning trouble into advantage. Helen Keller is certainly one of the most remarkable persons in the world today, and this is true not in spite of her blindness and inability to hear but because of these afflictions which ordinarily become great handicaps. All her other senses have been sharpened and her whole nature deepened by her trouble.

People or ordinary spirit and nature let trouble kill them. People who are tough, invincible, and filled with God's spirit turn trouble into blessing.

SUPPOSE

Suppose you keep a diary of the hurtful things you say
And the heedless deeds you're doing in the turmoil of the day;
Suppose you keep a diary of the selfish things you do,
Don't you think that it would help to make a kinder man
of you?

Suppose some wintry evening when you're sitting all alone
You could read your careless speeches, and recall the bitter tone
That had hurt a brother's feelings as the past came in review,
Don't you think that it would help to make a gentler man
of you?

If you wrote down every meanness that in haste
you're guilty of,
Every little selfish action, every thoughtless kick and shove
That you gave a slipping brother as your toil you hurried through,
Don't you think that it would help to make a better man
of you?

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Leslie of Queensboro celebrated their 50th or Golden Anniversary of their wedding on Tuesday, Dec. 28th., at the home of their son, Mr. Bruce Leslie. During the afternoon and evening many relatives and friends called to extend congratulations and express good wishes. Mrs. Leslie, prior to her marriage, was Miss Maggie Garrett, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Garrett of Roslin. Mr. and Mrs. Leslie have lived the greater part of their lives in the Queensboro district. Many gifts letters and cards were received by the bride and groom of fifty years ago and a telegram was received from their two sons, Norman and Edward, who live in the Peace River Country.

Thompson, Panter, Thomas, Vermilyea, Ackerman Hagerman, Green, Paterson and Blackburn. After speeches had been made at the city hall, mayor-elect McFee was escorted to his home on Ann Street by the Odd Fellows Band and many supporters. (Note 1958) Escorting the mayor-elect home was often done years ago. Generally there was good sleighing at the time and the new mayor was taken home seated in a sleigh and escorted by a torch light procession led by the band. Sometimes the horses were taken from the sleigh and the enthusiastic supporters would fasten a long rope to the sleigh and do the pulling. When the house was reached the mayor would stand upon his doorstep and make a short speech and there was much cheering. Times have really changed).

Horse Grease For Milady

Cornwall Standard - Freeholder

San Francisco skin specialist passes along a bit of scientific knowledge to the distaff element of society. It is the sort of thing which, although given in a purely charitable vein, could cause serious repercussions.

The dermatologist, Dr. R. B. Rees of the University of California Medical School, says milady should discard all her present facial grooming aids and replace them with horse grease.

Why horse grease? Because, says the doctor, this rather unique extract is better for drying, itching skin than any of the fancier, perfumed ingredients the ladies now use.

Perhaps the full ramifications of the doctor's remarks rebound upon him in retrospect, for he rather sheepishly adds: "Of course, I don't ask women to use horse skin oil, but, chemically speaking, it is more closely related to human skin than is lamb skin, which is where we get lanolin."

The occasion for Dr. Rees' remarks was an address to a clinical conference in Oklahoma City. The physician was describing the cause and effects of psoriasis and other diseases of the skin, when he somewhat surreptitiously, perhaps inadvertently, included his plug for horse grease.

One can visualize whole new industries springing up as a result of the doctor's remarks. Horses, instead of continuing their downward path to oblivion, will once again become king of animaldom. Lanolin will be a fad of the past, and sheep will lose their eminence in medicine. Perhaps the diploma awarded to doctors of the future will become known as the horseskin.

At any rate, it will be interesting to observe the outcome of the race between horses and sheep for the privilege of massaging the madam's face. Apparently Dr. Rees is betting on the nag.

Let Children Name Selves

Christian Science Monitor

Some people may like their given names. If so, they rarely mention their satisfaction. Others will wax eloquent, or at least voluble, on what it means to go through life with first names that invited teasing from schoolmates or were too fancy, too hard to write, or made the hotel clerk look up from the register quizzically.

Every now and then one of the names gets into the headlines, evoking sympathy for its owner and diatribes against parents or unfavorite aunts who imposed their own or their fancy's name on an unprotected child.

We shall not here offer examples of such names: they are too numerous and too explosive. But we shall discuss with all the gravity at our present command a proposal for improving the humor of the human race by giving it a chance to pick its own names.

It is a simple proposal, and like many simple solutions will not satisfy everybody. It involves legislation to prevent the naming of a child at all. Parents will just give the child a number by which to be identified for 12 years (the first 12 years are the hardest where first names are concerned). At 12 years of age he or she would then choose his or her own first name.

This, we know, would take half the joy out of parenthood for some people. And it is on their behalf that we have at considerable expenditure of intellectual energy devised an ameliorative.

The law to be passed protecting children from being named by people who have forgotten what it is like to be children shall, however, contain a consolation for parents. Those who dutifully number instead of naming their offspring would be permitted to use "pet" designations based on the numerical system, like "Onesy", "Twosy", or even "Threesy-weesy."

We could say more about this, but have decided not to.

Personal Health Talks

How to Make It a Blessed Event

Some people can remember that it was customary and proper for expectant mothers to efface themselves and hide from public view as though their "delicate" condition was shameful.

Happily the pregnant woman today is justly proud of her great mission, and on any occasion her appearance commands only admiration and respect.

The difference between the woman of yesteryear who was "in a delicate condition" and ashamed of it and the woman today who is pregnant and proud of it is simply that the latter has more intelligence than her mother or her grandmother had. Mother and grandmother received little or no instruction in the hygiene of pregnancy, the physiology of childbirth and the science of infant care and feeding. They depended almost entirely on what older women pleased to tell them — which was generally wrong.

Expectant mothers today find a profusion of information and instruction available in pamphlets and books.

Unfortunately many expectant mothers don't seek such instruction. They just leave everything to the doctor. They are going to the hospital anyway. They expect to receive an anaesthetic and, when they wake up, find it's all over. I won't say any more about this now, because — well, I don't want to make everybody mad at me.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

BE MY GUEST

I have just been reading one of the most interesting and inspiring success stories I have ever read —"Be My Guest," by Conrad Hilton. Here is a man who started out in the first place with nothing but troubles, disappointments, and failures. He liked to build, and run hotels. Often he didn't have a bed in one of his earliest hotels where he himself could sleep! At one time he was "staked" by one of his bellboys!

Even when this man had but a few Texas hotels, he had dreams. One of them was that some day he was determined to own the famous Waldorf-Astoria. That time came, and then he dreamed some more — and bought the great group of Statler hotels, costing over $100,000,000! I read where a writer said that from childhood Hilton was trained to "tackle the risks of life head-on."

The Hilton story is so amazing and fabulous that it is difficult to believe, but it is authentic and true. And now scattered all over the globe are to be found hotels that bear the name of this man of dreams and faith. Remember, too he had a great, God-fearing mother who was the inspiration of his life.

"Be My Guest" is rather long, but there isn't a dull spot in the entire book You get the story of a man who was a dreamer and one of action. A man who placed his religion high and whose faith never failed him. I am told he is a man of simple personal traits, and a companion worth knowing. He could well be known as a scatterer of dreams that mostly have come true.

Last year I was a brief guest at the beautiful Caribe Hilton in Puerto Rico, a dream surely as it looks out in the sunshine upon the mountains, a man's additional dream achieved. Each one of this great Hilton chain of hotels is a dream come true! This book by Conrad Hilton should have a wide reading. It's an inspirational book de luxe!

Dying Is So Inconvenient

Ottawa Journal

From a gentle contributor of ours we have had a tale about flu, one which we delight to pass on because unlike most tales about anything these days it leaves us with a kind of sneaky feeling that life is worth living.

Well, it seems that there was this woman, and she had flu.

The doctor had ordered for her some very expensive pills. "It's ridiculous", she said to him on his next visit. "I've worked out that each pill costs me 65 cents."

"Sixty-four point seventy-seven, to be exact", said the doctor.

"Well anyway it's ridiculous. Why can't I be cured by a 25 cent pill?"

"Ah-ha", said the doctor quickly "so you want to be cured today. Yesterday you said you didn't think it worthwhile".

"I still don't think it worthwhile", said the patient. "But it's not convenient for me to die just this minute. This house is in an awful mess, and I can't remember where I put the deeds of my summer cottage. I would rather find them first."

The doctor smiled: "I suggest that you get over this flu first, and then you put your house in order and hunt for the deeds, and then if you like we'll talk about dying."

"Yes but then I won't have any disease to die from", objected the patient. "If I'd been logical I'd never have sent for you in the first place. Then I could have died quietly and peacefully without all those extravagant pills."

"Possibly, but not probably", said the doctor.

Well, in spite of, or because of the expensive pills, the patient was cured. Even the doctor had to admit it. What is more the house was in order, or as much order as it ever would be in, and the deeds had turned up among the sheets of music in the piano-stool; so there was no longer any reason for delay in planning an effective exit from this vale of tears.

"You have but to choose the day", said the doctor cheerfully, "and I will provide the pills. Cheap too. Three for a dollar, so you can't think you're being extravagant."

"Do I need three? Isn't one enough?"

"It ought to be enough for a person of your build", said the doctor meditatively, "but we musn't bungle things. You'd better take two to be quite sure and if you don't want to waste the third you can use it first on the mice! You must have mice somewhere around. Now what day would suit you?"

"No day this month", said the patient quickly. (She didn't want to say that she had bought a new hat and that she would like to wear it a few times first; that sounded to frivolous. Then there was that parcel of books she had ordered from England; so many things she wanted to read.)

"Two of my grandchildren are having birthdays soon", she explained rather lamely, "and then there's Christmas and I've asked someone to stay and then" —she hesitated—it all sounded a little unconvincing. "There are bits of Italy I am longing to see again."

Suddenly she burst out laughing. "It's funny," she said, "but when it comes to the point, it's hard to find a convenient day to choose to die on."

"You're cured", said the doctor, "until the next time", and he looked pointedly at the clock as a sign that the interview was over.

Order Inquest As Scanty Diet Fatal to Woman

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Province says British Columbia attorney-general Robert Bonner has ordered an inquest into the death by self-imposed malnutrition of a woman in North Vancouver.

Mrs. Margaret Mary Howard, 30, had been under the care of a naturopathic physician before she entered hospital, where she died Christmas Day.

The newspaper says: "Mr. Bonner said he had scanned the coroner's preliminary report. He formally authorized the inquest without the necessity of the coroner's jury viewing the body."

Coroner Dr. Harold Dyer of North Vancouver reported to the attorney-general that Mrs. Howard died of "self-inflicted malnutrition."

Dr. Dyer said Monday he will set the date for an inquest when he receives official notification from the attorney-general's office.

CITES ANNUAL TOLL

Vancouver coroner Glen McDonald said earlier an average of four or five persons die yearly here from "legally prescribed starvation diets."

"I know of two persons in Chinatown who are so weak from prescribed diets they are unable to help themselves," Mr. McDonald said in an interview.

Autopsy reports on all deaths where malnutrition is a factor are sent to the attorney-general's department.

Naturopathic physicians are licenced to practice in B.C. Dr. Lynn Gunn, registrar of the B.C College of Physicians and Surgeons, has suggested the government inquire into their activities.

Squads Waging Relentless War On Wolves

MONTREAL (CP)—The flying squads of the Quebec department of game and fisheries are waging a relentless war on wolves.

Firmin Pourque, Montreal district superintendent of the department, told a study group at the northeast wildlife conference Monday that the flying squads are two-man teams of wardens which descend on poachers by automobiles, airplanes, boats, skis and snowmobiles.

Human poachers feel the brunt of the flying squads, Mr. Bourque said, "but in this territory, poacher number one is the wolf."

MAKE BIG KILLS

He said wolves lurk around the winter yards of deer, slaughtering the animals and gorging themselves on the carcasses. An average wolf, which can eat one-fifth its weight at one sitting, kills about 20 deer every year, Mr. Bourque estimated.

Wolves have a habit now fatal to them. They use the frozen surfaces of streams and ponds for footpaths. The flying squads, literally flying, swoop across the lakes in airplanes dropping poisoned meat.

By this method and by trapping and snaring, said Mr. Bourque, "we kill some 500 to 600 wolves a year." About 1,000 foxes which prey on small game, are also killed. This was one of the most important factors in the improvement of hunting in Quebec during the last five years. In 1953 one deer was bagged for every 21.5 hunters. Now the ratio is one deer for every 8.7 hunters.

200 Attend Opening of New Earl Prentice Public School

MARMORA — Marmora's new $75,000 public school, Friday night became officially the "Earl Prentice" school.

The naming climaxed ceremonies at the official opening of the school which actually had been in use since last September, with the finishing touches being made while lessons proceeded. There is still work to be done and the chairman of the board states that the actual cost without the lot is liable to be $80,000.

G. W. Nelson, inspector of public schools for the Centre Hastings district, called Mr. and Mrs. Prentice to the platform near the end of the meeting, and announced that the new school would be known hereafter as the Earl Prentice school. Mr. Prentice, who has been principal of the Marmora Public school since 1921, was completely taken by surprise. Mrs. Prentice was presented with a bouquet of roses.

Mr. Prentice now teaches Grade 8 at the new school. He acts as principal for both the old and the new public schools with the vice-principal, Glen Watson, in charge of the old school.

Many former pupils, of Mr. Prentice were among the crowd of 200 who braved the icy weather to attend the ceremonies with Don Marett chairman of the public school board in the chair.

The visitors first made a tour of the 4-roomed school. In addition to Mr. Prentice's grade 8 class, the teachers are: Miss Hilda Taft, 30 years on the staff, with grade 2, Mrs. E. Manchester Grade 1 and Miss Ruth Bateman, kindergarten.

Apart from Trenton the new kindergarten is believed to be the only of its kind between Belleville and Bancroft. Grades 3 to 7 are taught in the old school bordering No. 7 highway. The "Earl Prentice" school is situated on William Street, North, and east of the business section of the town. It is of modern design, and was still wearing its bright Christmas decorations, the work of the students including a Nativity scene in Grade 1 room.

TEACHERS' SPECIAL ROOM

There is also a special room for the teachers furnished by the Home and School Association of which Mrs. T. Pearce is president.

The Reverend R. G. Fleming, of St. Paul's, read the Scripture from Proverbs and the Rev. P. O. Miller, of the Free Methodist church led in prayer. The Reverend F. E. Madden, who was scheduled to speak was out on a emergency sick call and could not be present.

Diane Neal, Grade 7 pupil, delighted the audience with two solos and the school sextette, under the direction of Mrs. John Glover, was accompanied by Mrs. Robert Sanderson, pianist and music teacher of the school, entertained during the evening.

Elmer Sandercock, M.P.P. speaking on advances in education in the last ten years said $400,000 had been spent in the past year in his riding of North Hastings constituency. Marmora has had a new high school a new separate school, and the new public school within the past five years.

Greetings were extended by Reeve William Shannon of Marmora, and James Craig of Craig and Zeidler, Peterborough architects, and Vincent Lynch, secretary of the separate school board.

Leighton McGinnis vice-principal of Marmora High School, told the visitors the, "teachers have no freedom to offer your children but the freedom from ignorance." He announced that shop work had been extended to the Public School and the separate school with a high school teacher visiting them for one period each week.

Mr. Prentice introduced Mr. Nelson, who said in his address that there was "no future in the past but the past is needed on which to build a future".

UNION JACK PRESENTED

The Rev. P. O. Miller at the close, presented a large Union Jack to Mr Prentice which was donated by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Marett.

Among those present were: Mrs. Clayton Burkitt of Springbrook, Marmora public school nurse for the past 25 years, and Mr. and Mrs. William Prentice and Mr. and Mrs. A. G. McAuley, of Belleville, Miss Hilda Henderson, of Trenton, and Mrs. Gus Leonard, of Peterborough.

Mr. Kenneth Kelsey of Arden was the contractor for the building of the school.

The members of Home and School served tea and refreshments in the kindergarten room.

Police Probing Series of Summer Homes Break-ins

CAMPBELLFORD — Provincial police are investigating a series of five cottage break-ins a few miles east of Trent River, north of here. Cottages owned by Jack E. Trimble, Jack Cowell, James Benor and Frank Chapman, all of Campbellford and Edward W. Renouf of Toronto were entered, although the cottage of Mr. Renouf appears to be the only one from which anything of value was taken. Damage was limited to that caused by forcing windows to gain entry.

A rifle, electric kettle and toaster, tools, clothing and ammunition were taken from the Renouf cottage. The break-in was discovered on the weekend when Ted Renouf, son of the owner, visited the cottage. Police then checked other cottages in the area and discovered four other forced entries, although apparently nothing was missing. They believe the cottages were entered sometime during Christmas week. OPP Cpl. Archie Eady of the Campbellford detachment is conducting the investigation.

Two Brothers, Sister Held on Arson Charges

OTTAWA (CP) — Two brothers and a sister between the ages of nine and 12 are to appear in juvenile court today to face charges in connection with 17 Ottawa fires or arson attempts over a three-month period.

The brothers face 17 charges eight each of arson and attempted arson and one of theft — while their sister has been charged with trespassing. Police said all the offences were committed within a 10-block-square area of east-central Ottawa. Total fire loss was estimated at $214,525.

Eleven of the incidents occurred on Sunday, three at churches. They touched off one of the most intensive hunts in the capital's history, with off-duty police and firemen called in and fire department members helping man police prowler cars.

The brothers and sister were arrested Monday. The search for an arsonist had begun Dec. 22 after a $160,000 fire at St. Joseph's Roman Catholic School.

Earliest fire was a $20,000 blaze Oct. 3 at a flour milling plant. Another was a Dec. 29 fire at a Salvation Army citadel.

Liberals Hammer Out Policy To Be Incorporated Into Platform for Next Election

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — The Liberal party, during its leadership convention, will be urged to hammer into its platform such proposals as a modified credit policy, a vast program of housing for low-income families and a national contributory pension scheme.

Resolutions aimed at reshaping some of the party's concepts and policies now are rolling in from grassroots organizations in time for the three-day convention opening here Jan. 14.

George Marler, chairman of the provisional resolutions committee says he already has received some 170 proposals and expects to have about 200 by convention time.

"Resolutions are coming in from all parts of the country," said the former transport minister, MP for Montreal's St. Antoine - Westmount. "The widespread interest is heartening."

NO TAX CUT CALL

Skimming through the resolutions, he found no widespread demand for lower taxes or any sharp increase in social security benefits. Rather, interest appeared to be centred on means of expanding the economy, the maintenance of jobs and building of more housing.

However, some regional groups did want the party to be in favor of increasing federal capital grants to hospitals and the development of a national contributory pension scheme whereby the worker, employer and government would share pension costs.

Groups also wanted transferable pension benefits to allow a worker to transfer benefits of company pension plans from one organization to another at any time.

Some Liberal groups want the national party to go all-out in favor of Britain's offer of free trade with Canada. There are demands also for a distinctive Canadian flag, a national system of scholarships and machinery for pegging the Canadian dollar at par with United States currency.

One demand that has particularly caught the attention of party leaders is for a scheme of low-cost housing to meet the needs of those earning about $3,000 a year. The criticism is that the current national housing act is geared mainly to help provide homes for those earning about $5,000 a year or more.

Party leaders say it is almost certain this resolution will get convention approval and that it is something that the party will attempt to implement if it gets back into power.

Another suggestion attracting keen interest is that the "bluntness" of the former Liberal government's credit policy—a policy that became an election issue—be "refined." This refinement would allow the government to temper any Bank of Canada credit restrictions by making money available to certain depressed areas such as the Maritimes.

Public Believes Press Should Get Access to News

OTTAWA (CP)—Jack Wratten has told Parliament the public believes the press should have free access to news.

Mr. Wratten, Progressive Conservative member for Brantford, was speaking in the Commons Monday during debate on a CCF proposal that a bill of rights be added to the Canadian constitution.

He said this public belief had been shown recently in London, Ont., where a judge had ruled that municipal officials could withhold certain information from the press. Mr. Wratten said the public defeated a mayor who had supported the judge's viewpoint and elected as mayor a person who had campaigned for free access to the information. He did not name the persons involved.

Mr. Wratten also criticized censorship of books. The public itself, he said, could curb obscene literature by not buying it. But the best way to promote trash was to announce it had been banned.

Another Commons member said freedom of the press is important to everyone and not just to journalists and publishers.

Margaret Aitken (PC — York Humber), columnist of the Toronto Telegram, said a free press provides a bulwark for other freedoms.

"As long as a country has freedom of the press, it is free," she said.

Miss Aitken, one of two women in the Commons—the other is State Secretary Ellen Fairclough said that only 40 years ago the freedom of women was recognized in Canada by giving them the franchise. Not until 1929 had women been recognized as persons in a legal sense.

That showed the importance of the fight to ensure personal freedom.

Companies Will Withdraw Offers To Settle Strike

VANCOUVER (CP)—The seven companies involved in the strike of British Columbia's 6,000 pulp and paper workers announced Monday night they have withdrawn all offers made in efforts to settle the dispute which began Nov. 14.

A union spokesman said it now seems the strike may continue "until May at least."

A letter sent by the companies to their employees says the latest offer made to the unions would have provided "the highest known settlement within the pulp and paper industry in North America in 1957."

It amounted to a package worth 20 cents an hour retroactive to July 1, 1957, with additional benefits to June 30, 1959, the letter says.

"Economic conditions within our industry have deteriorated since last June and are continuing to worsen," it says. "Therefore the refusal of your (union) committee to consider favorably our proposal leaves us with no alternative but to withdraw all our offers."

Representative H. L. Hansen of the Pulp and Sulphite Workers, one of two unions involved, said the strikers are determined not to go along with a 7½-per-cent increase recommended by a conciliation board and used as the basis of company offers.

Mr. Hansen intimated there is a point between the 7½-per-cent company offer and the 12-per-cent union demand at which a settlement might be reached. He declined to say where this point is.

The workers' present basic rate is $1.72 an hour.

Companies involved are: Alaska Pine and Cellulose, MacMillan and Bloedel, Columbia Cellulose, Powell River, Canadian Forest Products, Crown Zellerbach and Elk Falls.

London Mayor Releases Report Despite Council Opposition

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Mayor J. Allan Johnston, stymied in efforts to gain city council approval to make public a report on London's proposed annexation of urbanized sections of several surrounding townships has released it without approval.

Mayor Johnston Monday night turned over the report to representatives of the London Free Press whose editor-in-chief, Arthur Ford, previously had brought two motions before the Supreme Court of Ontario seeking release of the report. Both motions were defeated.

Angry disapproval was voiced by some council member against the action. Mr. Johnston had announced at a council meeting Monday he would defy council's ruling.

The report, made by Project Planning Associates Limited of Toronto, urged application to the Ontario municipal board for annexation approval. The application would be made after preparation of a bylaw stating the city's requirements that the urbanized lands of the surrounding townships be joined to the city.

Council favored withholding the report from officials of the townships, but the survey said "an interest in the future well-being of the people of the community of London will compel such a study by township administrators as well as those of the city."

It was recommended that council bring to the attention of all necessary officials the contents of the report "so that a substantiated case" could be presented at a board hearing at the earliest possible date.

The two motions brought by Mr. Ford were dismissed by Mr. Justice J. L. McLellan of the Supreme Court of Ontario on the grounds that in some cases it might be necessary for a municipal council to keep secret its documents for the good of the public.

It was argued by city solicitor H R. Davidson that premature release of the report would provide valuable information to those who might oppose the annexation in hearings before the Ontario municipal board.

Mayor Johnston put two motions before council Monday night, one calling for immediate release of the annexation report to the public through the press. The other asked for release of all available information on annexation at a special public council meeting Jan. 17 when reports have been prepared by the city solicitor and civic officials. Both motions were defeated.

The mayor then announced he would release the report to the press.

"It is a very backward step you are taking," said Alderman Terry Ferris.

"I would suggest," he added, "the action will destroy all confidence in this council in working with you on matters and negotiations requiring confidence and will destroy confidence in all negotiations with neighboring municipalities when matters being discussed can be released to the press," he added.

Honor Woman At Conference On Wildlife

By GERALD FREEMAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP)—A merry-eyed New England grandmother who has been on close terms with wild animals all her life is about the happiest delegate to the northeast wildlife conference.

Mrs. Helenette Silver, a brown-haired, matronly 52-year-old biologist with the New Hampshire fish and game department, was sent to the conference on short notice as just another delegate, she thought.

But the idea was to get her to Montreal to accept the 1958 award of the Northeast Wildlife Society as the outstanding conservationist of the year in the northeast district.

A gold wrist watch, and a kiss, were bestowed upon her by Dr. W. C. Severinghaus of New York, head of the wildlife society, at a banquet Sunday night.

HEFTY VOLUME

Mrs. Silver has done research on ruffed grouse and at present is working on nutritional problems of deer on which she recently published a pamphlet, but the main work on which the award was based is a hefty volume—History of New Hampshire Game and Furbearers—she published this fall.

The citation said the book "is the type of study most of us need to understand some of the problems we face today in game management. Being both sociological and biological in nature, it is of great value in enabling us to realign our sights in our approaches to public education and in enabling trends in game populations."

Now working with deer in connection with the University of New Hampshire, Mrs. Silver says "you have to take the psychology of animals into consideration in your experiments."

Wild deer are so nervous and upset during the tests that results are often erroneous, she says. She has succeeded in training deer to weigh themselves and to submit calmly to having their temperatures taken daily.

Study of Where Food Dollar Goes Planned

OTTAWA (CP)—Six men and a woman have begun an intensive study of questions vital to Canadian housewives who buy food and the farmers and fishermen who produce it.

The central questions are these: Where does the housewife's food dollar go? Does the producer get a large enough share? Do middlemen get too large a share and, if so, what should be done about it?

More than a year from now the seven persons, members of the new royal commission on price spreads of food products, hope to come up with some answers.

Commission chairman is Dr. Andrew Stewart, 53, Edinburgh-born president of the University of Alberta.

ENQUIRE REPRICES

At a press conference Monday he was asked whether he hopes the investigation will bring lower prices to consumers or higher prices for producers.

He smiled, suggested that one answer might be "a little of both," and added:

"We're going in to look at this thing and the chips will fall where they may."

At a series of public hearings, starting March 19 at Vancouver, the commission will hear from representatives of farmers, fishermen, consumers and in-between groups like processors, distributors, transporters and labor.

MANY DETAILS

Dr. Stewart said his group will look into details like loss leaders and premium stamps, freight rates, advertising costs and profit margins.

One commission member is Mrs. Dorothy Walton of Toronto, past president of the Canadian Association of Consumers.

Dr. Stewart said the new study will cover in detail not only staples which take the biggest share of the housewife's food dollar, but also products like maple syrup which are important to special groups of producers.

Present dates for hearings: Vancouver, March 19-21; Edmonton, March 24-25; Regina, March 27-28; Winnipeg, March 31-April 1; Moncton, April 29-30; Halifax, May 1-2; St. John's, Nfld., May 5-6.

Fashion Press Views Final Dior Creations

NEW YORK (AP)—The last collection designed by Christian Dior opened the spring fashion showings here Monday. Some 300 members of the fashion press viewed the final creations of the great French dressmaker before his death last fall.

The showing opened the crowded schedule of spring style previews, with the models displaying the three silhouettes decreed by Dior—the straight, unbelted sheath, the bloused - top sheath and the bell silhouette, with rounded skirt.

Dior called this collection, designed for the American market, the New Era, 10 years after his first sensational New Look changed feminine styles all over the world in 1947.

This time there were no sensations, but rather a continuation of the silhouettes established in his last Paris showing of fall clothes, with a general relaxing of line, wider shoulders, narrow hemlines, slightly shorter skirts, hip belts and hats recalling the spirit of 1927. As always, the Dior clothes were made in luxurious fabrics.

Suits showed a great variety of jackets, from unfitted, hip-hugging styles to bloused silhouettes, brief costume jackets and hip-belted silhouettes. Suit skirts were uniformly slim, usually with a back kick pleat.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Beeckman

CORRECT: TO SERVE CONSOMME IN TEACUPS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Several times lately I've been to parties where the first course was consomme (two were luncheon parties in the homes of friends, and two were buffet dinner parties) and I really was surprised to notice that in each case the consomme was served in teacups. Is this considered correct now? I thought bouillon cups should be used when a clear soup is served. — T.

Since it's just as convenient to drink consomme or any clear soup from a teacup as it is to drink it from a bouillon cup, it's entirely correct to use teacups. And today, when pantry-space is generally at such a premium, many hostesses don't have bouillon cups.

"OPEN HOUSE" ENGAGEMENT-ANNOUNCEMENT PARTY

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Our daughter has just received an engagement ring and my husband and I are planning to give a party at which he will announce the happy news. Since she is now a senior in college, and her fiance resides in the town where she goes to college, our friends have not had the opportunity to meet him. We would like the party to be an "Open House" party, for approximately 60 guests. (1) Would you suggest that we give the party in the late afternoon or in the early evening? I would like to serve simple foods and a fruit punch. (2) How is the engagement announced at an "Open House? I want my husband to make the annoucement — Mother

(1) An "Open House party is generally given in the afternoon, and very often on either Saturday or Sunday afternoon, when it can be more leisurely than on the other days of the week. An afternoon party presents the least problem as to what to serve, since the menu can be simple, small, simple sandwiches, some closed, some open, and or canapes; small cakes and or interesting kinds of cookies; "nibblers such as salted nuts, of one kind or of several kinds, mints and perhaps other candies, heated potato chips and popcorn, perhaps other packaged tidbits; coffee and or tea; and for the toasts, fruit punch or other cold drinks. This type of menu is suitable to serve at a party from 3 or 4 o'clock to 6 or 7 o'clock; or so that all the guests will arrive at about the same time for the announcement, you might ask them to "Please come at 4 o'clock." If you give an early-evening party, the guests would, I think, expect a different type of menu, say a buffet dinner or supper.

(2) Here is a charming way to make the announcement. You, as hostess, stand first in the group, to greet and welcome the guests. Then, since you wish to have your husband make the announcement, he would stand next, then your daughter, and next, her fiance. Your husband, after greeting an arriving guest, would turn to his daughter, and say " . . . and here is Elaine, and (turning to her fiance) . . . and we want you to know Elaine's fiance, Peter Lane. Your daughter will, of course, be wearing her engagement ring (for the first time in public) . . . and the Happy News is announced with social grace and an appropriate dignity. Later, after all the guests have been greeted and the refreshments are being served, your husband may, if he wishes, propose the first toast to the Happy Couple.

If the fiance's parents are to be present at the "Open House, you would, of course, invite them to stand with you and your husband in the receiving-line . . . I suggest they stand next to their son, so that he can, after he has been introduced to an arriving guest, introduce the guest to his parents, first to his mother, then to his father.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

Editor's Note: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Roger M. — Linda keeps making S O S calls to my office.

Linda M. — Why should he be spared?

Roger M. — My wife is an intelligent woman who held down a very big job before we were married. That's why I can't understand why handling a home and two children knocks her for a loop.

When one of the kids gets sick Linda wants me to stay home and help take care of him. If one of them has a minor accident while playing, she immediately calls me at the office to ask me whether I think she ought to take him to the doctor. Now how can I tell, if she is standing there looking at the kid and doesn't know?

Linda says all the other men in our community "help out," but I find I can't concentrate on the job when I have all these S O S's from home.

Linda M. — When I bring up some of the really dreadful problems I've had with the kids, Roger starts talking about how much concentration and effort his work requires, but I have heard him tell some of his friends how he and "the boys" spent a few hours over lunch or cocktails one afternoon.

I have also heard him say that he sometimes has to pile up his desk with paper work in order to look busy, and he also comes home with all kinds of gossip he picks up in the course of the day. He certainly doesn't get that by "concentrating" on the job.

If I have to suffer with all the home problems, why should Roger be spared?

The Council: From her own story, Linda's actions are evidently aimed at disturbing her husband's workday, rather than at securing help in the home.

Certainly, no man can be entirely free from care as far as family problems are concerned, but the kind of irritating "worry calls" Linda makes really constitutes nagging. Now, it is understood that nagging of husbands is permitted at all times at home, but the job is considered off limits to all fair-minded naggers.

We are not merely concerned with protecting Roger, however. Linda has our sympathy — not because she has to suffer at home while Roger drinks cocktails — but simply because she gets so little out of life and is so bitterly envious. But our greatest sympathy goes to the children, who can't fail to feel themselves an intolerable burden to their unhappy mother.

As a former career woman, Linda should recognize that she made definite commitments to her children when she bore them. She is now falling down on those commitments. She may be fulfilling her responsibilities on the maternal end, but she certainly can't be giving the children the love and happy home they need for decent growth.

For their sake, as well as for her own, Linda should try to discover the many joys and advantages in her position — and she should not forget that the business world has its own harsh, tiresome and boring aspects.

Dinner Menus

TUESDAY

(Neighborly Guests)
Chilled Cider; Swiss Steak on Noodles with Spiced Apricots (see Monday); Brussels Sprouts; Celery Hearts and Green Pepper Strips; Cottage Pudding with Butterscotch Walnut Sauce; Coffee.

It seems that it was very popular with you readers too last year for I had requests last month for repeats.

TURKEY BONE SOUP:

(Repeated by request). You need a good bunch of turkey bones for this. Don't try to make good rich turkey soup with only a couple of drumsticks. Even add a few strips of the brown skin. Cover with 8 cups of cold water and put it on to boil while you prepare the vegetables: ½ cup each chopped onion, celery, parsley, carrots, tomatoes; 2 tablespoons each rice, pot barley, little navy beans, 1 cup dry macaroni elbows or alphabets or noodles, 2 teaspoons salt, 1 teaspoon each sugar and monosodium glutamate, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 2 chicken bouillon cubes. Cover and simmer 3 hours. Pour through large sieve and as soon as it is cool enough pick out all of the bones and skin. Return everything else to the soup. Now taste it. If it needs salt you know what to do. We make a specialty of this by serving hot buttered sliced French bread with it and of course the inevitable tossed green salad.

Here is another beauty which is seeing the daylight through this column for the first time.

SOUP POT SOUP:

One each smoked ham bone and lamb bone, ½ cup dried baby Limas, 2 tablespoons each dried navy beans, finely chopped parsley, 1 medium onion chopped fine, ½ cup dried split peas, 2 tablespoons uncooked rice, 11 cups water, 1 cup chopped celery, 2 cups tomatoes or tomato juice, 1 tablespoon salt. Simmer for 3 to 3½ hours. Remove bones and cut any meat from them into pieces and add to soup. Skim off any fat. Serve boiling hot as main course for supper or lunch.

Community Friends Present Gift of Money

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Elliott, of Halloway, were pleasantly surprised [illegible]ntly, when about 40 young people from Bethel Hall, Belleville; also Mr. and Mrs. Michael Malloy and Gerald, of Stirling, met at their home for a social time with Mr. Elliott before he leaves for treatment in Ottawa, Ill.

After singing, "For He's A Jolly Good Fellow," several well wrapped parcels were presented to Mr. Elliott, each giver solemnly declaring that they came "straight from the heart." However, on opening them, they proved to be strictly for laughs. Following this, Mr. Elliott was presented with a book and a gift of money to help with his expenses.

Mr. Elliott thanked all for their kindness.

The rest of the evening was spent in singing and visiting.

[illegible] ladies served refreshments and all departed wishing Mr. Elliott renewed health.

Point-Pickin' Moore, Pocket Rule Roost In National League Scoring

Sport Slices

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

The Whitby Dunlops, gushing power from every pore, host the McFarlands tonight—and if the Macs play the same kind of hockey they dunked the Cornwall Chevies with last Friday night, it should be quite a hassle.

The Dunlops are riding the crest of a victory wave that has seen them emerge victorious in twelve of their last thirteen starts. They have a win string of seven that could be clipped this evening. Their last defeat occurred on Dec. 18 when the faltering Pembroke Lumber Kings shaded them 4-3.

They have been defeated but five times in 29 starts in the Eastern League, two of the games ending in ties. Strangely enough the Pembroke Lumber Kings hold the best record against the Dunnies, having defeated them twice and tied them once in five outings. The Macs have also hung two setbacks on the Allan Cup champions, but have been defeated three times in the clubs' five clashes.

The McFarlands shaded the Dunnies 4-3 here on Oct. 25 and gave them a hockey lesson on Nov. 15, defeating Blair's beauties by a 4-1 score. The Hildebrand crew dropped their first clash with the Dunnies in Whitby 7-5 on Dec. 10 after blowing a three-goal first period lead, and on Dec. 20, Blair's crew edged our side here by a 2-1 score. The Macs were "down" for that game and should have won it over the shorthanded Dunlops.

The last meeting of the clubs on Dec. 28 saw the Allan Cup winners pull out all the stops in a spectacular second period display when they scored seven goals in a row with nary a comeback from the Hildebranders. And they did it without benefit of Connie Broden, whom they acquired since and is rounding out a highly effective scoring line with playing coach Sid Smith and ex-Dutchman Jack McKenzie.

The Macs, fresh from their 5-1 thumping of the luckless Cornwall Chevies Friday night, should be "up" for tonight's tussle with Wren Blair's champions. If they are, the Leaf-spangled Canada club will know they have been in a hockey match, for that 10-2 shellacking left not-too-easily forgotten scars on the Macs and they will be out to prove that their falling by the wayside in the disastrous second period was a flash in the pan.

Win, lose or draw tonight, the Hildebranders face another tough assignment tomorrow night when they safari to Kingston to take on the upsurging CKLC's of Roddenville. Bun Cook has hauled his club from the cellar within the last couple of weeks, and in their last two outings they have served notice on all and sundry that they are far from being a bevy of pushovers for any team in the league.

They won their last two starts in efforts that would delight the heart of any coach. Sparked by the sensational work in goal of young Lin Davis who stopped 47 shots all told, Bun's cookies stopped the Pembroke Lumber Kings in the northern town arena, handing them a 3-0 shutout while the rest of the circuit raised surprised eyebrows.

Still another herculean effort was staged by the "Elsies" on Saturday night when they defeated the cellar-dwelling Cornwall Chevies by an 8-5 score. Down 5-1 going into the second period Joe Levandoski's crew flat-tired the Chevies with four goals to pull up on even terms, and then go on to win the pastime 8-5, scoring three tallies with nary a return.

Whatever New Year's spirit the wee manager, Dick Allen injected into his puck "troops" apparently had the desired effect. They have won their last two starts and now are but two points behind the Lumber Kings. The Macs will have to be on their toes come Wednesday.

BOOSTERS!

Don't forget the general meeting at the city hall council chambers tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. Much on the agenda.

Speaking of boosters, there is a little old grey-haired lady in the city who is one of the "hottest" fans the McFarlands hockey club has. She is 82-year-old Mrs. Ida Johnson, 75 South Pinnacle Street, who has been a "rooter" for Belleville hockey clubs since she was a teenager.

She has never missed one of the Macs' games until recently, when a slight stroke sent her to Belleville General Hospital. She listens to all the McFarland out-of-town games, and never misses a National League game on television.

Mrs. Johnson is a member of the Booster Club and gets as much thrill out of a hockey game now as she did in her younger days.

"The McFarlands," she says, "win, lose or draw, they are my boys. They're tops, better than anything I have seen. And they'll win the title, too, so there."

Perhaps a visit from one or two of the Macs would cheer up this grand old lady no end. We imagine she would love it, since she has never met any of "her boys."

Two-Year-Old Brings $65,000

POMONA Calif. (AP)—A two-year-old chestnut colt owned by the late movie magnate Louis B. Mayer drew a top bid of $65,000 Monday night at the first thoroughbred auction of 1958 at the Los Angeles County fairgrounds. The bid was submitted by Travis M. Kerr, owner of Round Table.

High price received for a mare was the $53,000 bid by Leslie Coombs II of Lexington, Ky., for the eight-year-old Popularity.

All 50 animals offered were from the Mayer stable.

Quebec Hockey

How many goals does a club have to score to beat Chicoutimi Sagueneens? That's a question that might be puzzling coaches of the other four Quebec Hockey League teams.

Third - place Quebec Aces pumped five goals past Chicoutimi netminder Gilles Boisvert Monday, but it wasn't enough. Guy Rousseau's second goal of the game, with little more than a minute to play, gave the Sagueneens a 6-5 win before a hometown crowd.

The win kept the front-running Sagueneens eight points in front of Shawinigan Falls Cataracts, who shutout fourth-place Trois-Rivieres Lions 2-0 in another game.

Habs' Stars Swap Positions But Withstand Challenge Of Red Wings' Gordie Howe

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Canadiens' two leading scorers swapped positions at the top of the National Hockey League scoring parade in last week's play and withstood the challenge of others who had a hand in a rich harvest of points.

Dickie Moore bagged three goals and three assists for six points to take over the league leadership with a total of 45. Henri (Pocket Rocket) Richard picked up two goals and two assists and eased into second place with 44 points.

Gordie Howe of Detroit Red Wings, who has been coming with a rush despite his team's so-so play this season, rang up five goals and an assist. The six-point production by last season's titleholder still left him in third place and, with 41 points, still four behind the leader.

HORVATH HANGS ON

Bronco Horvath of Boston Bruins, with a five-point splurge on two goals and three assists, ran his total to 39 and hung grimly to fourth place.

The real shakeup came below the leading foursome of the top 10. Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion of Montreal, who missed five early-season games when laid low by the Asian flu, scored three goals and added two assists.

The five points, bringing his total to 36, lifted Geoffrion from a seventh-place tie of a week ago to lone occupancy of fifth place.

Trailing him by two points are Vic Stasiuk of Boston and Andy Bathgate of New York Rangers. Stasiuk was another five-point man with one goal and four assists and he hopped from 10th place into the sixth-place deadlock. Bathgate lost ground with only a single assist.

TIED FOR EIGHTH

Bracketed for eighth place with 32 points are Camille Henry of New York, Jean Beliveau of Montreal and Billy Harris of Toronto.

The output for Henry and Harris was a goal apiece. Beliveau is still sidelined as the result of an injury Dec. 12.

Howe caught up with Henry for the goal leadership during the week. Each has 20. Moore and Henri Richard head the assist producers, each with 26.

While the scramble for goals and assists was going on, Canadiens blasted their way to four victories in as many games and widened their margin at the top of the league. With 55 points they now have a 16-point bulge over New York Rangers who played only twice last week and dropped both games.

STILL IN THIRD

Boston Bruins pulled out one game in three and held on to third place. Bruins have 36 points only one more than Detroit. Wings split even in four games and took over fourth place from Toronto Leafs, who lost all three starts.

The last-place Chicago Black Hawks making muscles again, scored three wins against a single loss. Now with 32 points, Hawks are only one behind Leafs.

Jacques Plante of Montreal continues to set the pace among the league's goalies. His goals-against average is 2.03, including nine games by relief men while he was ill earlier in the season. Closest is Glenn Hall of Chicago with 2.48.

Stranahan Wins Los Angeles Open Balding Fifth

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ever wonder why a rich boy like Frank Stranahan wants to cross putters with the toughest golf pros in the game?

"Professional golf is one field where my family's money can't help me—it's my own fight," said the heir to a Toledo spark plug fortune after winning the $35,000 Los Angeles Open tournament Monday. First prize was worth $7,000.

The former amateur kingpin fashioned a last round four-under-par 67 for a 72-hole total of 275 in the annual tournament that kicks off the winter golf campaign.

The lone Canadian left in the final round, Toronto's Al Balding, shot a one-under-par 70 Monday for a total of 281 and a fifth place tie with Bo Wininger of Odessa, Tex. Each won $1,675.

Two Canadians were eliminated in earlier play, Gerry Magee of Toronto and Calgary's Bob Wylie.

DROPS LONG PUTT

E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, 47-year-old veteran playing out of St. Louis, thrilled the gallery of 8,000 when he dropped an 18-footer on the last hole for a 69 and a 278 total. That won him second place and $3,750.

Young Gay Brewer Jr., playing out of Cincinnati, had a one stroke advantage going into the final round. But he finally settled for a 72 and a 279 total for the $2,600 third place money.

One stroke back was Billy Caspar Jr., of Apple Valley, Calif., with a 70 and a 280 total.

It was the second major tournament win for the 35-year-old Stranahan since he turned pro in 1954. His other was the Eastern Open in Baltimore in 1955.

Don Smythe Impressive In 'Bird' Matches

TORONTO (CP)—Veteran Don Smythe of Toronto, four - time winner of the Canadian badminton singles title, Monday was impressive in opening matches of the four-day trials to select Canada's team to meet the United States in the Thomas Cup tournament.

Smythe, 33, scored victories over Bev Westcott and Pete Ferguson, both of Toronto. He defeated Westcott, seeded No. 3 in Canada last year, 15-11, 15-13 and Ferguson, 15-6, 10-15, 15-8. Ferguson is rated one of the top players in the country.

The cup is competed for every three years. Twenty-three countries are entered in competition this year.

Stan Cutts of Montreal, former world professional badminton champion, Monday was named coach of the Canadian team. He held the world title from 1945 to 1955.

Eskimos Made $5,412 Profit

EDMONTON (CP) — The Edmonton Eskimos football club made a profit of $5,412 in 1957 despite the failure to get into the Grey Cup final.

Treasurer Bob Purvis told the Touchdown Club's annual nominating meeting Monday night that the club's accumulated surplus is $129,750.

The largest expenditure item was $356,356 for player salaries, maintenance and travelling. This was an increase of $2,400 over 1956, considered an "excellent" small increase after winning the Grey Cup in 1956.

Baby Canadiens Lose Three Defence Players

OTTAWA (CP) — Scotty Bowman, assistant general manager of Ottawa-Hull Junior Canadiens said today the club has received medical reports indicating all three of its injured defencemen likely will be out of hockey for the rest of the season.

Nick Murray suffered a cut tendon in his right foot at a game at Toronto last Sunday. Bowman said a report Monday from doctors at Toronto said nerves were cut. It was doubtful Murray would play again this season.

Andre Tardif, who suffered a broken left arm in a game in Hull last Friday, has gone home to his Quebec City home after discouraging medical reports.

The first defenceman injured was starry Claude Ruel who suffered an eye injury in a game at Belleville late last November.

The Baby Habs, in second place in Laurier Cup play with 15 points and in third place in OHA Senior A play with 33, have been using forwards Ralph Backstrom and Gilles Tremblay to bolster defensive strength.

OTTAWA (CP) — Ottawa-Hull Junior Canadiens today announced postponement of an OHA Junior A game with Barrie Flyers here tonight.

The postponement, reached through mutual agreement of the two clubs, was made to enable Barrie players to reach St. Catharines rested for the OHA Junior A all star game there Wednesday night.

The Baby Habs favored the postponement because the meeting would have been their third home game in four days.

Date of the replay has not yet been set.

Gridiron Took Sixteen Lives Last Season

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The American Football Coaches Association reported Monday 16 football players died last year of injuries directly attributable to the gridiron — 13 of them high school boys.

Five other deaths were listed as indirectly connected with the sport.

The association, which has studied football fatalities since 1931, recommends improved headgear and carefully planned practice schedules as possible remedies.

The report, released by Dr. Floyd R. Eastwood of Los Angeles State College, chairman of a study committee, notes the deaths have averaged 17.38 over the last 26 years. There were 17 in 1956.

In addition to the 13 deaths among high school players, two sandlot players died during 1957 and the 16th fatality was in semi-pro football. There were no deaths last year in the college category.

Other findings of the study:

Approximately 54 per cent of the total fatalities occur to players between 16 and 18 years of age.

Fatal injuries are most likely to happen the first five minutes a player is in the game. Practice sessions now are claiming more lives than actual games.

Backfield players incur more fatal injuries than linemen.

Since 1941, players on the defensive had had more fatal injuries than those on the offensive.

Fatal accidents have resulted from traumatic blows to the head in 72.57 per cent of all injuries.

The association observed the number of fatalities caused by blows to the head have increased 4.5 per cent since 1947 and added:

"It is evident that helmet construction has not kept pace with the speed of the game in 1957. Continuing research is necessary."

Specifically needed, the coaches said, is a helmet that can stand high velocity blows from an opponent's knee and thigh.

The association also suggested a five to 10 - minute period of warm - up activity before any body contact, whether in practice or an actual game.

Other recommendations:

More emphasis on developmental exercises for shoulder and neck muscles.

At least six days of fundamentals before the first squad scrimmage of the season.

At least six weeks of pre-season practice before the first game.

More complete medical examinations of potential high school and college players with special attention to previous injuries.

Qualified and experienced physicians on the bench at all scheduled games and available during practice.

Durelle Puts Ring Earnings In Home Town Fishing Fleet

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP)—The eyes of Yvon Durelle light up and words tumble from his mouth when he talks about his fishing fleet back home in New Brunswick. You almost forget he is a fighting man who makes his big bid for a light heavyweight title match in a Friday bout with Tony Anthony at Madison Square Garden.

"Nobody beats me on salmon," he was saying Monday over a cup of coffee in a Broadway restaurant with his managers (Chris Shaban of Moncton, N.B., and Lew Meyers, his New York representative). "One day we got 185, worth $1,150. Very seldom do we make less than $100 a day."

Durelle had been talking about his home town of Baie Ste. Anne, a fishing village of about 300 families on the New Brunswick coast. He owns three fishing boats that sail out daily from April to November with a total crew of about 17 men, searching for salmon, mackerel, lobster or cod.

WILL BUY A FOURTH

"When I get home from this fight, I buy a fourth boat," he said. "With equipment and all they cost about $5,000. That will make me biggest fisherman in Baie Ste. Anne. Before I stop I want to have six boats."

Normally a fisherman would be home at this time of year, repairing his motors, patching the nets or fishing through the ice. The chill days and dark nights give the boats a five-month enforced vacation.

But Durelle, ranked among the first three contenders for champion Archie Moore, has an off-season job. He fights for money—$4,000 every time he goes on television, plus a little more from his share of the gate.

"I like to fight" said Durelle. "I don't need to but I meet a lot of people, see the world for free. I like it. But once Yvon starts to get hurt, that is enough. I have a good business and I can work hard. I want to keep on working hard.

"Some fights I had in New Brunswick, I was on the boat all day, came in at 6 o'clock, changed my clothes and drove 50-60 miles to fight. One time we were out to sea three days in a storm, I just got back in time to get to the fight in time.

ALWAYS IN SHAPE

"Now I take 10-12 days off before a fight. I work hard on the boats so I am always in shape. But I go to the gym and then I am ready.

"It is a bad time to go away in June, July or August. Once I go away for a $4,000 fight and lose money in my fishing business. It costs me money sometimes but I like it."

Durelle "got away" for 12 fights in 1957 winning 10, losing one and fighting a draw. The draw was with Anthony in June. It almost cost Athony his chance to box Moore for the title. Many thought Durelle had the edge. Anthony went on to fight Moore and was stopped in the seventh round.

If Durelle gets over Anthony, it is possible he might get a championship match with Moore in Montreal during the summer. If that happens, Yvon's six-boat fleet will become a reality.

Minister Sets National Mark In Bowling

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — A 49-year-old minister wound up 59 hours and 55 minutes of bowling Monday and claimed a national record of 460 consecutive games.

Rev. Wayne Vernon Jensen, a six-foot-one-inch 210 - pounder, said the mark broke the previous record of 440 games set by Bill Dillon of Conroe, Tex. last month.

Pastor of the Southwest Church of Christ in Portland, Jensen used two alleys—bowling in one while the other was being prepared—and for a long time used both arms. He quit bowling with his left hand Sunday night because of blisters.

He averaged 139.16 points in the long stint.

Crowds were on hand much of the time, and they contributed to a box labeled Marathon Kitty. The money, he said, goes to a building fund for his church. The amount was not disclosed.

Sportswriters Name Balding Ontario Athlete of Year

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto's Al Balding, whose skill with golf clubs won him more than $30,000 in tournaments last year in Canada, the United States and Cuba, today was named Ontario's athlete of 1957 by the Ontario Sports Writers and Sportscasters Association.

Balding's record of winning three tourneys, finishing second in five events and ending in the money in 23 others attracted the majority of votes in a poll of association members. Two football stars finished second and third.

Bobby Simpson, veteran end with Ottawa Rough Riders from Windsor, was second and Bobby Kuntz, hard running backfielder with Toronto Argonauts and a Kitchener product, third.

The award will be presented to Balding at the Ontario Sports Celebrities Dinner in Toronto Jan. 27. The dinner is sponsored annually by the sports writers and sportscasters association with proceeds going to the Ontario Society for Crippled Children.

Net proceeds from the association's first six dinners have totalled more than $126,000.

Balding previously was named Ontario's athlete of the year in 1955. The 1956 winner was another golfer, Marlene Stewart of Fonthill. Other winners: 1954—Toronto swimmer Marilyn Bell; 1953—Miss Stewart; 1952—Kitchener golfer Gerry Kesselring; 1951—Miss Stewart.

May Televise Durelle Fight For Maritimes

OTTAWA (CP)—The CBC is looking into the feasibility of live television coverage of Friday night's Yvon Durelle-Tony Anthony fight from New York for Maritime viewers, a CBC official said Monday.

Durelle, a native of Baie Ste. Anne, N.B., is Canadian and British Empire light - heavyweight champion.

A microwave network is expected to be completed Feb. 2 to link the Atlantic provinces with the rest of Canada.

The CBC spokesman said it is possible that the publicly-owned CBC might try to use the microwave circuit now under construction to telecast the special program.

However, this would depend on the condition of the facilities and consideration of whether using the circuit this week might delay the network's February opening.

Golden Bears Finish Season $8,187 in Red

SARNIA (CP) — Sarnia Golden Bears of the Ontario Rugby Football Union senior group, Monday night elected 21 directors and declared a deficit of $8,187 for the 1957 season at their annual meeting.

Guest speaker was Jim Trimble, coach of the Grey Cup champion Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

Trimble urged members to sell football in Sarnia. He said he has turned down several opportunities to return to the National Football League because he believes there is a great future in Canadian football.

Trimble was head coach of the Philadelphia Eagles in the NFL for four seasons.

Asked about the ORFU attempting to challenge the Big Four, Trimble said the ORFU should stay in its own class and try to promote its football. But the Big Four needs the ORFU to develop good Canadian talent, he added.

Brawl Stops Junior Game In Quebec

QUEBEC (CP)—A free-for-all involving players and about 100 spectators who invaded the ice at Quebec Coliseum Monday abruptly ended a Metropolitan Junior Hockey League game between St. Laurent Jets and Quebec Baronets.

Quebec was leading 4-0, 10 minutes before the end of the third period, when a misconduct penalty given Barclay Plager of the Quebec club started players of both teams swinging. Spectators soon jumped to the ice and referee Robert Forgues decided to call the match off.

Peterborough Scores 3 in Third To Defeat Belleville Juniors 7-4

By GARRY ALEXANDER

Peterborough had too many legs for Belleville Lambert-Rollins here last night, outscoring the tail-enders 3-1 in the third period to walk off with a 7-4 victory in a OHA Junior "B" hockey fixture.

The win was the 13th for Peterborough in 14 games and leaves them far in front of the pack while Belleville must win consistently from here on in to climb from their fourth place slot.

Belleville played much improved hockey in the first period before a slim crowd with the score tied 2-2 at the end of the first stanza. The Petes took a narrow 4-3 margin in the middle heat and pulled away with three early in the third before the Lambert-Rollins crew completed the scoring in the dying minutes of the game.

Referees Barton Bradley and Harry Morgan handed out 16 penalties in all with 11 of these coming in the second period. Each club drew eight with Peterborough's Ferguson drawing the lone major for slashing in the final session.

Gary Rowbotham gave Belleville a 1-0 lead at 5:15 of the first and goalie Jack Gilby turned back a number of Peterborough threats over the next ten minutes. McCormack knotted the score at 16:08 with the losers a man short and 32 seconds later Greenaway fired the second Petes goal. Jack Gill tied it for Belleville at 18:59.

The winners survived three penalties in the opening minutes of the second then took advantage of as many Belleville sentences to open a 4-2 lead. Parnell fired one at 8:25 with three Belleville players and one of his mates in the sin bin and came back with his second at 9:19 with the Bay of Quinte club still a man short. Gary Rowbotham stickhandled his way through three Petes to make it 4-3 at 18:41.

Jack Gilby, playing one of his best games in the Belleville nets, fell victim of poor clearing by his mates however as Pearson, McCormack and Jewell built a 7-3 lead by the eleven minute mark of the third. Jack Elliott tallied Belleville's final marker at 17:40 while Dobson came through with some excellent saves in the Petes' nets.

Gary Rowbotham's first goal came on a breakaway from his own blue line on St. Denis' clearing pass while his second was a masterpiece of stickhandling, unassisted. Jack Gill scored his goal on John Brennan's rebound and Elliott beat Dobson on a three-way play with St. Denis and Rowbotham.

McCormack with a pair of goals and an assist topped the Peterborough marksmen while Parnell had two important markers in the second period. Greenaway and Jewell had one and one while Pearson also scored. Martin earned a pair of assists with one each for Armstrong, Roberts and Daley.

Rowbotham with two and one, Gill and Elliott a goal each, St. Denis two assists and Brennan one were the Belleville pointgetters.

Lineups — Peterborough — Dobson, Roberts, Jay, Armstrong, Jewell, Pearson, McCormack, Daley, Parnell, Martin, Ferguson, Greenaway, Casey.

Promoter Offers Logart $25,000 For Title Bout

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Fight promoter Herman Taylor says he has offered Isaac Logart a $25,000 guarantee to meet the winner of the Jan. 15 Gil Turner-Vince Martinez 12-round bout for the vacated welterweight championship.

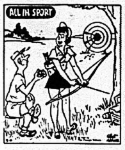
The offer was in a telegram to Eddie Mafuz, Logart's manager.

"I expect a favorable reply," said Taylor, "because it is doubtful that Mafuz can get a better offer elsewhere."

Turner and Martinez clash in the second of the elimination bouts planned by the world boxing championships committee to produce a new welterweight champion. Carmen Basilio vacated the title after winning the middleweight crown from Sugar Ray Robinson.

In the first of the eliminations, Logart defeated Gaspar Ortega. In addition to the latter two and Turner and Martinez, the NBA named George Barnes of Australia and Virgil Akins to the six-man elimination tourney.

Taylor did not explain how he plans to circumvent Akins and Barnes and get the National Boxing Association to sanction a Logart vs. Turner-Martinez winner as a world title bout.



"Have you another apple, Charles? I think I could do that William Tell trick!"

May's Contract Breaks Giants Salary Record

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Willie Mays, saying he doesn't want to get "too smart in baseball," today possessed the richest contract in the history of the National League's Giants—New York or San Francisco variety.

Speculation generally placed the figure around $65,000—some as high as $70,000. Owner Horace Stoneham would not give the exact amount but said Willie's contract called for the highest salary ever paid a Giant player.

Although most estimates last year had Mays receiving about $35,000, a team spokesman asserted the star centre fielder had been in the $50,000 area.

"Willie had a good year and he received a substantial raise," Stoneham said of his 26-year-old standout who placed second to Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals in National League batting last season with .333.

Asked if he had any formula for his successful batting, Willie shook his head and said: "If I get too smart in baseball, I won't do anything. I just try to hit the ball."

Before Mays came along, the highest paid players in Giant annals, said Stoneham, were Rogers Hornsby and Alvin Dark. Each, however, received less than $50,000.

Packers Oust Head Coach; Name Assistant

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—The Green Bay Packers Monday night ousted head coach Lisle Blackbourn and picked his top assistant, Ray McLean, to run the National Football League team next season.

Blackbourn had one year left on his five-year contract. Indications were that the club's board of directors are paying him the full $25,000 he would have received for the final year under the agreement.

McLean, Packers' backfield coach the past seven seasons, was given a one-year contract. Details of McLean's contract were not revealed.

Packers, plagued by heavy injuries, finished the 1957 season with three victories and nine defeats for last place in the Western Division. The reord was the worst compiled by Blackbourn's teams.

Blackbourn who said he was surprised by his release added he had no immediate plans for

Bums Welcome to Rose Bowl But Mustn't Change Scenery

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Walter O'Malley and his siteless Dodgers are welcome in Pasadena's Rose Bowl for the 1958-59 National League baseball seasons provided they don't want to make too many alterations in the famed football stadium.

Pasadena's city manager, Don C. McMillan, made this clear today after turning over to O'Malley and his aides an alternate plan for location of the playing field. McMillan made it plain that two proposals made by the Dodgers would cut drastically into the seats in the northeast section of the bowl and would be unacceptable to Pasadena.

McMillan pointed out that Pasadena's share of the receipts of the annual Rose Bowl football game are more than the city figures to get from the Dodgers in an entire season. The Rose Bowl gross, including television rights, is approximately $1,000,000.

O'Malley and Pasadena have exchanged memoranda regarding the financial setup and it now remains for engineers for both sides to work out an agreement on how the Rose Bowl would be utilized.

A decision on whether the Dodgers get the Rose Bowl may not come for a week.

CARDS INK MIZELL

ST. Salary terms were not disclosed, but Devine said Mizell will get about the same salary he did last year, believed to have been about $17,000.

Crawford Whips Chico Vejar; Gavilan Next?

NEW YORK (AP) — Mickey Crawford, 23-year - old comer from Saginaw, Mich., easily defeated Chico Vejar Monday night and his next rival may be Kid Gavilan, the former welterweight champion, in Miami Beach next month.

"Gavilan will be fine," said the rangy Crawford when his manager, Art Greenwald, mentioned that Miami Beach promoter Chris Dundee was anxious for that fight.

Crawford, with only 25 months of pro experience, now has a 19-2 and his victims include two former lightweight champions, Wallace (Bud) Smith and Paddy DeMarco.

Mickey's losses, by decision, were to Don Wallace in his seventh pro fight in 1956, and to lightweight contender Ralph Dupas in New Orleans, Nov. 25.

Crawford stepped into the middleweight division against Vejar as a 155-pounder. Chico, a television favorite when he was on the rise in 1952 and 1953, was a sluggish 160.

A 9-5 underdog, Crawford soundly drubbed the 26-year-old veteran from Stamford, Conn. He met Chico's rushes with sharp, well-timed, left hooks and fast combinations to draw cheers from the crowd of 1,203 which watched the 10-rounder at St. Nicholas Arena.

Gaming House Operators Given Year in Jail

WINDSOR (CP) — Two convicted gaming house operators Monday received one-year sentences for what the magistrate termed "an operation so brazen in its impudent contempt of the law as to require a penalty commensurately corrective."

John Francis (Curly) Gardner, 56, and Leo Finnigan, 49, pleaded guilty Dec. 30 to operating a common gaming house at the Roseland branch of the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans' Club south of Windsor.

The club has had its charter cancelled by the organization's provincial command, and has been closed since a provincial police raid Nov. 13. The raid followed years of similar raids.

Arnold Pitts, 28, and Ernest Amato, 34, charged jointly with Gardner and Finnigan, had charges against them withdrawn. All four are from Windsor. Twenty-six of 27 others charged as found-ins were remanded one week today. The other, James Taylor, Detroit, pleaded guilty and was fined $25.

Magistrate J. Arthur Hanrahan in a five-page written judgment said in part and with reference to a similar case here in the early 1950s:

"The citizens of this community know that twice in a comparatively short period official investigations were held and disclosed conditions existing here in operation of gaming and betting houses that made necessary reorganization of the police commission and the administrative staff of the police department.

"Those investigations portrayed Windsor to the rest of the Dominion as a place that had suffered almost a complete breakdown of law enforcement. Eighty-five per cent of crimes in that time went undetected, and worst record in the nation."

Little Benny's Notebook

Ma was thinking to herself thoughtful, and she said to pop, William, I know you dont regard the Berdhouses as a socially charming cupple, and neither do I as a painful fact, but an obligation is an obligation and we really ought to invite them for an evening of bridge.

I'm dissatisfied with my bridge game, let's just invite them for an evening of conversation, pop said, and ma said, You know very well neither one of them can talk. Besides, if you really want your bridge to improve, practice is the best experience, she said.

I'd like to get a little better ferst, and then practice, pop said. The newest scientific way to learn anything is to tern on a self-changing fonograph record before you drop off to sleep, and it keeps on repeeting whatever you want to learn, over and over, till it sinks into your mind while you sleep, he said, and ma said, No sutch things exists for bridge, for land sakes.

Then suppose you talk into a recording machine for half an hour on the subject of my bridge deficiencies, just as if I was there, pop said. I'll tern the record on every night before I drop off, and one of these mornings I'll wake up and find myself an expert, he said, and ma said, And what will I be doing? I'll be litterly talking myself awake all night. Goodness, how fantastic can you get? I think I'll invite the Berdhouses for one evening next week, she said.

Being the end of the subject, on account of me deciding not to suggest having my homewerk recited to me after I got to sleep.

Wildlife Officer Proposes New Conservation Plan

By GERALD FREEMAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP) — A five-point program for making conservation laws meaningful and effective has been suggested at the largest northeast wildlife conference ever held.

E. L. Skuce of the Ontario department of lands and forests made the proposal Monday at a session of the Conservation Law Enforcement Chiefs Association, one of the meetings within a meeting which comprise the conference.

The other delegates attended similar sittings on specialized topics such as Arctic biology, nutrition and parasites.

The turnout of 800 registered delegates broke all previous records for northeast wildlife conferences, up to now held in the United States.

CITES OBSTACLE

Mr. Skuce told the enforcement chiefs that in the conservation of our natural resources there are many different obstacles but one which seems to bother us perhaps more than any other is the obstacle of people who have no regard for regulations."

The regulations were made necessary by the manipulation of animals, plants, soil and water, and those who broke them "have not yet been convinced that adherence to the rules will benefit everyone."

"In my opinion," Mr. Skuce said, "enforcement is not merely the apprehending of someone who disobeys legislation intended to further a wildlife management program.

"I look upon it as the process of encouraging people to carry out conservation plans and policies for the benefit of all."

PROPOSES ACTION

As a plan of action he proposed five steps:

First make sure the programs to be enforced are wise and in the best interests of conservation; second, make sure everybody understands their purpose; third, keep the people informed of the benefits brought by law enforcement; fourth, "place before justice persons who disrupt the plan," if possible in such a way that they will come back and help the plan.

The fifth step is a constant review of the other four rules to "assist in deciding where our efforts should be increased or decreased." What is needed, he said, is "enforcement by will rather than by compulsion."

Can Destroy Lamprey Eels In Five Years

MONTREAL (CP) — Ontario's minister of lands and forests said Monday scientists think they have developed a poison that can rid the Great Lakes of the sea lamprey scourge within five years.

Clare E. Mapledoram told a press conference at the northeast wildlife conference that some of industry's top scientists are working on the problem, and "I think that is a tremendous thing."

Scientists are still doubtful about what other fish would be killed in the process, Mr. Mapledoram said, but they believe a solution to the problem is in sight.

The ugly eels have destroyed the commercial fisheries in Lakes Michigan, Huron and Ontario and are threatening Lake Superior. An international set-up to fight the problem has developed an electric weir which kills lampreys but not other fish attempting to move into waterways feeding into the Great Lakes.

Mr. Mapledoram also said forest management in Ontario had resulted in increasing the province's moose herd to 70,000 from 45,000 within the last year. He said conservation education was one of the most important problems facing wildlife men.

William H. Latham of the New York State Power Authority said by-products of the development of the hydro-electric power potential of the International Rapids section of the St. Lawrence River will include, on the United States side, park and recreational facilities for local communities, extensive soil conservation and reforestation, greatly increased boating and fishing potential and 2,000 acres of forage area for fish and wildlife.

Howdy Doody Has Rolled Up Many Records in 10 Years

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—In television a decade is like a century, so it's certainly worth noting that Howdy Doody has celebrated its 10th anniversary on NBC-TV.

The children's program has rolled up more individual performances than any show in the history of television—2,200. But no statistics can measure the delight it has brought to youngsters.

In the words of producer Roger Muir: "We don't worry so much about the audience rating as we do about the national birth rating."

Since the birth rate shows no signs of decline, there is no reason to expect a decline in the weekly audience of Howdy Doody.

The show created by Bob Smith and Muir began as a one-a-week 10 years ago, and rapidly moved to two and three programs weekly. In August, 1948, it took the then revolutionary step of doing five afternoon programs weekly, and continued thus until July 1, 1956.

"That was the golden heyday for commercial support of children's TV programs," Muir recalls. "Advertisers went all out to interest the children in products after they found that kids were excellent salesmen to their parents. Some put 99 per cent of their advertising budgets in children's programs."

Then, suddenly, the pendulum swung again in this medium which oscillates to such extremes. The advertising rush was away from strictly children's shows to programs aimed at interesting the entire family.

"He moved to Saturdays and tried to build the quality of the show," Muir said. In the works now are plans for a new form of children's program.

LAUDS BUFFALO BOB

Muir believes Howdy Doody has survived so healthfully thanks chiefly to Buffalo Bob Smith—"a real showman and great performer without the temperament that causes problems."

Another factor in its long life, he feels, has been its keeping abreast of general audience desires. "The current interests of adults are reflected in children," he says.

Just as important is the fact that "we have always played to a changing receptive audience."

"The kids we're playing to now weren't born when the program started. And the audience we can presume to have in the future hasn't been born yet."

Holden Will Go Anywhere If He Can Make Good Picture

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "There isn't a place in this world where I won't go if I think I can make a good picture there," says international actor William Holden.

Even to Ceylon?

"Yes, even though I was miserable there, I'd go back if I thought the picture would be as good."

Antarctica?

"I'd go there, too, though I hate cold."

PROVES POINT

He certainly has proved his point: That film stars can no longer sit beside Hollywood swimming pools; they must go all over the world.

Oscar winner Holden is living evidence of that. He used to spend his time shuttling back and forth between Paramount and Columbia studios, which shared his contract and which are a mile apart.

Now he's hustling all over the globe. In the last year he went to Ceylon to make The Bridge on the River Kwai. Then he travelled to England for The Key with Sophia Loren.

He's back in his Hollywood haunts, but who knows for how long?

and all over is ridiculous. We've

He expounded: "My thought about the film business is this: all this carping between the movie businesses in Japan, America, England, France, Italy and all over his ridiculous. We've got to wake up to the fact that we're all segments of the same industry. I think films are going to get more and more international all the time. The time will come when it will be commonplace for stars, directors and other creators to work on films in the industries of many countries."

"I've been home about five months in the past four years," he remarked. "If I'm not making pictures abroad, I'm overseas helping to sell them, spending two or three months in Japan, a month in Hong Kong and so forth."

He took his whole family to London, but only his wife, Brenda Marshall, joined him in Ceylon.

"I was out there alone for a while and I was miserable," he said. "I sent her a cable asking her to join me because I was too old for such a rugged life but too young to die. She came out, even though it meant putting up with leeches, snakes and all the things she hates."

AT THE PARK — Jan Englund and Yvette Vickers seen in the new film "Reform School Girl" coming to the Park Theatre Wednesday for a two day engagement only. On same program "Cat Girl" with bara Shelley and Robert Ayres. features are first Belleville showings.

Hydrogen Won't Replace Uranium Until 1990, View

TORONTO (CP) — A Canadian mining official says hydrogen will not replace uranium as a commercial source of atomic power before 1990.

Franc R. Joublin, discoverer of Ontario's Blind River uranium fields and president of Technical Mine Consultants Limited, made the prediction Monday night to the Toronto Board of Trade Club.

He was commenting on recent reports suggesting the United Kingdom is on the threshold of controlling the enormous power created by fusion of hydrogen atoms instead of fission in the case of uranium.

Newspaper headlines of 1970 will report that British scientists have made further progress toward control of hydrogen fusion, he said, and that peaceful application of power by fusion will be feasible by 1990.

Mr. Joublin said the demand for uranium will increase in the next 10 years and governments will remain the only buyers until at least 1970. He said Canada has the greatest source of uranium in the Western world. Known U.S. reserves are good for 40 years.

Canadian production would be about 17,000 tons of uranium oxide annually in the next five years compared with 15,000 for the U.S., 6,000 for South Africa and 2,000 for the Belgian Congo and Australia combined.

SET RECORDS

LONDON (AP)—High altitude winds reaching 200 miles an hour roared eastward over the Atlantic Saturday, pushing European bound airliners to a batch of records. A Trans World Airways Super - Constellation zipped across from Boston to Shannon airport in Ireland in six hours 59 minutes, clipping 14 minutes of the old commercial airline record.

Elgin County To Have Lively By-Election

ST. THOMAS (CP) — Unopposed at a convention completely devoid of the heckling which rocked a similar Progressive Conservative session two weeks ago, Talbotville farmer Ralph Auckland Monday night was handed the Liberal party nomination for Elgin County's Jan. 30 byelection.

The nomination put into the field a candidate who, in 1948, gave the Conservatives their toughest battle in this traditionally Conservative riding.

In that year he lost by only 500 votes to the late Fletcher F. Thomas whose death late last year forced the forthcoming vote for the Ontario legislature seat.

The 53-year-old farmer is a veteran of 23 years in municipal life.

Other candidates seeking the seat include Progressive Conservative Ronald K. McNeil, South Dorchester farmer, who has been accused of being a Liberal running under Tory colors, Dr. David A. Monteith of Shedden who entered his name as a straight Independent candidate after he lost the PC nomination to Mr. McNeil by a scant 20 votes and a CCF candidate to be named Thursday night.

The four-way fight has the makings of the liviest election Elgin County has seen in many years.

Tobacco Group Will Buck Board

TORONTO (CP)—A group of "dissatisfied tobacco growers" indicates it intends to buck the Ontario flue-cured tobacco growers' marketing board unless the board proves it can market the estimated $75,000,000 1957 crop before it rots.

An advertisement today in The Globe and Mail challenges the board to prove it can market the crop by immediate action or admit it is physically impossible through bale auction.

The ad is signed "A group of dissatisfied tobacco growers."

Meanwhile, Jesse Gray, board chairman, headed for talks with the federal justice and provincial agriculture departments on the slow movement of the crop, which Agriculture Minister Goodfellow of Ontario said in an interview Monday may be the result of a "sitdown strike."

"I don't know why the buyers are acting the way they are," Mr. Goodfellow said, "but to an outsider it certainly looks like they are trying to break the board."

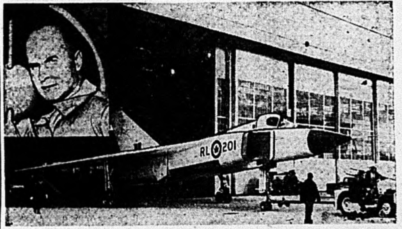
BEGINNING TESTS



The CF-105 Avro Arrow, a $200,000,000 bomber-sized jet interceptor, has been rolling around the runways at Malton airport near Toronto in ground tests. It may be in the air within a matter of weeks. First it will begin high-speed tests up to its 160-mile-an-hour takeoff speed and then test pilot Jan Zurakowski (inset) will decide whether to give it a workout in flight. Plane is shown leaving flight test hangar. (CP Photo).

WRONG-WAY TANAGER GETS FREE FLIGHT SOUTH

The little bird, right, is a tanager and he is a lucky fellow in some respects. He was found in a garden in Oakville, Ont., two thousand miles away from home and how he got there is a mystery. But since he should be flitting among the trees in Mexico at this time of year, Trans-Canada Airlines had a special crate made for him and appointed Carole Dixon, left, his special attendant on a flight south. Tanagers are known in B.C., have seldom, if ever, been seen in Ontario.

Britannia Sets Atlantic Record, Under 8 Hours

LONDON (Reuters)—A British Overseas Airways turbo - prop Britannia airliner, helped by following winds, flew from New York to London Mon. in the record time of seven hours and 57 minutes. It carried 18 passengers.

Previous fastest time was eight hours, three minutes by an El Al Israel Airlines Britannia Dec. 8.

The Atlantic gales, reaching 60 miles an hour on the ground, swept eastward across the British isles during the night and today, carrying heavy rain to most areas.

Northern Ireland and Western Scotland had thunderstorms.

Little Benny's Notebook

I was watching Jim Jarvis, Jet Ace on teevee, and ma looked in the living room saying, Benny, I need eggs from the market immeeditly.

But heck, ma, I said, and she said, I didn't say hecks, I said eggs, and I said immeeditly.

Aw gee roozalem, ma, if I go right away how am I ever going to find out whether Jim Jarvis overtook the flying saucer, and what happened if he did? I said, and ma said, If you dont go right away you'll find out you're not going to have your favorite chocklit cake for dizzert, so you can take your choice of the 2 evils.

Okay, ma here I go, but will you wait here and watch the teevee and tell me what happened? I said, and ma said, Oh, all right.

And I hurry up ran to the market and back, and Jim Jarvis was finished and ma was back in the kitchin, and I gave her the eggs, saying, What happened, ma?

What? When? ma said, and I said, G wizzickers, didn't you keep on watching the teevee?

Oh, yes, certainly, ma said, and I said, Well then what happened after I left?

Well, let me think, ma said. Oh yes, it ended up by Barnaby discovering that the poison pen letter had been sent by his own jelliss mother and not by his wife at all, although what went before that I can only guess, she said, and I said, Well, hay, there was not any Barnaby on Jim Jarvis, Jet Ace.

No, he happened to show up when I changed the channel because I couldn't stand that awful noise another moment, ma said. I'm sorry, I'm sure she said.

The result being I had to call up Puds Simkins to find out.

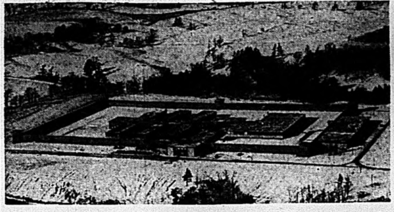
ANCIENT SPORT

Theseus, son of a Greek monarch, is supposed to have originated boxing as an entertainment in 900 BC.



This is Ontario's new maximum security penitentiary, in operation for about six months on a hill 12 miles southwest of Peterborough. Built at a cost of $3,500,000, it has 250 cells and is considered by penal authorities to be the latest word in escape-proof prisons. Prison was designed mainly to house prisoners unwilling to obey the rules in the province's other institutions. (CP Photo).

Report Another Woman Died of Anti-Cancer Diet

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Sun reports a second case of a woman dead, of starvation following a naturopathic diet.

She was Mrs. Edith Rasmussen, 46, of Vancouver, mother of five children.

Her death preceded by eight months that of Mrs. Margaret Mary Howard, 30, who, according to a coroners report died of starvation and malnutrition in a North Vancouver hospital Christmas Day.

The newspaper Saturday published a signed statement by Kaj Rasmussen, a landscape gardener, that his wife was ordered by a naturopathic physician to eat only fruit and vegetatable juices. She died last April 24 after eight months of treatment, Mr. Rasmussens statement said, and her weight dropped to 61 from 140 pounds.

Mrs. Rasmussen believed she had cured herself of cancer, the statement said. The Sun quoted the Rasmussen's family doctor as saying an autopsy revealed no sign of cancer nor any trace of disease in vital organs. The autopsy showed Mrs. Rasmussen died of severe malnutrition, he said.

No Argument, Five Pesetas Really Insult

MADRID (Reuters)—Spanish caricaturist Jose Maria Gonzalez has been sentenced to two months imprisonment and fined 1,000 pesetas (about $26) for a "grave insult" to the state.

A caricature published by Gonzalez in the Madrid weekly satirical review La Colorniz showed two allegorical figures of justice with scales in hand.

In one figure the scale pans were exactly balanced, but in the other one pan was lower than the other because it contained a five - pesetas note.

Hillary To Fly To Guide Fuchs Back From Pole

Rift Between Explorers Is Healed by Agreement

WELLINGTON, N.Z. (CP) — Sir Edmund Hillary and Dr. Vivian Fuchs, the British Commonwealth's chief Antarctic explorers, today were reported in step once more.

Word from Scott Base said Hillary, leader of the New Zealand expedition, will fly to meet Fuchs' party of Britons after they pass the South Pole and guide them to the New Zealand base at McMurdo Sound.

Fuchs, who is making the first overland crossing of the Antarctic continent, reported today that he was 260 miles from the pole. He is to meet Hillary at a point about 500 miles beyond the pole and 700 miles from Scott Base.

Hillary and a party of New Zealanders established supply dumps at intervals from McMurdo Sound to the 700-mile point, then went on to the pole.

After returning to Scott Base, Hillary had radioed a recommendation to Fuchs that he abandon his trek at the pole and fly out because of prospects of worsening weather. Fuchs fired back that the New Zealander need not join him at the 700-mile depot and that his group would "find our own way out."

Fuchs had been delayed by bad snow conditions and weather. But he radioed today that he had dropped off some of his vehicles, that "the crevasse area is behind us, and we are making better progress."

Newsmen Circle Globe in New Aussie Airliner

SYDNEY, Australia (CP)—Australia's nationally - owned overseas airline today completed a 22,435-mile around - the - world flight, forerunner of a regularly scheduled service starting Jan. 14.

The Super Constellation Southern Aurora touched down at noon after logging 104 hours and 20 minutes flying time in a trip which girdled the world and crossed the southern and northern hemispheres.

The plane, owned by Qantas Empire Airway, left Sydney Dec. 20 It carried 34 newspaper men and radio commentators to 20 cities in 14 countries.

In stops at 10 capital cities they interviewed head of state and cabinet ministers, had a press conference with the Archbishop of Canterbury and a private audience with the Pope.

The new scheduled around-the-world service, announced as the world's first, will cover 25,000 miles in 5½ days.

Qantas now flies to London via Singapore, Bangkok, Karachi, Athens, Rome and FFrankfurt and also to San Francisco by way of the Fiji Islands and Honolulu. The new service extends the eastbound flight to New York and London.

Start Tooling For Production Of Missile

OTTAWA (CP) — Preliminary tooling up for production of an air-to-air missile in Canada for the RCAF has finally begun, it was disclosed Tuesday.

Government officials said a licence has been obtained to manufacture the Sparrow II missile in Canada. The Sparrow was developed in the United States by Douglas Aircraft and Sperry Gyroscope.

Five firms will have a share in Sparrow production — Computing Devices of Canada, Canadian Westinghouse, Canadair Ltd., de Havilland Aircraft Company and Avro Aircraft Ltd.

It probably will be three or four years before the missile, with a range of four to five miles, is in operational use with the RCAF This will make 11 to 12 years in all after plans were laid down in 1950 for acquisition of an air-to-air missiles for the air force.

The Sparrow will comprise the main armament of the successor to the CF-100 jet interceptor now in squadron service. This may be the supersonic CF-105 now being developed by Avro.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) Synopsis: — Skies have cleared over most of Ontario where the impact of a new cold wave sent overnight temperatures down to near zero in southern localities and to 20 to 30 below zero in the north. Record high temperatures were established in Western Canada Tuesday with 60-degree readings reported from Alberta. The mild air over Western Canada is moving eastward and will bring moderating temperatures to Northern Ontario today and to the remainder of the province tonight and Thursday.

Eisenhower Asks Extra Billion For Missiles

WASHINGTON (AP)—Plans to channel an extra $1,370,000,000 into missiles and air defences, starting immediately, were presented to Congress Tuesday by President Eisenhower.

He asked for $1,260,000,000 in new money. About $119,000,000 of it is to be spent before June 30, pushing defence expenditures into the neighborhood of $38,900,000,000 for this fiscal year.

Eisenhower also asked Congress to approve the transfer of $110,000,000 in defence department funds already appropriated, to the missile and related programs as an additional shot-in-the-arm.

He proposed to use $10,000,000 of transfer funds to start the wheels turning in the government's newly - created Space Agency, which will deal with satellites, anti-missile missiles and space vehicles.

All these emergency measures went in the direction of meeting congressional criticism of the way in which the Eisenhower administration has responded to Russia's space age challenge. They were presented a few hours after Congress convened for its new session.

JAKARTA BOMBING

JAKARTA, Indonesia (Reuters) Hand grenades were thrown tonight at a crowd outside a suburban Jakarta theatre, and 13 persons were injured. Scores of armed troops immediately surrounded the area.

Blind 'Human Log' Dies in Halifax After Years Spent Helping Others

HALIFAX (CP)—Walter Callow is dead The blind, legless, paralyzed "human log" who spent his years of pain helping others, died Tuesday night in Camp Hill Veterans Hospital.

He has been ill with influenza and broncho-pneumonia for two months

He was 62. For more than 20 years he had laid almost motionless in his hospital bed, able only to hear and to speak.

But that was enough. In that time he raised money to send more than 3,000,000 cigarets to servicemen overseas. He built a fleet of wheelchair buses that took cripples and shut-ins on outings Walter never experienced.

His wartime cigaret bank and his Walter Callow wheelchair coaches brought him the good wishes of presidents and prime ministers, the thanks of thousands of invalids, and donations from far and near.

Walter's paralysis resulted from a plane accident at Mohawk Camp, Ont., in 1917 when he was a Royal Flying Corps mechanic. A back injury kept him in hospital until 1918. He became paralyzed in 1930 so that he could not walk.

In 1937 he entered Camp Hill Hospital and never left it again.

Paralysis spread. His arms and legs were useless. His eyesight failed. They amputated his legs two years ago. But he never gave up.

"The will to do or the incentive is perhaps the most important requirement for a disabled person," he said.

"In my case the will to do stemmed from the fact that my mother and wife both died within a year of the time I became bedridden and I had to support and educate a 10-year-old daughter.

"This I was able to do by various means—buying and selling real estate, contracting, the lumber business, the stock market and so on."

He was born at Parrsboro, N.S. He ran his lumber business at Advocate, 30 miles away.

TRADE EXPANSION NEED OF CANADA SAYS PEARSON

Critical of Move To Divert Purchases

OTTAWA (CP) — Not diversion but expansion of trade is what Canada needs, says Lester B. Pearson.

Seldom in history has trade expansion been more necessary than at this time of slack economic activity, he said Tuesday as the Commons devoted its attention to trade and education.

Criticizing the Progressive Conservative government for its plan to divert 15 per cent of Canadian purchases from the United States to the United Kingdom, he urged the government to use "bold, resolute, imaginative and wise action" to expand Canada's foreign trade.

Mr. Pearson, a leading candidate for the Liberal party leadership, spoke near the end of a sitting that devoted most of its time to education.

The education debate arose through a resolution moved by CCF Leader Coldwell. Technically one of non-confidence in the government, it called for federal financial aid to expand and equalize educational opportunities across Canada "without in any way encroaching on the exclusive jurisdiction of the provinces in this field."

VOTES AGAINST IT

In the end, the Commons voted 163 to 27 against it. Only the CCF, Herman M. Batten (L—Humber-St. George's) and Frank Christian (SC — Okanagan-Boundary) voted for it.

Mr. Pearson then turned attention to trade. The former external affairs minister, winner of the Nobel Peace Prize, said the Liberal party's policy always will be to move towards "freer trade and expanding trade between all free countries."

He expressed concern over the possibility the Conservative government might try to fight current unemployment by restricting trade. Conservative governments had done this in the past. But such action would only increase unemployment in the long run.

Works Minister Howard Green interrupted at one point to ask whether Mr. Pearson and the Liberal party would have supported Britain's proposal for gradual establishment of a free-trade area between the two countries.

Mr. Pearson replied that a Liberal government would have replied at once that such an "imaginative and far-reaching" proposal deserved sympathetic consideration because it tended to bring Canada and Britain closer together economically.

Expect Ruling In Deportation Appeal Shortly

HALIFAX (CP)—Toronto car dealers Len Jacobs and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Morris may know by Thursday or Friday whether they will be allowed to remain in Canada.

Samuel Goodman, Halifax barrister acting for the three former Toronto residents ordered deported last week after they arrived here from Israel, said he filed his argument against the deportation order Tuesday.

Mining-Chemical Company Formed to Produce New Alloy

TORONTO (CP) — A giant Canadian mining company and one of the country's largest chemical firms have joined forces to form a new company—Rio Tinto-Dow Ltd.—apparently to do research on a strategic heat-resistant alloy.

The formation of the new company was announced Tuesday by Robert Winters, president of Rio Tinto Mining Company of Canada Ltd., and L. D. Smithers, president and general manager of Dow Chemical of Canada Ltd.

Their statement said the new company will concentrate on the production of thorium and rare earths found in by-product materials produced at Rio Tinto's uranium mining properties, but The Globe and Mail says the prime project is research and development of Mosteralloy, a combination of thorium and magnesium.

The paper quotes a source close to Rio Tinto as saying the importance of the new company's production will be of "the greatest magnitude" to the Western world, and, additionally, to the Blind River Ont., uranium area.

Rio Tinto, a subsidiary of the Rio Tinto Company Ltd. of London, England, is one of the principal uranium-mining companies in Canada; and also holds major interests in Algom Uranium Mines Ltd., Northspan Uranium Mines Ltd., and Milliken Lake Uranium Mines Ltd., which are among the shareholders in the new company.

Dow Chemical of Canada, a wholly-owned subsidiary of Dow Chemical Company of the United States, is a manufacturer of basic chemicals, glycols, latices, solvents and styron at Sarnia.

The Globe and Mail says the new alloy surpasses any known in the Western world in resisting high temperatures.

Because of this, it is of tremendous value in the production and development of missiles and rockets, which encounter extremely high temperatures because of the great speeds at which they travel, and in jet aircraft and atomic reactors.

Govt. Hopes to Reduce Forces In Europe Near End of 1960

OTTAWA (CP) — The government hopes it can reduce Canadian forces in Europe about 1960, informants say.

But, they add, the government now has no firm plans for such a reduction.

Defence Minister G. R. Pearkes said in the Commons last week: "I believe it is essential for the preservation of peace and for the maintenance of that unity which was shown at this last NATO meeting . . . that we have a contingent in Europe for the time being."

He added that "it is to be hoped" that when West Germany raises and trains its promised 12 army divisions for NATO "there then may be an opportunity of reducing our commitment in Europe."

Officials said the question of a Canadian reduction thus hinges on the speed with which West Germany can supply its 12 divisions to NATO.

A spokesman for the West German Embassy here said his country will have turned over seven divisions to NATO by April this year. Two more divisions would be raised this year and the last three in 1959. These last three would be committed to NATO in 1960.

Canada maintains a 6,000-man infantry brigade group and a 6,000-man, 300-plane air division in Europe. The brigade and two of the four air wings are stationed in West Germany.

It now costs about $90,000,000 a year to maintain the air division in Europe. Presumably its strength could be cut if it were equipped with American missiles in place of its subsonic Sabre and CF-100 jet interceptors.

The brigade maintenance cost is about $35,000,000 a year. It costs more than $6,000,000 for transportation to send a brigade to West Germany and bring it home. More than half this amount is required to move soldiers' dependents. The brigade pays about $1,200,000 a year to Germany in rentals for its 1,400 married quarters.

'No Platitudes, Complacency' Seen in Eisenhower Address

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower was described by a high government official today as ready to back his request for new missile and air defence funds with a hard-hitting message to Congress.

This official, who has seen advance drafts of the "state of the union" address Eisenhower will deliver in person Thursday, said "This is not a message of platitudes or complacency." He asked not to be quoted by name, but added:

"The president intends to tackle the major problems head-on. It will be a vigorous message that we believe will have the approval of most members of Congress."

Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, Senate Democratic leader, who heads a senatorial inquiry into the missile and satellite proaction Tuesday in asking $1,260,000,000 of additional money to expand and accelerate United States defences.

Johnson said he hopes Eisenhower follows up the move with "a call to arms" in addressing Congress. Predicting quick approval of the request for money, he added:

"Along with improved organization and additional money, however, it is important that we have the determination to get going immediately on the tremendous job we have ahead of us."

Johnson and other Democrats made it plain that they are looking to the Republican president to set the pace for a United effort to speed up the missiles and satellite programs.

BRITAIN PULLS AHEAD

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain exported more than £90,000,000 worth of farm machinery in 1957, increasing her lead over West Germany and piling up the biggest-ever total, the Agricultural Engineers Association announced Tuesday.

BUILDING SLACKENS

BONN (Reuters) — Unemployment in West Germany more than doubled last month, increasing by 733,750 to a total of 2,212,866, the federal labor office announced Tuesday. Building workers comprised 72 per cent of the increase.

Cheddar Cheese Export Outlook 'Very Obscure'

TORONTO (CP)—The price of cheddar cheese in Canada is double the world price and the outlook for Canadian exports is "very obscure," the Ontario Cheese Manufacturers' Association was told today.

W. K. St. John of Ottawa, executive secretary of the National Dairy Council, estimated that the current Canadian factory price for cheddar is 32 cents a pound, compared with 16 cents a pound for New Zealand cheese in Britain.

"In other words, the world market price for cheddar - type cheese is just one-half that prevailing in Canada," he told the annual meeting. "Under these circumstances, the export outlook for Canadian cheese this year is very obscure. Canada's exports have dropped from 135,000,000 pounds in 1945 to just over 7,000,000 pounds in 1957."

Mr. St. John observed also that there is no federal price support for cheese though Canada currently has a surplus of some 12,000,000 pounds.

Touching on another aspect, he estimated that while over-all consumption of cheese in Canada is increasing, the trend appears to be towards "fancy" varieties.

GOVT. SUSPENDS RATE INCREASES UNTIL MARCH 1

Provincial Premiers Welcome Decision

OTTAWA (CP) — An unparalleled situation has developed in freight rates with eight provinces appealing to the cabinet against the latest increase and the railways preparing to appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada.

Meanwhile, the cabinet has suspended until at least March 1 the 3.6-per-cent increase that was to have gone into effect Jan. 15. It was the first government suspension of a general rate increase in 40 years. Provincial premiers welcomed the government's move.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker announced to the Commons Tuesday that earlier in the day the government suspended the increase to give the eight provinces all except Ontario and Quebec—and the railways time to prepare argument.

At the same time, it was learned that the railways Monday notified the cabinet formally of their intention to appeal to the high court.

PROCEDURAL PUZZLE

One legal expert held that once the court appeal is filed the cabinet might consider the issue sub judice and keep hands off until the court rules.

Another noted that different points appear to be involved in each appeal and said the cabinet could very well consider itself entitled to go ahead for this reason.

While the provinces are petitioning the cabinet on the claim there should have been no increase at all, the railways will contend they should have been granted the full amount of the 10 per cent they were seeking.

The railways said to the cabinet, it was learned, that the board made errors of law and jurisdiction in not granting the full amount sought. Their appeal must be filed by Jan. 26 and the railways must get leave of one justice before appearing before the main court.

PROVINCIAL APPEAL

In their appeal to the cabinet, the provinces contend the board should not have allowed as a charge against freight rates an item of some $9,500,000 a year as a deferred income tax fund by the CPR, yardstick line for rate-setting.

Without this, they say, there would have been no increase.

The railways reply that the deferred tax fund is in line with accounting practices laid down by the board and was approved in a rate-increase decision of 1956 which was not appealed.

Gavin Offered Two Ways to Get Four-Star Rank

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army Secretary Wilber Brucker said Thursday Lt.-Gen. James E. Gavin has been offered two ways in which he can reach four-star rank as an inducement for withdrawing his retirement request.

The general said later he was "seriously considering the matter."

Brucker called a press conference to recount what he said has been a series of efforts to keep the head of the army's research and development from resigning.

Mixing Fuel for Home-Made Rocket, Vancouver Youth, 17, Dies of Fumes

VANCOUVER (CP) — A representative of the firm which sold a chemical giving off deadly fumes to a school-boy rocket enthusiast is to be questioned at an inquest into the youth's death.

David Horsfall, 17, who inhaled gases given off by a tiny bottle of nitrobenzine while mixing a new fuel for a home-made rocket Monday night, died in hospital early Tuesday.

Coroner Glen McDonald said an official of the company has been subpoenaed to testify at the inquest Friday.

Dr. Edwin Daniel, assistant professor of pharmacology at the University of British Columbia, said fumes given off the aromatic nitro compound attack the bone marrow cells, hamper production of blood cells and prevent oxygen entering the blood stream.

A spokesman for the B.C. Pharmaceutical Association said the chemical is frequently sold in drug stores. It is used in the perfume industry and in the production of dyes and shoe polish.

The boy's father, Cpl. H. B. Horsfall of the RCAF, said he returned home Monday to find his son acting as if drunk. He said David told him he had been mixing nitrobenzine with other chemicals in efforts to produce a rocket fuel.

He was taken to hospital where doctors of the poison control centre administered methylene blue, accepted antidote for nitrobenzine, without success.

Cpl. Horsfall said David had been experimenting with rockets for five years, using gunpowder to begin with and later compounding other propellants. He said the boy always was extremely careful and he never had cause to be worried about him.

He said he would urge that sale of such chemicals as nitrobenzine be restricted.

Chairman R. S. Arnot of Vancouver Retail Merchants Association druggists section said the chemical, a yellow liquid with a smell like almonds, is quite safe if properly used. He said his organization has no intention of banning its sale in drug stores.

Storm Pummels U.S. East Coast Maine To Florida

Sleet, Rain and Lightning Claim at Least 20 Lives

NEW YORK (AP) — A fierce winter storm which cost at least 20 lives moved northeast toward the Maritime provinces today States east coast from Maine to Florida.

Weather forecasters termed it "one of the most intense coastal storms of recent years." Although skies cleared today over most of the middle and south Atlantic states, bone-chilling cold was forecast for New England.

The storm thrashed the seaboard with snow, winds up to 75 miles an hour, sleet, rain and lightning. In New England it snarled automobile traffic, forced business houses to close, tumbled power lines and closed schools.

Augusta, Me., was hit by 16 inches of snow. Atlantic City, N.J., got 13.3 inches—the biggest downfall there in nearly 17 years.

FLORIDA HIT AGAIN

Florida, with its citrus crop already hard hit by an earlier cold spell, was handed another blow. Snow fell as far south as Lakeland in the heart of the citrus-growing area.

For the first time in history, the Florida weather bureau included snowflurries in its state forecast.

On the heels of the storm, New England got a weather bureau warning that some of the bitterest cold weather of the season is on the way.

The death toll was in automobile accidents and heart attacks brought on by snow shovelling.

Turnpikes were either closed or the rate of travel reduced sharply in parts of Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York and New Jersey.

NEW YORK NOT BAD

New York City received only five inches of snow, but that was enough to keep 1,800 sanitation department men working all night to clear streets. A bright sun popped through the clouds at mid-morning.

Fourteen inches of snow was reported at New Haven, Conn. Rhode Island reported up to 12 inches before the snow turned to rain and sleet.

HALIFAX (CP) — Gale-force winds and rain hammered Nova Scotia early today, knocking out communication lines in Yarmouth and causing a power failure at Bridgewater.

Tides reached almost record heights here. Several waterfront wharves were flooded. No damage was reported in this area and ships, including the Halifax-Dartmouth ferries, continued to operate.

At the height of the storm one of the eight Canadian National Steamships vessels strikebound here dragged anchor and was being driven towards shore when two tugs raced out and pulled her into the safety of Bedford Basin.

Temperatures rose as the storm passed over. Halifax had a reading of 51 degrees this morning. In the northern areas of New Brunswick the storm dumped up to 12 inches of snow.

End Restrictions On Drift Fishing, Artificial Lures

TORONTO (CP)—Special regulations which clamped restrictions on the type of fishing permissible in four counties surrounding Peterborough have been lifted, it was learned here today.

The regulations, imposed more than 20 years ago, banned drift fishing, trolling and the use of artificial lures from boats between May 15 and July 1.

They were repealed in a special order-in-council at Ottawa. The move, requested by the provincial government, affects the counties of Peterborough, Victoria, Northumberland and Durham.

The regulations were originally imposed to permit limited fishing for pickerel and at the same time protect bass and muskellunge on which the season does not open until July 1.

Two Juveniles Held in Car Stolen in Madoc

MONTREAL (CP) — Two Ontario juveniles were arrested Tuesday night, climaxing a breakneck 90-mile-an-hour chase along the busy metropolitan highway.

Before the six-minute chase was ended the car, believed stolen Monday night at Madoc, Ont., had forced one automobile into the ditch and sideswiped another. Two shots were fired during the chase

One of the boys is from Toronto, the other from Windsor.

The wild ride began when police in the western suburb of Pointe Claire ordered the car to pull off the highway. It sped off, heading for Montreal and soon had nine police cars from four municipalities screaming in its wake.

The juveniles were finally halted in Montreal when a constable forced the speeding car to a halt by parking diagonally across a street.

Canada Will Supply Wheat To Colombo Plan

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada will make $50,000,000 available to supply wheat to Colombo-plan countries, Trade Minister Churchill announced today in the Commons.

Of this amount, $35,000,000 will be in loans to Colombo-plan countries to enable them to buy Canadian wheat and flour on long-term credit.

The other $15,000,000 will be an outright grant, chiefly to India, Pakistan and Ceylon.

This $50,000,000 financial aid will be on top of Canada's $34,400,000 contribution in this fiscal year for economic aid to countries in south and southeast Asia.

A total of 400,000 tons of wheat —15,000,000 bushels—will be shipped to India during this winter and early spring.

India will pay for this in seven equal annual instalments starting three years after the shipment is completed. Interest on this would be no higher than 4½ per cent.

Mr. Churchill did not give the sale price of the 15,000,000 bushels. He said the terms are "unusual" and could not be granted to other countries outside the Colombo Plan. Pakistan, also a Colombo-plan member, already has asked for similar terms.

Worshipful Brother Russell S. Kirkconnell was installed master of Temple Lodge A.F. & A.M. No. 666 at installation ceremonies held Monday evening at the Masonic Temple. Installation of the new master was under the direction of the installing master, Wor. Bro. James Ritchie.

The installing officer was ably assisted by a number of past masters from the four Belleville lodges. At the close of the ceremony, Wor. Bro. H. F. Mott presented a past masters' jewel to retiring master Wor. Bro. R. C. Bailey, in recognition of his achievements during 1957.

The new Temple Lodge master came to Belleville in 1948 as an employee of the Northern Electric Company. He joined Temple Lodge in 1951, becoming an active member and officer the following year.

ENJOY BANQUET

Following the installation more than 100 Masons representing lodges from Belleville and surrounding district enjoyed a banquet hour presided over by the new Temple Lodge master.

Between the usual toasts the lodge brethern were favored with vocal selections by Mr. Alf Hughes, accompanied by Bro. Clifford E. Templer.

Highlight of the banquet was a timely and inspiring address by Bro. Air Commodore James B. Harvey, Chief Staff Officer, Training Command Headquarters, RCAF, Trenton.

Benjamin-Sidney St. Area Highest Point Within City

To some unhappy motorist attempting to coax his car or truck over Bridge street hill during an icy period before the city sander truck is on the job, hills in Belleville may seem high enough.

But looks are sometimes deceiving and current conditions may add to the deception.

Belleville has no high promontories within its present boundary, but how many can say where the highest point in the city is.

Many local citizens have understood that the highest ground elevation in Belleville is at the city watertank on Hillcrest Ave.

But according to survey figures of City Engineer Charles Mott this is not the case.

The elevation at the base of the city water tower is 322 feet above sea level. But the highest point within the city boundaries is close to 10 feet more than this.

At St. Margaret's-on-the-Hill Anglican Church in Parkwood Heights the elevation is 332 feet, but residents in the Benjamin-Sidney street area of the West Hill can lay claim to being the "highest" in the city.

The elevation at this corner is 334.53 feet, while still within the city limits at the site of the Wilson Concrete Products plant a short distance to the west is actually the highest — possibly another foot or so.

It remains for College Hill to be the actual height of land for the immediate city district. The top of the hill at North Front street and Donald street is 340 feet above sea level.

Thus the highest point of land in the immediate Belleville area is only 95 feet above the level of the Bay of Quinte. Official figures show the level of Lake Ontario and the Bay of Quinte to be 245 feet above sea level.

And just for the record the geographical centre of the city is at the corner of John street and Victoria Ave.

New President Of Kiwanis Club Is Installed

Lieutenant - Governor William J. "Bill" Carey, of Port Hope, was on hand Tuesday to formally install the new officers for 1958 in the Belleville Kiwanis club.

Mr. Carey, past-president and charter member of the Port Hope club, was introduced by Kiwanian Frank Creeggan, who noted he has not missed a meeting of the Port Hope club since its organization in 1952. Mr. Carey was appointed to his present position last September, and since then has attended about 15 out-of-town meetings and travelled approximately 1,200 miles.

The Lieutenant - Governor expressed appreciation to immediate past-president, J. C. R. "Bud" Punchard, for the way he carried out club duties last year, and offered advice and encouragement to the newly - installed officers.

In installing the new president, Charles Lusk, Mr. Carey urged him to be careful to treat every member alike, to encourage new members, to make sure there is a full agenda before him at each meeting, and that an interesting program has been arranged.

President Lusk said, "I hope I will be worthy to carry on, and that 1958 will be as good a year as all the preceding years. We (the executive) will do our best to give club leadership, but we will depend on you, the members, for service, if we all work together, we will have a good club."

OUTLINES OBJECTIVES

He briefly outlined the club's objectives, which include: community service, increase in membership, improvement in attendance, and the continuance of good fellowship at each meeting. He recommended the committee chairman hold a meeting in the near future to draw up a program and budget for this year.

Kiwanis pins were presented to past-president Punchard, new president Lusk, vice-president, Gerry Wishart, secretary Wilf Mills, and treasurer, Hal Floyd.

The entire slate of officers, along with directors, Bob Brain, Roy Dulmage, Wilf Mills, Don Rose, Bill Slade, Don Stanton, Don Templeman, and George Tripp, was formally presented to the club, and received an ovation from the members.

Past-president Bud Punchard was presented with a plaque for "outstanding club leadership during 1957", and the chairmanship of the past-presidents' club The presentation was made by Al Drysdale.

Lt. Bill Brown, of the Salvation Army, gave the blessing to the club and the executive.

Wing Association To Hear Address On Medicine

An address on aviation medicine will highlight the January meeting of 418 (Belleville) Wing, RCAF, when members meet Thursday night at eight in the officers' lower lounge at RCAF Station, Trenton.

The speaker, who has not been identified, is expected to describe the importance of aviation medicine in relation to modern high-speed flying.

Membership in 418 Wing, which was re-organized last year with less than 20 members, now stands at over 60. There is plenty of room for new members providing they once belonged to a Commonwealth air force.

In 1957 the Wing established a scholarship fund and, shortly after its inception, presented a $200 purse to a Belleville Air Cadet for advanced education. Also during the year, members were guests of the Prince Edward Flying Club at Picton and had numerous adventurous tours of various sections of RCAF Station Trenton.

Some time during the evening tomorrow a short business session will be held.

Members planning to attend the January meeting are urged to take along their car insurance cards if they wish to be allowed through the gates at the air station.

TORONTO (CP) — Uraniums and pipelines were strong but the rest of the stock market was easier in the heaviest morning trading in two months.

The announcement that Rio Tinto and Dow Chemical had formed a company to produce thorium and rare earths as byproducts from the Blind River area's uranium milling operations sparked buying among uranium stocks, particularly those which are of the Rio Tinto group.

Algom was up ⅝ to 14⅛, Northspan 15 cents to $3.40 and Milliken Lake 13 cents to $2.53. Other uraniums also gained but on a more moderate scale.

The 11 a.m volume of 674,000 shares was the heaviest since Nov. 6 when 849,000 shares were exchanged in the first hour. Tuesday's sales totalled 273,000.

Trans Canada continued the advance it had been experiencing this week but the steam had been taken out of it. It was up to 24⅜ and trading was lighter than in either of the two previous sessions.

B. C. Forest, trading ex-dividend, gained 1½ points at 10 among other industrials and Ford A was up ½ to 68. Royal Bank, Imperial Oil and Bank of Montreal lost fractions as profit-taking moved in after strong gains earlier this week.

Mines, with the exception of uraniums, were easier but most price changes were narrow. Western oils had a few moderate gains but small losses by a majority of issues gave the section a lower tone.

Seeing-Eye Dog Ends Sadness For Blind Man

By JOE MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WHITNEY, N.J. (CP)—George Cohen, who is blind, has found a new seeing-eye dog to take the place of Bambi.

"Her name is Belle and she's beautiful," said George. "She looks just like Bambi, except she's smaller, and much faster.

"Tell my friends in Montreal they'll think she is Bambi again."

George was in a dither of happiness when he was interviewed Tuesday at Seeing Eye Incorporated, a non-profit organization that trains dogs to care for blind folk.

But only a few days ago he wept and wrung his hands because Bambi, his companion for nine years, had to be "put to sleep."

George, impeccable and handsome at 43, and the boxer dog were familiar sights on Montreal's busy streets as he went his rounds as a salesman.

BAMBI POSSESSIVE

They shared many adventures, some of which Bambi, possessive as a mother hen, didn't like. She would whine in outrage, for instance, when George indulged in a favorite summertime sport—water skiing at 30 miles an hour.

Montreal newspapers carried the story when it was learned that Bambi was feeble and ill at 11 years of age. She, too, was going blind.

It was a tragedy in the life of the blind man

"I'm still sad, but it's a peaceful sort of sadness now," he said after he arrived here to get a new dog. "It would have been selfish to keep Bambi alive—she would have suffered."

His new dog is a German boxer. As usual George, who can see nothing, speaks as though he had perfect vision.

"She's a beauty," he said.

PRAISES TRAINERS

The blind man was loud in praise of Seeing Eye Incorporated, and noted that the organization is interested in recruiting dogs in Canada for training.

George, blind, since 1941 with glaucoma, will remain here a few weeks before taking the young dog home to his wife, Vera, and two daughters in Montreal.

"I'll have to steal Belle's affections away from her trainer," George confided.

'So Much in Love' Jayne Mansfield Hurries Wedding

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — With pink-tinted invitations and undisguised enthusiasm, ample-figured Jayne Mansfield has announced that she and weightlifter Mickey Hargitay will be married Monday evening.

This is two days ahead of the previously announced date for the long-planned ceremony, but the actress said Tuesday that the date was pushed ahead "because we're so much in love" and because "13 is our lucky number." (Monday will be Jan. 13.)

"Mickey and I met on the 13th. He won the Mr. Universe title on the 13th and got his American citizenship on the 13th. I just love that number." (Hargitay is a native of Hungary.)

Anyway, Jayne added, "the excitement of shopping for my trousseau and the waiting is too great."

5-Goal Splurge In 10 Minutes Gives F.I.S. Win

TRENTON — The F. I. S. team of the Royal Canadian Air Force Hockey League here continued to lead the loop as it registered a spectacular 6-5 win over the Comets in what was called one of the best games of the season Monday night.

The Comets had the F. I. S. at a 4-0 disadvantage at the end of the first period and with the F. I. S. getting the only goal of the second period the score was 4-1 until the halfway mark of the third.

But then the F.I.S. squad really came to life, outscoring the Comets 5-1 in the final 10 minutes of play to grab the win as they outplayed the tiring Comets. F/O Pelletier slammed in the winner with less than one minute to play to keep the F. I. S. winning streak at 10 games. They have yet to lose a game in regular league play. F/O Sorel scored two goals for the F. I. S. and getting singles were Flying Officers Henderson, Rhude, Austin and Pelletier.

Scoring for the Comets were LAC's Jillett, Davis, Beehler, Burley and Kaulback.

It was during the final minutes of the game that one of the Comet players was sent to the sin bin on a major, thus giving the fast skating F. I. S. squad the break it needed.

Other games played were: Falcons 13, Combines 0; 6 RD 4, Sparks 1.

During the holiday season the F. I. S. had journeyed to Sudbury to play a civilian team of the same class but dropped the game by a 7-6 score.

The next game will be played in the Memorial rink here tomorrow night (Thursday) starting at 7.30 p.m.

31st Anniversary Of Wedding Is Celebrated

TRENTON (Special)—A popular Trenton couple, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Johnson, 9 Meyers Street, celebrated their 31st wedding anniversary on Monday, January 6. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson were married at St. George's Anglican Church, Trenton, by Rev. McTier, then the rector of St. George's. The bridal attendant at the wedding was Mrs. F. R. Oldrey, 51 McCann Street, and the groomsman was Mr. W. Oldrey. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson were also the attendants at Mr. and Mrs. Oldrey's wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson were not blessed with children of their marriage, but the anniversary which they celebrated quietly at home on Monday marked another milestone in the years of happy companionship which they have enjoyed, and which their numerous friends hope they will continue to enjoy for many many more years.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Johnson are natives of Trenton. Mrs. Johnson is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. H. Shewman, and Mr. Johnson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Johnson, reside on Baptiste Street.

There will also be a door prize and during the evening lunch will be served.

They report that last year, the first time they sponsored the dance, was a big success and are aiming at a bigger one this year.

Tickets may be purchased from any member of the police force, and the proceeds will be used for the work of the Association.

Two Dogs Hurt Running Out in Front of Cars

TRENTON — Two dogs were injured yesterday on town streets when they were reported to have run out in front of cars.

Ann Johnson of 177 Dundas St. W., reported to police she had hit a small spaniel dog wearing a red harness when it darted out in front of her car as she was proceeding along King Street. She said the dog ran away after it was hurt.

Rev. Therow, 62 Middle St., also reported hitting a dog as he was proceeding east on Division St. He said the dog ran out from the service station on the corner of Division and Front and into the path of his car.

The dog suffered a cut on the side of its head.

Two other mishaps between cars were also reported to the police but both were only slight.

In the first a car being driven by Frank Ley of 56 Grey Ave., Toronto, ran into the rear of a car being operated by Huntley Hendsbe, R. R. 3 Trenton. The mishap occurred on the corner of Dundas West and Division Street when the Hendsbe car stopped suddenly at the intersection and the second car was unable to stop in time to avoid smashing into the rear of it. Total damage to both cars was estimated at less than $100.

Daniel J. Anderson of 996 Gerrard St., Toronto, misjudged his distance when backing into a parking spot on Front Street and scraped the front fender of a car owned by Elmer R. Potter of 47 Murray St., Trenton.

Damage to the Potter car was estimated at $5.

Leftist Papers Urge Macmillan Call Election

LONDON (Reuters) — Left-wing London papers are calling on Prime Minister Macmillan, now on a tour of five eastern Commonwealth countries, to follow his former chancellor of the exchequer and resign from office.

"The country has lost faith in the Tory government," says The Daily Mirror. "The Tory government has lost the ability to govern."

"Mr. Macmillan should not flinch from recognizing his duty to face the electors," says the Labor party's Daily Herald.

Despite these left-wing pressures, the Conservatives show no signs of calling for an early election. A general election is scheduled for 1960, but can be called earlier if the party in power so decides. A general election also would be required if the government were defeated on a vote of confidence.

QUIT MONDAY NIGHT

The chancellor, Peter Thorneycroft, quit his cabinet post Monday night because his colleagues would not back his plan to keep government expenditures at their present level.

To do so, said Macmillan, would have meant cutting down on such social services as education and aid to the aged.

Home Secretary R. A. Butler, deputizing for the prime minister while Macmillan is on tour, said Tuesday night that the government's tough line against inflation will continue despite Thorneycroft's departure. This policy to stabilize prices was "derived largely from the lead of the prime minister himself," Butler said.

Metro Council Hears Arguments About Subway

TORONTO (CP)—The Metropolitan Toronto council, caught in no man's land in a battle over routes for a proposed multi-million dollar second subway, heard arguments from one side Tuesday.

At odds are the Metropolitan planning board and the Toronto Transit Commission. The planning board favors a limp U-shaped subway, the TTC a direct east-west line.

Representatives of both sides are sitting in on the special two-day council meeting which continues today. It was called to debate the merits of the two routes, subject of official and non-official disputes for five years. Tuesday's session was taken up primarily with arguments on behalf of the TTC plan.

Crux of the conflict is the route the subway should take when it reaches midtown. Both sides agree the line should run east and west on Bloor Street and Danforth Avenue—one actually a continuation of the other.

But the planning board wants the line to dip downtown to Queen Street, then head back north and resume the east-west route.

Augmenting the TTC's straight east-west line would be a spur line running along University Avenue between Bloor Street and Union Station, southern terminal of the existing subway.

Opened in 1954, the present subway runs 4½ miles north on Yonge Street, bisecting the city, from Union Station to Eglinton Avenue. It took four years to build and cost $58,000,000 including rolling stock.

Norman D. Wilson, TTC consultant, said survival of the metropolitan area, embracing the city and 12 suburbs, depends on public transit. Streetcars were doomed and within a few years public transit would consist entirely of subways and buses

A SWAN SONG

Few hearts are likely to be bleeding in British Columbia today over the report that 2,500 Sons of Freedom Doukhobors may seek greener pastures in Russia.

One of the nation's top newsmen, Bruce Larsen, city editor of The Province in Vancouver, who, perhaps, knows more about the Freedomites than some members of that sect of fanatics, says in a story carried by The Canadian Press that Russian Ambassador Dmitri Chuvahin in Ottawa has confirmed that Russia has allocated three or four sites as Freedomite settlements.

Somehow, it is difficult to think that the sites in Russia may be better than those in the Kootenay district of British Columbia. Perhaps, when the four men of the delegation of Doukhobors visit Russia, they will be shown lush, fertile sites, but when the time comes for the 2,500 to emigrate they will find themselves stuck in some location other than the promised one.

It is absurd to believe that Russia is in a position to welcome nearly 3,000 people of a fanatical religious order who left behind in Canada a history of sabotage and discontentment. Russia is having its own problems and for Freedomites to believe seriously they are being led into a promised land is something that belongs in a fairy tale.

Anyone who has kept tabs on the Freedomites of B.C. can appreciate the blessing their departure will be. Since members of this sect arrived in Canada at the turn of the century, they have caused nothing but trouble.

Canadians should wish Freedomites a better reception in Russia than they are likely to receive.

CENSUS PROBLEM IN U.S.

Over in the U.S. a number of people were recently thrown into a tizzy when the Census Bureau proposed to add a question about religious affiliation to the list of queries for the 1960 census.

Many people complained that this was an invasion of religious liberty. The director of the Census Bureau decided to drop the question. This decision has brought approving comment.

"Generally speaking," says the Washington Post, "Americans are not in the least embarrassed or hesitant about professing their religious preference — or even lack of it. But they bridle — and altogether properly — at the idea of being required to express such a preference under threat of punishment for refusing to do so."

This controversy may sound strange to Canadians, who are accustomed to being questioned about their religious beliefs. There may even be some who will argue that a willingness to answer a question about religious affiliation is indicative of a friendlier climate for religious freedom than is suggested by a reluctance to answer such a question.

Be that as it may, we hasten to add that we do not believe that the U.S. Census Bureau, by eliminating the question, is depriving itself of information of any great value.

Experience here suggests that census time is about the only occasion when some Canadians give any indication of "their religious preference."

And as for professing, in the words of the Washington Post, their lack of any preference—well, it can be done but oftener than not it involves an argument with the census-taker who seems to regard it as a sly way of refusing to answer the question.

SPILT MILK

Pandit Sitaram Khemka has sued Prime Minister Nehru of India for $21,000.

The complaint: That Nehru in a speech at Allahabad caused Khemka mental agony by comparing a horse to a cow.

Khemka — a learned and orthodox Hindu Brahmin — is a politician.

Nothing, almost, is as dear to a Brahmin as the cow. The cow is the most sacred of all animals in India.

The complaint reads that Nehru said he saw no difference between the cow and the horse, as both animals are equally dear and useful to human beings.

It is commonly accepted that one politician does not necessarily agree with the statements of another, but never did we think one would go to such fantastic and silly lengths as this to bring ridicule on a colleague.

A LULLABY

The dream ship is ready, the sea is like gold
And the fairy prince waits in command;
There's a cargo of wonderful dreams in the hold,
For the baby that seeks Slumberland.
There are fairies in pink and good fairies in white
A watch o'er the baby to keep.
Now the silver sails fill with the breeze of the night,
All aboard, for the Sweet Port of Sleep.

Softly, so softly, the ship slips away,
With its silver sails catching the breeze;
The stars in the skies seem to twinkle and say:
"Our watch we will keep o'er the seas.
And never a tempest shall happen this night,
But peace shall slip down on the deep.
Safe and sound shall return, with the coming of light,
The babe from the Sweet Port of Sleep."

Sport Pages' Gobbledygook

Baltimore Sun

And it isn't only Washington that produces its forms of gobbledygook. There's the world of sports, for example. Of course, sports have always bred their own jargon, their special argot, which is sometimes vivid but usually turns pretty pale and limp with a little use. The last few years, however, have seen the first faint marking out of a strange new trend.

It began perhaps when the Naval Academy's fine football coach described his great football team of 1954 as a team that had 'desire". For a moment or two that seemed rather a fresh way of saying will-to-win. But the point is that since that time college team after team and even sometimes a professional team has been characterized as a team with "desire". It's become a cliche and a pretty tiresome one.

Another neologism is the use of the noun "defense" as a verb. "He's a hard man to defense", or "We weren't able to defense against their pass patterns" — that kind of thing, to judge from the quotations, has become more and more frequent in the mouths of the coaches and captains.

What next season will produce we don't know, but if it is anything like "desire" we greatly hope somebody will "defense" us from it.

Thorn Apple Created Stir

London Sunday Times

A Bournemouth newspaper recently reported the discovery in a local garden of a strange plant which had fruit covered with thorns. It suggested facetiously, that the seed had been dropped by a flying saucer.

An Italian newspaper saw the story and took it seriously. A Russian bachelor of architecture, Roman E. Chertoff, after reading the Italian story, next wrote from Moscow to the mayor of Bournemouth:

"I shall be profoundly grateful to you dear sir, if you send me any information on the case. Our Soviet press has made no reference to it, but this may be explained by the necessity of such an unusual case."

The mayor's reply told Chertoff that the plant, though uncommon, is not unknown in England. It is a thorn apple.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

How much of this modern furniture, fifty, seventy-five years from now, will be lovingly dug out of attics and cellars by our devoted great-grandchildren the way we so tenderly recover, from forgotten places, the walnut chests, the spool beds, the charming old chairs, the highboys and wonderful old mahogany cabinets and book cases that belonged to our great-grandparents?

Not much of it, I fear. For the simple reason that it probably won't survive that long. It is too flimsy As one furniture dealer told me, the buyer of this functional furniture takes it the way he might take wallpaper. It is for the time being. It is for a temporary decor. It can be changed, like the wallpaper. Our great-grandparents, when they amassed a dining room table and chairs, naturally considered, when doing so, which of their sons or daughters they would leave them to, in the will.

We have an old chesterfield that belonged to my father sixty years ago, when chesterfields first came in to displace the stiff settees and unpunchable sofas that were parlor fixtures in the nineties. We were on the point of throwing it out to make way for something up-to-date. The furniture man disrobed it of its slip covers that hid the old worn blue. He upended it, turned it over, yanked at its stubby legs, wrestled with it.

"You can't buy anything like this nowadays," he said.

So we just bought new slipcovers.

And I put it in my will.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

BANISH ALL FEARS

Nothing tears down like fear does. Once it gets into the mind it sends out assistants, and before we know it we have surrendered to it! It's the great destroyer. No one accomplishes anything worth while if he fears he is going to fail. Courage begets courage. If you have a purpose in your mind and heart, fear can only knock at the door.

Discouragements are natural to us all. All great dreamers have them, but they rise above them. They triumph as the mythological Hercules did. It was said that he always conquered. All history has bequeathed this final triumph to us. It is our heritage. If we cling to it we can have no fears. We can keep going forward, dispelling all doubts.

Be a Quality human being. Face all problems without fear—win, lose or draw. There is always something better ahead. With your fears all gone, you have a clear and wide path ahead and you will many times over have the energy you wish. We all need faith in whatever we do. It will guide us as faithfully as the mariner is guided by the stars.

We cannot afford to have fears hiding about us, ready to snare us No one ever climbed high with a horde of fears dogging his heels. Fears delight in minus signs Look forward and go forward. No unhappy situation in life is ever as bad as it seems. Take "the road least travelled" and you will make progress that is always encouraging, and most void of fears.

Think of the birds out of your Winter window. The only fears they have are the natural protective fears. That is all we should have. Banish all fears. Learn of the happiness behind simple and sincere trust in our Heavenly Father.

'Horror' Film Ban Is Risky

Washington Post and Times-Herald

There is much more sentimentality than sense in the study being undertaken by a subcommittee of the American Bar Association to determine whether Washington youngsters should be prohibited from seeing "horror and murder" movies.

No doubt the group's intentions are altogether praiseworthy.

Nevertheless, they reflect two very dangerous contemporary tendencies — a tendency to let governmental authority supersede parental authority in bringing up children and a tendency to let the prejudices of some control what others may see and hear.

The proposal, when you come right down to it, is for a form of censorship.

How will "horror and murder" be defined? Hamlet revolves around a murder; Macbeth is a catalogue of horrors.

Would the proposed law forbid youngsters to see movies of these plays?

Would the ban be imposed indiscriminately on youngsters below the magic age of 16, regardless of sex, scholastic advancement and previous condition of emotional development?

It would take the wisdom of more than a Solomon to decide which movies were unfit for juvenile consumption. But the decision would not be in the hands of a Solomon; it would be in the hands of a minor bluenose busybody as incompetent as any other censor to distinguish one man's poison.

This censorship scheme ought to be stopped before it gets started.

Justified in the name of shielding children from dangerous thoughts, it might, in time, be extended to literature and the arts; and before long there would be the usual effort to apply it to adults.

The risks of freedom are vastly preferable. Let's go on deciding for ourselves.

Should Limit Tree-Cutting

Brockville Recorder and Times

Hundreds of thousands of young Canadian trees were needlessly destroyed this past December because of the carelessness and over-optimism of dealers.

In the city of Windsor alone, 100,000 Christmas trees were left unsold, to be burned on the town dump. The same was true of many large Canadian cities. Firs, pines, balsam by the thousands were cut for a market which did not exist.

Reforestation experts, concerned with preserving Canadian trees, should be given some sort of authority over the indiscriminate hewing down of saplings for Christmas use.

In such towns as Brockville, where there is enough of the rural life abounding to recognize the senselessness of over-cutting, very few trees were lost. But the city dwellers, ignorant of the value of forest products in Canadian economy, over-order year after year.

Rigid regulations should be laid down regarding the Christmas tree industry, in order that there should be no unnecessary destruction. Perhaps a system of advance orders could help overcome the problem. Certainly something must be done to maintain our forest growths.

Church Militant

Manchester Guardian

Strength for The Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

COST OF GROWTH

Freedom is one of God's great gifts. When Napoleon was plunging across Europe and enslaving its inhabitants, he expressed surprise over the fact that people did not seem to appreciate the good he was doing them. To be sure, he took away their liberty, but he built up industry, promoted business, made countries more prosperous "Can there be anything better than this?" he asked a group of petitioners one day. "Yes," came the answer, "Liberty."

It is significant that the word liberty is derived ultimately from a Sanskrit word which means "to grow" Liberty therefore is the chance to use one's powers which all of us have in order to grow. We might be good, religious, and very sensible people as mere automatons, but unless we have freedom we would never grow.

Freedom means making mistake and plenty of them. Freedom means falling into sin. Freedom means lots of pain and sorrow. We might all think ourselves better off if we could just be told what to do and then go right ahead and always do what is right. But if this were the arrangement, we would never grow We would not grow mentally. We would not grow and develop spiritually. All our lives we would be slaves.

God made us creatures; He is trying also to make sons and daughters out of us all. And if this is to be accomplished, we must grow. And if we are to grow we must have liberty — which is hard to handle, but necessary

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

Foundation For Personal Health

"Some time ago, when we lived in Charleston, you gave a name and address to which one could write for information about doctors who practise natural childbirth. We live in Chicago now and would like such information . . . (D.J.)"

I'm sorry I can't afford to maintain a directory service. If some philanthropist should establish a Personal Health Foundation no doubt such a directory service would be an important part of it.

The number of questions on which everybody's out of step but Brady is really frightening sometimes. But after all, I don't get mad at a doctor who believes rabies occurs in man. Why should other doctors get mad at me for believing, with the health officer of the "rabies capital of North America," that it is so rare, if it happens at all, that we should leave the mad dog business to the veterinarians?

"I was delighted to get your letter . . . that you went to such pains to write me personally gave me a warm feeling around the heart — I am more convinced than ever that Bill Brady, M.D., is all wool and yards wide," writes the head man of a Midwest "clinic." He goes on to say:

"You are right when you deflate the phonies of which there are more than you seem to suspect. Young medicos, starting out in their careers these days, are practically compelled to be clinic minded. Clientele rate the young doctor higher if the word "clinic" appears in his stationery.

"Despite all the hollering about the great need for G. P.'s (general practitioners, family doctors) "of the making of specialists there is no end. Why should we expect it? A medical student, if he shows an inclination or desire to be a G. P., gets the old brush-off all the way through his foundational training. He practically never finds himself exposed to a G. P. on the faculty."

What this country needs is not a good five cent cigar but a couple dozen medical schools which will admit students on high-school graduation or perhaps one year in college and turn them out with the M.D. degree in four years, and license them to practise medicine wherever they wish after one year of intership.

Should Listen to Himself

New York Times

It was in "Of Human Bondage" that Somerset Maugham remarked of one of his characters: "Like all weak men he laid an exaggerated stress on not changing one's mind." Students of literature and history hope that these words, written by Mr. Maugham more than forty years ago, will have their effect on him today. For as he approaches his eighty-fourth birthday he has made the unusual request that his friends, relatives, colleagues and other correspondents destroy all letters ever written by him. Mr. Maugham takes the position that his letters are "my personal affair", and he goes on to say that he "cannot see that their publication after my death will be any useful contribution." Most of us disagree with him. Preservation of his letters undoubtedly will give valuable footnotes to any study of the man and his works. Certainly the private observations of so perceptive a student of man as he has proved to be constitute a "useful contribution".

• • •

The letters of great men in the arts and sciences, religion, government, the military and even private life have provided an invaluable fund of information and background material to scholars through the ages. Much of our most pertinent information about many historical personalities comes from their correspondence. In Mr. Maugham's case his published writings are brilliant commentaries on the human scene, but how much more illuminating these would be with the additional benefit of his private observations on the life and times of Somerset Maugham. At the very least it is hoped that Mr. Maugham can be persuaded to permit the retention of a selected collection of his private letters The total destruction of his correspondence would seem to be a regrettable loss to both history and literature.

• • •

Mr. Maugham's present attitude is in sharp contrast to that of his contemporary Winston Churchill, whose monumental war memoirs are built on the framework of letters, both public and private. Former President Harry S. Truman was an inveterate letter-writer during his years in office, and his communications are preserved in the recently built Truman Library. Mr. Truman has said that he feels a man in public life has a responsibility to society and to history to permit a complete study of his affairs. And only letters, with their deep personal insights can round out the picture. Much of what we know and love about Benjamin Franklin comes down to us through his letters. Our understanding of the works of Charles Dickens and Sir Walter Scott is enhanced by what we know about them from their letters. In fact, we know and appreciate best those men and women whose public writings and utterances have been augmented by preservation of their personal correspondence.

• • •

Caesar and Disraeli, Abraham Lincoln and Franklin D. Roosevelt, George Washington and Napoleon Bonaparte, Mark Twain and Fred Allen — all were letter writers, and we are enriched by the possession of what they wrote. Putting pen to paper is a wonderful thing. Letters capture fleeting thoughts and impressions of the moment. Statesmen ponder public statements, writers wrestle with their characters, but all of us give vent to our natural impressions when writing to a friend, acquaintance or relative. The correspondence of a soldier in battle, the notes of lovers, the brief scribblings of a child capture emotions as no other form of communication does. A personal letter immortalizes a moment, a thought, an impression as nothing else can.

• • •

In his "Elective Affinities" Goethe commented: "We lay aside letters never to read them again, and at last we destroy them out of discretion, and so disappears the most beautiful, the most immediate breath of life, irrevocably for ourselves and for others." In his "Mount Vernon Papers" Edward Everett said: "When I contemplate the extent to which the moral sentiments, the intelligence, the affections of so many millions of people — sealed up by a sacred charm within the cover of a letter — daily circulate through a country, I am compelled to regard the post office next to Christianity as the right arm of our modern civilization." In the face of such sound advice from the past and the fervent pleas of the present, we hope that Mr. Maugham will relent.

Rocket Pantomime

Hamilton Spectator

After a punch-by-punch account of the preparation, the technical hitches met and overcome, and the postponed counts the U.S. Vanguard rocked fizzled, banged and didn't rise. It was an extraordinary pantomime performed in full view of the world and the effects are certain to be damaging to American scientific prestige.

Diamond King Dr. Williamson Dies in Africa

NAIROBI, Kenya (CP) — Dr. John Thorburn Williamson, the enigmatic Canadian geologist who played a professional hunch into a fortune in diamonds, died Tuesday night at his fabulous mine at Mwadui, Tanganyika, at the age of 52.

The Quebec lumber executive's son, who became the world's richest—and shyest — bachelor after his African diamond discovery in 1940, was reported to have succumbed to a throat ailment which had kept him in ill health for the last few years.

Since 1955 he had flown to Europe and North America for medical treatment, and in June last year made a visit to London to consult a specialist.

He last visited Canada a year ago, when he was in Montreal. It was only his third trip to his homeland since he first went to Africa in 1934.

A sister now living at St. Sauveur, Que., near Montreal, survives him.

The native of Montford, Que., was a geology graduate of McGill University, Montreal.

His success story was that of a man with a brilliant academic career and confidence in himself, who stuck to his theory that diamonds in plenty were to be found in a certain barren area of African soil—and won.

He first went to Africa with one of his McGill professors who had been appointed a consultant geologist to a gold mine, and for a time worked for big mining corporations in South Africa and northern Rhodesia.

BELIEVED IN PIPE

Then he became convinced that somewhere in East Africa must be a really huge "pipe" of kimberlite, the diamond-bearing blue clay of which the famous Kimberley pipe in South Africa's Cape Province was only an offshoot.

For years he scratched about in hot, dusty Tanganyika, with only a few natives to help him. Eventually he narrowed his activities to the Mwadui area, where he found under a tree the first diamond which gave him the clue to the location of the "pipe."

This led to the start of his fabulous Mwadui mine, which in 1957 was said to yield well over £3,000,000 worth of gems and industrial stones a year. Believed to be the world's richest, its potential value is reckoned in hundreds of millions of pounds.

But Williamson appeared to take little interest in money and did not indulge in lavish spending on himself. For some 15 years he rarely left the mine until he went abroad for his health in 1955 He visited Canada on one of these trips, and was in London last June before returning to his African home.

Macmillan Reaches India

NEW DELHI (AP) — Prime Minister Macmillan arrived here today for talks with India's Prime Minister Nehru on major issues in the East-West power struggle.

Macmillan, first British prime minister to visit India, landed at New Delhi on the first lap of a 38-day, 30,000-mile swing through five Commonwealth countries.

Nehru shook hands with the British leader and his wife after they stepped from the plane. Diplomats and some 1,000 spectators were on hand for the arrival. For the last two days the Indian government had been sending loudspeaker cars through the capital urging the people to greet the British visitor at the airport.

DO MARKINGS MAKE THE HOLSTEIN?

Identifying marks of the purebred Holstein have been white stockings but the Holstein Friesian Association of Canada is considering altering the registration so that black marks on the legs above the hooves will not disqualify all animals. Some members of the association feel that milk production and quality should be the only deciding factor and the black markings will be a major subject for discussion at the association's convention in Toronto next month. This animal is Luke Jonkers of the J. M. Fraser farm of Streetsville and she is being examined by John Bradshaw.

Three Carried to Safety, Fire Destroys Rest Home

PICTON (Special) — Three elderly people were carried to safety from a blazing rest home at Cherry Valley, nine miles south of this Prince Edward county town early today.

While a flash fire rapidly engulfed the building owned by Mr. and Mrs. George Whiting, the proprietor aided by Charles Emory a neighbor, carried Mr. Lee Scott, Mr. William Clark and Mrs. Libby Hyatt to the Emory home across the road. None was injured.

The three people were the only patients in the rest home at the time.

The fire was discovered by Whiting shortly after seven o'clock. It started where stove pipes entered a wall in the kitchen and rapidly spread through the room and the house. Whiting attempted to extinguish the blaze with buckets of water but it quickly got out of control.

He sent in an alarm, and neighbors rushed to the scene. The fire-fighting department of the Royal School of Artillery, Picton, raced to the blaze but the building was practically destroyed with all its contents on their arrival. The house was razed in less than 45 minutes. A favorable wind saved the nearby Whiting garage and Emory home. The house, a former farm building, had recently been modernized and converted into a rest home for elderly people. The loss was partially covered by insurance.

Gas Company Granted Right To Distribute

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Natural Gas Storage and Pipe Lines Company Limited has been granted the right to distribute natural gas to 19 Southern Ontario municipalities.

The company is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Union Gas Company of Canada. The Ontario fuel board's certificate of convenience and necessity permits the company to build transmission lines to provide U.S. and Canadian gas to distributing companies in the communities.

The company is not allowed to sell to consumers.

Fuel board Chairman A. R. Crozier said Tuesday that objections raised to granting a certificate to the company centred on the fact the board would have no control over sale price of the gas.

The fuel board exercises control over the prices charged by companies which distribute to consumers by fixing rates, but has no control over transmission companies' prices to distributors.

However, Mr. Crozier said, the board considered the need for gas great enough to grant the certificate.

The company is to operate 16-inch transmission lines in Essex, Lambton and Kent counties, the townships of Dawn, Sombra, Sandwich East, Sandwich West, Maidstone, Rochester, Tilbury North, Dover and Chatham, and at the United States—Canadian border town of Ojibway, five miles south of Windsor.

It also seeks to acquire from Union Gas transmission franchises for construction of 26-inch high-pressure lines through Lambton, Middlesex, Oxford, Waterloo, Wentworth, and Halton counties.

These lines, the company says, would supply stations in various townships which in turn would pipe gas into larger cities and towns

A station would be located in London Township for the city of London, in Guelph Township for Guelph, in Waterloo Township for the twin cities of Kitchener and Waterloo, at Downie for Stratford, at West Flamborough for Hamilton, at Caradoc for the town of Strathroy and at Blanshard for St. Marys.

The company also proposes to supply gas to Westminster Township.

Compressor stations at Sandwich East and Dawn Township would be taken over from Union Gas, the company said and compressor stations are to be linked with lines operated by Dominion Natural Gas Company in Trafalgar Township and the United Suburban Gas Company at North umfries.

POLICE, MOTORISTS DECLARE TRUCE

Once a year in Athens, Greece, motorists and traffic policemen bury the hatchet. The policemen dispense with handing out tickets and the motorists show their appreciation by bringing a gift to the traffic cop. Here the officer on duty at Constitution Square in the heart of Athens is surrounded by gifts. An officer and another traffic cop help pile the presents around him as they are brought in. They include tires, detergents, cooking butter, coffee, chocolates, soap, face cream and a mattress.

Albania Holds U.S. Jet Pilot

ROME (AP) — Communist Albania says she is holding prisoner a United States Air Force jet pilot given up as missing two weeks ago.

Apparently the pilot is Maj. Howard J. B. Curran, who disappeared Dec. 23 in a T-33 jet trainer on a flight from Chateauroux, France, to Naples.

Radio Tirana said Albanian jet fighters forced down a U.S T-33 which had trespassed on Albanian territory. It added that the plane came from the direction of Korce, near the Greek border, and was headed toward Tirana.

The Rome and Naples airports were fogbound the day Curran disappeared.

4,000 Laid Off

DETROIT (AP)—Chrysler Corporation said Tuesday night it will lay off indefinitely a total of 4,000 auto workers at its Dodge and De Soto plants this week.

No reason was given. The company said only it plans "operations on an adjusted schedule" at the two plants.

MINING-CHEMICAL

Until now, the common Western alloys have been combinations of nickel, molybdenum, columbium and tungsten, but the announcement by Russian scientists that "virgin metals" had been used in the development of that country's satellite, spurred Western efforts to develop new combinations.

The thorium-magnesium mixture, The Globe and Mail says, is the best of these.

BLIND RIVER BEST

This continent's most-readily-available source of thorium, the United States Atomic Energy Commission says, is the Blind River uranium area, since two pounds of the material can be recovered for each pound of uranium produced. It is also the only fissionable material besides uranium and Dow Chemical has been exploring its possibilities as a reactor fuel.

In addition to its uranium interests in this country, Rio Tinto has Canadian gold, iron-ore and copper properties and from its London office controls mineral and oil developments in Australia, the Rhodesias, the Union of South Africa, Trinidad, Spain and the United States.

It is represented on the board of the new company by Mr. Winters, former Canadian resources minister who was elected president, Dr. E. B. Gillanders, executive vice-president of the parent company, and R. Jeanty, vice-president of Pyrites Company Inc., of Wilmington, Del.

Dow is represented by Mr. Smithers, J. L. Smart, development manager and a director of Dow of Canada, H. D. Doan, manager of the chemicals department and a Dow director and Dr. J. E. Head, general manager of the new company and a member of Dow's executive research department.

M. Anglin, Famed Actress, Dies in Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—The curious career of a Canadian woman who at 18 rose to stardom on gaslit Broadway in the '90s and became one of the theatre's most commanding figures in the '20s has in her death Tuesday ended in a Toronto nursing home.

Margaret Anglin, 81, Mrs. Howard Hull in private life, was predeceased by almost 20 years by her husband.

She had heard herself called "one of the few dramatic geniuses of the day" by Sarah Bernhardt. She was paid the supreme compliment by author Somerset Maugham who said he could add nothing to the description of her "great talent as an actress."

Yet at the height of her power in 1929 New York theatres locked their doors against her.

The quarrel between the red-haired, grey-eyed beauty and the theatre managers began over her husband. She had married Howard Hull, a writer, in 1911 and believed he could act.

WALKED OFF SETS

Determined to get him good parts in her plays, she walked off the lavish sets of two Shakespearean productions, causing the opening of one to be deferred four months while a substitute was trained.

Time healed the wounds and she returned to the New York stage in 1936.

She was born in the Speaker's apartment at the old House of Commons. Her father, T. W. Anglin, had been Speaker of the House from 1873 to 1878. The family moved for a few years to Saint John, N.B., and then to Toronto, where she received a convent school education.

Before she was 18 she went to New York to join the flock of hopefuls in the drama schools. In 1894 she rose suddenly from obscurity to take a part in the famous U S Civil War play Shenandoah.

During succeeding seasons she toured in companies of famous stars. In 1896 she was leading woman with James O'Neill, father of dramatist Eugene O'Neill, in his Count of Monte Cristo.

In 1898 she suddenly became toast of the theatre world for her portrayal of Roxane in Rostrand's Cyrano de Bergerac.

During the first two decades of this century she played countless celebrated emotional roles, first as leading lady of the Empire Theatre Stock Company, and later as co-star to another Canadian, Henry Miller.

Miss Anglin returned to the New York stage in 1936 in Ivor Novello's Fresh Fields and subsequently she appeared in summer theatres.

She played the lead in Lillian Hillman's Watch on the Rhine at the Royal Alexandra Theatre in Toronto in 1942.

Miss Anglin returned to Toronto to live in 1953 and entered the nursing home four years ago when her health began to fail.

Survivors include a nephew and four nieces.

New Silhouette Shown Fashion Experts in N.Y.

NEW YORK (AP)—Look like a shoestring instead of a sack

That's the advice given women in a quandary over spring wardrobes by Roxane, designer for the house of Samuel Winston, previewing her spring collection today for 200 fashion editors.

Roxane, noted for well-bred simplicity of design, introduces the shoestring silhouette as her interpretation of a chemise that can be worn without pain. She makes it straight and narrow, but shapes it here and there to conform to feminine curves.

This designer likes the waist-length bolero and narrow skirt for suits, but also shows a new semi-belted Norfolk jacket, bloused at the back.

What the collection lacks in elaboration it makes up for in beauty of fabrics, with textured silk tweeds favored for suits, smooth silk crepes for afternoon dresses and bright silk prints used in a group of nostalgic "Charleston" dresses, with hip belts and pleated skirts in the manner of the flapper age

This --- and That

By HARRIET STEVENS

Probably the dullest days of the year in the business world are those immediately following New Year's. On the other hand, there is the headache of stock-taking; it is dull but it is hard work.

For the lucky people, however, who have salvaged some money from Christmas, the January sales are a bright spot. We know a couple who always do all their Christmas shopping during the summer months, and we know one woman who does all hers in January during these sales.

In some shops the sales have already started — shoes, sweaters, skirts, dresses and ladies' ready to wear generally. One shop expects to put practically everything on sale. There are stationary sales and book sales, and always bargains in bedding and household linen at this time of year. So, good luck!

As to food, we are afraid that there will be few sales. Beef has been slowly rising in price and will probably go still higher. Pork, while expensive, is a fairly good buy. This is an in-between season for lamb; there is very little of our own supply left and the lamb from Australia and New Zealand has not yet arrived.

Poultry prices went lower than was at first expected at the Christmas season, but it was seasonal; they have now risen again since there will not be so much demand.

The citrus fruit situation is not too bright. A real shortage is expected, due to the disastrous frosts in the south. The price of oranges has increased and will go still higher; grapefruit are twice as expensive this year as they were last year at this time. Southern orange growers are working on the idea of keeping the oranges in their present frozen state to be juiced later for frozen or canned orange juice, but it is not certain that this is feasible.

A friend heard this remark the other day from a man who had returned to Canada after many years abroad. He said, "What has happened to the oatmeal porridge? It is like a soft delicate pudding, not like the old chewy oatmeal that sticks to the ribs."

Yes, now it is quick and easy to cook and the saucepan is easy to wash. We wonder, though, if the same thing has not happened to other and more important facets of our lives. In our efforts to get everything speeded up, streamlined and "improved," we may have made things too soft; we may have sacrificed substance and meaning for quick, easy fluff.

Though not usually the day for quotations, this is one for all those lucky youngsters and maybe unlucky parents who now have a small pup around the house since Christmas; and for the young man who says he now must put a clean pair of socks on every morning because the puppy carries them away.

In "Three Men In A Boat," Jerome K. Jerome says: "Fox terriers are born with about four times as much original sin in them as other dogs."

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Mrs. L. P. — Frank won't stop going out with a 13-year-old.

Frank P. — Nobody's going to push me around.

Mrs. L. P. — My husband and I are quite concerned about our 17-year-old boy, Frank, who is very short and young-looking for his age.

Frank is very eager to date girls, as all of his friends do, but the girls of 15 and 16 just wont go out with him. It was pathetic to see him call girl after girl and get "no for an answer when he wanted to go to one of the school dances.

As a result, Frank started going out with a 13-year-old girl whose parents objected to her going out at all — especially with a boy as old as Frank. The kids started going out on the sly, but the parents heard about it and asked us to stop Frank. We have cut off his allowance, but he refuses to stop seeing this girl.

Frank P. — It's not that I'm so crazy about this girl Gloria, but I am not going to have everyone treating me as though Im a two-year-old. I don't need any allowance to take Gloria out because I make enough money working weekends in a store.

Everyone seems to think they can push me around as though I was nobody, just because I look young for my age. Some guys I know have the minds of an infant in the crib, but girls go out with them because they are six feet tall.

Gloria and I are doing nothing wrong by going out. Her parents have some nerve to complain about me. She has gone out with other boys on the sly before. She isn't any innocent baby when it comes to boys and dating.

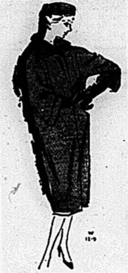
The Council: Frank, bursting with adolescent energy, resentment and the desire to prove himself, plus Gloria, a tricky, rebellious 13-year-old, add up to a dangerous combination. The L. P.s would do well to heed the warning of Glorias parents and try to control the situation from their end.

Frank needs lots of reassurance about his appearance and his future with girls, but his parents can't give this to him if they let themselves be drawn into his feeling of despair. His mother shows a bit too much sympathy for him on this subject — and too little grasp of reality.

Frank should be made to realize that he can expect to grow and change quite rapidly within the next few years, but that in any case, physical appearance counts less and less with girls as they grow older. They honor ability and personality far more. Frank should be encouraged to sit out this difficult period, work at improving his school grades and gaining new skills so that within a couple of years he can shine as he would like to.

One way of getting Frank to calm down a bit on the subject of dates and girls is to treat him as much like a grownup as possible. He should be shown that his opinions and attitudes will be respected if they are reasonable. Then he can be shown that his attitude about Gloria is unreasonable. A responsible man of 17 does not take out a child of 13 against her parents wishes. He'll get the idea, if his ego gets the right kind of lift at the same time.

Coat of Distinction



By VERA WINSTON

Here is a daytime coat prepared to go anywhere with a fashionable air of distinction. The deep bluish red of the fine French woollen is set off by a dark ranch-mink collar. Slightly cocoon shaped in back, the silhouette is new but not extreme, so should not become dated quickly. Seaming at each side ends in pockets.

Bringing Up Baby

HINTS COLLECTED BY Mrs. Dan Gerber (MOTHER OF 5)

Many a new mother is tempted to urge food on baby (for nourishment's sake) when he's clearly had enough. But that takes the fun out of eating—and the enjoyment baby derives from his food is every bit as important as the nourishment he gets. Greatest contribution you can make toward that enjoyment is to try to keep unhurried, unworried and non-coercing. By letting baby eat, instead of making him eat, he'll enjoy his food, probably eat more.

• • •

Good eating habits start early and they start with you. For example: introducing a variety of foods early is not only nutritionally desirable, but teaches baby the delights of many foods—helps prevent "picky-eating" in later years.

• • •

No end to the way you can delight baby with a variety of good-tasting foods. Gerber offers 43 tempting Strained Foods to lend appeal to every meal. Fruits, vegetables, soups, meat dinners, egg yolks and desserts—all quality-tested in 28 different ways to insure true flavors, appealing colors, absolute purity and uniform texture.

• • •

Precautionary measures. If you train yourself to put harmful objects out of harm's way while baby is still young, you'll have firmly established habits when baby reaches that grab-everything stage. Danger list includes pins, needles, knives, scissors, matches, etc.

• • •

Something special in the way of a taste surprise—something extra in the way of nutrition. Gerber's Strained New Meat Dinners have 3 times as much meat, and therefore much more protein than regular vegetable and meat combinations. What's more, this savory, flavor-y meat is blended with selected vegetables and cereal for mouth-watering flavor and a generous assortment of nutrient. Gerber Baby Foods, Niagara Falls, Canada.

After-Christmas Cake

By Mary Moore

Besides all of the other things that Christmas does to and for us, it increases our zest for doing our own baking.

I keep trying to reduce our cooking momentum — without results. From a practical standpoint I'm glad for all of our productions get eaten and of course they are grist for the Moore mill.

We made a seed cake from a modified pound cake batter that stole the show last night when we served it with tea. It was on a plate with fruit cake and shortbread. Folks seemed to be surfeited with them and reached for the seed cake.

We used caraway seeds but if you are not a caraway addict you could use sesame or poppy seeds or leave them out entirely. It calls for three eggs and ¾ cup butter or margarine. There the expense stops.

LOAF SEED CAKE:

One and seven-eighths cups sifted all-purpose flour, ½ teaspoon each baking powder, and salt, 1 tablespoon caraway or sesame or poppy seeds, ¾ cup butter or margarine, 1¼ cups fruit sugar, 3 large eggs, 1 teaspoon vanilla, ½ teaspoon lemon flavoring. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt twice. Beat the eggs until very thick and stir in vanilla and flavoring. Transfer the unwashed egg beater to the large mixing bowl containing the butter and beat until very creamy. Then gradually add sugar while beating until both are very light and fluffy. Beat in egg mixture; then sift dry ingredients over, part at a time and combine lightly. Bake in buttered and waxed paper-lined loaf pan, preferably 3" x 8½" x 4½". This size gives a nice deep cake that slices to good advantage. But if you want to, use your standard loaf pan measuring 5" x 9" x 2½". It is fine too. Oven temperature is 325 deg. Fahr. for about 1¼ hours.

Mothers of small boys will bless me for:

PERFECT GINGERSNAPS:

One-quarter cup shortening, 1 cup hot molasses, 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour, 1 teaspoon each baking soda, salt, baking powder, 1½ teaspoons ginger. Sift together the dry ingredients twice. Melt shortening in hot molasses. Do not let it boil. Add to flour mixture. Mix well. Chill dough for several hours or overnight. See note below. Roll out very thin a small amount of dough at a time on a lightly floured board. Cut out with scalloped small cooky cutter and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. about 6 mins. Makes 12 dozen.

NOTE FROM ELEANOR:

When I decide to make cookies, I don't want to wait "several hours or overnight" while the dough chills. When I read this in a recipe, I used to get out of the baking mood in hurry, and David and Roddy suffered the consequences. Then came the light. I now place the dough in the freezer section of my refrigerator, and presto! the dough is chilled thoroughly in half an hour or less.

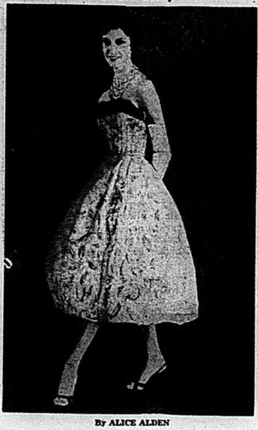
Short Story



By ALICE ALDEN

The floor-length skirt rules at gala gatherings, especially for the smart young matron. But the deb still delights in the shorter style, seeking for it this season more fullness and more details than the simple skirt and hemline of yore.

French white and gold lace in an airy weave matches the young, light-hearted design in this exquisite dance dress by Carven. The snup bodice contrasts with the balloon skirt. The youthful line and the leaf-and-floral design of the lace is set off by the jewelled ruff that marks the strapless bodice top.

JOHNSTOWN — The Johnstown Mission Band held its meeting on Monday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Clapp.

Some brought in their thank-offering envelopes and Mrs. Clapp read a story, "Glory to God in the Highest." Miss Helen Kravacek gave a reading, "On Christmas Eve." Games were then played.

A table was spread with good things to eat and Mrs. Clapp entertained the Mission Band to supper as she does each year at this time, with everyone having a fine time.

GOOD MANNERS

REPLYING TO INVITATION TO WEDDING OF FRIEND

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. My son, who completed his Army service a year ago, has just received an invitation to the wedding of a friend who lived in the same barracks with him during training. They were not special pals, and they have not corresponded since arriving home. The bride-to-be is a stranger. My son is working his way through the college here, and will be unable to attend the wedding. Should he send a gift?

2. Should his letter of regret be sent to the bride's parents? Should it be written in the third person? – Mother

1. Your son is the one who must decide whether he wishes to send the bride-to-be a wedding present, must decide if he can afford to send one. Personally I don't see any real reason why he should send a present, since he and the prospective groom were not close friends, not even close enough to write to each other during the year, since he has never met the bride-to-be, and since he undoubtedly has to watch his budget most carefully.

2. Yes, his reply should be addressed to the bride's parents, and should be worded and spaced like this:

Mr. John Hamilton
regrets that he is unable to accept the very kind invitation of
Mr. and Mrs. Allen
for
Tuesday, the fourth of February

(Whether or not your son sends a wedding gift, he should write a letter of congratulations and best wishes to the prospective groom.)

CONCERNING THE LETTER OF REFERENCE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

When I have been asked to give a reference for an employee, a present employee or a former employee, I have always written at the top of the letter "To whom it may concern." I guess I just took for granted that this was the right (and necessary) thing to do. But a few days ago my uncle and I were talking about writing letters of reference, and he happened to mention that nowadays it is not considered at all necessary to head a letter of reference "To whom it may concern." True or false? — O M.

True. Today we begin the letter of reference without any salutation. The customary form now is to begin directly: "So-and-so was in my employ—" and so forth. Actually, when you analyze it, it is not at all necessary to write "To whom it may concern," since this is taken for granted.

(Note: And incidentally, no complimentary close is necessary. Simply sign the reference with your name.)

Dept. Chief Comes Home With Brand New Outlook

By CAROLYN WILLETT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Laura Pepper, chief of the consumer section of the federal agriculture department, wasn't surprised to find herself with "a new outlook" on human welfare when she returned to Ottawa from Europe.

Miss Pepper attended the conference in Rome last November of the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization where for more than three weeks she and representatives of 76 other countries held searching discussions on mankind's first need—food.

Only woman on the 12-member Canadian delegation, her major job was to attend sessions of the FAO home economics committee, whose chief is a Canadian—Dr. Margaret Hockin of Truro, N.S.

Although it was Miss Pepper's second look at FAO at work—she attended the agency's inaugural meeting in Quebec City 12 years ago—she came home with a "greater realization of the really vital role FAO must play in the world."

MISSIONARY ROLE

The agency's home economics section embraces the broad field of learning connected with all aspects of home and family life. It attempts to raise both the material and non-material levels and standard of living.

Miss Pepper said in an interview that in underdeveloped countries technology could improve crops and increase production. But the "climate" for women to learn new ways in the midst of change also had to be recognized and understood.

FAO field workers, including home economists, often must start from the grass roots and carry out "real missionary work," she said.

The silver-haired home economist, who has headed the agriculture department's consumer section since its inception in 1939, said women leaders from other countries expressed great interest in the work of the experiment-and-information section.

The work of the Canadian Association of Consumers, a volunteer consumer information group, also had aroused keen interest.

It is important, Miss Pepper said, that Canada also take an introspective look at its own values of living.

In a land of plenty, there still was need for a critical look at our own food buying and nutrition habits, and home economics education.

"We must be sure we are keeping up to date."

Sunbeam M.B. Elects Officers

RAWDON —The initial meeting of Mount Pleasant - Rawdon Sunbeam Mission Band convened at the church hall on Sunday January 5th., with an attendance of 20, under the direction of the new leader, Mrs. Harry McAdam.

The new slate of officers was installed and the new president, Pauline Johnson, presided.

The program consisted of readings by Carol Sharpe and Kalvin Sharp and a piano solo by Barbara Williams.

The offering was gathered by Fred McAdam and Brenda Williams and dedicated with a hymn. The Bible lesson was read by one of the assistants, Gail Jeffs, and a story was read by the former leader, Mrs. Stanley Williams.

The February program committee will be Carol Sharpe and Kalvin Sharp.

The program closed with "When He Cometh" and The Lord's Prayer.

1958 OFFICERS

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 8, 1958

Everybody's Favorite Game On Parliament Hill, Ottawa, Is Guessing Election Date

OTTAWA (CP)—It's anybody's guess—and just about everybody is guessing—as to the date of the next federal general election.

It's Parliament Hill's favorite puzzle pastime as the legislative session gets into its late stages.

You can get members to suggest dates anywhere from late March to next fall, complete with reasons. Some can't see an election coming this year.

Even cabinet members don't seem any better informed on this one than the run-of-the-mill parliamentarian. Or if they do, they're being highly discreet.

"I don't think anyone knows," says Works Minister Howard Green, Progressive Conservative floor leader in the Commons and No. 1 lieutenant of Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

Trade Minister Gordon Churchill, who laid the organizational groundwork for the Conservatives' successful 1957 election campaign, is a bit more definite. He says he expects the next general vote will be held in 1958, but won't go beyond that.

The prime minister just chuckles when a reporter throws out a feeler.

Most MPs think it will depend on the political atmosphere of any given time, taking into account unemployment, the general state of the economy and the indicated popularity of the goverment party.

So far, there appears no disposition on the part of the opposition groups to topple the minority Diefenbaker administration.

Current party standing in the 265-member Commons: Progressive Conservative 113; Liberal 106; CCF 25; Social Credit 19; Independent 2.

One of the most politically knowledgeable of national politicians—deputy CCF leader Stanley Knowles—picks the date as April 14.

His reasoning: Before Easter would be too early, at the rate Parliament has been moving. The first Monday after the Easter weekend will be April 14, and the government will want to go to the country as soon as possible The law requires that a federal general election be held on a Monday.

A top Liberal strategist, former immigration minister J. W. Pickersgill, says it is unlikely the Conservatives will preciptate an electon this year on their own because they haven't enough confidence that they will win.

Besides, he says, "it would be a shocking thing to the public if they did it when they haven't carried out most of their election promises or brought down a budget."

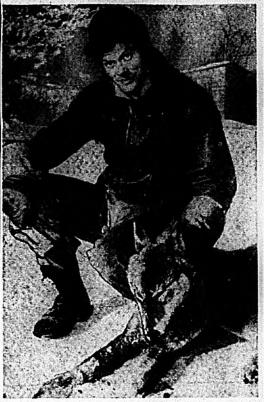
"But anyone who would predict what might happen in a House where no party has a majority would be a bolder man than I am," Mr. Pickersgill concludes.

Solon Low, Social Credit leader, is another who puts his finger on a specific date, but his is June 9.

His figuring is that the government will want to go to the people just as soon as the cold weather rise in unemployment reverses itself. That is usually April.

A guess from the government back benches—new MP Donald MacInnis of Cape Breton South: "Probably late March and not beyond April. But that's just my own personal guessing."

KILLS TIMBER WOLF WITH AXE



Light axe held by Stan Woodcock, 22, spelled death for Bre'er Wolf, who approached too close at Kenogami, Ont. One blow of the axe disposed of the timber wolf, which weighed 40 pounds. It is being examined for rabies.

Cabinet Crisis Direct Cause Thorneycroft's Resignation

By ED SIMON

Canadian Press Staff Writer

A cabinet crisis, like a domestic quarrel, usually runs deeper than its ostensible cause.

The difference of one per cent in government expenditure that led to Peter Thorneycroft's resignation as Britain's chancellor of the exchequer can be likened to the burned roast that sends a husband storming out of the house to the nearest hotel.

While £50,000,000 is a more imposing figure than one per cent, it was an underlying question of principle rather than the relatively small increase in the government's 1958 estimates that resulted in the departure of Thorneycroft and his treasury associates from Prime Minister Macmillan's cabinet.

BOOK BALANCING

Broadly, it was the age-old wrestling match between departments which has made the man holding the purse-strings unpopular with his associates ever since the dawn of the cabinet system of government. It was a similar dispute that sent George Humphrey into retirement last year after five years as President Eisenhower's secretary of the treasury.

The first consideration of any treasurer is to keep his books balanced. If his associates want to spend money on development projects or staff welfare schemes, he needs to know where the money is coming from.

In terms of the business world, the logic of this position is unassailable. But at the government level it runs into a host of complexities.

Thorneycroft's view was that the safety of the pound depended on government expenditure being held rigidly within its present limits in conformity with the stricures he had urged on private industry and the British people as a whole.

Macmillan, in broad agreement with Thorneycroft's policies, felt that if the formula was applied at the expense of cutting down essential services, it would do more harm than good.

If, for example, cuts were made in social welfare projects, it would weaken the government's case in attempting to persuade trade unions to restrain their wage demands. A new round of wage increases or a wave of strikes would cause greater damage to Britain's economic position than a small increase in government spending.

Most of the press is critical of Thorneycroft for hewing to the letter of the law of orthodox finance. Only The Times comes to his defence, blaming Macmillan for the disagreement.

Thorneycroft is the first chancellor of the exchequer to resign in a policy dispute since Lord Randolph Churchill left Lord Salisbury's government in 1886. As

Wants Abolition Of Queen's Honors List

LONDON (Reuters) — Writer Malcolm Muggeridge has made another argument-provoking suggestion — the abolition of the Queen's New Year's honors list.

The list is a "foolish survival" which encourages snobbery, Muggeridge said Tuesday night on a television program.

Muggeridge caused a storm before the Queen's visit to North America last fall with an article criticizing the institution of monarchy and calling for its modernization.

Asked whether he thought people bought awards wth so-called charitable work and subservience to a political party, Muggeridge said "I certainly do."

Muggeridge and fellow-panelist Viscount Lambton agreed the Queen's approval of the honors list is "purely a formality."

Extend Subsidy To Gold Mines

OTTAWA (CP)—Federal subsidies to gold mines will be extended for two years, to Dec. 31, 1960, but the government has not yet decided whether to boost the level of aid.

Mines Minister Paul Comtois, announcing plans for the extension in the Commons Tuesday night, said requests by the gold industry and mining unions for bigger subsidies "are still under study."

An amendment to the Emergency Gold Mining Assistance Act would be introduced next session.

The aid program, begun in 1948, cost the federal treasury $9,300,000 last year Subsidies were paid to 42 mines with total output of about 2,500,000 ounces a year—more than half of the industry's 4,436,000-ounce output.

LONDON (AP)—British diplomatic sources said Monday they saw no indication that a Soviet landing party that visited a tiny Antarctic island claimed both by Britain and Argentina was attempting to establish Russian sovereignty. Columnists Say Politicians Have Lost Confidence in Eisenhower Administration

WASHINGTON (CP) — The United States currently is deep in what the columnists call a "crisis of confidence."

In the American political jargon, this is a fancy way of saying that the people and the politicians—especially the politicians—have lost confidence in the leadership and policies of President Eisenhower and his Republican administration.

While this supersensitive capital often tends to exaggerate its ills, there is ample evidence to suggest that large segments of Congress, the press and the public are deeply disturbed by the lack of guidance and firm policy-making from the White House.

PRESIDENT'S HEALTH

Perhaps nothing indicates this more clearly than the repeated suggestions that the 67-year-old president, who suffered a light stroke late in November, resign and turn his job over to his younger and more vigorous vice-president, Richard M. Nixon.

There has been growing dissatisfaction about the amount of time the president, a recovered heart patient, spends away from the White House on vacation and golf playing, particularly at a time when the country in general, and Congress in particular, are worried about meeting the challenge of expanding Soviet military power.

In a capital as crises-prone as is Washington, it often is difficult to tell where one crisis ends and another begins but the current phase appears to have started last August when a startled U.S.A. learned that Russia had beaten it in the intricate scientific-military task of test-firing an intercontinental ballistic missile.

Eisenhower's press conference comment that this, and the subsequent Soviet achievement in launching an earth satellite, did not disturb him produced sharp and unfavorable reaction, coupled with demands that the U.S. step up its development programs to match the Soviet strides in science and rocketry.

The president's dismal performance in his recent TV report on the results of the NATO council meeting tended, in the words of one columnist, to "support the widespread impression that the president lacks, or for some reason will not employ, the 'executive energy' of which the country stands in dire need . . ."

EISENHOWER ON TV

Time Magazine, which often gives Eisenhower favorable treatment, said the telecast, in which State Secretary Dulles reported jointly with the president, showed "neither vigor nor urgency, was poorly conceived, indifferently staged and dully performed."

Lying in the background of the increasing assaults on the presidency is the so-called Gaither committee report, a top - secret presidential survey which is said to portray the United States as being in the "gravest danger" in its military history and rapidly moving toward the status of a second-class power in relation to Russia.

Despite sharp congressional demands for its publication, the White House has shown extreme reluctance to release the report, contending that it contains highly-classified military information.

The extent to which the leadership crisis will be resolved depends largely on congressional reaction to the military and other legislative programs Eisenhower shortly will be laying before the new session of Congress.

APPOINT OFFICIAL

LONDON (CP)—The secretary for Commonwealth relations Monday approved the appointment of F. E. Cumming-Bruce, 45, as deputy high commissioner for the United Kingdom in Canada.

Silver Dollars Now Turned Out 40,000 Daily

OTTAWA (CP)—Mint master A. P. Williams said Monday night the Royal Canadian Mint is turning out British Columbia centennial silver dollars at a 40,000-a-day-rate.

Mr. Williams, one of seven easterners who chose the coin's design last February, said British Columbian complaints that it has a burial connotation came almost a year too late.

"We released pictures of the design then and they were widely reprinted with nothing but most favorable comment," he told a reporter.

In Vancouver, Guy Williams of the Native Brotherhood of British Columbia had called the coin "memloose chickman" — death money. He said the totem depicted on the coin is the mortuary pole of the Tsimpseam tribe in B.C.

Mr. Williams said no west coast Indians would handle the coin "because it carries death."

The centennial coin was designed by Toronto artist Stephen Trenka who copied his totem from a photo of a Haida Indian totem pole.

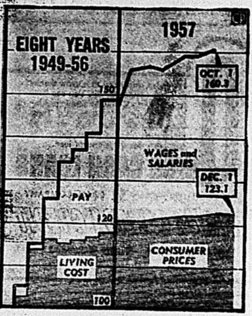
LIVING COST POINTS DOWNWARD



A decline in food prices in November lowered the bureau of statistics consumer price index one-fifth of a point to 123.1 at the beginning of December. This graph (shaded area) traces the yearly average of the price index during 1949-56 and its movement through 1957. Also shown is the index for average wages and salaries which has risen almost steadily since 1949 and stood at 160.3 at Oct. 1, the last date for which figures are available. Basis of both indices is 100 — the average for 1949. (CP Photo).

TOUGH TO SCORE AGAINST

Ross (Lefty) Wilson, Detroit Red Wings' colorful trainer who also doubles as spare goalkeeper for the Wings, has earned himself an enviable reputation as a tough goalie to score against in his three tries in the National Hockey League.

"TURK" BARCLAY

Wilson has been pressed into National Hockey League service three times during the last few years and he has played a total of one hour, 23 minutes and 42 seconds in the nets and has allowed only one goal to be scored against him. In two of the three occasions he was playing against his own Red Wings.

The first time Lefty answered the call to duty was in Montreal on October 10, 1953. Terry Sawchuck, Detroit goalie, was injured after 3 minutes and 57 seconds of the third period. Wilson calmly in Montreal on October 10, stepped into the breach and kept the high-scoring Canadiens off the score sheet. He played 16 minutes and three seconds in the Detroit goal in that game.

Harry Lumley, Toronto Maple Leafs' regular goalie, was injured in the third period in a game in Detroit on January 22, 1956. Lumley was forced to leave the game at the 6.59 mark of the period. Once again Lefty was ready, willing an able. So able in fact that the sharp-shooting Red Wings were unable to get a goal past him. Wilson played a total of 13 minutes and one second of shutout hockey that time.

Lefty answered the call the third time on December 29, 1957, in a game in Detroit between the Red Wings and the Boston Bruins. Don Simmons, Boston's sophomore goalkeeper had to leave the game due to an injury at 8.22 of the first period. It didn't take Lefty long to don the Boston uniform and take over for the injured Simmons. Once again he was playing against his own team. The 38-year-old trainer played 51 minutes and 38 seconds of this game and played so sensationally that the best Detroit could do was to score one goal against him. The first NHL goal scored against him in three games and a total of 80 minutes and 42 seconds of National Hockey League play.

HIS FINEST HOUR!

But the play-for-pay gauchos cannot hog all the glory for a trainer-goalie stepping into the breach and doing a man-size job.

It happened here not too many years ago when a pink-cheeked junior netminder, and assistant trainer, donned the pads, hopped between the pipes and ended up with not only the praise of his adopted teammates but their presenting him with several leafs of inedible lettuce for a job well done.

That was the night the Montreal Canadiens played an intra-squad game here for the benefit and bucks of a crowd-packed Memorial Arena. The late colorful Dick Irvin was the Habs skipper. But don't get that fact mixed up with the lucre presentation. Richard had nothing to do with that.

Canadien's big Bill Durnan was the only goalie the Habs brought with them. So Irvin asked if a local goalie was available. Don "The Turk" Barclay, then third-piping the nets for Bill Cook's junior "B" terrors, snapped smartly to the salute, and volunteered for duty.

Earlier, "The Turk" had had several teeth smashed when he tried to bite a puck in full flight, but that did not daunt the youngster. The blasts of the Rocket, Boom-Boom, and company held no terrors for the "Turk."

The crowd settled back and waited for the "slaughter." Opposing "Turk" was the top line of the Canadiens, Rocket Richard, Elmer Lach and another wingman whose name slips the memory.

It wasn't long before the Rocket whipped down right wing, crossed over in his familiar pattern and blasted a low shot at the corner. The "Turk", a trifle pale about the gills, stuck out a leg and kicked the rubber to a teammate.

Again the Rocket raced in, a little closer this time and again he triggered his smoker at the corner and again the "Turk" kicked away the shot. The crowd was cheering the kid "from the sticks" by this time.

Then Boom-Boom tried his luck. He smoked in and just inside the blueline let go with a drive that missed the "Turk's" starboard ear by a whisker. Had he been equipped with natural hearing aids like Clark Gable they would have found his noggin somewhere on College Street. Irvin immediately told the Boomer to "keep 'em low." He did.

We do not know if the Rocket was irked at this country upstart stopping him cold on his goal-forays, but he did not pull his drives and not a few times worked in close to fire, but each time the "Turk" got a hand or a chest in the way and the famous winger was blanked for the entire period.

[illegible] the Rocket came in for a good deal of ribbing from his mates in the dressing room between the first and second periods. In any event he did score a couple of goals later and "Turk's" side finished on the short end of the score.

After the game was over the Canadiens' skipper and defenceman, Butch Bouchard, presented Turk with some double-figure folding money, the gift of his team-mates, in appreciation for a fine job done in the "White's" nets.

Maple Leafs Inc. Argument Leads to Belief, He Claims At Hearing Held Yesterday

TORONTO (CP) — The chairman of the Ontario Labor Relations Board saysc professional hockey isn't a sport — it's a business.

Jacob Finkelmakn was hearing evidence Tuesday on an application by Toronto Maple Leaf players to have the National Hockey League Players' Association represent them as a bargaining agent.

He told Norman L. Mathews, counsel for Maple Leaf Gardens Inc.:

"You say this is a sport. To my mind, sport has certain ethical practices associated with it. The latter part of your argument leads me to believe this is far from being a sport. It's a business."

OTHERS PENDING

Similar applications are pending before the National Labor Relations Board in New York for United States members of the six-club league. An application is expected shortly for Montreal Canadiens players. Detroit Red Wings voted against association representation several months ago.

Mr. Mathews said a bargaining unit of professional hockey players is "diametrically opposed" to the principles of organized hockey.

A union, he claimed, "would destroy the element of team or individual player competition." He added:

"It seems to me unthinkable that a player would send crashing against the boards today a fellow who is going to be negotiating salary and bonuses for him tomorrow."

Mr. Mathews said there is no employer - employee relationship as an industry. Players were independent contractors. No arbitration board could be set up to handle player grievances arising from demotions to the minors, what position each player should play, or whether a player was sufficiently skilled to be retained.

OTHER POINTS NEGOTIABLE

Board member David Archer thought there were other things open for bargaining.

"For instance," he said, "the player's contract forbids his television appearance or the endorsement of products without the consent of the club."

Replied Mr. Mathews:

"The Maple Leafs couldn't agree to permit those items unless it was approved by the National Hockey League."

Said Mr. Finkelman:

"The league is the clubs. And I don't think the NHL would drop the Leafs because they conceded those points. Nor do I believe the players would force anything that would cause the Leafs to fail."

The hearing continues today.

TORONTO (CP) — Milton N. Mound, counsel for the National Hockey League Players' Association, said Tuesday night a bid to smash the association can be expected in the next 72 hours.

Mr. Mound is here to attend hearings of the Ontario labor relations board on an association application for certification as bargaining agent for Toronto Maple Leafs.

Governors of the six - club league met in New York Tuesday at a meeting called by Senator Hartland Molson and Frank Selke, owner and managing director respectively of Montreal Canadiens.

Ian S Johnston, solicitor for Maple Leaf Gardens commented:

"Something will definitely come out of the meeting."

Asks Waiver Of Britain's Ring Foul Rule

NEW YORK (AP)—A hassle over Britain's foul rule has raised some doubt about Floyd Patterson's plans for making a defence of his world heavyweight boxing title in London this year.

Cus D'Amato, Patterson's manager, will ask waiver of the foul rule before Patterson agrees to make a trip.

"I wouldn't want to risk the chance of losing the championship on a low blow," said D'Amato. "Floyd is not a foul fighter as everyone knows, but in England you can lose the title for one blow that might stray below the belt line."

However, Teddy Waltham, secretary of the British boxing board of control, said in London he is sure the board will not change its rules for Patterson.

AMERICANS THERE BEFORE

"We have had Americans defend their world titles here before—Cus Lesnevich, Ray Robinson and Archie Moore—and they were all quite happy with British conditions. I see no reason why Patterson should not be the same.

"Whenever any of our boxers fight overseas they have to conform to the rules of the country they are in. . . . ."

D'Amato said Joe Erskine, British champion, might get the shot against Patterson if he beats European champion Ingemar Johnnsson, in Sweden Feb. 14.

Leafs Seek Gerry James

WINNIPEG (CP)—Bob Davidson, chief scout for Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League, said Tuesday he has asked football star Gerry James whether he is willing to play hockey again.

He told an interviewer James had promised him an answer by telephone today.

James, star backfielder for Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Western Interprovincial Football Union last fall, returned to football in 1957 after performing with the Maple Leafs.

Davidson said James has been asked to play with Rochester in the American Hockey League. He is a right winger.

Pool Expects To Be Back In Big Four

TORONTO (CP) — Hampton Pool, coach of Toronto Argonauts last season, says he "fully expects" to be back in the Big Four Football Union next fall, but still to be considered is an offer from Philadelphia Eagles—if it materializes.

Pool confirmed rumors that he has been asked to discuss a coaching post with the National Football League club on his return from Philadelphia Tuesday night.

But, he added:

"I doubt very much that I'll be offered the Philadelphia job.

"I was approached by the Eagles to discuss the situation and visited them, but there were no commitments on either side."

DECISION BY WEEKEND

His Argonaut boss, managing director Lew Hayman, said he expects to know Pool's decision by this weekend.

Hayman also announced that Tom Kalmanir has resigned as Argo backfield coach. Hayman said the resignation was for personal reasons, and that Kalmanir now is negotiating for another football job in the U.S.

Kalmanir entered coaching ranks last season after playing professionally with Los Angeles Rams of the National Football League and a college career with Pittsburgh and Nevada.

Therefore the loss of Pool—former pilot of Los Angeles Rams of the NFL—would be a blow to the Argos, who expect to realize in 1958 some of the returns of last year's building program. They won only four of 14 games in Pool's first year in Canadian football, but in the midst of a bad losing streak Pool was given a vote of confidence by the directors.

VERBAL CONTRACT

He is held in Toronto by a verbal two-year contract only, but Hayman says the club would not stand in his way even if he were bound by an iron-clad agreement.

"I would hate to lose him. It's a decision Pool and his family must make. There's a verbal agreement between us and it's up to him to decide whether he has to keep it."

While making up his mind, Pool has been continuing the task of hiring new talent for his team.

New York Rangers Set Stage For Watsonian Tongue-Lash

By KENNEDY WELLS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

New York Rangers appear to be ripe for one of coach Phil Watson's famous public tongue-lashings.

Fiery Phillipe has been strangely silent most of this season, and his Rangers climbed to second place in the National Hockey League on the basis of an early surge, but they have just lost five consecutive games and hold second place by only three points over Boston Bruins.

Rangers have played two game more than Boston and increase that handicap to three as they play fifth-place Toronto Maple Leafs in New York tonight.

WIDE FIELD FOR BLASTING

Lorne (Gump) Worsley, an insouciant fellow who was Watson's favorite verbal target, has departed for the minors, but the sad truth is some of the Ranger reliables have simply not been producing this year. Watson appears to have a wide field for blasting

Even Andy Bathgate, their leading scorer last year and Rangers' best in the points column this season, has not been up to par. Compared with last season's total of 27 goals and 50 assists, Bathgate's 11 and 23 after 40 games looks meagre.

Camille Henry, with a league-leading 20 goals, and veteran rearguard Bill Gadsby, with eight goals and 19 assists, have lived up to pre-season hopes, but Andy Hebenton, Danny Lewicki and Dean Prentice, out with another skate cut, have fallen below their 1956-57 form.

REAY REORGANIZES

The Leafs are in a four-game losing streak and have dropped two points behind Detroit Red Wings. Coach Billy Reay intends a few line changes.

Of Cullen Reay says: "Barry hasn't been going very well lately. He has been making some good plays but he has only scored one goal in 22 games."

And "I haven't been satisfied with the way Armstrong, Sloan and Duff have been playing as a line. The change might help them all."

Dunlops Extend Win-String To Ei ght With 8-2 Defeat Of McFarlands

Six-Goal Outburst in Third Clinches Win for Champions; M[illegible]cs Deserved Better Fate

WHITBY (Staff) — The power-oozing Whitby Dunlops stretched their unbeaten string to eight here last night defeating the Belleville McFarlands 8-2 in a game that had it wacky moments.

It was the Dunnies 23rd Eastern League victory, and in the main they can thank Long John Henderson, although they exploded in a six-goal third period outburst that was aura'd by a flurry of flukes and a welter of assists. Not to mention a brief bout of fisticuffs between Kowalchuk of the Macs and Burns of the champions.

The McFarlands outshot the Dunlops 43-38 on the night's play. Whitby grabbed a two-goal lead in the first heat, with the Macs having the better of the play, scoring the only goal of the second chapter. The roof fell in on the Moira crew in the third as the Dunnies threw the full force of their power into action.

The win gives the Dunlops 43 points at the top of the league. They have six more games to play in the Eastern circuit before proceeding overseas in quest of the world hockey title.

As is the usual case in Whitby th[illegible]nnies fattened their scoring averages, two assists given on each goal. On one occasion Gordie Bell accidentally kicked the puck in his own net, and three Dunnies were given points. The same thing occurred on two other markers that had a touch of flukiness. but the assist dealer dealt full hands.

Referee Bill Balmer of Toronto handed out ten penalties, two of them majors, with the teams splitting the take. Kowalchuk and Burns angled in the dying minutes and each drew a major sentence. On one occasion even the rapid Whitby fans almost gasped in surprise when Botley was crosschecked by a Whitby player, and Balmer put the finger on the Macs player for "interference".

The Dunnies racked up 24 scoring points with Frank Bonello leading the parade with two goals and two assists. Gordie Myles had two and one with Smith, Samolenko [illegible] Gagnon getting one and one [illegible] McKenzie one and two. Wiener Brown and Bart Bradley scored for the Macs with Hildebrand and Muretich drawing assists.

WIENER BROWN
. . . Broke the Egg

Long John, refreshed by three-game rest, and probably the threat of youthful substitute Roy Edwards was back in pro form as he kicked out shot after shot of the Macs in the first two heats. The former Boston beanpole was invincible in that first heat and the Dunnies can thank him the score was not closer.

Coach Ike Hildebrand was forced to juggle his lines again since Paul Payette was unable to play due to an attack of bronchitis. Keith Montgomery is in hospital having a knee cartilage removed.

[illegible]hitby scored two lightning [illegible] in the first period, the counters coming within 18 seconds of each other. Their powerplay was on while Kowalchuk was in the hoosegow. The Macs were a man short in the third period when the Dunnies scored. Bradley's goal came with the Macs driving hard while Samolenko sat one out.

Bonello scored the first goal and the crowd had scarcely settled when playing coach Smith rattled in the second counter of the period.

The Macs roared back strongly in the second period and deserved a better fate. But Long John was in the way and Wiener Brown was the only one to find a chink in his armor.

Apparently Coach Smith order-[illegible] stops out in the third peri-[illegible] for the Dunnies cut loose [illegible] their full power. The Macs battled them stride for stride and shot for shot for seven minutes when Samolenko started the hit parade. Within the next two min-[illegible] Myles and Bonello had hit [illegible]hemp and six minutes later Myles got his second goal.

The Dunlops kept up the relentless pressure with the Macs [illegible] desperately and McKen-[illegible] got credit for [illegible] two markers. As was [illegible] two of the goals were definitely fluky with Bell kicking one into his own net. But the assist-givers were right on the job, only they did not include the Mac goalie.

Juniors Win Three Games Without Goalie

TORONTO (CP) — A junior hockey team here has won two games by shutouts without a goaltender.

V. D'Ambrosio of the Toronto Hockey League junior division played three games without a goalie and won them all, two by shutouts.

Says coach Al D'Amato: "Our fellows knew we didn't have anybody in the nets so they checked like crazy."

D'Amato said:

"Our regular goalie, Dave Ransome, turned out every game, but when the season started we didn't have a set of pads for him and we borrowed them. But sometimes we couldn't borrow pads so we played with three defencemen and three forwards and didn't use a goalie."

The team has won all its 14 games to date, four by shutouts.

Cincy Boss Disgusted With Hockey League

CINCINNATI (CP) — Tom Grace, angered over affairs in the International Hockey League, said Tuesday "we don't want to be legislated into a state of mediocrity."

Grace, president of Cincinnati Mohawks, IHL champions five times, spoke his piece in connection with a league decision taking away two Cincinnati victories and with proposals made by Toledo and Troy clubs that Cincinnati be ousted from the league.

He said he is disgusted and suggested a reshuffling of the league membership is in order.

"Some of the teams seem to want to bring us down to their level. One suggestion even has been made that all players be put in a pool and divided among the teams at the start of the season.

"We don't intend to have to choose up sides before we know who will be playing for us. We don't want to be legislated into a state of mediocrity."

Picking Stars Tough Job

TORONTO (CP)—The job of selecting six players to represent Canada in the forthcoming Thomas Cup badminton play against the United States became a difficult one Tuesday night as the second day of trials closed.

Don Smythe, the veteran Toronto star who surprised selectors with his excellent play against youthful rivals Monday, lost three doubles matches Tuesday night and now has a 2-6 record.

Meanwhile, an unranked newcomer, Jim Carnwath of Toronto, came through with a strong display and has a 6-1 record. To further confuse the picture another Toronto youngster, Bill Purcell, kept his doubles record unscathed and now has won all six of his contests.

Of the three players in the trials who represented Canada in 1955, only Bev Westcott of Toronto has lived up to form, winning five matches of six. Smythe is 2-6 and Bud Porter of Toronto is 1-4.

"WHAT DO YOU LOOK AT FIRST, BILL?"

"You mean in this Toronto Daily Star?"

"Yes, I'm curious."

"Well, I don't think I slavishly follow any particular routine, but I get a grasp of the NEWS first—especially the Pictures."

"Same here. I see they've added a new full page of pictures."

"Then I go for the sports pages—the financial news and comments and then I want the writings of the Star's special contributors."

"In the meantime I know who is reading the second section!"

"You've guessed it. My women folk can't do without their fashions —beauty hints—home care and cooking, and so many other features in a woman's world."

"Don't forget mention of the serial story . . . and the comics, too."

Canucks Sweep Seven Firsts In Ski Tourney

ST. MORITZ, Switzerland (Reuters) — Canadians swept seven of the first eight places in the opening two events of British ski week here Tuesday.

Arnold Midgley of Ottawa won both events run in blinding snowstorms in the mountains above St. Moritz.

The 22-year-old London university student won the Alpine slalom and the Roberts of Kandahar downhill race with ease. Skiing experts said he will be hard to beat in the Commonwealth winter games skiing events to be held here late this week.

Jean - Marie Hottermanns of Belgium prevented Canada from taking the top four places in the two events. He was second in the slalom.

Several of Britain's best skiers were unable to get to St. Moritz in time for the races due to a severe storm.

The results were:

Slalom: 1. Arnold Midgley, 115.2- 2. Hottermanns, 121.5; 3. Jim Quarles, Montreal, 125.0; and 4. Fred Tommy, Ottawa, 130.5.

Roberts of Kandahar downhill: 1. Arnold Midgley 2:26.8; W. John Sennelink, Montreal 2:31.4; 3. Lorne O'Connor, Vancouver 2:36.4; and 4. Jean Marc Leonard, St. Sauveur, Que. 2:38.9.

CHICAGO (AP) — Explosive-punching Sugar Hart and clever Larry Baker battle for a fresh start in the welterweight "sweepstakes" at Chicago Stadium tonight in a nationally televised bout

Hart, 21, with 19 knockouts in his 22 victories, is rated an 11-to-5 favorite in the 10-rounder. But Baker, 26, is ranked No. 8, one notch ahead of Hart, in the National Boxing Association ratings.

Lumley Joins Springfield Club

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Veteran goalie Harry Lumley left Buffalo Bisons Tuesday to join Springfield Indians of the American Hockey League.

Arrangements for the transfer were made between the National League Chicago Black Hawks, who own Lumley's contract, and Boston Bruins, who have a working agreement with Springfield.

Lumley was succeeded in the Bisons nets last month by Gerry McNamara, on loan from Toronto Maple Leafs. Details of Lumley's assignment to Springfield were not known here.

Durelle, Anthony Fight Off Ptomaine Lays Canadian Low

NEW YORK (CP)—Ptomaine poisoning laid low Canadian boxing champion Yvon Durelle Tuesday, forcing a rescheduling of his main-event bout with Tony Anthony this week. The bout, to have been held in Madison Square Garden Friday night, has been set back to Friday, Jan. 31.

Chris Shaban, manager of the Canadian and British Empire light-heavyweight champion, said the ptomaine attack is not serious. He reported the burly fighter from Baie Ste. Anne, N.B. has been ordered by his doctors to remain in bed for a few days.

"He's pretty weak, but the attack wasn't at all serious," Shaban said. "He just needs a chance to rest a bit and then work himself back into shape. It could have been a lot worse."

BLAME SCALLOPS

Lou Meyers, who acts as American representative for Durelle, said the attack was caused by scallops.

Doctors from the International Boxing Commission also examined Durelle, and said he should be completely recovered within 10 days.

The new date will give Durelle time to work himself back in shape, a promotion spokesman said.

The Anthony fight is considered the key to Durelle's bid to challenge champion Archie Moore. Anthony was defeated by Moore by a technical knockout last September.

Durelle nw is ranked the No. 2 contender by the National Boxing Association for the championship behind Harold Johnson. But if he lost to Anthony, his rating probably would drop.

FOUGHT DRAW EARLIER

Durelle, a rugged, punishing fighter, held Anthony to a draw in Detroit before Anthony met Moore. Some observers thought Durelle should have been given the verdict.

Durelle is undefeated in his last 10 starts. In his last outing, he defeated Jerry Luedee in Tampa, Fla.

Substituting as headliners in the main event this Friday are middleweights Charlie (Tombstone) Smith and Joe Miceli.

Argonauts Sign Florida Back

TORONTO (CP) — Jim Rountree, 185-pound halfback from the University of Florida, has been signed by Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four football union, managing director Lew Hayman announced Tuesday night.

The 22-year-old, five-foot-nine backfielder scored 30 points last season and led the Florida team ground-gainers with 424 yards in 91 carries.

He is also considered an outstanding defensive player and was recommended to Argos by Carl Voyles, former coach of the Grey Cup champion Hamilton Tiger-Cats who now is in the real estate business in Florida.

Do Not Expect Vessels to Play

EDMONTON (CP) — Coach Frank Ivy says his Edmonton Eskimos of the Western Interprovincial Football Union probably will play without Billy Vessels this year.

Ivy, speaking by telephone from his Norman, Okla., home, said Vessels told him he is reluctant to leave his housing project job at Miami.

Vessels joined Eskimos in 1953 and was named Canada's outstanding player. He served in the United States army for the next two years and then played one season for Baltimore Colts of the National Football League. He didn't play last year.

Quebec Hockey

MONTREAL (CP) — A makeshift team of Montreal Royals erupted in the third period to defeat the league-leading Chicoutimi Sagueneens 6-2 Tuesday night.

The Royals, minus two regular defencemen and a forward, were outshot 29-19, but managed to get four third-period goals past Harold Hansen, called up from Lachine Maroons to replace Chicoutimi's Gilles Boisvert, injured Monday.

Cec Hoekstra and Ken Mosdell scored two goals each for the victors. Gene Achtymichuk, back from Montreal Canadiens, and Kelly Burnett got the others.

Chicoutimi scorers were Greig Hicks and Guy Rousseau.

SAVES TODDLER

GLASTONBURY, Conn. (AP)—A motorist spotted a group of small children beside a roaring brook and stopped his car to warn them. Vincent Dondi, 29, found they were staring at a playmate, Jane Ann Ordway, 2, who had just fallen into the icy water. He pulled the girl out and took her home unharmed.

KILLED IN CRASH

TORONTO (CP)—Rolf Leiste, 40, of suburban Willowdale, was killed Tuesday night when his car collided with a CPR passenger train at a level crossing in suburban North York. Police said he was driving alone at the time.

Little Benny's Notebook

Pop and ma were going out somewhere, and ma said, William I hope and trust you dont intend to leeve the house wearing that sport coat and that check shert at the same time?

Well no, as a matter of fact I intended to carry the coat over my arm the ferst half of the evening and then excuse myself and take my shert off and put the coat on, pop said, and ma said, Now never mind the minstrel jokes. Go and put on a plane shert, she said.

Yes my dear, poor Tim Tarway pop said, and ma said, Who?

Haven't I ever told you about poor Tim Tarway? pop said. His wife sent him back upstairs for exactly the reason you're sending me, and the poor chap couldn't remember whether he was suppose to change his shert or change his coat, and he was terrified to go back and ask her, because he couldn't bear to be accused of never heering a werd she said to him. Well my dear, he thought and thought, and ferst he changed his coat, and then he changed his mind and changed back again, and he kept that up, changing back and then forth, till his wife rushed upstairs to see if he was still alive, but he wasn't. The poor woman was conscious stricken and gave him a more expensive funerel than she could really afford, dressed in an entirely diffrent shert and an entirely diffrent coat, pop said.

Oh, you're so funny it's laffable, ma said. I'll go up with you and lay out the proper shert, and while I'm about it I'll lay out the correct tie, she said.

Which she went and did.

Ontario Plans Crackdown On Wolves

MONTREAL (CP) — Ontario's lands and forests minister has announced at the northeast wildlife conference that the province plans a crackdown on wolves beginning with a $30,000 research program this winter.

Clare E. Mapledoram said Tuesday "We do not believe that the wolves are such a menace that they should be eliminated from Ontario. We do recognize however that in some areas they are against the best interests of man and must be controlled. We are training specialists in hunting, trapping and poisoning to do just that."

He said a helicopter is being used in census work to find out "what effect wolves are having on our big game such as deer and moose and on livestock farming, especially in those areas where the production of sheep may be impaired.

"We are going to conduct experimental control in various study areas which are establishing this winter, using the skill of experienced trappers as well as poisons carefully checked in field tests. For best results, we need a reliable wolf census . . .

"One would expect that after nearly 100 years with a price on his head, the wolf would have disappeared from most of Ontario. These efforts, however, seem to have had little effect."

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Preakness, second of the three major U.S. races for three-year-old thoroughbreds, will be run for the 82nd time at Pimlico on Saturday, May 17, the Maryland Jockey Club announced today.

Pimlico will continue to put up $100,000 for the mile and three-sixteenths race.

PLANE TURNS BACK

WINNIPEG (CP) — A Trans-Canada Air Lines Super-Constellation with 58 passengers and five crew members aboard was forced to turn back when engine trouble developed over Saskatchewan Tuesday on a scheduled non-stop flight from Toronto to Vancouver. The four-engined plane landed here.

In Ratings of 10 Best TV Shows, Five Are Western

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — In most fields, predicting is a hazardous pastime. But some people in television feel that they can reduce it almost to a science—"though don't quote me personally."

The basic logic of the TV prophets is simply this: What worked best last year is most likely to work best this. On such a basis the anonymous prophets of the industry visualize these general trends visible on the home screen in 1958:

Generally there are no signs of important innovations in TV programs. Things will be much as they were in 1957.

The safest prphecy of all is that there'll be more westerns than ever before. This, apparently, is by public demand.

RATE TOP LISTINGS

The latest Nielsen rating report shows, for example, that of the 10 TV programs with the largest average audiences five are westerns. Gunsmoke (CBS-TV) is No. 1 in the top 10 with Wells Fargo (NBC-TV) second. Other westerns in the top 10 are Have Gun, Will Travel (CBS-TV), Zane Grey Theatre (CBS-TV) and Wyatt Earp (ABC-TV).

Otser audience rating systems give an equally popular role to the western. Maverick (ABC-TV), for instance, is giving concern Sunday evenings to such names as Jack Benny, Steve Allen and Ed Sullivan on the opposition networks.

So it is inevitable that westerns will be up and riding strong throughout the year.

Many of the prophets are certain that there will be a vast decline in the number of weekly musical variety shows. This, again, is based on the rating figures. With notable exceptions the public has not clasped most of the new musicals to its bosom.

COMEDIANS BACK?

There is some talk that comedians so absent from the set in the fall season—will return as numerusly as a couple of years ago. Thus far, however, it is largely talk and based on the theory that a hole in the program dike must be filled with something.

However, the only comedian positively slated to stage a comeback in a weekly slot is Sid Caesar, whom ABC-TV launches Jan. 26.

No one who was willing to peer into a crystal ball could see any sign of an upswing in regular anthology dramatic programs which went into eclipse, with some happy exceptions, in 1957.

But melodramas as compared with dramas, and "actions" as compared with more reflective entertainment, are certain to be visible on the set at all hours of the week.

There is only one flaw in the logic of following the pattern of the previous year. Every once in a while the public cries, "stop, enough" to one or another type of program. And when the public cries loudly enough and switches channels often enough that type of program begins to wither and die—for a couple of years.

Then the despised and dead have a habit of becoming much alive again.

Just Shade This Side of 80 May Hallat to Do Movie

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Hollywood looks a bit different to May Hallatt, noted British actress here for her first American movie.

She was last through here in 1905, touring with a stage company.

Miss Hallatt is just a shade this side of 80, though you'd never guess it. Her face is smooth and scarcely lined, and her manner is alert and even adventurous. After all, how many 80 - year - olds would leave their homes to travel alone across an ocean and a continent to act in a movie?

I asked her why she did it.

"Money," was her refreshingly frank reply.

REPEAT ROLE

Miss Hallatt played one of the guests of an English seaside hotel in the London stage hit, Separate Tables. She came to New York to repeat the role for nine months, missing only four performances. Now she will play in the film version.

Besides asking her to make the trip, the producers requested her to learn to play billiards.

"And I did," she said proudly. "I had one of the top players in Britain instruct me in a billiard hall in Soho. He said I showed great promise, too."

She plays a salty old character with an affinity for billiards, horse races and Mickey Spillane. And she's enjoying herself immensely.

Miss Hallatt has played all over the world. She was introduced to the American stage by Lillie Langry. Stranded with a troupe in Canada, Miss Hallatt wrote to the star about prospects of finding work in New York, and Miss Langry found her a role in a Broadway musical.

Both world wars saw Miss Hallatt as an entertainer. In the last one she went out to the African front.

"I was in Alexandra when the Germans were just two hours away," she recalled. "We had to be evacuated."

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

Wednesday, Jan. 8

Aries (March 21 to April 19) Endeavor to go off with an associate who is vital to you to some fine restaurant for lunch or banquet and dinner in evening, where you can talk in best style and come to great understanding. Tonight, have an inspiring time.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) It is possible today to set up a better schedule with regular partners so that duties are performed on time, with more convenience to all. See that your files, letters, statements, detail, wardrobe, etc., are in order now.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) It beehoves you to take the time to visit your barber, beautician, health salon and get in real condition. Then you can show great co-operation with associates and put all on even keel. Be willing to do little jobs

Cancer (June 22 to July 21) This is one of those days when you can see clearly what should be done to increase value of your possessions and with minimum cost. Set up better financial system quickly, be very kind to those who have extended you credit.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) — There is much to be gained today by talking over your relative position with intimates, associates, neighbors in a friendly and personal fashion. Tonight you can easily go out and have recreation, feel at ease, be very sociable.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)— Finally it is possible today to get the financial support secretly that you need to put across that fine plan you've nutured for so long. Combine practicality with friendliness and you win, out, make a great friend, too.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — You are intellectually attuned to the highest planetary influences and so in a position to contact others who can and will assist you by expressing yourself properly. Make agreements. They will work out just fine.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)— Secret conversation with a most powerful personage will bring the information you have been searching for for some time but without result. Get all your greatest plans outlined, detailed. Be very generous and kind.

Sagittarius (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21) — Here is a fine day when you will be able to contact most desirable, intelligent persons, kindred souls who will help you to enlarge your scope, make present enterprises function more successfully. Be at your best.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Get in touch with financial experts, advisors of merit, and listening carefully to all they have to suggest, without annoying them with petty worries, will bring great benefits today. However, think in large terms, not small.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) If you go to some place of fine atmosphere with a wise and succesful, dynamic associate, there will be much to gain that is worthwhile. Spend some time reading your paper, too, so that you may be well informed on many subjects.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) This is a fine time to go over your books, see what has to be collected, paid, and where to eliminate unnecessary luxuries and replace with more practical, worthwhile. Also, get vital data re your work.

If your child is born today — The charming little child born today is all magnetism, affection, lovable. The attraction is so great that everyone will want to bear gifts, pet and spoil your progeny. So it is up to you to curb this somewhat or your child will become very dependent upon others and not work out the wonderful possibilities in this chart. Fine for professions where combined beauty and brains are real requisites.

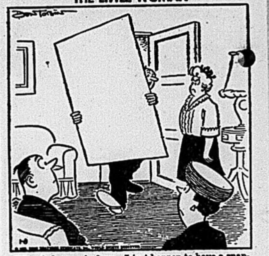
THE LITTLE WOMAN



"I'm glad you asked me. I just happen to have a snapshot of that salmon I caught last summer!"

Little Benny's Notebook

Ma was reeding her Fastidious magazine, saying to pop, For land sakes, William, I meen really, there's no limit to the atrocities the fashion designers try to foist on women.

I dont quite agree, my dear, the limit is this sack thing they're wearing, pop said, and ma said, That's just what I meen, William, here are 2 whole pages of well known fashionable women all fotographed in the new sack dresses.

They're not even new, pop said. My grandmother used to wear them, only they were called Mother Hubberds, he said, and ma said, Aren't they gassly, William? Just because some French dress designer in far off France loses all sense of proportion and designs something with a potato sack as his model, women all over the werld feel compelled in duty bound to walk the streets like shapeless mummies. Women are sheep, they really are, she said.

Not at all, no respectable sheep would be caught in a slawter house dressed like that, pop said, And ma said, Absilutely, William, it's the most rediculissly unbecoming stile we've ever been subjected to.

But for Peet sake they cant subject you to it agenst your will, pop said, and ma said, Dont talk nonsense, of course they can. What sensible woman would appear in public dressed in form fitting clothes while all the best dressed women are wearing sack dresses? But dont worry, William, I'll resist as long as I possibly can without losing my self respect, she said.

I retire in defeet, pop said.

Which he did behind his paper.

OTTAWA (CP)—The Interprovincial Farm Union Council Tuesday called on the federal government to establish an estimated average cost of production as the guaranteed price for commodities under the farm prices stabilization bill. In a brief submitted to Agriculture Minister Douglas Harkness, the council called on the government to scrap as the price base the 10-year average market price.

MURDER CHARGED

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance right in the privacy of their own home without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was promptly relieved. And while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of even 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) — the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

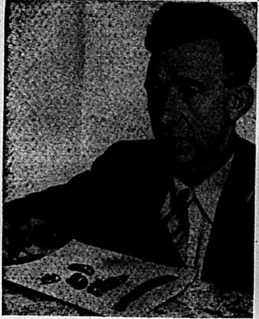
COULD BE REMAINS OF SPUTNIK



The Sputnik I is spent, but there remains the debatable question of just where it ended its skyriding career. John J. Dodd, (above), 56, of Brooklyn, N.Y., a part-time uranium prospector, was in St. George's, Newfoundland, when he and a friend saw a 'bluish ball of fire' falling through the air. The eye-dazzling object went into the sea and here Dodd is shown with some of the funny looking pieces of glass and metal they picked up on the beach later. However, another version came from airlines Capt. E. D. Swinden, who said that he saw a "ball of fire" fall near the Centralia, Ill., airport.

RAFFLED RADIO

From his hospital bed during the Second World War he started the cigaret fund by raffling his radio and raised $1,200.

He gave up smoking himself. With the money thus saved he bought and raffled victory bonds. From one $50 bond he raised $1,400.

He wrote verses that his friends printed on cards and sold to augment the fund. He wrote hundreds of appeal letters.

By this time Walter had a small staff to do his office work, secretaries at the hospital to write his letters, and a specially-built telephone the phone company provided.

After the war he hit on the wheelchair coach idea—buses to enable crippled shut-ins to see the great outdoors again, to attend hockey and baseball games, circuses and carnivals.

He wrote more letters to the thousands who had helped his cigaret fund. The first coach was finished in 1947 and cost $15,000.

Walter drew up the specificatons himself. It had a ramp to carry the wheelchairs into the bus and special clamps to fasten them to the floor.

NEVER RODE IN IT

Some of those who rode in it had not been out of hospital since the First World War. Walter never got outside but he was there in spirit every time the bus moved.

He raised money for second, third and fourth coaches. In 1954 Lethbridge, Alta., became the first city besides Halifax to have one. Callow coaches went on exhibition at Toronto and Chicago.

"There are thousands of wheelchair patients all over Canada and the United States who would 'jump' at the chance to ride in one of my coaches," he said.

War veterans, old folk from county homes, crippled children, all got a chance for an outing in Walter's coaches. They travelled over the Maritimes, a familiar sight on every highway.

As years passed Walter's voice weakened. His telephone had a special amplifier. But he retained his hearing and his drive to get things done. He never took no for an answer, no matter from whom he sought help.

Of his own case he said, "I could be a lot worse. I want to thank God that at least I can talk and think.

"I want to repay Him, for I believe that after a man dies they will ask only one question: 'What did he do for others?' "

No one asks that question about Walter Callow. They know.

TRADE EXPANSION

"If we had been in power we would have known how to deal with this matter," he said.

But a Liberal government would have told Britain that while it is important for the two countries to expand their trade, the possibility of extending freer trade to the whole NATO area should be pursued.

But the Conservative government had not disclosed its policy on the free trade suggestion. Conservatives had only talked of diverting trade from the U.S. to the U.K. to trim Canada's adverse trade balance with its southern neighbor.

Mr. Pearson said there is talk here, official and unofficial, that Prime Minister Diefenbaker's trade - diversion proposal has given courage to protectionists in Washington pressing for further restrictions on Canadian exports to the U.S.

In recent years the U.S. had twice tried to restrict oil imports. But twice Canadian crude oil had been excluded through representations by the former Liberal government.

The Christmas Eve U.S. order asking oil companies voluntarily to restrict crude imports, including those from Canada, by 15 per cent was "a depressing indication of the lack of success of the (Conservative) administration in their dealings in Washington."

FRIENDLY PRESSURE

In the past, the former Liberal government had found it possible to bring "friendly pressure" to bear to assist those in Washington opposed to such action as restrictions on U.S. imports of Canadian base metals and fish products. But new restriction action in Washington might arise now.

Joining the trade debate, Fred S. Zaplitny (CCF—Dauphin) also was critical of the government's trade policies. Unless some sort of co-operation could be achieved among Western countries so far as trade was concerned, depression would eventually come.

What was needed in Canada was a system of import and export boards to handle the various products Canada buys and sells. But all that the Conservative government so far had done was "lose some trade with the U.S. without gaining any from the United Kingdom."

Federal Grants For Education Are Proposed

OTTAWA (CP) — Federal grants to the provinces "to relieve the crisis in education" were proposed Tuesday by CCF Leader Coldwell.

He said in the Commons that, in the light of spectacular scientific successes by Russia, Canada must make "unprecedented efforts" to raise its level of education.

Mr. Coldwell embodied his proposal in what was technically a motion of non-confidence in the government. It called for federal aid to expand and equalize educational opportunities across Canada "without in any way encroaching on the exclusive jurisdiction of the provinces in this field."

Two cabinet ministers said the government feels education is of great importance. However, they said they would vote against Mr. Coldwell's motion because it was one of non-confidence.

VOTE NO

Trade Minister Churchill said it was obviously "calculated to embarrass the government." The CCF was "irresponsible" in dealing with an important matter in this way.

External Affairs Minister Smith, former president of the University of Toronto, said he regretted he must vote against the CCF motion.

The government is considering the matter, Mr. Smith said. Had the CCF allowed the Commons to get on with its other business, the problem of education so far as the federal government is concerned would have been closer to solution.

Neither Mr. Coldwell nor the two ministers made direct reference to one problem involved in federal education grants: the strong opposition of the Quebec government to accepting federal grants for universities.

PROVINCIAL FIELD

Mr. Coldwell said education is primarily a provincial responsibility and he agreed the federal government has no right to interfere with its management by provincial governments. But the federal Parliament had the right to make grants and should ensure education is at an adequate level.

The CCF leader said the provinces have inadequate powers to expand education to the required level.

Mr. Coldwell said he would like to transfer to education a substantial amount of this year's $1,723,000,000 defence budget.

His speech was concerned chiefly with Canada's supply of scientists, engineers and technicians.

He said the problem is so critical it merits top priority in government planning. Russia, proportionately, was far ahead of Canada in that field.

Lakes Now Being Made to Support Fish Populations

MONTREAL (CP)—Lakes are now being made to support fish populations after years of barreness.

Scientists have found means to neutralize their acid waters, W. A. Morris, a wildlife officer from Sudbury, said in an interview at the northeast wildlife conference Tuesday. He told how fish had been restored to a 97-acre lake near Sudbury whose waters formerly poisoned fish.

He said it was found that the springs which fed the lake passed through their waters through rocks containing copper and sulphur, producing a mild solution of sulphuric acid, deadly to fish.

After several experiments the acididy was controlled by dumping calcium hydroxide into the lake Then fertilizer was dumped in and a bloom of plankton, the tiny organisms on which fish feed occurred for the first time in years.

The lake was stocked with minnows, then smallmouth bass.

FOR OTHER LAKES

He said he believed the same methods would work in about 20 other lakes in the Sudbury area too acid to support fish because of natural or industrial pollution.

A team from the Lehigh University water resources research council offered a slightly different approach at a technical session on pollution problems.

F. J. Tremblay, J. A. Mihursky and E. W. Hertz gave a paper recommending the stack of dust from cement plants as a neutralizing agent.

"As is to be expected," the paper said, "the dust is highly alkaline since it is produced by burning limestone."

The introduction of such alkaline material into acid lakes or ponds reduces the acidity, clarifies the water allowing penetration of sunlight, relieves the condition of low oxygen and high carbon dioxide content caused by suppression of plankton organisms, adds needed minerals to stimulate primary production and releases fish and plant foods from bottom muds.

Sukarno Talks With Macmillan On New Guinea

Nehru Utilizes Lunch To Bring Them Together

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—Britain's Prime Minister Macmillan and Indonesia's President Sukarno conferred "briefly and informally" today on the effects of Indonesia's anti-Dutch campaign aimed at winning control of Dutch New Guinea.

Sukarno postponed his departure to Bombay when he and Macmillan were invited to lunch with Prime Minister Nehru

Indonesian sources said Sukarno, in India on a private visit for his health, assured Macmillan that the transfer of Dutch New Guinea to Indonesia would in no way prejudice peace and stability in the area.

He also expressed belief that lessening of opposition to the transfer in Australia—next stop on the Commonwealth tour Macmillan is making—would necessarily bring about a change in Dutch opposition to relinquishing the territory.

Informed sources said Sukarno may also have asked Macmillan to help persuade The Netherlands to reopen negotiations over the disputed Dutch colony.

The Indonesian government has seized several Dutch firms as part of its campaign to force The Netherlands to cede the colony. Thousands of Dutch residents in Indonesia have left for The Netherlands since the campaign began.

Earlier Macmillan placed a wreath on the spot where Mohandas Gandhi, India's independence leader, was cremated after he was assassinated in 1948. He and Lady Macmillan followed the Indian custom of removing their shoes before depositing the large wreath.

DISCONTENT AT HOME?

Meanwhile in London murmers of discontent continued to be heard in the Conservative party over the resignation of Peter Thorneycroft as chancellor of the exchequer. Some Conservatives said the resignation Monday has split party ranks; others said it would not lead to party revolt.

Nigel Birch, one of two aides who resigned with Thorneycroft, told a Conservative audience in Wales he has no intention of quitting the party.

There has been no accurate count of the number of Conservative members who will criticize the government when the House of Commons reconvenes Jan. 21.

But some are known to have backed Thorneycroft's contention that expenditure in the coming financial year must not exceed current expenses.

Lately Released From Prison, Back in Jail

HAMILTON (CP) — Charles Parr, 22, of no fixed address, who was released from Kingston penitentiary last Friday, pleaded guilty today to attempted armed robbery with an offensive weapon. He was remanded for sentence until Monday.

Sgt. Clifford Dean said Parr entered a laundromat Wednesday afternoon.

"He produced a fishknife and placed it against the stomach of Joan Vileneuve, on duty in the store. He said: 'Hand it over! I want the money in the till.'

"There was a struggle. She punched Parr and disarmed him, but in the struggle she was stabbed two or three times in the stomach. She screamed and he fled. He was picked up two hours later."

Parr agreed these statements were true.

Indian Council Says Brantford Can't Sell Square

BRANTFORD (CP) — The hereditary chiefs of the Six Nations Indians moved Wednesday to investigate Brantford city council's proposed sale of its city hall and market square for $1,000,000 or more.

The city acquired the square from the Indians in 1851. The hereditary chiefs say the site must be used for all time as a market square or revert to the possession of the Six Nations.

The chiefs instructed their solicitor, Malcolm Montgomery of Toronto, to investigate. The city's proposal, announced Tuesday, is to sell the square for business purposes, move the market and build a new city hall.

Mayor Max Sherman said he knows of no encumbrances which could prevent the sale, provided the city's taxpayers vote in favor.

Missing Copter Found in Quebec

OTTAWA (CP) — The three-man crew of a helicopter missing in Quebec's Knob Lake area was found apparently unharmed today.

The crew members were pilot J. A. D. Demerah of nearby Richmond, Donald J. McDougall, 23, of Montebello, Que., and John M. Linden, of Ottawa.

Spartan Air Services, operators of the helicopter, said a second helicopter located the downed helicopter and radioed back that the crew seemed unharmed. Further information was not available.

An RCAF Dakota was to have joined with Spartan aircraft in a search for the missing craft today.

Opens Shark At Fish Market, Man Inside

TOKYO (Reuters) — Housewives screamed and fainted in fish market here when the fish seller cut open a shark and found the partly decomposed body of a man inside.

Police said the man had been dead at least two weeks.

He was thought to be a Japanese fisherman who fell overboard in the Japan Sea.

MALTESE THREAT TO CUT BRITISH TIES WITHDRAWN

Mintoff Welcomes Economic Aid Offer

VALETTA, Malta (Reuters) — The government of Prime Minister Dom Mintoff, having ended its threat to cut the island's ties with Britain, turned its energies today toward solving Malta's economic problems.

The economic prosperity of Malta and its 315,000 citizens rests on the shipyards, and Mintoff wanted Britain to guarantee that shipyard workers, laid off because of defence cuts, would get some kind of alternative employment.

Colonial Secretary Alan Lennox-Boyd said it was impossible to make such a guarantee, but that Britain would help aid the diversification of Maltese industry. One British firm already has offered new jobs to dismissed workers.

Lennox-Boyd also disclosed Britain has planned to give Malta £25,000,000 in aid in the next five years.

NO NEED FOR BREAK

The Maltese parliament voted Dec. 30 for a break with Britain, but Mintoff told Lennox-Boyd Wednesday that there now is no need to break off relations.

His government would be "more than willing" to undertake new negotiations on Malta's problems if Britain would co-operate in a spirit of give and take.

But the prime minister said nothing irritated the Maltese more than the repeated statements of various colonial secretaries stressing Britain's generosity to the island.

Mintoff, 41, leader of the Socialist party in Malta, has pressed for integration with Britain rather than independence. Under his plan, Malta would retain its parliament but also send Maltese to sit in Parliament in London.

Diefenbaker Hints No Vote Unless Defeated

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker today dropped a hint that the government will not call an election unless it is defeated in the Commons.

The combined opposition could defeat the minority Progressive Conservative government at any time it chooses. So far, it has declined to do this.

The matter arose in the Commons during the question period. Stanley Knowles, deputy CCF leader, asked whether the next federal-provincial fiscal conference would be called before or after the next federal general election.

Mr. Difenbaker said this would depend on conduct of the Opposition.

J. N. Pickersgill L — Bonavista-Twillingate) asked whether this meant that the government would not ask for dissolution of Parliament unless it were defeated in the Commons.

Mr. Diefenbaker did not reply.

"That's what he said," called out Mr. Pickersgill.

Earlier this session, Mr. Diefenbaker said during a hot-and-heavy question period that an election would "not be too long delayed."

Blue Bunting Makes Grits See Red As They Prepare to Select Leader

OTTAWA (CP)—The Grits bear the Tories a special grudge. It's all because of several miles of bunting.

"That's going to be pretty tough to get down," a Liberal party convention workman remarked as he surveyed the Progressive Conservatives' legacy—row on row of blue bunting hanging from the steel rafters of the Coliseum — where the Liberals will pick their new leader next week.

Blue is the color of the Conservatives; the Liberals go for red. The yards and yards of blue bunting were pinned to the rafters in December, 1956, when the Conservatives held the convention which chose John G. Diefenbaker as party leader.

The Liberals figure it would be too costly to pull the blue bunting down and replace it with red. That would take two operations. So they plan, in one operation, to cover both sides of the blue bunting with red material.

The Coliseum, home of Ottawa's annual fairs, horse shows and giant bingo games, is a fairly large structure, so the covering job may be fairly costly.

But that is just one aspect of dressing up the coliseum for what has been billed as the biggest Liberal show in history, a three-day affair expected to attract some 5,000 out-of-towners, including 1,500 voting delegates and more than 900 alternates.

The convention opens Tuesday but it won't be until Thursday night that balloting for the new leader will be conducted. Top contenders for the post being vacated by Rt. Hon. Louis S. St. Laurent are former external affairs minister Lester B. Pearson and former health minister Paul Martin.

This will be the Liberals' fourth convention since Confederation. The turnout next week should set a record.

Mrs. Douglas Blair, headquarters accommodation director, estimates she has supplied rooms for some 2,500 out-of-towners, but needs more accommodation.

"We've just got to find another 150 or 200 rooms."

WENT SOUTH IN 1925 FIRE TRUCK

Driving a 1925 fire truck, these seven young men left the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph, Ont., to "go south" for Christmas and New Year's. Both they and their truck are back now, and they had their sunshine plus several adventures that usually go with a trip in an ancient vehicle. Once a front wheel came off and rolled along the road ahead of them. Then they had two flat tires and found that their size of tire is not made any more. Another time police advised them to take their fur coats off or they would be shot for deer by trigger happy hunters. The voyageurs are: Mac Taylor, Allan Grunder, Si Leuty, Don Brock, Charles Gracey, John Wiley and John Quinn.

Canadian Living Standards 20-30 P.C. Lower Than U.S.

OTTAWA (CP)—A study prepared for the Gordon royal commission on Canada's economic prospects finds that average living standards in Canada are between 20 and 30 per cent lower than those in the United States.

However, Canadian living standards were higher than in the United Kingdom and Western Europe.

The differences were found to be most pronounced when personal holdings of durable consumer goods were compared. The study said the average Canadian's stock of personal and household durable goods has increased greatly during the last 30 years and the trend is expected to continue.

Canadian expenditure habits likely would continue to approach those of the U.S., but there was no prospect of any significant increases in Canadian incomes to a point where they would match those in the U.S.

The study was made at the request of the commission by Prof. David W. Slater of Queen's University, Kingston, in an effort to obtain some indication of the role of personal expenditures in Canadian economic growth.

The commission, which made its preliminary report last January is expected to deliver its final one late this winter.

The Slater study, issued today, said Canadian consumer prices are substantially higher than in the U.S. because of higher taxes and tariffs and greater distribution costs in smaller markets.

Canadians were found to be well behind their American neighbors in the adoption of frozen foods, packaged meat, prepared salad dressings and various ready-cooked foods.

During the last three decades, Canadians had spent increasing portions of their incomes to buy cars, refrigerators, radios, television sets, tobacco, alcoholic beverages, drugs, cosmetics, toilet preparations and for some types of recreational activities.

In future, the study said, smaller fractions of personal expenditures will be devoted to food, clothing, personal furnishings, shelter and fuel. It foresaw substantial increases in expenditures for health services, drugs, recreational activities and hobby and sports equipment.

Prospects were for large increases in both the consumption of goods and services and in the leisure available to Canadians.

Although living standards had risen, the percentage of disposable personal income saved had changed little.

Personal expenditures were found to account for a smaller part of the country's production now than they did three decades ago, mainly because a big part of the nation's output is used to meet government expenditure on goods and services.

British Submarine Aground As Gales Take Three Lives

LONDON (AP)—Atlantic gales today drove a British submarine and a motorship aground, disrupted transatlantic plane flights and killed at least three persons.

All three deaths reported were in Scotland. The captain of a fishing trawler was washed overboard. At Cowdenbeath a man and his wife were killed when a brick wall was blown over and crashed on their home.

On the Continent there was heavy snow in Alpine regions, especially in western Austria. Some Alpine passes were blocked and automobile drivers were warned of avalanches.

The strength of the gales was concentrated along Britain's west coast. Yachts and light craft were wrenched from moorings, and some wooden buildings were blown down as gusts hit as high as 100 miles an hour.

CREW WALKS ASHORE

The 743-ton motorship Ballyhalbert was driven ashore on the Scottish coast near Ardrossan and was forced so far up the beach that the captain and 11 members of the crew were able to walk out.

The 1,090-ton royal navy submarine Taciturn, with 69 men and officers aboard, went aground a few miles west of the motorship, at the entrance to Campbell Loch. The submarine had anchored there.

Six naval craft stood by but the admiralty said the submarine was in no immediate danger.

The Queen Mary, battered by storms on its last three Atlantic crossings, pulled up off the Isle of Wight before moving into Southampton harbor, being whipped by strong winds. There were 570 passengers aboard the liner.

Bilks Traveller Of Forty Bucks

HAMILTON (CP) — Nicholas Johannesma, 26, of Oxford, N.S., walked alone and a bit homesick near the bus terminal here Wednesday, waiting for the bus that was to take him to Guelph and a position at the Jesuit Novitate.

Then a friendly stranger approached. Was Johannesma a Maritimer, he asked.

He was? And from Nova Scotia? Coincidentally, so was the stranger. From Londonderry, not far from Oxford. Even more coincidentally, the stranger was going to Guelph too.

After a friendly chat, he produced a $100 bill, and asked Johannesma if he had change. Johannesma didn't, but he was glad to lend the stranger $40 for a few minutes before the bus left.

The stranger took it and rushed into the terminal. A half-hour later he had not returned and Johannesma reluctantly called police.

They knew the stranger too, though not by name. His description was that of a man who had bilked visiting Maritimers several times in the same fashion.

N.S.-N.B. POWER PROGRAM STARTS THROUGH HOUSE

Hydro Project Will Cost $30,000,000

OTTAWA (CP) — Under constant opposition sniping, the government has started its Nova Scotia-New Brunswick power development program through the Commons.

Most of Wednesday's sitting was devoted to a resolution introducing legislation to provide a $30,000,000 federal loan to New Brunswick for the province's Beechwood hydro project. With a maximum interest rate of 4 3-5 per cent, the loan would be repayable in eight annual instalments.

Liberal members directed a steady stream of questions at Finance Minister Donald Fleming and Resources Minister Alvin Hamilton, mainly on the economic soundness of the project which recently went into operation on the St. John River.

FURTHER DEBATE TODAY

But eventually the legislation was introduced without formal opposition and the House moved on to consideration of the wider program. The debate continues today.

Mr. Hamilton also introduced a resolution paving the way for legislation to provide federal assistance for joint thermal-electric power developments in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia. These would entail new generating plants and interconnecting transmission lines.

The measure applies to all four Atlantic provinces but immediate plans involve only two.

Mr. Hamilton said that projects currently planned in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick will cost about $25,000,000. In the present fiscal year ending March 31 and the following year, about $12,700,000 in federal funds would be required.

The minister did not explain how the full $25,000,000 would be

Order Mental Examination For Four Boys

OTTAWA (CP)—Four Ottawa boys — two of them brothers—have been sent for mental examination in connection with a total of 19 fires in the capital that caused more than $250,000 damage in recent months.

The brothers and another juvenile pleaded guilty Monday to arson and attempted arson charges. The oldest of the trio was 13. A fourth boy, a 16-year-old, was charged Wednesday with arson. Like the others, he was remanded a week for mental examination. All four appeared in juvenile court.

Another 16-year-old, Roland Garceau, was charged Wednesday with theft from a Dalhousie Street confectionery where one of the fires was set. He was remanded in magistrate's court until Friday.

Police picked up Garceau after one of the juveniles testified in juvenile court that an older boy had been with them when the confectionery fire was started. But police said their investigation disclosed Garceau took no part in starting the fire.

A nine-year-old girl, the sister of the two brothers, also was arrested in connection with the fires. She pleaded guilty of trespassing and was remanded a week in her parent's custody.

Ever-Vigilant Liquor Control Board Sweeps Spiked Sweets From Shops

TORONTO (CP)—Federal and provincial governments, ever-vigilant in the cause of sobriety, are fighting the spread of liqueur chocolates in Canada.

Until recently the imported bon-bons, some filled with an alcohol concentration of 17 per cent, were on sale in this city, but today they are unobtainable.

As soon as it was told of the situation, the Liquor Control Board of Ontario swept the chocolates from shop shelves. Federal customs officials, and the food and drug division of the federal health department now stop the spiked sweets at the border.

The LCBO acts under the law which declares any products with more than 2.5 per cent alcohol intoxicating, but it would take a strong stomach to work up even a slight glow on the chocolates.

One estimate was that a person would need to eat 1½ pounds of the candy at a single sitting to get the equivalent of 1½ ounces of liquor.

That the sale of liqueur chocolates was causing alarm was evidenced by a letter from two British immigrants which appeared in The Globe and Mail. It said in part:

"Can we be assured that the sale of the above to minors is illegal and that persons driving on the Queen's highway with an open box of these intoxicants will be severely dealt with by the law?"

Eisenhower Gives 8-Point Program To U.S. Congress

Would Aim for 'Safety Through Strength'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today gave the United States Congress an eight-point "safety through strength" program for dealing with the Russian space-age threat. It includes defence reorganization to unify control and end inter-service rivalries.

In his State of the Union message, Eisenhower said U.S. military strength at present is great and is a powerful deterrent to war.

But he said the dangers the U.S. faces are real. He said that unless the country acts wisely and promptly "we could lose that capacity to defend ourselves" and deter any Soviet attack.

Eisenhower said the U.S. could make no more tragic mistake "than to concentrate merely on military strength." That, he said, could lead to an age of terror.

Of even greater danger than the military threat posed by Russia's space-era advances, Eisenhower said, is a massive economic offensive already launched by the Soviet Union.

The Senate and House of Representatives assembled in joint session in the house chamber to hear the president deliver his message personally.

Eisenhower made his eighth point a direct appeal to the people of the Soviet Union — over the heads of their leaders—to join in a drive for enduring world peace and take part in a first step toward disarmament.

The seven other points of his program will require legislative action.

DEFENCE SHAKEUP

The points:

1. Defence reorganization—Eisenhower, obviously with mounting inter-service rivalries in mind, said the first need is to ensure that military organization speeds rather than hinders the functioning of the military establishment.

Eisenhower said he will have specific proposals later in a special defence message.

"Let us proudly remember," he said, "that the members of the armed forces give their basic allegiance solely to the United States. Of that fact all of us are certain But pride of service and mistaken zeal in promoting particular doctrine has more than once occasioned the kind of difficulty of which I have just spoken."

NEW ARMS BUILDUP

2. Accelerated defence effort—Eisenhower called for a speedup all along the line, including protection and further dispersal of U.S. striking forces and more adequate warning facilities in case of attack.

"We must be forward-looking in our research and development to anticipate and achieve the unimagined weapons of the future.

"With these and other improvements, we intend to assure that our vigilance, power, and technical excellence keep abreast of any realistic threat we face."

3. Continuation and strengthening of the mutual security program of foreign aid—Eisenhower said that if the foundations of the free world structure "were progressively allowed to crumble under the pressure of Communist imperialism the entire house of freedom would be in danger of collapse."

He added: "The real fact is that no investment we make in our own security and peace can pay us greater dividends than necessary amounts of economic aid to friendly nations."

4. Foreign trade—Eisenhower urged Congress to extend the Reciprocal Trade Act for five years. He said world trade "strengthens our friends and increases their desire to be friends."

5. Scientific co-operation with allies—Eisenhower called for approval of legislation to permit the sharing of atomic secrets with friendly powers.

"We cannot afford to cut ourselves off from the brilliant talents and minds of scientists in friendly countries," he said. "The tasks ahead will be hard enough without handcuffs of our own making."

DRIVE ON EDUCATION

6. Education and research—Noting he had outlined previously a broad program calling for spending about $500,000,000 annually for four years to strengthen educational and research facilities, Eisenhower said:

"With this kind of all-inclusive campaign, I have no doubt that we can create the intellectual capital we need for the years ahead, invest it in the right places—and do all this, not as regimented pawns, but as free men and women."

7. Spending and saving—The federal budget for the year starting July 1 will include about $4,000,000,000 more than the budget for the year which began July 1, 1957 for defence purposes. Eisenhower said the extra money will go for such things as missiles, nuclear ships, atomic energy, and research and development.

WORLD PEACE PLEA

8. Works of peace—Eisenhower said:

"My last call for action is not primarily addressed to the Congress and people of the United States. Rather, it is a message from the people of the United States to all other peoples, especially those of the Soviet Union.

"This is the spirit of what we would like to say:

" 'In the last analysis, there is only one solution to the grim problems that lie ahead. The world must stop the present plunge toward more and more destructive weapons of war, and turn the corner that will start our steps firmly on the path toward lasting peace.' "

Winding up his address, Eisenhower said the actions he had outlined would call on the American people for both sacrifice and a high degree of understanding.

Would Change Law

WATERLOO (CP)—Crown Attorney Harold Daufman says he will recommend the Highway Traffic Act be amended to make it an offence to open a car door on the road side of oncoming traffic.

He said Wednesday he would take the action after Magistrate J. R. H. Kirkpatrick dismissed a charge of criminal negligence against Wallace Bast of Waterloo.

Evidence showed Bast opened the door of his parked car in the path of cyclist James Reider, 11, of Waterloo Nov. 21. The boy suffered a fractured skull when he hit the door and then struck his head on a truck passing the car.

Mr. Daufman's recommendation will be forwarded to the attorney-general's department.

Senior Citizens Present Tray For Anniversary

The Belleville Senior Citizens had their first meeting for 1958 last evening with a large number in attendance. The president, Fred Cooke, called the meeting to order followed by the singing of the Queen. Happy Birthday was sung to all those having birthdays in the month of January and then two minutes' silence was observed for a member who passed away since the last meeting. The Belleville Barbershop singers entertained the club with a number of songs.

The highlight of the evening's program was a presentation by William VanTassel, chairman of the Belleville Recreation committee, to Mr. and Mrs. John Preston who have just celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Preston expressed their sincere thanks for the engraved silver tray and told of many happy memories that they have.

The remainder of the evening was spent playing cards and other games. Prize winners for the evening were: Mrs. Carter, Mr. Thompson, Mrs. White and Mrs. Conway. The lucky draw was won by Mr. Armitage. Six new members joined at last night's meeting.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Cooke and her committee. The meeting closed by singing Auld Lang Syne with Mrs. Bell and Mrs. Adams at the piano.

Federal Trade Commissioners Visit City

Belleville was visited for two days this week by two men associated with the federal trade commissioners service. They were George E. Blackstock of Toronto, and Barry C Steers of London, Ont.

Robert G. Hamilton, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce, met them at the train on Tuesday and on Wednesday he took them to the Mead Johnson Company, Black Diamond, the Cheese Producers' Marketing Board and Corby's Distillery, where company officials explained the functions of their respective firms and led the party on a tour.

Both men are university graduates. Mr. Blackstock, on completion of this familiarization tour of Canadian industries, will be transferred to Columbia, South America, while Mr. Steers will go to Singapore. Transfers are for two years or more at the trade commissioner's office in the two areas. Mr Steers although going to Singapore, once served with the Royal Canadian Armoured Corps Militia as a lieutenant in Columbia, where he learned Spanish and married a Columbian.

The young men left by bus Wednesday afternoon to spend today in Peterborough before going to Toronto, Oshawa, Windsor and then out west. They will leave for their overseas postings around March 1.

Somberg Block on Station St. Completely Gutted by Fire; Seventeen Persons Homeless

Seventeen persons, including nine children, are homeless today following a fire, which Wednesday afternoon swept through the Somberg Block at 66 Station Street and called out every available man on the Belleville Fire Department to fight the blaze.

The homeless are members of seven different families, some of which lost all of their household possessions in the blaze.

No one was injured and all escaped safely from the blaze which firemen fought for over six hours in near-zero weather. No estimate of the fire loss was available this morning.

Homeless as result of the blaze are Mr. and Mrs. Ray Kellar and their five children; Mrs. Bertha Palmer and her seven-year-old son Stanley; Mrs. Fanny Switzer, who shared an apartment with her daughter Mrs. Dorothy Keck and her two small children; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dafoe and their seven-months-old baby; Mr. John Budreau, and the apartment block owner Mr. A. Somberg.

All the burned-out families were found temporary accommodation for last night, but permanent homes for the homeless are being sought by City Welfare Administrator George Whitman and Red Cross Disaster Committee Chairman, Alderman Effie McCabe.

EATS INTO ATTIC

The alarm for yesterday afternoon's fire was received at the firehall a few minutes before three o'clock, but already the fire had eaten through into the attic of the rear part of the old structure.

The blaze is believed to have been caused from an overheated stove, in the rear downstairs apartment of either Mrs. Bertha Palmer or Mrs. Switzer.

With the arrival of the fire department Fire Chief Vance immediately turned in a general alarm calling all off-shift men to the scene of the blaze. At one time about 35 firemen were working with hose and pouring water onto the flames.

Volunteers carried out much of the household belongings of tenants in the front section of the apartment block and this was later picked up by public works trucks and stored temporarily in the city barns.

Despite the efforts of firemen the blaze swept into the attic of the old tenement structure and quickly ate its way to the south and higher section of the building. Both the attics in the north section and in the section next to the street were completely gutted.

Big worry for firemen was that the blaze might eat its way through the firewall to the west and into the adjoining apartment block owned by Mr. Ed Buckley.

AERIAL LADDER USED

The aerial ladder was quickly brought into play and firemen poured tons of water down from above to prevent the spread of flames. Other firemen played hose from ladders through upstairs windows.

Vehicular traffic along Station Street was completely blocked and was re-routed by police along Great St. James Street as fire trucks and other equipment blocked off the area in front of the burning structure.

Huge columns of smoke and steam rolled high into the frosty winter air and attracted hundreds of persons homeward bound from their jobs. The blaze, however, was not spectacular as firemen managed to confine the flames to inside the building.

The roof caved in in several places but only a few tongues of flames were seen above the roof.

City Welfare Administrator George Whitman, Alderman Effie McCabe, as chairman of the Red Cross disaster committee, and the Salvation Army, were quickly on hand doing what they could to comfort the burned out families and seeking temporary accommodation.

Alderman McCabe said that the Red Cross was supplying new clothing and bedding for all the burned out families, while already many donations of good used clothing had been received.

Today an official of the St. John Ambulance Brigade said her organization was accepting donations of food and canned goods for the destitute families. Donations of food will be accepted at 44 Victoria Ave.

MUST SECURE HOMES

"We greatly appreciate the many kind donations of clothing for the destitute families," Mrs. McCabe told The Ontario Intelligencer this morning, "but our biggest job at the moment is to secure permanent accommodation for all these people."

The Red Cross yesterday afternoon provided transportation for the burned-out families to new, temporary quarters.

Hot coffee was served to cold fire fighters through courtesy of the Red Cross, while the Salvation Army through Captain and Mrs. C. J. Ivany dished up hot soup from the comparative warmth of the fire department emergency truck.

Yesterday's fire was the first major blaze in the city in many months. Fire Chief Gerald Vance said it was very fortunate that the blaze started during the afternoon and not in the middle of the night.

"Had the fire started at night there could easily have been lives lost," he said.

TORONTO (CP) — Profit-taking halted the stock market's advance and pushed prices narrowly lower in sluggish morning trading.

Pipelines, the leaders in the rally, were in a similar role during the decline. Trans-Canada was off ¾ to 24¾ and Interprovincial had a similar loss at 40. Trans Mountain eased a fraction.

The industrial index was down more than three-quarters of a point and western oils lost more than one-half point on index as bargain hunters cashed in on their profits. Base metals and golds were virtually unchanged on index and little trend developed in either section.

Volume at 11 a.m. was 501,000 shares compared with 674,000 at the same time Wednesday.

Walker's gained ½ at 76½ following the announcement that sub-divided common shares—on a three-four-one basis — will be posted for trading Jan. 17, at which time the existing common shares will be removed from the list.

Canadian Atlantic and Central Del Rio each lost 15 cents among western oils but other changes were narrow.

Stock Exchange Adds to Power

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

TORONTO (CP) — The Toronto Stock Exchange has added to its power to regulate actions of companies whose shares are listed on its boards.

Under a new regulation effective today, a designated list of companies will be required to get permission from the exchange before they take any step which will effect a material change in their business or affairs.

Failure to comply with the regulation will mean delisting.

As a starter, the regulation will apply to 356 of the 1132 companies now listed on the exchange, but the list is subject to review—for additions or subtractions.

LIST NOT REVEALED

The list of companies to which the regulations will apply was not announced, but those to whom it does apply are being advised, and other companies are being told that they are exempt.

It is understood that most of the companies named are mining and oil companies—including, probably, most non-producing companies—but some industrials are also included. Most of the companies are in what are called the "junior" class.

Booster Club Will Entertain Whitby Dunlops

The McFarlands' Booster Club will entertain their counterparts from Whitby at a social evening following the final appearance of the Whitby Dunlops in Belleville on January 17. The Dunnies leave for Europe on January 28.

President Dick Beare disclosed this fact at a meeting of the Booster Club here last night. The function will be held in the Elks' Hall, where the McFarlands will be guests, and it is hoped, some of the Allan Cup champions. This is somewhat doubtful as the Dunnies are undergoing rigid training.

The meeting last night was sparsely attended, but regular business was transacted. The social function mentioned will be admission-free for Boosters adult members only. These must show their membership cards at the door.

Groundwork plans were laid for a train excursion to Kingston on Saturday evening, February 1st, when the Macs meet the CKLC's. Ken Soden was put in charge of excursion arrangements.

Since the supply of member tams has run out, it was decided to use large lapel buttons for those members not in possession of the tams. These will bear the words "Macs' Booster" and will be available shortly. No price was quoted, but the button will be much cheaper than the tams.

Suggestions that a Valentine dance, to be held in mid-February, were discussed and something definite will be presented at the next meeting.

Action will also be taken on suggestions that prizes be given to the holders of selected numbers in the club's programs. Tickets to games appeared to be the popular choice.

The club was declared to be in sound financial condition with a bank balance of $1,559.

CARRY FUEL IN TIRES

CLINTONVILLE, Wis. (AP)—A fuel transport that carries its liquid cargo in giant rubber tires instead of a single tank has been developed here for the army. Towed by a pillow-tired tractor, the 10 huge tires can carry 5,000 gallons of fuel or other liquid over sand, mud, swampland, side slopes, boulders, hills, ice and deep snow, designers said.

One Minor Accident Reported to Police

TRENTON — Only one accident was reported to town police yesterday despite the light snow which had fallen during the night.

A car being driven by Arthur J. Constable of Kingscourt Apartments in Toronto suffered $125 damage to the left-hand door and door sill when it was hit by another car being driven by Walter R. Stewie of R.R. 4, Belleville. The Stewie car suffered about $50 damage to the right headlight and front fender.

According to the police report, Mr. Constable was proceeding north on West Street and turned his signal lights on to make a left turn into the yard of Williams and Williams.

Mr. Stewie misunderstood the signal and attempted to pass, running into the other car when it swung into its turn.

The accident happened at 2.30 p.m.

The fire department reported no calls in the last 24 hours despite the cold snap over the past few days.

School Board Reviews Year At Final Meet

TRENTON — Ralph Weaver, retiring chairman of the Board of Education, expressed his thanks for the co-operation of the board members during the past year and wished the new board all the success possible during the coming year, at the final meeting of the 1957 board in the board room of the North Trenton school last night.

H. J. Campbell, who is also retiring from the board, thanked those who had assisted him during the past year. After wishing the new board much success he warned the members they will get lots of hard work during the year and they will have a diet of "plug, plug, plug."

Following a review of the financial statement for the past year, which was explained by the secretary-treasurer of the board, V. P. Carswell the meeting was turned over to the incoming board.

Mr. Carswell took over as chairman during the swearing-in ceremonies and for the business of naming a permanent chairman for the year.

During the business of the evening signing authority was given to the chairman and the secretary with the vice-chairman being given power to sign cheques in case of the absence of one of the other two.

There were no changes in the staffs of the various town schools.

The chairman of the auxiliary services committee, George S. Greer, was named board representative on the Trenton Recreation Commission.

Following discussion on the days the board will meet it was decided to hold sessions on the first Monday of each month at 7.30 p.m. with the third Monday of each month also a meeting night, if required.

George Williamson was re-elected to a three year term on the Library Board. This came after considerable discussion concerning the possibilities of having one of the school board members in this post. The matter was brought up by Colin Crews but with none of the board willing to act in this capacity it was decided to re-elect Mr. Williamson and to ask him to make a quarterly report to the school board.

E. S. McIlwain, B.A., principal of the new Trenton High School, invited the new board members to attend a tour of the school in the near future.

Winter One of Mildest on Record Say Oldtimers; Expect Continuance

Although there have been two sharp temperature drops during which the mercury has fallen to zero and below, in the opinion of many oldtimers the current winter will go down as one of the mildest on record.

So far, that is.

One local resident nearing his 80th birthday was heard to say recently that in all his years he could not remember a fall as warm as the past autumn.

And others who rely strongly on nature for their weather prognostications, state that all the signs point to continued mild weather throughout the winter.

MOTHS STILL HATCHING

One rural resident said he had taken particular note of caterpillars still crawling around. Evident is the narrow color separation in the centre which he claims is a sure sign of a short and mild winter. Up until the most recent temperature drop moths were still being hatched out of doors, he claimed .

The same rural man also claimed it was seldom that the winter freezeup came until the ground was full of water. As result of rains over the Christmas period he agreed that the ground was now full of water but he maintained it would still be a mild winter.

But us city folk who know little of the old time weather signs and have to take forecasts from the "met" office, we must take the weather as it comes.

We do know that so far it has been a mild winter and that snow shovels are getting just a wee bit rusty from lack of action.

Here's hoping they stay that way.

WORLD CALENDAR

What time of day is it — right now?

Answers will differ, depending on the geographical location of the place in which the person answering the question happens to be — right now.

We have all of us, in this age of air travel, become accustomed to the idea that it is a different time of the day at different places at any one moment.

What day of the week is it — right now?

That answer, too, depends on where one is. That fact may not be so widely recognized as the variations in the time of day between different places, but it is a fact, nevertheless. When it is 12.30 a.m.Eastern Standard Time on Monday it is 11.30 p.m. Central Standard Time on Sunday. For most locations in the world, though, the mere hour's difference between adjoining time zones blinds us to the fact that it can be a different day of the week on either side of an imaginary line. Or, for that matter, a different day of the month, or a different month entirely, or even, once a year, a different year.

The only places where this difference is marked enough to be impressive are those located near the international date line, which zig-zags down through comparatively uninhabited areas of the world, in the Pacific Ocean. There, when it is dawn on Sunday on one side of the line it is dawn on Monday on the other side

All this may not appear to have much connection with a campaign for a new calendar, but it does serve to show that time, even for a layman, is in one sense a relative thing and that man has had to do a bit of juggling, calling one time by different names in different places, in order to make sense of his clocks and his calendars.

There is, therefore, nothing sacred about our present calendar, which is, indeed, but the latest of several which have been in general use in what man has liked to call the civilized world during his history. Our own calendar is the Gregorian calendar, named after Pope Gregory XIII who ordered it adopted in all Catholic countries in 1582. But it was not until 1752 that the English parliament passed an act adopting this calendar. The Julian calendar, which it replaced throughout Christendom, was not abandoned by Russia until after the revolution, on Feb. 14, 1918, and Greece clung to it until March 1, 1923. Many Orthodox churches continue to celebrate feast days by the Julian calendar. Moslems have another calendar.

With today's shrinking world, it is obviously desirable that mankind reach some agreement on a universal calendar and there are certain flaws about the Georgian calendar with its unsystematic arrangement of the number of days in each month.

The International World Calendar Association is pressing for the adoption of a calendar in which every year is the same, each quarter is identical, each month has 26 weekdays, plus Sundays, each year and each quarter begins on a Sunday.

This is achieved by adding a Worldsday at the end of each year and inserting a Leapyear Day at the end of June in leap years.

President of the International World Calendar Association is A. J. Hills of Ottawa, a retired vice-president of the Canadian National Railways.

It just so happens that this calendar makes every Christmas fall on a Monday and Canada gets an extra dividend by having July 1 always on a Sunday, so that it could be celebrated on a Monday without hurting anybody's feelings.

It is not surprising, therefore, that the world calendar proposal has won the approval of such organizations as the Canadian Manufacturers Association, the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, the Canadian Construction Association, the Canadian Retail Federation, the Trades and Labor Congress and the Canadian Congress of Labor, (now united into the Canadian Labor Congress) and the Canadian and Catholic Confederation of Labor.

It would certainly tidy up our year and the only real hardship which we can forsee is that it would eliminate the annual flood of new calendars, with their pictures of beach beauties and beautiful beaches.

We don't give the calendar much chance of adoption, though. Too logical.

Besides — horrors — the first month of each quarter has a Friday the thirteenth!

WHEN

When I get through reforming myself,
When I've patched up the flaws I own,
When I've ceased to struggle for pelf
And bear all my burdens alone,
When there isn't a mote in my eye
And I do everything I should do,
Then, perhaps, I may start in to try
Reforming my neighbor and you.

When I've cleaned up the fellow called Me,
When I've dusted the webs from my brain,
When I'm all that my neighbor should be,
When no one has cause to complain
That I'm selfish and thoughtless, and when
I ne'er step aside from the true,
When I have no weaknesses, then
I may try my reforming on you.

When I am so strong I can stand
All the tests that temptation may give,
When I have myself in command
So that simply and purely I live,
When nothing unfair or unkind
Marks my path, when I've nothing to rue,
Then I may, if the time I can find,
Try reforming my neighbor and you.

Are Oceans Warming Up?

Christian Science Monitor

Are the oceans getting warmer? From two pieces of current data (those puns will get in the way) it sounds as if they are — in places.

Oceanographers report that the Pacific Ocean off the California coast has been more than five degrees warmer this year than it averaged from 1949 through 1956. They are not sure why —possibly the current geophysical year (there it is again) will throw light on this as on other problems — but they are sure it is not due to the warm California sun.

Some inlanders may inquire if this could be an effect of the atomic bomb tests off Eniwetok Atoll; but the query will hardly come from any who have traversed the thousands of ocean miles between and have any concept of the water masses involved in this thermal effect.

Rather interestingly, warmer currents (we mean it this time) have been flowing farther northward along the Atlantic coast of North America for the last quarter century. Meteorologists even admit that the whole world's annual mean temperature is one degree higher than it was 75 years ago. If it gets too warm there always are Antarctic expeditions looking for personnel.

Stewed Elk Not Canadian

Ottawa Citizen

Canadian officials have been taunted for years by critics who jeered at bureaucracy for its lack of imagination. The wounds may have cut more deeply than the public knew, and perhaps for this reason the nation's officials have gone to the other extreme when preparing menus and planning entertainment for foreign dignitaries. In recent years, certainly, they have shown imagination to a shocking degree. It is time to call a halt.

The most recent instance is the party at which Canada's United Nations delegation in New York was host to delegates from other countries. The Canadians produced a menu that was "typically Canadian" — an amiable euphemism that cannot possibly fool anyone — in the form of marinated stewed elk and wild rice. The evening's activities were largely confined to dancing the congo, the rumba and the samba.

This is not the first time an effort has been made to persuade foreigners that elk and wild rice are Canadian foods. They are not Canadian because they are not eaten in Canada — at least not noticeably. If protocol requires "typically Canadian" foods to be served, the logical choice should fall upon spaghetti and meat balls, or chicken chow mein, or southern friend chicken, or beans. If the aim is to impress the guests, a steak will do.

Nor is dancing at a party a normal Canadian activity. At the U.N. party, if Canada's delegation wished to create a truly Canadian atmosphere, it should have had the guests seated elbow to elbow in the form of an elipse glumly facing one another and talking in fits and starts. Alternatively, the men could have been in kitchen, reminiscing about the war while the women remained in the living room, exchanging recipes

The Canadian temperament is difficult enough for foreigners to understand without misleading them by serving them marinated elk and encouraging them to dance sambas. It is high time Canada's officials took another look at where they are heading, or it'll be marinated walrus next

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

NEWSPAPER MAN

Most of my active life has been spent in association with newspaper men. They are an intelligent and alert group, and I might add that many women have joined the men in an able fashion. All over this world these reporters are constantly moving, day and night, contributing to the news that we read in our daily newspapers.

It isn't an easy life, but a thrilling one in which thousands have dedicated themselves. Great numbers have given their lives that we all might be informed. They never count the sacrifices and hardships that they undergo. They are proud of their profession and like to be known simply as newspaper men and women.

Heroic acts among newspaper men are routine. The beloved Ernie Pyle is an outstanding example — an inspiration to endless others He was the friend of all with whom he worked, no matter where stationed. He wanted to be with those who stood ready to give all that they had. He and his buddies will never be forgotten. Their deeds have enlivened freedom. Each may well be noted as reporters to the home.

Both in war and peace reporters and workers on newspapers can well be said to be among those who have enriched all mankind. What an unpaid debt we owe to all these workers whose efforts have been so outstanding, and whose services grow in importance with the years! What an achievement just to be honorably known as a newspaper man!

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

We Canadians must not let ourselves be bamboozled by the American slick magazines, picture weeklies, movies and TV into imagining that the United States looks like those, glorious, dream like images of cities, communities, buildings, homes, that are selected for publication.

It is always a bit of a shock for anyone familiar with these publications to drive for mile upon mile through most of the United States and find them pretty scruffy, indeed a lot scruffier than most Canadian areas of related character, whether city, town or countryside. It must be admitted that there are regions like parts of Kentucky or long stretches of farmland in Minnesota or in the pinewood hills of Alabama or the mountains of Oregon in which the homes, the communities, everything human that has been added. strives to live up to the natural beauty that was there to start with.

But there is a bargain basement look about much of the American scene that is startling to anyone who has been well indoctrinated by United States publishing, movies and TV.

However, it is like the young enthusiast who has been saturated with movies. He goes south expecting all the girls to look like movie stars and is surprised to find himself deciding the average Canadian girl far better-looking than those he sees abroad. He should have known that. With 160 million population to draw pretty girls from, why does Hollywood have to go to France, Italy and Sweden for so many?

Strength for The Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

SOURCE OF ALL SECURITY

What constitutes a firm religious faith?

A firm religious faith is based on the conviction that there is a God in heaven who has made all things who controls all things, who loves His children, and who will reward obedience and punish disobedience.

Religious faith may take many forms Men approach religious problems from a number of different angles. But a firm belief in a self-revealing God who is righteous, just, and loving, lies at the basis of all religious faith, no matter to what particular church or branch of the church a man may give his allegiance.

Of all the steadying influences in life, nothing produces and maintains balance so effectively as does religious faith. People long for riches and believe that if they had them, they would be happy Others believe that the fulfillment of life lies in romance, or in achievement, or in position which gives them power over the lives of others. But none of these things in themselves bring happiness. They are, to be sure, sources of satisfaction, but real satisfaction is something of the inner heart. We have it, not when we possess certain things, but when certain things possess us.

Confidence in a righteous, powerful, and loving God and obedience to this God is the only unfailing and complete source of contentment and peace.

Gun-Toting Little Mama

Fort William Times - Journal

The girl, always playing with her two brothers, has been tomboyish. But this Christmas, Santa brought her three dolls, a doll carriage, and a miniature boudoir set with mirror, comb and brush.

As she pushed her new possessions around the house in her doll carriage, her mother was so proud that her daughter was at last turning into a girl. She called on her husband to catch her picture with his new movie camera.

But just as he was about to take the picture, the mother stopped him excitedly.

"No! Wait!" she cried, pointing at the girl.

She was wearing her brother's belt and was packing two guns.

First Memory Often Strange

Hamilton Spectator

Have you ever tried to recall your first memory? Most of us at some time or other and have usually been astonished at how absurd and trivial it is.

For many of us it stands out lonely and unconnected in the shadowy empty landscape of early childhood. Why should it have impressed us so forcibly that it has been able to survive the overlay of triumphs and tragedies in later years?

Our first memory is of a page in a magazne. The Great War must have been over, or nearly so. (And if this admission discloses that we are past the first blush of youth, no matter; time is inexorable and devours us all with equal speed and relish.) On this page was a picture of smoking ruins and airborne above them, like a winged Icarus flourishing a trumpet, was an allegorical figure. Under this were some lines which had to be read to us.

They ran something like this·
"Hark! I hear a trumpet blast,
A new world arises from the ashes of the past!"

The writer would scarcely have qualified for a poet laureate's wreath, but doggerel and other drivel often persist longer in memory than classical odes, and this is our excuse for being able to recall these particular lines.

But the meaning was clear. This idealized youth was no doubt proclaiming President Wilson's Fourteen Points and telling a world, bleeding, repentant and near bankruptcy, that the League of Nations was to deliver it from wars. Out of suffering had come contrition, and out of contriion resolutions were born. How it turned out, we all know.

Perhaps it is sad that first memories should be of smoking ruins or events connected with war And if the trumpets of hope blow over them perpetually, is it not sadder still? Memories such as these are typical of those who are under the fifty-mark today. How much more pleasant if most of us could say, with the poet, "I remember the house where I was born", and pleasanter still if we could remember "the roses round the door". And so much more peaceful, too!

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

Common Cause of Early Aging

Insufficient daily intake of calcium, phorphorus, iodin, vitamin D, vitamin B-1 (thiamin) and vitamin B-2 (riboflavin) is the common cause of early aging, in my judgment.

Most persons with chronic joint disability (rheumatiz, physical degeneration of joint tissues) owe their trouble primarily to insufficient daily intake of calcium and vitamin D.

Most persons with unhealthy state of the skin, premature wrinkles, dryness of hair and skin, thinning and loss of hair and diminished vitality owe their trouble primarily to insufficient daily intake of riboflavin.

I had rather not mention here specific signs of thiamin (B-1) deficiency, except "pins and needles," "dyspepsia," fatigue, breathlessness, palpitation and slight swelling of the ankles. Most Americans get less thiamin from diet than nutrition authorities deem necessary to maintain even fair health and efficiency.

When it comes to interpreting signs and symptoms, I'm not much help. For instance, I can't tell you how to distinguish a little stroke from a serious one. And I'm downright reticent about strange, rare and incurable diseases.

To offer signs or symptoms of this or that disease for people to try on is a sin and a shame. To make people alert to the manifestations of nutritional deficiency is a boon to health and; it can do no harm in any case, for if people choose to ignore such teachings, anyway, dear Lord, I have done the best I could.

Whether the merchants of medicine still give customers "shots" of B-1 whenever the goofs feel the need of a "lift" or "bracer," something to tide them over an exhausting strain or an extra stint of work, I haven't heard lately. But I can assure any victim of this particular bit of quackery that an optimal daily ration (that is, two or three times as much as one should get daily from the basic health diet) of vitamin B-1 taken in pill, tablet or liquid, is as effective as an expensive injection can be.

Two or three good doctors have told me they believe B-1 (thiamin) injections are really more effective than the same vitamin by mouth. They can't explain why. So we end the discussion calling each other names. Or anyway I do. My colleague just walks away mad. Well , I say, if you can't take it don't ask for it.

Now before we part, let me mention that plain wheat, as it comes from the thresher, is the best food source of thiamin (vitamin B-1 and milk (whole milk, skim milk or buttermilk) is the best food source of riboflavin (vitamin B-2).

Milk, by the way, is also the best food source of calcium and a good source of other elements essential for good nutrition — including phosphorus. We may be sure that if the food or diet contains enough calcium it will almost certainly contain enough phosphorus

Kashmir Feud Poisons Asia

London Economist

Just a decade ago India and Pakistan, with only a couple of months of independence, became embroiled in Kashmir Kashmir is still vexing the United Nations.

The feud between India and Pakistan is a festering wound in the body of non-Communist Asia.

The gash is not as deep or envenomed as the Israel-Arab quarrel. But there is a hemmorrhage — the diversion to military ends of resources sorely needed for peaceful development; and fever — the obsessive effect of the feud on the two countries' domestic and foreign politics.

There is, in effect, a subcontinental cold war, with pinpricks, salvoes of invective, wild rumors fired by malice, and competing streams of propaganda aimed at "uncommitted" opinion abroad. Each antagonist gropes for new friends, not stopping to ask what their motive in offering friendship might be.

From the unhealed wound the poison flows out to taunt free Asia and corrode its relations with the West.

Pakistan's adherence to the Baghdad pact and Seato inflames India's hostility to these alliances (and helps Indians to forget that it was the Soviet-Chinese alliance of 1950 that first brought "military blocs" into post-war Asia.)

Some Pakistanis have frankly expressed the hope that their alliances would enable them to bargain with their big neighbor on more equal terms; some Indians, with similar over-simplification, have convinced themselves that Pakistan's allies are using it as a means of forcing India to abandon neutralism.

To the delight of the communist powers, the feud sharpens the division between those Asian countries that have Western allies and those that adhere to neutralism, and even distorts India's neutralism to the Communist powers' advantage

The wholehearted support of the Kashmir issue given to India by Russia is acclaimed by Indians, who brand every Western plea for compromise as pro- Pakistani — but overlook Communist China's reluctance to align itself with India on the same issue.

Pakistanis, equally intolerant of compromise, are apt to assume that membership of an alliance formed to stave off Communist expansion automatically entitles them to unqualified support from their allies on quite different issues.

What can the outsider do to mitigate these disastrous quarrels? Even to offer advice is risky, especially if it comes from Britain; for Pakistanis expect wholehearted support from Britain because it is their ally, Indians because of their key position as Asia's greatest democracy, both because of the Commonwealth bond.

American aid given to either country is liable to be seen by the other as a form of arm-twisting.

Only one course seems open: to press upon both parties the unanswerable argument of their own self-interest.

No two countries are more badly in need of the kind of neighborly intimacy that exists between Canada and the United States, or among Scandinavian nations. As in Scandinavia, there is no conclusive reason why a neutral and an allied state should not be good neighbors; as in North America there is no bar to the peaceful coexistence of great and small, even when the smaller state in some sense defies the laws of geography.

The present feud may yield fleeting emotional satisfactions; but the price, in terms of squandered resources, missed opportunities to tackle separate economic problems that call for joint action, the poisoning of the political atmosphere and the loss of international good will, is ruinous.

The feud benefits only the Communist powers.

Liberal Meet To Be Wordiest In History

OTTAWA (CP)—The Liberals' leadership convention, to open here next Tuesday, has every indication of becoming one of the wordiest in history.

The program, made public today, showed that at least 35 speeches will be delivered during the three-day meeting, more than double the number delivered by the Progressive Conservatives during their three-day convention last December.

There will be speeches by defeated and elected members of Parliament; former cabinet ministers, including Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe; eight of the 10 provincial leaders; and representatives of Young Liberals and women's organizations.

Duncan MacTavish, National Liberal Federation president, told a press conference today that speeches will be held to 10 minutes, except those of retiring leader Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent, the leadership candidates and the new leader elected.

One group of speakers will touch on constitutional matters, another group on economics, a third on development of resources and others on social security, agriculture, defence and industrial development.

There will be no keynote speech such as delivered during the Conservative convention. Mr. MacTavish said such speeches "do not have too much meaning." He would rather see a "more spontaneous approach" in speeches from the floor.

Liberal Party Secretary Quits Advertising Job

OTTAWA (CP) — H. E. Bob Kidd, executive secretary of the National Liberal Federation, has resigned as vice-president of Cockfield, Brown and Company Limited, a Toronto advertising firm.

Duncan MacTavish of Ottawa, federation president, announced today that the 55-year-old Mr. Kidd now will devote his full time to the Liberals and drop his connections with the advertising outfit which did work for the Liberals.

He said Mr. Kidd's resignation became effective Dec. 31.

The Stockholm-born Mr. Kidd was criticized by the Young Liberals of Ontario at their Presqu'ile Point convention last September for holding dual jobs.

They adopted a resolution recommending that the position of the national executive secretary "should not be held by an officer or employee of any agency, firm or company having contracts with the Liberal party."

At that time Mr. Kidd declined to comment on the resolution other than to say he was at that time paid by the advertising agency and not the federation.

Mr. MacTavish said that arrangements now have been made to pay Mr. Kidd as the federation's executive secretary. He declined to disclose the salary involved.

Wheat Exports Up

WINNIPEG (CP) — Wheat exports of 27,900,000 bushels in November were the heaviest for the month since 1952 and the best clearance for any month since June, 1956.

Cumulative exports to the United Kingdom at 35,900,000 bushels were 2,700,000 ahead of 1956-57 levels for the first four months of the crop year but shipments to Japan and Germany were behind the comparative totals for the August - November period last year. Largest improvement was in clearances to The Netherlands which at 9,400,000 bushels were up 4,400,000.

Still Not Sure Whether Boys Will Lose Feet

MONTREAL (CP)—Two boys, trapped 35 hours in a parked box car last weekend, are still in hospital, the future of their frozen feet uncertain.

Lanny Matthews, 14, and Sandy Yokota, 13, crawled inside the car while on a holiday hike. They closed the door of the empty car to cut off biting winds in sub-zero temperatures. It locked automatically on the outside.

They were discovered 35 hours later.

A hospital spokesman said today it is not yet known if circulation will be fully restored to the lads' feet. No other parts of their bodies were affected.

INTERNATIONAL FALLS, Minn. (AP)—Hundreds of volunteers from both sides of the Canada-U.S. border searched today for a five-year-old boy missing since he went out to play near his home Wednesday morning.

Search parties were augmented by more than 100 volunteers from Fort Frances, Ont., just across the Rainy River from International Falls.

Workman Falls 200 Feet to Death At Burlington

HAMILTON (CP) — A worker moving scaffolding at the top level of the new skyway bridge plunged over 200 feet to his death into the Burlington canal late this morning.

Police say that the dead man is Jude Duguay, 28, of Niagara Falls.

Harbor police were called by fellow workers and a patrol boat rushed through the choppy waters to the scene.

With only one grappling iron in operation, the man was found at the bottom of the canal about five minutes after the boat arrived. It is estimated he was in the water about 20 minutes.

A fire department inhalator crew, police, ambulance drivers, and fellow workers, worked for about three-quarters of an hour in an effort to revive the man.

Police say the man, working on the top - most part of the bridge fell 80 feet to a wooden plank which broke. He then plunged the rest of the way into the canal.

A fellow worker, Douglas Webb, of Brantford, told police that he and Duguay were moving scaffolding when suddenly Duguay lost his footing and fell.

Canada's Reply Has Been Sent To Bulganin

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's draft reply to Soviet Premier Bulganin's Dec. 13 letter to Prime Minister Diefenbaker proposing an East-West summit meeting has been sent to the NATO council, it was learned today.

Officials declined comment on the draft until reaction to it by the NATO council has been received.

However, it is understood that the Canadian government plans to give qualified approval for an East-West summit meeting, especially on the subject of disarmament.

The qualifications would be adequate preparation through diplomatic channels and some firm indication from Russia that it is prepared to discuss Western proposals for disarmament control and inspection.

The Canadian view may well clash with that of the United States, which contends a summit meeting at this time would be futile.

Senate Runs Out of Business

OTTAWA (CP) — The Senate ran out of things to do Wednesday and government leader John T. Haig said, "I give up."

Five minutes earlier the Senate had convened, anticipating a debate on a private motion urging expansion of Canadian educational facilities. The motion is the only business before the House.

However, the debate was postponed by the anticipated speaker, Senator Vincent Dupuis (L—Quebec.

There was dead silence until Senator Haig said, "With much regret I move the adjournment of the House."

Opposition Leader W. Ross Macdonald asked what would be done tomorrow. Or next week, added Senator William Euler (L Ontario).

"I have not any idea," said Senator Haig. "There may be two or three bills tomorrow, there may be none for two or three days. I give up."

The family came to Canada 1½ years ago and Mr. Fekecs, a jeweler and tool and die maker, has not been able to find work since.

Not Planning Early Decision

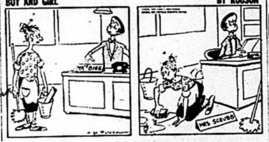
OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker indicated today the government is not planning any early decision on whether to allow export of natural gas by Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Limited.

He was replying in the Commons to Stanley Knowles, deputy CCF leader, who asked whether the government will be making any announcement of its policy on this matter within the next few days.

Mr. Kowles referred to press reports that Trans-Canada stock has risen more than $4 in the last few days because of a rumor that the company soon would be granted permission to export gas.

Mr. Diefenbaker said any such rumors are "entirely without basis."

BOY AND GIRL BY ROUSON



Probe Shows AP Erred in Sending Report

NEW YORK (AP)—Investigation now clearly indicates that The Associated Press erred Monday in using the phrase "reliable sources" in its report that the Soviet Union had launched a manned rocket into space.

The investigation shows that while the non - official sources quoted had proved reliable in the past, they were reporting rumors in this case. There has been no formal denial of the rumors from the Soviet government.

The facts thus far developed are these:

The Moscow staff says it heard the manned-rocket reports from east European correspondents and at least one Western embassy but did not file the story for another 48 hours, while it continued checking.

Advised that other agencies were carrying the story abroad, Moscow then gave the story by telephone to London. It was in this process that misunderstanding arose. Two London staffers who took the call say they understood the Moscow staffer to say the story could be attributed to reliable sources.

CENSORSHIP SLAPPED ON

Immediately after this, stringent Moscow censorship was imposed on the story.

Late Wednesday, the Moscow bureau said that while the adjective "reliable" could apply to the sources from which the reports came, the rumor they were relaying was completely unconfirmed.

The deputy director of the Soviet news agency Tass was quoted as saying in a Moscow broadcast heard in London Tuesday that it was "completely incomprehensible" to him how Western news agencies obtained the report.

Commons Close To Fisticuffs Over Exchange

OTTAWA (CP)—How close did the Commons come Wednesday to actual fisticuffs?

Afterwards, no one was sure. But a Cape Breton coal miner and a New Brunswick fisherman had everyone a little nervous for half a minute or so.

In the Liberal corner, wearing a blue suit and glasses, was A. Wesley Stuart. At 55, the former fishermen's staying power was a question mark.

Mr. Stuart, veteran MP for Charlotte, N.B., was digging at the government over its proposed $30,000,000 loan to New Brunswick for the Beechwood hydro power project.

Government members began digging back, including the challenger from Cape Breton South, fresh from a June 10 election victory over CCF veteran Clarie Gillis.

HEADS FOR EXIT

After a noisy exchange Mr. MacInnis suddenly headed for the exit. He waved his arm in a gesture that some took as an invitation that Mr. Stuart come on outside.

Mr. Stuart had shouted at Mr. MacInnis:

"Any time you think you would like to have an opportunity for you and I to debate it, either inside or outside of this house, just let me know and I am ready to proceed."

Mr. Stuart stayed in his place.

Later, Mr. MacInnis, a former coal miner, returned to hear H. W. Herridge (CCF — Kootenay West) suggest he still needed to be "house broken."

Mr. MacInnis objected and said the challenge had been issued by Mr. Stuart.

Red Skelton Much Improved

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Comedian Red Skelton, back from a brush with death, said Wednesday he feels well enough to retun to his television show Jan. 28.

Meeting the press in hospital, the red - haired comedian appeared gaunt after dropping to 194 pounds from 215 but was in good comedy form as he joked about his illness.

"I've been walking around half dead for a long time anyway," he cracked.

Skelton was stricken Dec. 30 with an acute asthmatic attack which his doctors said put him "nine steps toward death."

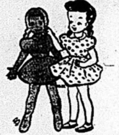
BIG HANDICAP

ROTHERHAM, England (CP) —A woman who volunteered to deliver Christmas mail in this Yorkshire town failed on her first test. She couldn't read.

Mother's Helper



WITH an extra-large sheet of heavy wrapping paper (or a couple of smaller ones taped together) you can help your daughter make a twin sister. Trace her outline as she lies on the paper. She'll enjoy cutting out and coloring "herself." (A stiffly starched old sheet is good for this, too —but more advance preparation for you.)

Weddings

STEWART — HAYDON

The United Church parsonage, Wellington, was the setting on Friday, December 20, at 7.30 p.m. for a pretty, but quiet wedding, when the Reverend A. Poulter united in marriage Barbara Ann Haydon, of Wellington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Haydon, of Bloomfield, R.R. 2, to Steven Harry Stewart, of Grafton, Ontario, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Stewart of Maynooth, Ontario.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attractively attired in a fitted suit of cinnamon brown with beige accessories, and corsage of yellow baby 'mums.

She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Douglas Marvin (Joan), of Wellington, who wore a teal grey suit with matching accessories, and corsage of red rosebuds.

Mr. Douglas Marvin, of Wellington, attended the bridegroom.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the bride's home for the immediate family after which the young couple left for Lake Placid and the eastern United States.

Guests attended from Maynooth, Toronto, Port Hope and Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart will reside in Grafton upon their return.

Mr. and Mrs. Kevin Joseph Moriarity are pictured signing the register in St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church, Belleville, following their recent marriage. The bride is the former Miss Joan Helen Milne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Alexander Milne of Belleville R.R. 6, and her bridegroom is the son of Mrs. William Moriarity of Paris, Ontario, and the late Mr. Moriarity. MORIARITY — MILNE

Red and white 'mums and roses adorned the altar of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church, Belleville, on Saturday, December 28 at high noon for a lovely wintertime wedding when Joan Helen Milne, of Belleville R.R. 6, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Alexander Milne, became the bride of Kevin Joseph Moriarity of Paris, Ontario, son of Mrs. William Moriarity of Paris, Ontario, and the late Mr. Moriarity. The Reverend J. J. Buckley officiated, while Joseph Milne, brother of the bride, and Larry McDonald acted as altar boys.

The Reverend Sister Mary Bibianna presided at the console of the organ and rendered the traditional music and also accompanied the soloist, Mr. Robert Burke who sang Schubert's "Ave Maria," and "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother," before the ceremony and "Mother, at Thy Feet is Kneeling," during the signing of the register.
